OKLAHOMA UNIVERSITY'S Board of Regents was ordered last week by a writ of mandamus to recognize the Norman Gay Alliance for Sexual Freedom and grant it the use of university funds and facilities. The writ was issued by a district court judge five hours after the Regents voted unanimously to deny the group recognition.

The group was officially recognized as a student organization by the Student Congress last February but use of facilities have been repeatedly denied by President Paul Sharp.

ENROLLMENT information will no longer be supplied to the Selective Service by the Registrar's Office of the University of Houston, unless a student requests it. The action is being taken because many students have dropped their student deferment and no longer want any information reported to their local draft board.

OUT-OF-STATE students at state universities in Arizona, Maryland and Michigan are challenging the legality of the higher tuitions they have to pay. Their fight is based on the grounds that they should be eligible for in-state tuition because of their right to register and vote in their school communities.

A SOUTHWEST TEXAS State University coed is temporarily back in school after her dismissal for possession of alcohol in her dormitory room. The coed voluntarily withdrew from school last week on the advice of the Dean of Women. The sealed bottles were souvenirs of an airplane ride and were used for decoration.

AN ANTI-SMOKING CLINIC has been instituted at the University of Kansas. The clinic, under the sponsorship of the psychological clinic, has a goal of finding a new way to successfully stop persons from smoking. James Duff, graduate student, said the clinic would use a method that had been used in clinical study. He said the method consists of a combination of hypnosis and self control.

AFTER UNSUCCESSFUL attempts to bring Democratic gubernatorial candidates to the campus of North Texas State University for a debate, Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalism society, abandoned the project. They received a conditional yes from Ben Barnes, a spokesman for Dolph Briscoe refused to consider the idea and Frances Farenthold could not be reached. Barnes' commitment depended on an affirmative answer from Briscoe. Gov. Preston Smith did not answer his telegram.

THE "BEST KEPT SECRET" of Honors Week was Dr. Judith Suther's selection as this year's Honors Professor. The decision was announced at yesterday's Honors Convocation.

Dr. Suther Chosen Honors Professor

Dr. Judith Suther called it a "best kept secret" as she was named 1972-73 Honors Faculty Recognition awardee during Honors Day Convocation Thursday.

The associate professor of French was selected by honors and pre-honors students as "one who achieves much, yet strives beyond; loves knowledge, yet loves wisdom more; who shares with us a vision of human life made worthy by discipline and compassion."

Dr. Suther assumes chairmanship of the Foreign Language Department next fall. She has authored numerous works, is active in professional organizations and is a Phi Beta Kappa.

Dr. Suther will deliver next year's address at the Honors Day banquet.

The morning convocation, complete with full academic regalia, saw Phi Delta Theta and Alpha Gamma Delta claim scholarship awards for highest standing among Greeks. Tri-Delta's fall pledges were the outstanding pledge class.

Renewed Bombing Condemned

From the Associated Press

The presidents of the eight Ivy League schools in a joint statement issued Wednesday condemned renewed bombing in North Vietnam and also criticized coercive student strikes. At the nation's colleges and universities, meanwhile, students planned votes on a coordinated antiwar strike for Friday.

About 500 students at Columbia University in New York voted Wednesday to shut down the school and succeeded in cancelling a number of classes by barricading some buildings and picketing.

They ignored or burned copies of restraining orders issued by a State Supreme Court justice.

The Ivy League statement, which noted the presidents were signing their names "personally" and not for their institutions urged full disengagement and opposed continuation of the air war for any purpose other than immediate protection of U.S. troops in the process of withdrawal.

The Ivy League schools are Brown, Columbia, Cornell, Dartmouth, Harvard, Pennsylvania, Princeton and Yale. Also signing was Jerome Wiesner, head of Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

The statement deplored "a national policy which seems to be based on the belief that the United States must at almost any cost win the war . . ."

It continued: "The costs of such a policy in human life and suffering are appalling and unjustified. We therefore deplore the bombing of North Vietnam and its civilian population."

The statement said the presidents supported the students' nonviolent constructive outlets for "their views, their distress and their concerns" so long as the rights of others for educational and scholastic activities were not jeopardized.

"We do not condone coercive action by individuals or groups seeking to impose their particular convictions or concerns on others," it said.

While some student bodies have already voted to strike on Friday, as urged by the Student Mobilization Committee and other groups, students at MIT, Brown, Holy Cross, Harvard, Dartmouth, Yale and several California schools have scheduled strike votes.

Modern Spanish Comedy

Festival To Present "Cradle Song"

The modern Spanish comedy-drama "The Cradle Song," will be presented by the TCU Theatre Department April 24-29. The performances are in conjunction with the Fine Arts Festival and will be under the direction of Dr. Henry Hammack.

Written by Gregorio and Maria Martinez Sierra "The Cradle Song" deals with the changes occurring inside a Dominican convent after a child was left on the door step of the convent. The story portrays the child's growth to womanhood and the changes she brings to the lives of the nuns.

The girl Teresa will be portrayed by Amy Griggs. Teresa's closest friend, Sister Joanna of the Cross, will be played by Kathryn Davidson. Antonio, the young man who is to marry Teresa, will be played by Steve Nelson.

Other major roles will be played by Louise Williams, Cheryl Shirley, Ann Hudson, Renee Onstot, Vicki Breed, Melanie Mitchell, Mary Anne Mitchell, Laura Beard and John Gaston.

Bettie Bechtel is student assistant director and William Stalsworth is stage manager. Set design was created by James C. Monroe.

TCU student and faculty tickets for all productions are free and may be obtained at the University Theater box office prior to the production. Non-TCU student tickets are $1, while other tickets cost $2.

Bulletin

Ronnie Littleton, most sought-after high school footballer in the state, signed yesterday afternoon with TCU. Head coach Billy Tohill drove to Wichita Falls Thursday and signed the high school all-American.

Littleton, a quarterback-halfback, was the unanimous all-state choice on the UPI and AP polls both his junior and senior years.

Bill of Rights Copies Near Skiff Boxes

Some 2,000 copies of the Student Bill of Rights and Responsibilities will be available next week near the Daily Skiff boxes in Sadler Hall, Dan Rogers Hall, the Student Center and Worth Hills cafeteria.

Randy Grissom, House of Student Representatives member reminded students that a copy is on the bulletin board in front of the student lounge.

Student vote on the controversial measure is set for Thursday, April 27.

"THE CRADLE SONG," a modern Spanish comedy-drama, will be presented by the Theatre Department next week, April 24-29. Amy Griggs and Kathryn Davidson have leading roles.

Readers Charge Bias Against Republicans

Editor:

We feel that equal coverage of the gubernatorial candidates has not been presented in the Skiff.

It was stated in the April 11 edition that "the Republicans are given little chance of winning the November election . . ." But in the April 6 edition of the Fort Worth Press, it was stated that "The Republican Party in Texas is coming of age and can be expected to emerge in the next two years as a major political force that Democrats can no longer ignore."

In the same edition of the Press, they publicized their endorsement of Republican gubernatorial candidate, Dave Reagan. The article said, "Mr. Reagan stands out as the one who is capable of leading Texas into a new era of responsible government for all citizens. His ideas are fresh and practical."

Although the Skiff has shown its liberal Democratic bias by endorsing Frances Farenthold as the Democratic gubernatorial candidate, would you please take notice of the Republican candidates?

Since Dave Reagan has been found worthy enough to be endorsed by a leading Fort Worth paper, it seems that the TCU Daily Skiff should at least recognize him as a candidate. (Mr. Reagan's name has been mentioned only once in connection with the gubernatorial race.)

In the interest of responsible journalism, perhaps the Skiff would see fit to give equal recognition to all gubernatorial candidates.

Speakers Open Mind

Editor:

As a former student of "the little red schoolhouse by the bay" (Berkeley) and a graduate from the school which is definitely be-seiged by "pinks" (Minnesota), I must also applaud the speaker policy of TCU.

In both of the above environments I was constantly stimulated by such revolutionists as Stokely Carmichael, Mario Savio, Bettina Aptheker, Eugene McCarthy and Bobby Kennedy (to mention a few).

Everywhere I went I heard the four-letter word mixed into a dialogue advocating everything from the violent overthrow of our government to the violent overthrow of other governments (e.g., North Vietnam).

Caught in the middle of both sides of every argument (Billy Graham spoke one day before the leader of Students for Satan), I was forced to open my mind, decide rationally for myself which was right and wrong and essentially take responsibility for my own views and actions.

Now we all know that acceptance of such responsibility by persons scarcely old enough to vote, fight and die in war, and marry and procreate, is a dangerous situation indeed.

We must continue to shelter our young adults from views in opposition to our own; censor our books, papers and speakers; and generally, make our school, our state, and our country arenas for the furthering of democratic and anti-communist ideology!

If it means the destruction of our Constitution and Bill of Rights to do so, then let it be done!

Lighting System Improvements Hampered by Renovation Cost

Editor's Note: This is first in a three-part series concerning the lighting problem on campus.

By MELISSA LANE

A cry for improvement in the present outdoor lighting system has been continually issued by students, but improvements have been slow in coming.

Robert E. Haubold, director of buildings and grounds, said improvements in the present outdoor lighting system depend a great deal on how much students are willing to pay.

Students must take into consideration the problems involved in renovating the lighting system, Haubold said.

Cost is the major prohibitive factor, he explained. To update and install a new electrical system on the East campus (the area where Dan Rogers Hall and the library and science buildings are located), Haubold said the cost would be a minimum of $50,000.

In the next several years, Haubold said if the wire system that serves the campus were to be updated, a minimum of $1 million would be needed.

"Also to be considered," Haubold said, "is the lack of proper manpower to install a new lighting system. Installation would necessitate professionals to be hired to do the job.

"A third aspect is that the new lighting system should be decorative as well as functional," Haubold explained. Artistic designs are complicated and need a great deal of planning by experts.

The present lighting system is not attractive and the new system should highlight the buildings and other features of the campus, he added.

Haubold emphasized that the surrounding community as well as students must also be taken into consideration when outdoor lighting is discussed. Haubold said surrounding residents don't like lights shining in their windows at night and neither do dormitory students.

Haubold said he believes "there are other needs on campus more critical than improving the lighting." One such need, Haubold said, is a new power substation to replace the one by the practice golf range.

Haubold said, "At this time there are no definite plans for improving the lighting system since most areas are reasonably well illuminated."

The problem is not as critical as some might indicate, he said, but there are areas that do need improvement. Haubold said he believes the area between Dan Rogers Hall and the library needs light more than any other area.

The parking lot between Colby and Milton Daniel residence halls would be the second prime target of lighting if the money was available.

However, Haubold said, "it appears that it is not human nature for people to give money for lights and underground wires, while there is still the opportunity to have their name on a building."

L. C. White, vice chancellor for Fiscal Affairs, said, "It is our hope and expectation that at some future date we will install a more modern, more attractive and better designed lighting system."

"Our efforts for the present are simply to improve the existing system on a very limited budget but to provide for the reasonable safety of our students," White concluded.

Joe Christie Frog Lover, Too

Joe Christie and TCU have something in common—love for horned frogs.

Sen. Christie, on campus campaigning for the upcoming lieutenant governor's primary, reflected his feelings toward Texas horned frogs.

He authored a Senate bill to save the University mascot and insect eater from extinction in 1967. Christie told the 38 listeners how he became interested in the beautiful creatures.

Music Society Elects Officers

Pi Kappa Lambda, National Music Society, has elected new officers for 1972-73 and initiated 11 new student members and two faculty members. The new officers are Ralph Guenther, president and Emmet Smith, vice-president. Anna Harriet Heyer was retained as secretary-treasurer.

New faculty members are John W. Woldt and David Graham.

New student members include Cynthia Dobrinski, Twila Overstreet, Sharie Van Tassel, Venita McGorman, Deborah Waldo, Linda Fischer, Stephen Sansom, Nancy Basmajian, Cathy Atteberry, Cathy Gray and Virginia Hanagami.

He said a chiropractor came into his office in 1966 wearing a tie clasp with a miniature horned frog on it. When Christie asked where the doctor obtained his unique clasp and how it was made, he decided to consider a bill for the apparently stuffed specimen's protection.

The chiropractor described the process in detail, saying baby horned frogs were put into a mold alive.

And Joe Christie said, "I've got to help them out."

"Besides," he explained, "A horned frog eats an average of 70,000 bugs a year."

Sen. Christie emphasized initiating the 18-year-old voting bill two years before it passed legislation in 1971. He also indicated that he favors full legal rights for 18-21-year-olds.

One of Christie's prized legislative accomplishments was his work to end hypocrisy in Texas liquor laws. He pointed out that local option sale of mixed drinks has brought over $1.5 million a month in state revenue.

Concerning drugs, the democratic reform candidate said he would work to reduce the penalty of first offense possession of marijuana to a misdemeanor.

As far as hard drugs are concerned, Christie advocates an "honest and meaningful drug education program." He said the way the drug program is presently run, no one is really sure what to believe and what not to.

For those already in prison due to marijuana possession, Christie endorsed a policy to grant amnesty. "A 35-year prison sentence for possessing a few marijuana cigarettes is ridiculous," the El Paso native said.

Concerning the current abortion laws, which are under fire and the possible end of those laws, Christie said he favored no law at all. "The decision of abortion should be left up to the patient and her doctor," he said.

Powerlifting Meet Begins Tomorrow

The TCU Barbell Club is hosting tomorrow's national AAU collegiate powerlifting championships in Daniel-Meyer Coliseum.

The competition will continue Sunday with action getting underway at 9 a.m. both days and lasting until 5 p.m.

Over 100 lifters from 45 states are due to compete for national individual and team rankings.

In conjunction with the meet, the Collegiate Mr. America physique contest will be held Saturday at 7 p.m.

Admission for the entire meet is $1, while TCU students, faculty and staff members will be admitted free.

Doubleheader Today

Frogs Host Texas In Crucial Series

The largest crowds of the season are anticipated at the TCU baseball diamond today and Saturday.

Head coach Frank Windegger says he'll start sophomore pitcher Frank Johnstone when the Frogs begin a 1 p.m. doubleheader against the Texas Longhorns.

Between 3000 and 5000 people are expected for the three-game series which will, in all probability, determine the Southwest Conference championship.

In the second game, Jess Cole is scheduled to start on the mound for the Frogs while Tom Ladasau is due to pitch Saturday's 2 p.m. contest.

Also in the TCU lineup this afternoon will be freshman football standout Mike Luttrell, who reported for baseball duty following football spring training last week.

Windegger says Luttrell will start in right field "because we need some offensive punch. Mike's been working out all this week and he's been hitting the ball pretty well in batting practice. We may be giving up a little defense, but we've got to score some runs to beat Texas."

The Frogs are 26-10 on the season, while the Longhorns have a 33-5 mark for the year.

But the important standings at this point are reflected in the SWC records where the Frogs (9-3) have a one game lead over the second place Longhorns (8-4).
