Tuesday, April 12, 1988

Texas Christian University, Fort Worth, TX

85th Year, No. 100

Here they come - Student leaders walk from Robert Carr Chapel to University Christian Church before being initiated into Mortar Board at 2 p.m. Sungay

Two greek groups receive probation

By Julia Taylor

TCU has refused to divulge the names of two Greek organizations that have been put on probation. The TCU chapters of Kappa Kappa Gamma and the Phi Delta Theta were put on probation earlier this semes-ter, said members of these organiza-

John Runyon, former president of Phi Delta Theta, said his fraternity has been put on probation for hazing. He said the fraternity had a house improvement session that was not supposed to occur.

The pledges of Phi Delta Theta painted the inside of the fraternity house, Runyon said. No active members helped with the painting, he said.

Susan Batchelor, director of stu-Susan Batchelor, director of student activities, speaking hypothetically, said painting the heuse would not constitute hazing. She said more relevant details had to be known.
Wade Jones, a freshman member of Phi Delta Theta who was a pledge at the time of the hazing incident, said the pledges did not think they were being hazed at the time.
"If we thought it was hazing, we wouldn't have done it in the first place," he said.

wouldn't have done it in the first place," he said.

Two Kappa Kappa Gamma mem-bers, who wished to remain anony-mous because they feared retribution from members of their sorority, said their sorority is on probation.

The judicial process or hearing at TCU for such organizations is handled by the Student Organization Com-

However, Peggy Barr, vice chan-cellor for student affairs, said, "We do not talk about specific outcomes for any judicial proceeding," Batchelor agreed. She said information concerning these hearings cannot be released because all hear-cannot be released because all hear-ings are confidential.

"It (the information) is not public record," Batchelor said.

The University of Texas, however, makes information about an organiza-tion, being with the purch action with tion being put on probation public record as soon as the hearing is com-pleted, said Glenn Maloney, assistant dean at the University of Texas.

The university releases a press statement defining the offense, the penalty and the organization in-volved, Maloney said.

The law of Texas, however, makes it mandatory for the university to publish a list during the first three weeks of each semester of organiza-tions that have been disciplined or convicted of hazing on- or off-campus.

TCU will comply with the abovementioned provision, Batchelor said. Statements will be released the semester following the semester the organization was put on probation,

See PROBATION Page 6

Enrollment closes summer courses

By Sonya Arvie

Staff Writer Record enrollment caused 28 Extended Education classes, classes offered to part-time students working adults and other non-traditional students, to close due to occupancy this semester, according to Mary Robbins, director of comp unity and professional programs.

Robbins said this represented the largest number of classes ever to be filled to capacity.

"Some people say that when the stock market goes down, the noncredit class enrollment goes up."

Robbins said. "There is no scientific evidence of this, and we really don't know why the enrollment don't know why the enrollment was so high."

Derek Skaggs, director for the Office of Extended Education, said it is hard to judge why the enrollment increased, but he is very pleased. "I believe it was just the right classes at the right time, and I hope the success continues," Skaggs said.

Robbins contributed to the enrollment by making the class offerings more inviting, he said.

The Office of Extended Education offers a variety of programs of interest to the community, said

Schieffer appointed to convention faculty

Mary Alice Oatman, summer ses-

"New courses spark more interest, and we try to make them appealing," Oatman said.

Microcomputer courses are al-ways popular and close quickly, Oatman said.

Skaggs said the three main areas in the organization are the Community Service Program, the Extension Program at Carswell Air Force Base and the Adult Services.

"This office is a service organiza-tion to the community and the uni-versity, and we project the image of service," Skaggs said. Extended Education is a unit of TCU that serves the non-traditional student and the non-credit students in the community, Oatman said.

Upcoming classes in April and May include: Maintain and Troub-leshoot Your Own PC, Word Per-fect, Auto Awareness Clinic, Poor-man's Desktop Publishing and Genealogy on Your Micro-computer.

A booklet entitled "Learner's Guide," a book about classes offered through the program, is mailed to about 18,000 people in the Fort Worth area, Skaggs said.

Policy for transferring changed

By Kristie Aylett Staff Writer

A change in the wording about the process of transferring credit from other universities to TCU will begin affecting students in the fall.

The change from "should" to "must," on pages 19 and 61 of the new 1988-89 undergraduate bulletin, forces students to get prior written approval from their academic dean before taking classes at other univer-sities, said William Koehler, vice chancellor for academic affairs.

"The worry is that students here now will enroll elsewhere without being aware of the change," he said. "They will spend time, effort and money taking classes that won't trans-fer back to TCU."

The reason for the change is that students were taking classes else-where, either during the summer or concurrently while attending TCU, and not telling anyone, Koehler said.

"On too many occasions, their courses couldn't be used to fulfill their degree plan," he said.

"Sometimes a student will take courses elsewhere thinking it will transfer," said Audrey Campau, assis-tant to the dean in the School of Fine Arts and Communication

With deans knowing beforehand what courses students are taking else-where, Koehler said they will know exactly what classes a student takes.

"We will also ensure that students are taking the right courses," he said.

In this way, students will be ssured that their classes will transfer to TCU, he said.

"In terms of transferability, stu-dents will be the ones who gain," Koehler said.

"It's actually a safeguard for the stu-

Students who plan to take classes at dean in the school of their major first, Koehler said.

"Students will need to discuss plans and get approval from the dean before they enroll elsewhere," he said. Students in the School of Fine Arts and Communication will use the Academic Action form to request per-mission to take courses elsewhere,

"It will then be either approved or disapproved, depending on what the student wants to take," she said.

AddRan College of Arts and Sciences has its own Academic Action form that students will need to fill out, said James Henley, associate dean.

Students in the M. J. Neeley School of Business will complete a form re-questing taking courses at another university, said Peggy Wyrick, coor-dinator of undergraduate academic

The policy change will take effect in the fall so any courses taken now or during the summer will transfer under the old policy, Koehler said.

The deans will not have much more work under this policy than there would have been under the previous policy, he said.

"It may be a little more paperwork, but I wouldn't call it a hassle," Cam-

If students neglect to get their dean's approval, it will be at the dis-cretion of the dean whether to let the courses count, Koehler said.

"It's not an earth-shattering change
– just one of convenience," Koehler said. "We just want to know before instead of after."

The new bulletin also says that after students take classes from other universities, the transcript must reach the Office of Admissions within 30 days of completing the course.

"In the long run, it will help all of us," Campau said.

Relationships subject of lecture

By Kristie Aylett Staff Writer

A practioner in the Church of Christ, Scientist will speak at the annual lecture sponsored by the Christian Science organization at TCU at 5:30 p.m. Tuesday in Moudy Building Room 164N.

Channing Walker, a professional healer through prayer, will be giving a lecture on "Relationship and Careers: Finding Their Divine Basis," said Sydney Wilson, faculty sponsor and adjunct instuctor of harp. The goal of the event is to help students find a divine basis for their

He will speak about how we can seek help from God in dealing with our problems," Wilson said. "He will our problems," Wilson said. "He will also correct misconceptions about Christian Scientists."

Walker is qualified to speak on the subject because he has been in the public practice of healing and has been helping people in their relationships for 10 years, she said.

"Practioners help in any situation, not just sickness," Wilson said.

Walker is a member of the Christian Science Board of Lectureship, whose members prepare lectures and tour the country to talk to organiza-

The lecture should help students of any religion because of the topic's sig-nificance for everyone, Wilson said. The lecture is designed to be of intricted to Christian Scientists, she

"This is significant to the campus because everyone is concerned with the topic," Wilson said.

The lecture has been held for at least 15 years, Wilson said.

"This is our gift to the campus," Wilson said. "We sponsor it, organize it and pay for it."

it and pay for it."
"But it's for all students, not just

The purpose of the Christian Scienute to the religious life of the school by fostering an in-depth understand-ing of the life and works of Christ Jesus as a guide to regeneration, heal-ing and concrete human progress, Wilson said.

Second hostage dies in Kuwaiti hijacking

LARNACA, Cyprus (AP) - Arab hi-jackers on Monday killed a second hostage, tossed his bloody body from a Kuwaiti jet and threatened to kill the rest of the nearly 50 captives if the plane wasn't refueled.

The gunmen said the dead man was a "Kuwaiti officer." He was the second of three Kuwaiti military men aboard Kuwait Airways jet that the Kuwait release 17 pro-Iranian terrorists convicted in 1984 for bombing the U.S. and French embassies in December 1983.

In Kuwait, Foreign Minister Sheik Sabah al-Ahmed al-Sabah said his country is prepared to lose more hos-

There are 52 people aboard the Boeing 747, including three members of the Kuwaiti royal family, as well as the hijackers, who are masked by blue hoods fashioned from airline pillow cases and armed with grenades and hijackers, all of them Arabs, carrying

The man killed Monday was pushed from the blue-and-white plane at 3:07 p.m. (8:07 a.m. EDT) after Cypriot officials ignored two deadlines to refuel the jet.

The hijackers said they wanted about nine hours' worth of fuel so they could fly to an unspecified "neutral

Staff Writer Former TCU graduate Bob Schieffer,

By Suzanne Lorton

Former ICU graduate Boo Scineter, chief Washington correspondent for CBS News and member of the TCU Board of Trustees, has been appointed as one of the faculty for college courses offered at the Democratic and Republican nominating conventions this summer. conventions this summer.

The courses, sponsored by the Washington Center, are available for either undergraduate or master of liberal arts credits.

Students will be assigned field ork with party and convention offitants, media organizations, state de-legations and other officially recognized convention participants

"It will give them (participating students) a valuable perspective on politics and political science," said Eugene Alpert, political science pro-

Students will be invited to attend official party and candidate functions. Paul Boller, emeritus professor of history at TCU, will be another faculty member teaching the summer Orleans Aug. 7-19. The application deadline for the convention classes is April 15.

Courses for the Democratic Convention will be held July 10-22 in Atlanta while those for the Republi-can Convention will be in New hijackers have slain during the week-long ordeal.

The hijackers have demanded that

Sabah said there are at least eight

TODAYpeople

Play it again, and again, in recording studio

By Melinda Hartman

Staff Writer

Studio B was printed on the door This was the right place. I opened the door to the control room and heard my brother, Max, singing "I've got to tell you a little story, but it ain't no Jack and Iill."

Jack and Jill.

I walked in and a huge window connected the recording studio and the control booth I was in. Max and Philip saw me through the window, smiled and nodded at me while playing their control board, he introduced himself.

Then I met Bill Foshee, the recording engineer. While busily turning nobs and flipping switches on a huge control board, he introduced himself.

Then the music stopped and Philip said "That's not right," while adjusting his red guitar. Wes, more concerned with the height of his microphone said, "Why did you stop?"
"Because that's not right," Philip said. Then all four boys started talking

Foshee flipped a switch and said "Another Day,' take two."
This rock 'n' roll band, All in One, consists of four 16-year-old guys, Wes Cunningham, Max Hartman, and Philip Pritchett all on guitar and vocals and Morgan Maberry on the Foshee said the young age of the guvs was not too unusua

"You get people of all ages in here doing everything from a polka album to country and western to rock," he said.

In the next room I could see the guys singing and, in between lyrics, dancing, having a great time.

They remind me of the early Beetles all with short brown hair and a clean-cut look. Dressed casually in shorts or jeans and shirts, they all had a spark of excitement in their eyes, and the tension grew in the studio.

They came here for six hours to record 10 songs which they had writered.

record 10 songs which they had writ-ten themselves.

The recording studio had wood shingles on one wall, rocks on another, and carpet on the last two. It is the oldest recording studio in Dal-las, and it looked seasoned.

"The acoustics were just right," Hartman said. "Not a dead sound, but not a ringing sound either."

The pressure was on because they had paid $250 dollars each to make their album.

their album.
"It's hard to relax when you're spending this much money," Foshee

During a break Maberry said at times he felt so pressured not to make a mistake that he didn't completely open up and play like he wanted to. "Later in the day when everyone got tired, tempers would flare if someone messed up," Maberry said. "Everyone has their money and their pride on the line," Pritchett

"Take one, "The Hopping Song," Foshee said. The needles on the gauges went wild as the band started up again.

up again.

Foshee said they were putting down the rhythm tracks, which meant they were recording just the instru-ments and each instrument was on a separate microphone. The guys were singing, but these were called scratch cord the vocals separately and scratch

"Don't speed it up, guys," Cun-ningham said between verses.

The guys all had on headphones so they could hear both Foshee and each other give instructions.

"Go to A here," Pritchett said. Hartman gestured thumbs up to Maberry after a short drum solo.

I tried to stay out of Foshee's way as he slid his chair between the panel in front of us and the equipment behind us making sure everything functioned

"End it, end it," Pritchett said. "Fade it out, Bill."

Hartman told Foshee that they wanted to hear the song they had just recorded to decide if they needed to "OK, playback," Foshee said. Now it was time for a rendition of Bleeps and Blunders.

"Natalie' take three." Foshee said. Only about three notes into the song Cunningham started to sing the chorus, then shook his head realizing

"Natalie' take four," Foshee said.

They had done one song many times. Tired and frustrated, they just couldn't get it right. To be honest, I was getting rather tired of hearing it over and over.

So they left the studio, ran around the block and then came back and tried it again. Then on their second try they did it without a flaw.

"It's not as easy as it seems," Foshee said.

When writing three of the songs, Cunningham had a girl in mind whom he said he admires from afar. He said he thought once she heard the songs it would increase his chances of going out with her.

Then Cunningham went back into the studio to sing, and it was time for me to leave.

"Take one, 'Weekend Rolling one," Foshee said.

As I left I heard Cunningham sing-ing "When the weekend comes, I'm on the run, and I'm on my own like a rolling stone."

"Wait, do it over. I messed up," he

I laughed wondering if they would

Past Perfect owners collect history, sell nostalgia

By Heather Reis

Staff Writer

Taking an obsession and turning it into profit is an ability worth striving for. Especially for two pack rats who have found an outlet for their shopping addictions ping addictions.

Ron Hieronymus, departmental secretary in the TCU speech department, and Al Macareno have been shopping for collectables sometimes seven days a week for 10 years.

"It didn't matter if there was a use for the item or not." Hieronymus for the item or not," Hieronymus said. "If it was a good buy, we bought

And buy they did. Forming narrow pathways in their living room are two jukeboxes, a pinball machine, three pianos and two love seats, not to mention various other things.

Soon Hieronymus said they realized there was so much stuff that they could sell some of it and make some maney.

money.

So they began dragging their things to the Will Roger's flea market. When that became unwise because of the damage to the clothing caused by the dust from the cattle barns, they looked for a location to set up shop.

The leastion Hieronymus chose was The location Hieronymus chose was off Blue Bonnet Circle

"We argued about it because I felt it was too difficult to find," Macareno

I visited the shop, now called Past

"We've invested around $10,000 to $20,000 in the inventory of the shop.'

Ron Hieronumus. secretary in the TCU speech department

Perfect, quite by accident one day. I had to drive by it on the way to a friend's house and a psychedelic painted van caught my eye. It was covered with peace signs, flowers, and other things from the 60's.

At the time the shop was so packed with things, I didn't even want to look

Because of limited space, poor locale and a few disputes with the neighboring businesses, Macareno said they chose to move to their cur-rent location of 3053 S. University

Since the move Hieronymus said there has been a definite increase in there has been a definite increase in traffic although the shop really hasn't become a moneymaker just yet. "We're looking for individuals with discriminating taste that can appreci-ate unique items," Hieronymus said.

Unique is a pretty conservative word to describe some of the things I saw when I went to the shop. Bordering on extremely weird was a windup pig that walks, a 1940 Texaco credit card and a fake fur tuxedo.

I was amazed at the dazzling pieces of rare jewlery they had collected and the clothing dating mostly before the

The most expensive item in the store, Hieronymus said, are two art deco restaurant booths priced at

"We've invested around $10,000 to $20,000 in the inventory of the shop." Hieronymus said. "Although the true value of everything is very subjec-

"It has become harder to find deals though because people have become more aware of the worth of things," said Hieronymus.

I'm sure however that somewhere out there sitting in a dusty box in someone's garage is a treasure waiting to be found by the two tall, mustached

Macareno's hope for the future is for the shop to start supporting itself and make a profit.

Hieronymus, on the other hand, looks at himself as some sort of histo-

"I collect the past and keep it like a library," Hieronymus said. "The past would be lost without people like

Costumes not just clothes

Wardrobe makes theatre characters come to life

By Heather Reis

Staff Writer

With each step downward toward the basement of the Ballet Building, I came closer and closer to fulfilling a childhood fantasy.

I was going to the costume shop. Here, just like Rumplestiltskin, stu-dents and teachers take simple fabric and turn, it into something gold in and turn it into something gold in comparison. In fact, such characters as "Amadeus," "Two Gentlemen from Verona" and most recently the cast of And Miss Reardon Drinks A Little," have adorned the various garb. What many people take for granted or don't realize is that costumes tell ore than the time of day or season.

ney can actually delineate who or what we are. You only get one chance to make that first impression, said Lalonnie Lehman, a professor in the theater department.

As we talked Lehman, leading me around the musty shop, pointed out all the different materials used in her

I saw sewing machines, needles, pins, bolts of fabric, naked manne-quins, busts with differently shaped wigs on them and sheets of paper with etched designs all settled comfortably throughout the room.

"Costume design is an art – each costume is made specifically for a certain part," Lehman said. "We all work toward one goal. That's for the production to hit the stage successfully."

By reading the play, ballet or opera and listening to the music, Lehman said she gets a feel for the costuming.

"The costume must evolve from a character within a script," she said. "You just can't walk in here and say, 'I want to be King Lear.' It just doesn't

The people in the shop revamp some of the old costumes if they are appropriate with the design of a par-ticular character.

Lehman's eyes intensified, and her body became erect with excitement as she told me of her costume history

The class is offered as an elective to all majors. In the class Lehman explores the development of Western civilization through clothing.

An attest to her teaching abilities, Lehman's students, who have pursued the theater as a career, are working within the field.

Finally, she unbolted the door to the room I most wanted to see, the actual wardrobes.

Here lining about 10 rows in each of actor at TCU has worn from the cos-tumes down to a jeweled-handle

My heart raced as it did when I was a girl playing dress-up with my mother's things. But here were velvet capes from kings and sparkling wands from fairy princesses.

I couldn't imagine how Lehman, having something to do with most of the costumes, could part with any of

But she said, once a costume goes to an actor, she lets it go. Stepping into a costume is the final release into being someone else, so the actor must wholly possess it, she said. "The thing that's most wonderful is when an actor comes back after wear-ing one of my costumes in a produc-tion and says, 'Yes, it worked,'" Lehman said. Running my hands over each costume as we walked through the wardrobes, I could tell that each of those costumes had "worked.

As I walked up the stairs from the As I walked up the stairs non the shop, I remembered something Leh-man had said, "A costume is nothing until it comes alive," and I wondered until it comes alive," and I we if when we all left, they did.

FROG FEST

SATURDAY, APRIL 16, 1988

EVENT	TIME	PLACE
5 K Fun Run	9:00 a.m.	Rickel Building
FACULTY/STAFF
Racquetball Doubles	9:30 a.m.	Rickel Building
Tennis Doubles	9:30 a.m.	Rickel Courts
MUSIC STARTS	1:30 p.m.	Sadler Hall Lawn
3 on 3 Basketball entries due April 13	1:30 p.m.	Reed Hall Lawn
Volleyball Tournament entries due April 13	1:30 p.m.	Reed Hall Lawn
Egg Toss	2:00 p.m.	Sadler Hall Lawn
Dunking Booth	2:00 p.m.	Sadler Hall Lawn
Simon Says Contest	2:15 p.m.	Sadler Hall Lawn
Pass the Orange Relay	2:30 p.m.	Sadler Hall Lawn
Frisbee Golf Tee Off	2:45 p.m.	Reed Hall Steps
Pie Eating Contest	3:00 p.m.	The Mall
BED RACES entries due April 13	3:15 p.m.	Sadler Hall Lawn
Twister	4:00 p.m.	Sadler Hall Lawn
Toss Your Cookies Relay	4:15 p.m.	Sadler Hall Lawn
Cake Toss	4:30 p.m.	The Mall
Aerobie Throw	4:45 p.m.	Reed Hall Lawn
Tug of War	5:00 p.m.	Clark Hall Lawn
Comedians	5:30 and 6:30 p.m.	Sadler Hall Steps
Concert	6:00 p.m.	Student Center Steps

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CALL THE RE-CEREATIONAL SPORTS OFFICE, 921-7945. SPONSORED BY THE TCU BOOKSTORE, RE-CREATIONAL SPORTS DEPARTMENT AND PROGRAMMING COUNCIL.

ativity.

THERE ARE TWO SIDES TO BECOMING A NURSE IN THE ARMY.

And they're both represented by the insignia you wear as a member of the Army Nurse Corps. The caduceus on the left means you're part of a health care system in which educational and career advancement are the rule, not the exception. The gold bar on the right means you command respect as an Army officer. If you're earning a BSN, write: Army Nurse Opportunities, P.O. Box 7713, Clifton, NJ 07015. Or call toll free 1-800-USA-ARMY.

ARMY NURSE CORPS. BE ALLYOU CAN BE.

COMMENTARY

Ignorance and assumptions are the root of stereotyping not all dark people are illegal aliens. That is a logical assumption, but some people seem to think that because a person is not blond and blue-eyed and has slightly darker skin, he/she is an illegal alien.

By Maricarmen Eroles

und and ond

s," gs it ping

ing

ould nere x in ting

past

The three guys were dressed in tight, faded jeans.
One of them wore a navy blue sweatshirt, and the other

t-shirts.
The three of them wore white high tops.

They wore their hair short and

They wore their hair short and spiked.

They were talking about the Yucatan-Mayan exhibit in the Brown Lupton Gallery in the Student Center. One of them asked in a mocking tone, "So who are these people anyway?"

And another one answered, "I don't know-just some Indians."

They were "cool guys" and good examples of the TCU male.

But not all TCU guys look or act not all TCU guys look or act

In my ignorance about who they were, I immediately assumed like other people would have that they were the "typical TCU male student," if there is such a thing.

Stereotyping and categorizing are bad habits. I apologize to all the guys at TCU who do not dress like that and who have more culture than the above example, but these three guys were also doing some stereotyping of

Why no discussion?

The TCU administration has done the proper thing by investigating the throwing of a bleeding and dying cat into Rev. Jesse Truvillion's car, and the Skiff has covered it appropriately.

However, it is also appropriate to look deeper into the back-ground of this incident. Might not the fact that TCU has virtually no black faculty be significant?

Could the de facto segregation of fraternities and sororities make a difference? Could the rumor, perhaps unfair but regularly heard, that black athletes cannot participate in "social activism" contribute?

And could it be important that TCU's administration has labeled as "not political" investment in companies which participate in a racist regime in South Africa?

In short, the incident last week could be used as a springboard to discuss publicly some troubling questions at TCU. It says something of the TCU community that such discussions are not hapquestions at TCU. It says some-thing of the TCU community that such discussions are not hap-

Andrew O. Fort, associate pro fessor of religion

idia V. Camp, associate pro-

Letters to the Editor

their own when I spotted them.
But what was curious about them is that instead of going into the gallery to find out about "some Indians," they kept on walking and laughing at their comments and remained ignorant.

ignorance is by no means an excuse to stereotype. I am sure some people did not agree with my initial com-ment, and a lot of people were prob-ably upset. That is a natural reaction, because no one likes to be stereotyped. stereotyped.

Well, that is a wrong assumption. A majority of the "dark people" living in the United States now do not even speak Spanish anymore, because they are fourth- or fifth-

Not everyone can be blond and blue-eyed. The world would be bor-ing if people all looked alike, although stereotypes would disappear If the person who made the com-ment about illegal aliens had thought twice about it, she would have real-ized she was not being fair.

Fairness and respect are important to preserve a peaceful coexistence and understanding.

No one likes to be categorized, and like the male population of TCU who read the comment at the beginning, a lot of people are offended.

Life would be much easier if, in-stead of jumping to conclusions and consequently stereotypes, one found out about other people on a one-on-one basis. This way, a lot of the world's problems would be solved.

Like Henry Kissinger said about solving those problems, you cannot apply principles in other places that you cannot apply at home.

Its aspects are discussed con-stantly, yet the problem remains because it is not fully understood.

Imagine suffering. Imagine a hunger that can only feed on body and mind: Imagine a confusion profound enough to make death irrelevant and often inviting. Im-agine an isolation that will never

Many of us have learned that suffering is unpleasant, though im-permanent. If we are sick, unhap-py or injured, we find resolution through doctors and friends. If we are hungry, we eat. If we are tired, we sleep.

This systematic avoidance of affering is the problem.

TCU's recent South African imulation game, "We Hold These Truths," is not over.

Those who attended and learned about the area, and those who say "I care," must not examine only the political and social aspects of South Africa. They must also know the suffering caused by the problems they wish to solve. Until then, little realistic or significant change can be made.

Real suffering generation Americans.

It would have taken five minutes of those three guys' time to find out about the Yucatan-Mayan exhibit and about the people portrayed in the pictures, but they chose to remain ignorant. That is inexcusable.

If people do not know about some-thing, instead of generalizing, they should learn specifics that make the subject unique and different from ev-erything else.

Everything and everyone has an Everything and everyone has an identity, a name and a purpose for existing, and if people took more time in finding out those things about the people around them, they would have fewer problems and social inhibi-

Ignorance is self-inflicted-one can choose to remain ignorant or to learn. That is why stereotyping is so appalling. It is done voluntarily and with full ation of what is being done.

Anantha Babbili, associate pro-fessor of journalism

Gregg Franzwa, associate pro-fessor of philosophy

Richard Galvin, associate profes-sor of philosophy

Jim Henley, associate professor of sociology

Andrew W. Miracle, associate professor of anthropology

Linda Moore, associate professor of sociology

Morrison G. Wong, associate professor of sociology

Bill Reese, assistant professor of William B. Head, assistant professor of criminal justice

William W. Ray, associate pro-fessor of urban studies

Charlene A. Urwin, assistant

Michael Katovich, assistant pro-fessor of sociology

Jean Giles-Sims, associate pro-fessor of sociology

Donald W. Jackson, Herman Brown professor of political sci-

Not all illegal aliens are dark, and

If the only reservation you have is a gun, think of us first!

We're here to satisfy your TRAVEL/TERRORIST NEEDS.

Reporter person responds to publicity-seeking public

By John Paschal

The thing ab out newspapers is, like birds and bees, they're here every day. What this means is that people talk.
Words are

When people speak words to a per-

When people speak words to a person bearing notebook or recorder, well, then becomes the newspaper. Foremost word-wielders lately are Jesse Jackson and Mike Dukakis, talking democracy — and why their brand is best — in sundry nooks and crannies on our national map.

But these gentlemen are hardly at a loss for working scribes to jot down their every utterance. Have they even been quoted expressing their yen to visit the boys' room, or inquiring as to the score of the Bulls-Celtics game? Legions of reporters hang on their very syllables. As the Tongue Flaps.

Contrarily, the majority of Earth's Contrarily, the majority of Earth's 5 billion folk never get the opportunity to speak publicly about this and that. Even more seldom are their thoughts considered sufficiently enlightening for print.

Yet, of this majority, there is a decided minority that spends some time trying desperately to get out of obscurity and into ye olde limelight.

These aren't just the classic publicity-seekers, like Lyndon LaRouche, Donna Rice or Australia. A lot of people want, just once, to get their name in the dang paper. A full-length feature would be the best thing, of course, but if that can't be arranged, then just a quote or maybe a picture would be fine, thanks.

Well, one answer to that is, if we would be fine, thanks.

Well, one answer to that is, if we obliged and put everybody's name in the paper, then that would sort of cheapen the whole thing, wouldn't it?

ncounter at a nightspot near campus

, worse, at a party.

The second most-oft-used line at The second most-ont-used line at most parties where a journalist type is in attendance (besides the obvious one concerning beer disposal), especially if the party really gets rolling, is, "Hey, dude, write about this (party)!" It seldom would be a good idea, save perhaps a shooting occurs. So the rule of thumb on this one is: College decedence with all that newsworthy.

decadence ain't all that newsworth decadence ain't all that newsworthy.

More aggravating than that, however, is reporting on a campus organization. Membership traditionally includes 1) people willing to say just a few thousand words, and 2) people willing to say just a few thousand more.

Each sentence seems predetermined, almost programmed, as if these members were mindless automata with mouths and aspirations of upward mobility.

"We feel that this meeting was a good one," he said, "because we feel we accomplished many things for the good of the student body as a whole. There was a real spirit of teamwork

There was a real spirit of teamwork here. Our goal was to . . .

Thank you, that's more than enough.

Others talk jargon. The ROTC and football team are notorious for this.
"We'll bivouac at 2200 hours and assemble for cal at oh-six hundred," Lt. Maj. P.D. Jones said. "The Huey will touch down at oh-seven hundred.
We will dispatch for the FTX. Each soldier in our page. beauty free. soldier in our peace-keeping force is issued C-packs, a rucksack, other essentials and a weapon. He is taught to use this weapon on any civilian asking stupid questions."

Got it. No stupid questions here, sir.

"Well, I'm not sure what happened," the senior quarterback said.
"The corners had been going man and the backers had been dropping back into a short zone, but then they switched up on us. The Meg shot the gap, but our number two should ve picked him up. He got a hand on me, then their Wanda just blind-sided me. I threw up a duck and it was six the Three up a duck and it was an inother way."

Translator?
The following vignettes, too, are but few of the copious pitfalls, each as sinister as the other:

Reporter: "Well, thank you very much, Vice Chancellor in Charge of Morale and Dental Records. 'Preciate
the interview."

the interview."
Other Person: "Certainly, my pleasure. Always enjoy helping out a budding young Ted Koppel."
R: "Ha-ha. Yes sir. Ted Koppel,

R: "What do you think about the oP: "Let's see, how can I put this?

R: "Just tell me in your own words,

OP: Oh, sure, I know. Let's mmm . . . what would best . . . umm-does this sound mmmm good?.. . . I don't want to offend

■ OP: "Well, glad you stopped by, reporter person. When's the article coming out? R: "Uh, couldn't tell you. It's not up o me.

OP: "Like tomorrow, or what?
R: "I really don't know. I still have R: Treally don't know. I suit have to write it."

OP: "Ah, well hell, son, just send me 50 copies when it comes out. OK? Good. You can go now, reporter

All this may explain why I quote

All this line explain with I quote only people I make up in my mind. They are easier to deal with.

Still, I've got this problem with real people. They seek publicity. So to all who ve said, "Oh, put me in the paper," and to all who ever will – I just

The TCU Daily Skiff welcomes letters to the editor and guest columns. The Commentary Page is designed to offer a forum for expression on any issue. All letters and columns submitted must be typed and double spaced. Letters must be signed and no longer than 300 words. Letters and columns must be accompanied by the author's classification, major and phone number. The Skiff reserves the right to edit or not publish any unacceptable letters or columns.

Unsigned editorials are the views of the Daily Skiff. Signed columns and letters are solely the opinions of the writer.

The Skiff is a student publication produced by the Texas Christian University journalism department and is published Tuesday through Friday of the semester year, except for review and finals weeks and holidays.

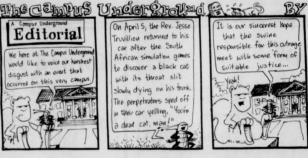

The Skiff is a member of The Associated Press.

Editor in Chief Ad Manager	Lee Ann Breland Lisa Bianchi
Page Design Lisa Bianchi Production Coordinator Mike Teague Managing Editor Aisha Saleem Commentary Editor Michael Hayworth Sports Editor Jerry Madden Photo Editor Rob Robbins Entertainment Editor Deborah Gaston Discovery Page Editor Lisa Touye Campus Editor Yvonne Webb Contributing Editor Brenda Welchlin People Page Editor Melinda Hartman Living Page Editor Melinda Hartman Living Page Editor Melinda Hartman Living Page Editor Melisas Webb Reporter MariCarmen Eroles Reporter Regina Hatcher Reporter Chuck Hendley Reporter Brooke Rose Reporter Brooke Rose Reporter Nancy Andersen	Copy Editor Andrea Heitz Copy Editor Kristie Aylett Copy Editor Paula Lowe Copy Editor Chris Robinson Copy Editor Cris Profaci Copy Editor Julia Taylor Copy Editor Julia Taylor Cartoonist Rhett Pennell Cartoonist Matt Guest Sports Writer Randy Hargrove Sports Writer Robinson Cartoon Editor Todd Camp Editorial Assistant Brad Vanderbilt Editorial Assistant John Moore Editorial Assistant Julie Palm Proof Reader Melissa Wills Backshop Felicia Perry Llobrarian Songa Arvie Llobrarian Shellie Dagoo

Mark Witherspoor

On April 5, the Rev. Jesse car after the South African simulation games to discover a black cat with its throat slit slowly dying on his trunk. The perpetrators sped off

BLOOM COUNTY

SPORTS

Baseball watcher spots enjoyment

Rangers, a base-ball team lest we forget, sallied forth on opening night a mid much aspiration and little logic.

First, they be-

First, they began their season on the same night that the NCAA was finishing its, as Kansas bumped its neighbor to the south, Oklahoma, to win the whole chalupa.

Second, they began with the same players (several), the same stadium (Arlington) and the same name (The Texas Payers). This team had?

(Arington) and the same name (The Texas Rangers). This team has in-spired little poetry over the ages. Yet the prose runneth lither and yon this week after the Rangers actually looked good of all things. Dang good. Won a ballgame even.

Is Pennant Fever running rough shod through dreamy Metroplex minds? Are couples in love cancelling weddings scheduled during the World Series? Is Mike Dukakis wear-ing a "Rangers '88" T-shirt on the campaign trail? Is it true? Is President Reagan coming here?

To all four questions, a hardy "Not et." Not hardly.

Which really shouldn't surprise many of us. Still, there was much to behold on opening night in Arlington, where 38,000 people chose not to watch two roundball teams from the

I observed quite a few people doing

Watching the fans

A teenaged male with a patently rural inflection put forth his latest postulation. He stood in the rightfield bleachers — in foul territory — eyes ablaze in intellectual splendor. "Let's stand here, man. This is a great place to catch a homerun."

Should I break the tragic news? Cite him the appropriate paragraph in the rulebook? Foul balls, even if in-ordinately high and long, do not meet the stringent requirements concern-

No, I would let him remain in foul territory, to forever postulate but to never, ever catch a homer — provided the appropriate paragraph holds appropriate, and the youth doesn't have extremely long arms.

The guy hawking ice cream gave a look of authentic surprise when told the score was close, 58-54. He knew the two teams were pitching-poor and had several fine hitters, but Jeez, 112 combined runs midway through the ballgame! Zoiks!

We 'fessed up and told him it was Kansas over OU, not Texas over

TCU Daily Skiff

Tai Tu

hos bas Me

thr wil p. r do

Something to watch - Watching Ranger pitcher Jose Guzman throw strikes is just one entertaining thing to see at a Ranger game

Cleveland. He said "Oh," and gave us our swirl ice cream in souvenir cup.

After the game, a boy of tender age had yet to grasp all of baseball's conceptual intricacies. He scooted toward the exit with his father, replete with wonder and sadness.

"Why don't the Rangers get to bat gain?" he asked his Pop.

"Because they already won," answered the elder. "They don't have

"But I want to see them bat again." The father, in all likelihood, could do little to appease his genetic sprout.
Dads can do lots, but change ballyard protocol ain't included. The home team failed to reappear, bat agrasp.
Father and son disappeared in the ex-

But the best thing about this game as the people I sat with. A few friends, plus some elementary school kids from not-the-best section of Fort

For most it was their first professional game, though not their first full game, because the bus was leaving at 10:30 sharp. It was not the game that held their attention so much as the atmosphere, a very new, bright, vibrant one. They loved "The Wave." Stood up every time it rolled around.

The seventh-inning stretch produced more than one dance step. They bopped each other on the head in the usual way, giggled a lot. Ate

Saying good-bye to atmosphere We shook hands good-bye. They took their souvenir ice cream cups with them. My souvenir was less from helpless Cougars Frogs take three in a row

By Scott Hunt

Sports Writer

The Horned Frog baseball team The Horned Frog baseball team tried something new in their weekend series with the Houston Cougars – get solid pitching and enough hitting and then use it to win. The Frogs used this formula for a three-game sweep of the Cougars.

TCU coach Lance Brown said hitting and defense had been a dispension of the cougar of the cou and defense had been a dis-appointment in earlier loses, but TCU managed to score just enough to pull out 4-2 and 2-1 victories in the first two games. TCU bats exploded for 18 hits in a 16-9 victory in the third

In the Friday game, Tim Mauser (6-3) again pitched well, going nine innings while allowing six hits and two runs to pick up a victory.

Paul Gonzalez, normally a second baseman but who moved to left field in the series, and catcher Steve Stone keyed the TCU offense with two hits each. Stone also drove in a run and Gonzalez scored two runs to pace the

New bulbs!

The Frogs jumped out to an early 1-0 lead by scoring in the bottom of the first. The Cougars answered with a run in the top of the third, but TCU scored in the fourth and added two in the fifth for a 4-1 lead which they held despite a Houston run in the sixth. Defense was still a trouble spot in the game with three TCU errors. The first game of Saturday's double-header was a pitcher's battle with TCU's John Briscoe coming out on top in a 2-1 decision.

The Frogs scored both of their runs in the bottom of the first for a lead they never surrendered. Briscoe scat-The Frogs jumped out to an early they never surrendered. Briscoe scat-tered four hits, allowing only one run in the fifth in his seven-inning, complete game victory. Mike Losa went a perfect three for nree and Gonzalez continued with Better tans!

his hot bat, going two for three and driving in both TCU runs. The Frogs set out early to put the second game away by scoring three runs in the first and six in the third. A parade of five Houston pitchers marched their way to the mound. None could slow down the Horned Frog attack.

Frog attack.

Losa again had a good game with the bat going four for four, with four runs batted in while scoring two runs.

Losa and Brad Firestone hit homers. Firestone also had 5 RBIs and three Firestone also had 5 RBIs and three hits in five at bats.

The Horned Frogs' struggles had problems over the Easter holidays when they dropped three of four games against UTA and Rice.

If the game against UTA was a horse, it would have been shot. Seven TCU pitchers served up batting practice to the tune of 21 hits and 19 runs in a 19-6 loss in Arlington last Wednesday.

Kevin Jones, who started and pitched one and one third innings, picked up the loss to bring his record to 3-3 for the year. Jones was followed to the mound by Jared Shope, Steve Jiminez, Dan Whitford, Scott Harrison, Jim Bane and second baseman. son, Jim Bane and second baseman Paul Gonzalez, none of which could slow down the Mavericks.

Baseball coach Lance Brown said the defeat was in large partly due to playing his bench to get them game experience in non-Southwest Conference games. "You know when you have conference going like we do on Fridays and Saturdays, you play on Wednesday," Brown said. "You really just try to get everybody a little work."

The Horned Frogs then went to Houston over the weekend where they managed to salvage one game of

The Frogs lost the first game of Saturday's double-header 4-1, as Rice pitcher John Polasek threw a four-hitter. The Owls jumped to a early 3-0 lead by scoring a run in the first in-ning and two in the second. Rice, be-hind the pitching of Polasek, never looked back from there even when TCU scored a run in the third to cut the Owl lead to 3-1.

TCU rebounded to take the second game 5-3 behind the hitting of right-fielder Terry Mooney, who con-nected for two home runs and had four runs batted in Rice again struck first scoring single runs in the fourth and fifth innings. But the Horned Frogs exploded in the seventh inning when they scored all five of their runs.

TCU ended the road trip on Sun-day with a 13-inning, 5-4 loss as Rice first baseman Sean Broderick drove in his second run in the bottom of the 13th to sink the Frogs.

I need to find a job"

'I'm lonely"

'I'll never graduate"

Come to a free Christian Science Lecture for some honest answers

Title: Relationship and Careers: Finding Their Divine Basis

When: Tuesday, April 12, 5:30 Where: Moudy Building, Room #164N

Speaker: Channing Walker Sponsored by the Christian Science Organization OX It can be yours as an Air Force Pilot. It's not easy, but the rewards are great. You'll have all the Air Force advantages, such as 30 days of vacation with pay each year and complete medical care—and much more. If you're a college graduate or soon will be, AIM HIGH. Contact your Air Force recruiter for defails about Officer Training School and pilot training. Call

817-640-6469 Colle 1-800-423-USAF TOLL FREE -AIR-

AIM HIGH

OF FLYING.

THRIL

Now until May 6th Unlimited tanning

$40.00

TCU Tans, Nails, Travel 2709 W. Berry St.

New owners!

BE A TCU BIG BROTHER OR BIG SISTER TO AN INCOMING FRESHMAN ALL CURRENT STUDENTS MAY APPLY

APPLICATIONS AVAILABLE AT INFO DESK AND IN STUDENT ACTIVITIES OFFICE

DUE APRIL 13 IN STUDENT ACTIVITIES OFFICE

QUESTIONS? CALL SARAH NORMAND 923-6770

Horned Frog Marching Band Wants You

For The 1988-89 Football Season

If you have past band experience of any kind and would be interested in participating in one of the great musical traditions at TCU, come by or call the band office today.

921-7640

304A Ed Landreth Hall

Real Estate Analyst Program

Let Our High-Powered Program Be A Prelude To Your MBA!

Want some rock solid invest expensions better proceeding with your grace education? Then consider this great opportun with THE PRUDENTIAL, the nation's largest of income producing real estate.

To apply, send your resume (including GPA) to

The Prudential Realty Group Dallas Realty Group Office 901 Main Street, LB 115 First Republic Bank Plaza, Suite 4700 Dallas, Texas 75202 Attention: Analyst Program

SPORTS

SIDELINES

Ate

ve in f the

The TCU baseball team will play The TCU baseball team will play Tarleton State in a double header Tuesday, April 12, here at TCU. The first game begins at 2 p.m. All home games are played at the baseball diamond next to Daniel-

The Frogs then travel to Arkansas to take on the Razorbacks in a three-game series. The first game will be played Friday, April 15 at 7 p.m. The first game of Saturday's double header begins at 2 p.m.

Tennis

The TCU women's tennis team The ICU women's tennis team will compete against Southern Methodist University in confer-ence action Thursday, April 14, here in Fort Worth. The match be-gins at 1:30 p. m. All home matches are played at Mary Potisham Lard Tennis Center and are free to the

The women's team has two more home matches April 17-18. TCU takes on Indiana at 10 a.m. on Sunday, April 17, and then faces Oklahoma at 2 p.m. Monday, April 18.

Congratulations To All Alpha Delta Pi Seniors

Robin Boyer Lisa Bratcher Karen Dittmar Kristi Goodson Iennifer Grant Ieanette Hall Susan Hargis Jennifer Jackson Kari Kornish Regina Maria Amy Morhart Nikki Mynatt Barb Peel Tammy Pratt Rona Ruple Katy Smith Sandy Thomas Ienn Willis

Best Wishes For A Successful Future!

Classifieds

FOR RENT:

Efficiency one and two bed-room apartments close to campus, $250 and up. 921-

WORD PROCESSING 732-8499.

WORD PROCESSING

Rush orders accepted. Reasonable rates. Jennifer, Reasonab 926-4969.

COPIES 41/26

Free student/faculty discount card with ID. Copies 4 1/2¢. AlphaGraphics 2821 W. Berry 926-7891 plenty of free

LAZER GRAPHICS

Self-service or full service. $12 to $40. Includes selec-tion of fine resume papers, envelopes and storage disk envelopes and strate disk for future revisions. Cock ALPHAGRAPHICS, 2821 W. 5097. Berry (across from Jack-in-the-Box). 926-7891. Plenty of free parking.

WORD PROCESSING

mic/business. Editing.

927-5770.

TYPING
Term papers, etc. One call does it all. 10 cents a line. Call Joyce, 297-4965.

PROCESSING, ETC. Term papers. /32-7321

TYPING

DELI JOB OPENING

TUTORING

Que vous n'ayez pas peur des examens finals! French tutoring; verb conjugations to literary discussions (XVII-XX siecles) 731-8161.

UPWARD BOUND

A college-preparatory prog-ram for disadvantaged youth will have the following posi-tions open for the 1988 sum-mer program June 5-July 15, 1988 (6 weeks). Tutor Coun-selor (RA), 4 males & 4 females. This is a 6-week live-in position. Will super-vise students in residence hall and assist in one class each day as a teaching assistant. Can take one col-lege class during program (at your own cost). Pay $200/ week plus room and board. week plus room and board. 921-7946.

PROFESSIONAL

Near TCU. 1-bedroom, new carpet and ceiling fans. 3021 Cockrell. $250/mo. 926

2-BR HOUSE 3013 Cockrell. Large living room and den. Kitchen with refrigerator and stove. $400.mo. 926-5097.

2-br apartments, furnished, one block north of campus.

One available now, 2 others in May. 927-8038. ROOMMATE
TCU grad student prefers same to share large 3-br brick, C/A C/H, fully equipped house near campus. Large yard. Can walk to classes. Call Roy, 332-8621.

W/dresser and mirror only. C/air, heat, garage. 15-20 min. to TCU. $150/mo. all days. Apply in person after C/air, heat, garage. 15-20 1:30 p.m. Ranch Oak Farm, min. to TCU. $150/mo. all corner 8th Ave. and Park bills paid. Eves & wkends 204.3534 294-3534.

FOR RENT rumished 4-room apartment in private home, separate entrance. Most suitable for single male student. Three blocks from TCU. $250 per month, ALL BILLS PAID. Telephone 923-0559, 923-230

$1.75 a page. 737-2473.

Interested in chairing a Prog-ram Council committee? Apply for the recreation and travel chair now through April 14. Applications will be avail-able in Student Activities until the 14th. If you have any questions call 921-7926.

FAST, ACCURATE TYPING Heasonable rates. Pickup and delivery if required. Cin dy Clay, 346-0035.

WORD PROCESSING

GRAPHICS, STATISTICS

Mountain Valley Water (bot tled water company) seeking sales and administrative per sonnel. Administrative, sal sonnel. Administrative, sai-ary only. Fulltime summer, partitime during year option-al. Sales people, salary plus commission. No evenings, no weekends. Established company, excellent reputa-tion. 256-1730.

LOCKED OUT?

Everett Locksmith Service 927-5250. $10.

COUPLE DESIRES INFANT Legal adoption sought by warm, Caucasian, profes-sional Californians. Ex-penses paid. Cali Carrow Marshall collect eves/ weekends (818) 893-6636 or attorney Lindsay Slatter T-F 10a-3p (213) 854-4444.

Women lose two weekend matches

By Randy Hargrove

Sports Writer

Athletes know the saying "Close doesn't count" by heart. The TCU women's tennis team remembered that lesson by losing two matches to the University of Texas and Trinity University over the weekend.

The final results say the Longhorns dominated the Horned Frogs in the match, but women's tennis coach Roland Ingram said all the matches were close.

The 18th-ranked Longhorns beat TCU 5-1 in the match by dominating singles play. No doubles matches were played since Texas had already wrapped up the victory.
Ingram said things got off to a bad start down in Austin. He said the hotel where they were staying was filled with fraternity and sorority members gathered for a convention. Ingram said the noise made sleep nearly impossible.

mary impossible.

"It was wild down there. I know I wasn't able to fall asleep until after 5 a.m. after sleeping off and on throughout the night because of the noise. Everyone was a little tired in the morning," he said.

"We had our chances. We could have won every one of those matches except one, I think."

TCU's number one singles player, Renee Simpson, won her match 3-2 when her opponent, Anne Grous-beck, was forced to forfeit due to in-

"Renee was playing real well," Ingram said. "I think she would have won Against 12th-ranked Trinity, Ingram said the team played exceptionally well. However, they couldn't quite get over the hump and lost the mach

"We came close and could have won it," Ingram said. "That's as close won it, Ingram said. Inat's as close as I've ever played them."

The highlight of the match was the number one doubles team of Simpson-Tory Plunkett, ranked 19th nationally, defeating the third-ranked doubles team of Jane Holden-Ann Hulbert 6-3, 2-6, 7-6.
"I knew that would be a close

"I knew that would be a close match," Ingram said. "They (Simpson-Plunkett) have been playing as good as anyone."

He said everyone played real well, but their effort still wasn't quite good enough to overcome this top-20 team. "We have lost four matches this season to top-20 teams by scores of 5-4," he said. "Sooner or later down the road we'll win our share of those 5-4 method."

5-4 matches."
Ingram said all it will take is for the women on his team to start believing they can win the close ones.

they can win the close ones.

In men's action from last week,
Mother Nature did her best to provide a beautiful setting for Saturday's match against 16th-ranked Texas and 12th-ranked TCU at TCU's Mary Potishman Lard Tennis Center.

The temperature was in the mid

The temperature was in the mid

But a once-beautiful day quickly turned sour for TCU coach Tut Bart-zen as he watched the Longhorns (13-5, 2-1 in Southwest Conference play) run past his Horned Frogs 7-2.

Disappointment was etched across Bartzen's face after the loss, which left the men's record at 13-4 and 1-2 in the

"It (the loss) certainly was the most few years," Bartzen said. "There we-ren't very many bright spots in that "Sometimes you lose, but you're not as upset as you might be because you feel like the guys gave it their all and played up to their potential," he said. "Those things didn't happen today. We didn't play up to our potential and we didn't compete as well."

"We haven't been playing all that well and today it showed up," junior Clinton Banducci said. "Everyone just sort of had an off day.

TCU entered the match having de-feated Texas March 6, 5-4 at the HEB Team Championships in Corpus

Texas coach David Snyder anticiated a similar match going into

"We were just hoping we could squeak out a 5-4 win," Snyder said. "Things kind of went our way today."

"I think it's just a case of we played as well as we can play," he said. "I think they have a very good team." The ball rolled in Texas' favor early and often as the match was decided after singles play with the Longhorns holding a commanding 5-1 advantage.

At number one singles, Banducci lost to Paul Koscielski 6-4, 3-6, 6-0. "I didn't play very well today," Banducci said. "I was actually lucky to win a set. He played too well." Earl Zinn was a victim at number two sing-

Patrick Smith fell to Patrick Flynn at number three singles, 7-6, 6-3, Gary Betts was defeated by Mitch Michulka 7-6, 6-4 at number five singles losing 4-6, 6-4, 6-4 to Hubert Karles and Gerard Ronan lost to Jerry Martinez 6-3, 6-3 at number six Junior Eric Lingg provided TCU with its lone singles victory at the number four position with a 6-4, 6-3 decision over Aaron Gross.

As doubles play began, TCU's number one and seventh-ranked team of Banducci and Zinn fought out a 6-2, 7-5 victory over Koscielski and

The number three team of Lingg and Ronan fell to Gross and Martinez 3-6. 6-0. 6-4.

TCU's day of frustration was fittingly capped when the number two doubles team of Smith and Betts finished by losing to Michael Emmet and Tom Bartzen in a third set tiebreaker 7-6 (7-2). Smith and Betts won the first set 7-5 and lost the second 6-1.

The loss to Texas, coupled with recent losses to second-ranked Louisiana State University and 10th-ranked Clemson, could hamper TCU as it scrambles to be one of the 20 selected to compete in the NCAA Championships.

"Our chances of getting into the NCAA are more at risk because we lost," Banducci said.

TCU can help its chances Thursday as it takes on 18th-ranked Trinity University in San Antonio.

"They're going to have to be really up for that Trinity match Bartzen said. "Trinity has a strong team."

"I'm sure the team will start picking up again," Banducci said. "Some-times it takes losing to get all psyched

Flyin' Frogs voted best team at Relays

By Regina Anderson

The TCU Flyin' Frogs showed other track teams from around the country the outdoor track season, is, their season at the 61st Texas Relays this past weekend.

The Texas Relays is one of the biggest outdoor meets in this part of country.

"This is prime time," TCU sprinter
Michael Cannon said.
The Relays attract schools from all over the United States, which helped the Frogs evaluate how good they really are.

Over 247 schools, including all the Southwest Conference schools, were represented with a total of 2000 athletes competing. TCU competed against runners from Nebraska, North Carolina, Ari-zona, Stanford and Purdue.

The Flyin' Frogs managed to ominate the men's relays and were voted most outstanding men's team by the media.

University of Texas Associate Sports Information Director Doug Smith said theoretically the team that wins the most relays is usually voted outstanding.

"We don't tell the media how to vote. They just vote whoever they think is the most outstanding team," Smith said.

Head coach Bubba Thornton said the selection was based on the per-formances of the men's 4x100 and 4x200 meter relay teams.
"They have dominated the field in such a manner that it was clear to everyone that they had superior ta-lent," head track coach Bubba Thornton said.

The 4x100 relay team (Roscoe Tatum, Greg Sholars, Tony Allen and Raymond Stewart) successfully defended its title.

The win was the 23rd consecutive win for the team dating back to 1986.

The 4x200 relay team (Tatum, Sholars, Allen and Stewart) also brought home a victory. They finished with a time of 1:21.43. Despite the two wins, sprinter Ste-art said everything is still business

They finished with a time of 1:39.43

as usual.
"To me it's just something that happens. We're out performing to the best of our ability. We're just doing our job," Stewart said.
Other highlights of the meet included J. T. McManus finishing with a time of 4:12 in the men's mile.
The women's mile relay team (Lisa

The women's mile-relay team (Lisa Ford, Vonda Morgan, Michelle Ste-wart and Debbie Devine) finished fifth.

fifth.

"They were fouled on the third leg of the race, and it knocked them down to fifth. They ran a school record of 3:40.21. They are really getting competitive," Thornton said. Jordy Reynolds threw a 55-plus in the shot put.

Time

9:30 a.m.

1:30 p.m

1:30 p.m.

2 p.m. 2:15 p.m.

2:30 p.m. 2:45 p.m.

3 p.m. 3:15 p.m.

4 p.m. 4:15 p.m.

4:45 p.m.

Event

Faculty Racquetball Doubles Faculty Tennis Doubles

Music 3-on3 Basketball

Egg Toss Dunking Booth

Bed Races

Simon Says Contest

Pass the Orange Relay Frisbee Golf Tee Off Pie Eating Contest

Twister Toss Your Cookies Relay

Volleyball Tournament

"Considering the weather(rain) that was good," Thornton said.

The women's 4x8 relay team (Devine, Heide McGee, Laura Baker and Lesley Croxton) finished fourth in what Thornton called a very competitive field.

The only individual runners competing for the Frogs were Stewart and Sholars. Stewart and Sholars were invited to compete in the Invitational section of the Relays but weren't able to be-

Despite a successful outing, none of the Frogs qualified for nationals.

This weekend Stewart, Shoiars, Tatum and Cannon will travel to El Paso on Sunday to try and qualify

The altitude there is good, and we will see if we can meet the standards, Thornton said.

The rest of the Frogs will travel to Dallas for the SMU Invitational on

Place

Rickel Building

Rickel Building Rickel Courts

Sadler Hall Lawn

Sadler Hall Lawn Sadler Hall Lawn Sadler Hall Lawn

Sadler Hall Lawn Redd Hall Steps

The Mall Sadler Hall Lawn

Frog Fest Saturday, April 16, 1988

The list located to the right is a complete listing of all Frog Fest activities, their times and places where they will begin. Listed below are all activities which require an entrance fee and other relevant information concerning the event. For more information on any event, contact the Intrmurals office located inside the Rickel Building.

The 5K Fun Run costs $10 per person and includes T-shirt. Proceeds go to

The 3 on 3 basketball costs $10 per team and includes three Frog Fest T-shirts. Proceeds go to the American Diabetes Association. The volleyball tournament costs $20 per team. Includes six Frog Fest T-shirts. Proceeds go to the American Diabetes Association.

The Bed Race costs $20 per team and includes five Frog Fest T-shirts. Proceeds go to the American Diabetes Association.

Signups for most events are due by Wednesday, April 13. All events are free unless otherwise noted. Signups should be turned in to the Rickel Building Intramurals office.

The Compatibility Card helps you: You send a Compatibility Card to someone you'd like to know better, and let them tell you about themselves. Once you've shared the Compatibility Card, you're already friends! • Make the first move even · Meet new friends - or · Feel more at ease on the

It's so simple!

Send $10.00 for 4 Compatibility Cards to: PERSONAL PROFILES P.O. Box 2266, Dept. T001 Mailbu, CA 90265 Satisfaction Guaranteed or Return Cards for Refund. Confidentiality Respected.

Probation / Continued from Page 1

All hazing offenses at TCU should be reported to the Student Organization Committee, Barr said.

The committee then decides the sanction or punishment to be installed against the group or individual, she said.

TCU administration were not the only ones who would not make a com-

Mariann Lyon, adviser to the Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority, had no comment about the sorority being put

"We don't comment on the local level," she said. "Any comment must be made from the national level."

However, Eloise Netherton, national vice president of Kappa Kap-pa Gamma, also had no comment. "This is a private and internal mat-ter," she said.

Jenny Jeter, president of Kappa Kappa Gamma, said members of the sorority were instructed to say "no comment" when asked about the sorority being put on probation.

Tami Buckman, a member of Kap-pa Kappa Gamma, said, "It (being on probation) was a hard lesson to learn."

"We just want to put it behind us," she said.

Pregnancy Help Center

FREE

560-2226

PREGNANCY TEST

STRICTLY CONFIDENTIAL

RESULTS WITHIN 30 MINUTES

NO APPOINTMENT NEEDED

NEWSLINES

Troop withdrawal

WASHINGTON (AP) - President

WASHINCTON (AP) - President Reagan on Monday directed Secretary of State George P. Shultz to go to Geneva to sign "historic accords" by which the United States and Soviet Union will guarantee a peace agreement dictating the removal of all Red Army troops from Afghanistan.

Reagan called the pact a "triumph" for the U.S.-backed insurgents after a bloody, eight-year war with the Soviet-supported Kabul regime. He said the rebels "can count on our continued support."

The rebels have rejected the peace pact and have vowed to continue fighting. Under a compromise with Moscow, the United States will continue sending weapons to the rebels, while the Kremlin continues providing arms to the Marxist government. government.

The peace settlement, negotiated be-tween Pakistan and Afghanistan under the auspices of the United Nations, is to be auspices of the United Nations, is to be signed on Thursday.

Shultz acknowledged that the removal of Soviet troops will not necessarily mean an end to the fighting.
Beginning May 15, the Soviet Union is to begin withdrawing its 115,000 troops, with 50 percent of the forces removed over a three-month period. All remaining Soviet forces are to be out by Feb. 15, 1989.
Shultz said Soviet Foreign Minister Eduard Shevardnadze has promised to complete the withdrawal by the end of the year, ahead of the deadline. He said the United States will "push for that and expect that"

While hailing the agreement, Shultz said, "the withdrawal of Soviet troops is obviously not the end of the matter." Negotiations will continue for the establishment of an interim government.

The accord calls for the return to Afghanistan of millions of Afghan refugees, most of whom moved to neighboring Pakistan.

Pastoral letter

WASHINGTON (AP) - U.S. Roman Catholic bishops on Monday released the first draft of a pastoral letter on women that breaks little new ground on women's role in the church but does condemn sexism and urges priests to be more sensitive to women's concerns.

The 164-page document recommended women play more of a leadership role in the church and suggests further study of the possibility of installing women as perma-nent deacons.

However, the bishops stopped short of recommending that women be ordained as priests. They said "there is in the Roman Catholic church an unbroken tradition of calling only men to ministerial priesthood" and that "the church is not free to depart from that tradition."

Hats off to the 1988 △△△ Seniors

Christie Bartlett Kristen Boyett Kim Burgess Lucy Calvert Mary Tom Cravens Julie Dolan Lynn Drury Stacy Fleming Jana Green Carol Hagley Kristi Harpole Lynne Johnson Katherine Korbell Zoe Lundy Page Mason Iulie McDonald Linda Metz Lisa Pendergrass Betsy Salvaggio Cheryl VanMeter Sheila Ward Carol Wilgus Myra Wilkens Take a Bow!

For Fun. For Dress. Especially For Spring. The Harold's Short Skirt. Designed with you in mind.

In a number of fun spring and summer colors, fabrics and styles. An Easy, Comfortable Style For Living. This Is What Harold's Is All About.

FORT WORTH, THE VILLAGE AT RIDGMAR MALL DALLAS • COSTA MESA • WASHINGTON D.C. • OKLAHOMA CITY • TULSA • NORMAN • JACKSON • ATLANTA