THE U.S. SUPREME COURT refused Monday to rule on the University of Texas regents' authority to ban sales of The Rag underground newspaper on the Austin campus. The decision, made on procedural grounds, sends the case down to the U.S. Circuit Court in New Orleans.

AN ARCHAEOLOGICAL TEAM of 15, including 11 students from the University of Texas at Austin is excavating in downtown Austin to expose the foundations of the old state capital building.

The purpose of the excavation is to obtain information about the foundations before construction is begun on that site for the new State Highway Department building.

AT THE UNIVERSITY OF Oklahoma Residents Action, an agency of the Student Congress, has distributed 3,000 free copies of an illustrated booklet concerning birth control to students in dormitories, sororities and fraternities.

"We aren't advocating anything," Dan Scull, director of Residents Action told the Oklahoma Daily. "We're doing this because we believe it is of the utmost importance for each person to know all he can about his body and sexual activities."

AT TEXAS TECH UNIVERSITY in Lubbock, syphilis and gonorrhea are occurring in epidemic proportions, David Brown, Lubbock County health investigator told the University Daily that both the venereal diseases can be cured with relative ease. Monday began Lubbock's Venereal Disease Awareness Week.

A VOTING RIGHT suit was filed on behalf of several students at Prairie View A&M College. Suit was filed in the Federal District Court in Houston by the Texas Student Legal Defense and Educational Fund, the legal agency of the Texas Intercollegiate Student Association.

The tax collector-assessor of Waller County has refused to register any students to vote from the predominately black college.

The AFL-CIO of Texas is helping pay the court costs for the students.

THE UNIVERSITY OF SOUTH CAROLINA Supreme Court has ruled that the votes of 1,300 students in the fall elections are invalid and unconstitutional. In an article in the campus newspaper Chief Justice Douglas Dent said, "The problem of secrecy of the ballot arose because when the ballots were issued the ballot number was recorded next to the student's ID number."

Seven Drop Out of Review

Five sororities and two fraternities have decided not to participate in Greek Review, a bi-annual musical, sponsored by Lambda Chi Alpha Fraternity and performed at the end of Campus Chest Week.

As with all activities for Campus Chest, the purpose of Greek Review is to raise funds donated to various organizations in the Fort Worth area.

Each fraternity or sorority makes the decision to either perform in the musical or raise money by their individual efforts.

This year, Chi Omega, Kappa Kappa Gamma, Kappa Delta, Pi Beta Phi, Zeta Tau Alpha, Delta Tau Delta and Kappa Sigma chose not to perform in Greek Review, set for Feb. 25, in the Will Rogers Auditorium at 7:30 p.m.

Two years ago all 10 sororities participated and only two fraternities did not, including Kappa Sigma.

Too Much Time

Each house's preparation for the musical requires the selection of a five minute skit, rehearsals and costume making.

The sororities not participating said that because of the time and effort involved for the five minute skit, they felt the alternative of an individual project, such as selling an item to students or raising donations among members, could be more fruitful.

Kappa Delta's president, Landa Sloan, said, "We thought our efforts would be more productive in a different project, but we'll still help Greek Review in ticket selling."

Zeta Tau Alpha's treasurer, Jeri Joe Browning remarked,

"We don't want to be an apathetic sorority. We decided not to perform, but to help out money-wise. We're going to make as much money as possible."

Previous Sell Out

Greek Review originated in 1957. Its chairman this year, Lambda Chi member Jim Bowie said that two years ago when Greek Review was performed, it was completely sold out, clearing $1,500.

The participating fraternities and sororities adopt skits around a central theme. The theme this year, commemorating TCU's 99th anniversary centennial is "The Second Hundred Years," Bowie said.

Skits will depict TCU life a hundred years from now involving everything from a trustee meeting to a mixer.

The responsibility of Lambda Chi as sponsoring fraternity includes everything from handling stage sets and securing a location to getting insurance and a master of ceremonies.

This year the fraternity's job will also include presenting a successful Greek Review with limited participation.

Bowie said he sympathized with the sororities not participating because it was difficult to put so much time and effort into a charitable program and not really seem appreciated as had been the case in past years. He added he wished there would be more publicity for the program.

"I'm really looking forward to Greek Review," Bowie said, "and I don't have any anticipation that it won't come out as it has been in the past years."

PROS, CONS AIRED

Cable TV Held 'Gold Mine' by Speaker

By JERRY HARBEN

Cable television is "a gold mine," but its potential social effects could be disastrous. Frank Gregg, director of the North Texas Christian Communications Commission, spoke of the pros and cons of cable TV to a small group of students in the Tom Brown library Wednesday night.

Although Gregg was enthusiastic about the potential of cable

TV, he feared mismanagement of the awarding of franchises.

A possible effect, he said, would be that only the affluent would be able to subscribe to the cable, driving another wedge between this country's already divided classes.

Immediate Legislation

Gregg advocated immediate legislation requiring a public hearing before a franchise could be awarded. He hopes this would insure that cable TV would be used to its maximum potential.

The cable, also known as Community Antenna Television (CATV) can provide as many as 42 channels, but many franchises are only providing for four to six channels.

CATV has a number of advantages over airwave television.

It provides greater range and clarity, and could be wired for two-way transmission. Gregg envisioned a system by which a viewer could dial any program he wanted from anywhere in the country, much like dialing a telephone.

Because of these advantages, Gregg believes CATV is the future of broadcasting, and he regrets that many franchises are not planning for future expansion.

TV Violence

In other remarks Gregg touched on a number of subjects pertinent to the media. He said TV has a vastly different effect from other communications media because of its ability to transmit pictures.

On TV violence, Gregg said, "I don't believe that it does affect behavior in the direction of violence." He said all television violence has simplistic moral that "the bad guy loses" and this is what is retained by the viewer.

Citing a scientific study on the subject, Gregg said he felt television does little to change viewer's opinions, but only reinforces opinions already held.

Gregg appeared as a substitute for Larry Lauer, assistant professor of Radio-TV, who was the scheduled speaker at the function sponsored by the Tom Brown-Jarvis Lecture Committee. Lauer was on a recruiting trip, and therefore unable to attend.

New Brachman Director, Coordinator Take Over

Continuing its history of personnel changes, Brachman Hall has a new Program Coordinator and Hall Director this semester.

Dr. J. W. Bohon has taken over the job of program coordinator at Brachman. Dr. Bohon has been with TCU since 1965 in the History Department. He received his B.A. at Michigan State University, his M.A. at Stetson U. and his Ph.D. at the University of North Carolina. He moved to the job as program coordinator after the resignation of Mrs. Eileen Rall last semester.

Edward Bivin, a 1963 TCU graduate, is the new hall director of Brachman. After teaching since 1963 at Eastern Hills High School, he returned to TCU this semester to act as hall director and work towards his M.A. in education.

Next week, Dr. Bohon will submit several plans to the students of Brachman concerning experimental classes that could be used in the program. The classes are experimental in that they have never been used in the curriculum at TCU.

Dr. Bohon stated, "As I see Brachman, the way it's been going can't be justified economically." He said the cost of Brachman cannot be justified when all the program consists of is professors coming from main campus to teach regular courses. He would like to see Brachman become more of a testing ground for new classes and programs and the use of team teaching.

Dr. Bohon hopes one-third to one-half of the program will consist of experimental classes.

Cost Council Approves Room, Tuition Increases

Tuition fees, room and board charges—as these affect private, nonprofit schools, colleges and universities—have been exempted by the Cost of Living Council from price control.

This ruling okays planned TCU fee hikes, but the status of faculty raises for next fall is still uncertain, Al Hensley of the Fiscal Affairs Office said. He said the Administration is "almost positive" the raises will be able to go through, but said this will not be known for certain until the University's attorney has a chance to explore the ruling, possibly some time next week.

SPB Committee Begins Black Center Site Search

A "black culture room committee" was formed by the Student Programming Board Thursday to study the possibility of designating some area on campus for a black culture display.

SPB members appointed by Glenn Johnson are Susan Steele, Janice Brandon, and Tom Lowe; more committee members will be recruited from SAAC and NAACP.

Johnson told the committee he had asked Dr. Howard G. Wible vice chancellor for Student Life, to consult a lawyer concerning the legality of such a center under civil rights laws.

Clarifying the purpose of the proposed black culture center as a place for all students, Lowe suggested the committee "find an area as open as possible" so that anyone will "feel free to walk in."

A discussion of funding procedures used by SPB to allocate its $3,000 spring budget is slated for the next SPB meeting, Tuesday.

Death Robs All Who Care; Farmworkers' Loss Ours

News of the first death in the nationwide movement to organize farm and migrant workers reached Fort Worth headquarters of the United Farm Workers Organizing Committee Wednesday morning.

An 18-year-old girl working as a volunteer in Florida was struck by a truck loaded with sugar cane as she carried a picket sign at the entrance to a sugar cane factory. Both factory workers and regular truck drivers were out on strike at the time.

Walter Pearson, UFWOC organizer here, said farm worker supporters in Fort Worth and across the nation will observe a seven day period of mourning along with the girl's family.

We too join in mourning, and hope this senseless tragedy will only strengthen the resolve and the efforts of concerned Americans to help one of the most neglected groups in this country, the farm workers.

We recall the words of John Donne: "Ask not for whom the bell tolls. It tolls for thee." Her death is a loss to her family, friends, to those whose cause she believed in and to all of us who care about our fellow man.

We hope this tragedy will never be repeated, for this nation cannot afford the loss of those who are so concerned about the lives of others. Today the bell of mourning tolls for all of us.

Security Men Meet State Levels

By NANCY LONG

After receiving your fifth traffic ticket for parking in the wrong lot, you may think that all the security officers do is hand out parking tickets.

This isn't true, however according to Chief of the Security Office, Wesley Autry, who said the officers' job is to "serve and protect" like peace officers of any city or state.

The staff is composed of 10 full-time patrolmen, two full-time dispatchers, two weekend dispatchers, one part-time patrolman, and one officer in charge of locking buildings at night and escorting coeds to their dorms.

Chief Autry explained these officers are real policemen and all patrolmen have to attend North Central Texas Regional Police Academy in Arlington for 340 hours of police training.

Traffic Tickets

Every city or state patrolman has to attend a police academy at least 144 hours in order to hold a police job, he added.

Chief Autry said besides handing out traffic violations, the staff carries out routine investigations of theft, dope cases, and cases of mischief. "Our department is setup much like one of a city suburb," he continued.

"Most of the investigations we can handle ourselves," he added, "but we can call for city assistance if we need it. For example, we might ask the city force to make a polygraph test."

"Right now, the biggest problem we've been having is stolen bicycles, 15 lately," Chief Autry said. Bicycles can be tracked down providing the owner registers it with the Fire Department, Chief Autry emphasized.

"Other than that, bikes don't create much of a problem and, in fact, personally I am glad to see them on campus," Chief Autry said. Bikes cut down on automobile traffic, he added.

Speaking of traffic, Chief Autry said he feels students have ample parking space here. "Students just don't want to walk," he said. In the coliseum parking area there are lots of spaces available.

Can't Beat The System

"Take Texas and Baylor and see how far away students have to park there. Compared to other places we have a paradise here. However," he continued, "we could use some more places around the dormitories."

For those who believe the theory of not registering your car so that you can park anywhere on campus, forget it.

Chief Autry explained that after a ticket has been given to an unregistered car, a card is made out with car description and license number and is then filed. After a second ticket is issued to the car, an identification of the owner is made by looking up the number. "License numbers can't be beat because every number is registered to someone," Chief Autry stated.

It is hard to say how many tickets are given out daily. "Some days we may hand out 100 and other days only 20," the chief said. Of course, he added, some tickets are handed out to visitors and they don't have to pay.

Tickets should be paid in the Business Office, but can also be paid in the Security Office located in Building 62, he added.

More Lights Needed

Concerning the problems of lights around campus, Chief Autry said he doesn't believe there are enough, especially around the dormitories. More lights are now being planned, but Chief Autry said he didn't know when the plans would become a reality.

Officers are available to escort girls to their dorms at night. "This plan is working out well with us, but the girls feel they need more privileges," Chief Autry said.

If a girl should find herself alone at night and is attacked, the chief gave this advice: "She should scream and scratch with her fingernails." Usually, the attacker will turn her loose, the chief added.

"After eight years with Security Office, I can say there is never a dull moment around here," Chief Autry concluded.

US Agency Seeks Help For 'Action'

Anyone interested in Action, the new federal agency which combines the Peace Corps and VISTA, will be able to talk to agency representatives on campus next week.

Two Action representatives will man a table in the Student Center from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Jan. 31 through Feb. 2. They are especially interested in talking to people with academic and work skill backgrounds in nursing, business, math and sciences.

Cecilia Thompson, an ex-volunteer, did secretarial work in agriculture and worked in a child care clinic for working mothers in Colombia, South America. The other representative, Elliott Halsey, is a Sioux Indian from South Dakota who worked for the planning department of the Oglala Sioux Tribe and associated with VISA volunteers working on the reservation.

Family Tree, Skeleton Hunt Course Begins

Is there a skeleton hanging somewhere on your family tree? Finding information about ancestors as well as recording such material will be among the topics considered during the eight week genealogy course to be offered through the Special Division Courses.

The class begins Feb. 3 and will be taught by Rev. Gordon Milton of Cleburne. The course will stress the importance of carefulness and the scientific approach in the research and publication of genealogical material.

Tuition is $25 per person and $35 for two from one family. Class will meet on Thursdays from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. in room 108 of the Religion Building.

Televised Game Tomorrow

Frogs To Host Rice

The TCU Horned Frogs will try to even their Southwest Conference basketball record tomorrow afternoon when they take on Rice in a regionally televised contest in Daniel-Meyer Coliseum.

The Frogs are now 1-2 in league play after consecutive road losses to SMU and Texas A&M. The game will be an important one for the Frogs if they hope to successfully defend their SWC championship. Texas Tech now leads the league with a 3-0 record while

A&M, Texas and SMU are tied for second with 2-1 marks. Baylor and Arkansas share a 1-2 standing with the Frogs while Rice is winless in three conference outings. TCU coach Johnny Swaim is hoping his troops can say out of foul trouble tomorrow, a malady which has hampered the Frogs in their last two efforts.

Last week, both Simpson Degrate and Evans Royal fouled out against the Aggies. Degrate leads the conference in rebounds (10.9) and is ranked third in scoring (20.2). Royal is the league's fifth best rebounder with a 9.2 average.

In other SWC games tomorrow, SMU is at Texas Tech, Baylor is at A&M and Arkansas is at Texas.
