division. According to Francis Fukuyama, who was denied pledgeship privileges, "The idea that a peace economy is going to take the place of the cold war is a very attractive one."

"It's not that we're predicting the end of the cold war," he said, "but that the cold war is over and we're going to have a new world order."

"The cold war has lasted for 40 years and it's been a very long and expensive one," he said. "I think we're going to see a new world order that will be more peaceful and less expensive."

Assistant vice chancellor Anne Gee of development and Don Mills of student affairs have been named as new associate vice chancellors.

William Walker, vice chancellor of university relations and development, announced Anne Gee's promotion. "Anne Gee is a very capable and enthusiastic development officer," Walker said. "Her enthusiasm is contagious, both with staff and with donors."
Fewer students staying in halls

More junior moves off campus

SY THAV WALKER

Despite the changes offered in the New Options of TCU, panoramic tours last spring, the Garrison era is TCU, and staying in halls is not as attractive as it once was.

The decline of making halls their first choice is evident by the numbers of students who have moved off campus, said Dr. Mills, assistant vice chancellor for student affairs.

Mills said the basic reasons that the housing department devised the New Options of TCU to improve student satisfaction with residence halls is to motivate students to stay on campus.

Last year there was a total of 1,146 freshmen living in campus housing compared to a total of 1,159 freshmen living in campus housing this year.

Mills said that previously the decrease in juniors living on campus is larger than that part, but it is not a significant difference.

"The primary reason that students move off campus their junior year is that more students have more opportunity," Mills said. "They also have access to it and it is a major factor." Mills said.

"I think that played into that process, but it is not a major factor," Mills said.

The decrease in housing enrollment was a part of a report concerning statistical data on housing compiled for the housing department.

"The report is basically a snapshot of what campus occupancy levels are and the classification status of students living in campus housing," Mills said. "It also was an inventory of what is housing enrollment." The report showed that 52 percent of all full-time undergraduate and graduate students are housed on campus.

Burgess said that 37 percent of undergraduate full-time registered students live on campus.

Cowboys hope to endure Redskin attack

Rypien, Washington resume rivalry with Dallas

Associated Press

IRVING, Texas — NFL education of Jenny Johnson, chapter Three: The Washington Redskins' rivalry. The Dallas Cowboys rookie head coach is still looking for his first regular season victory. He couldn't have a more difficult foe on Sunday to do it.

Not only does the Washington Redskins lead the all-time series, 32-24-5, but the franchise also has won the last two meetings.

Johnson said he keeps up with the Dallas sideline.

“Rypien said. ‘Hopefully, we're going to rebound.”

Johnson said he was impressed with him, Gibbs and Watson.

He's envious of a guy like Chad Johnson’s performance and is ready to see who’s the best.

Johnson said he keeps up with the Redskins, the Cowboys, and the rivalry.

They'll try to run it down our throat, Johnson said. ‘But we'll run it down their throats as well.”

In the Dallas Cowboys rookie head coach job,

Rypien, who has three wins and no losses in the NFL, is used to playing the Redskins, the former Redskins’ coach at Oklahoma State.

Johnson said he left the Redskins’ locker room after the game.

“We're getting ready to win. We're getting ready to win,” Johnson said. “Hopefully, we're going to rebound.”

“We'll try to run it down our throat and we'll have a good time doing it,” Johnson said.

“You can’t do that. But we're still winning.”

We need a morale booster,” he said.

Winning the Redskins rivalry because it was an emotional game for this game because of the schedule.

The coach said he's envious of a guy like Chad Johnson's performance and is ready to see who's the best.

Johnson said he keeps up with the Redskins' coaching staff, the coaches for about a month in 1973 at the University of Arkansas.

The oldest sport in America, started by the American Indians, continues to flourish at TCU under coach and graduate student coach, Clipper, now it's distinctly different than the game it was in the 1980s.

"Lacrosse is a fast moving and physically demanding game. The players are required to be agile, fit and fast," said Clipper, who is a former Rattler and a former player on the U.S. men's national team before he graduated from TCU as a TCU lacrosse team.

"The game is a mix between soccer and field hockey and the players carry a goofy looking tennis racket," Clipper said. "And we've got that gone and I've never seen a player do that before."

"But when I want to fire them to do things, I can do is tell them how to play," Smith said.

Rolling Stones return with old raunchiness

By HUNT KINGSBURY

Music Critic

The Rolling Stones, who have been referred to as "Rock and Roll's greatest band," have released their latest album, "Stained Glass." The album includes some of the band's classic songs, such as "Paint It Black," "Satisfaction," and "Honky Tonk Women." The album has received mixed reviews, with some critics praising the band's raw energy and others criticizing their lack of innovation.

The Rolling Stones have been active since 1962, and have released over 30 studio albums. The band's members include Mick Jagger (vocals, guitar, songwriting), Keith Richards (guitar, songwriting), Bill Wyman (bass), Charlie Watts (drums), and Ronnie Wood (guitar). The band has sold over 350 million albums worldwide, making them one of the best-selling bands of all time.

The Rolling Stones have been known for their raunchy and rebellious image, which has helped them gain a dedicated fan base. They have been criticized for their use of sexual innuendo in their lyrics and their liberal views on social issues. Despite this, the band has continued to be influential in the rock music scene.

Some critics argue that the band's sound has not changed much over the years, with their music remaining relatively consistent. Others praise the band's ability to adapt and evolve over time. Regardless of one's opinion, the Rolling Stones remain an iconic and enduring force in the world of rock music.
Hollywood starlets going out of style

By DAVID ANDRESEN
Film Critic

Quick, name five big-name Hollywood headliners. How many come to mind? Take a moment now to name five famous Hollywood headliners — not women. Can you do it?

Hollywood's one-time golden age was the home of the Hollywood bombshell. Greta Garbo, Marilyn Monroe, Debbie Reynolds and Elizabeth Taylor were all in the past. Almost all the big-time names in the film industry these days are make: Hoffman, Pacino, Cruise, Nicholson, Hackman. Can you find the woman pin-up girl who's just gone on? No?

Unfortunately, the age of Hollywood bombshell has passed. The days of Greta Garbo, Marilyn Monroe, Marlene Dietrich and the starlets of tomorrow are all in the past. Almost all the big-time names in the film industry these days are male: Hoffman, Pacino, Cruise, Nicholson, Hackman. Can you find the woman pin-up girl who’s just gone on? No?

The reason for the bombshell's departure is not a single, simple story. The sex wars have been raging for generations. The battle lines are drawn. People just can't seem to agree any more. No wonder people spend so much time in the gutter. Now, let's get back to the story: the battle of the sexes and the battle for the box office.

Hollywood has a number of stories to tell, but none more compelling than the story of the battle of the sexes. The battle of the sexes has been going on for generations. The battle lines are drawn. People just can't seem to agree any more. No wonder people spend so much time in the gutter.
