EDITORIAL AS WE SEE THE THINGS COMMENT

By RAYMOND COPELAND.

WELL, I confess that I am at loss as to what to say. I believe that the students have come out of the grave and are willing to fight. I believe that they can out-yell any group (I'd like to say gang or bunch) of students in the conference, but I still say that they are not at their best.

THERE is something wrong where it should not be. In an attempt to locate this particular holdback, some forty members of The Skiff repertorial staff have gone out and questioned some of the outstanding people on our campus in order to obtain their opinions of the question, "How can we improve our rooting?"

As you read you see that various answers have been given. I have an opinion that I should like to put in with the rest. It seems to me that our rooting could be improved if every student in the grandstand could understand what every yell is going to be.

In looking over the various systems used over the state I can find none better than the system used at A. & M.

THE system in use at Aggie land is simple, but effective. It is based upon hand signals entirely. No A. & M. yell leader would ever think of trying to yell out his yells to the student group. He gives his signal for such and such a yell by certain movements of his hands and arms, and the result is some two thousand voices rendering a well organized yell.

There is only one catch to this system. Every student must be aware that his yell leader is getting ready to get off a yell, and be ready to SEE the signal for that particular yell, and know it perfectly.

WE MIGHT think that our school has not yet come to the place where such a system can be used, but we are certain that our rooting must be improved, and this is one system which would give us more organized rooting.

We improved our rooting at last Saturday's game. What we must do is improve it even more by the time we meet Baylor next Saturday. The editor of the school paper, at Waco has written me saying that the Baylor crew would be full of pep and very enthusiastic. (Or rearing to go.)

IT WAS hardly necessary for the editor down at Baylor to write such news to us. We all know that Baylor can yell almost as good as T. C. U. The thing that impresses us most is that fact that they don't mind telling us about it beforehand.

They seldom brag about something that doesn't deserve to be bragged about. And in this case, we must get all set for whatever they might have.

A BIT of appreciated information was rendered to the T. C. U. student body at the game by the loudspeakers erected by The Fort-Worth Press with Pop Boone, sporting editor, giving the details of each play. The Press, with the co-operation of the H. C. Meacham Store and Radio Station KFJZ holds the honor of being the first to initiate the idea on any S. W. C. field. The system is used widely in the North and East.

It seems as if we should get together sometime during the week, say at chapel time, and see if our yell leaders can get at the bottom of this business of holding down on the rooting.

Combs Talks at McKinney

Dr. Josiah H. Combs, head of the modern language department of Texas Christian University, gave a lecture Thursday before the Halcyon Club at McKinney, Texas. The subject of the lecture was "Folk Lore." Dr. Combs will lecture in chapel Monday.

T. C. U. Co-eds Take Up Roller Skating

Beatrice Schallhorn to Manage Sport—20 Girls Answer First Call.

Athletically inclined co-eds of T. C. U. have taken up another sport this year. Roller skating has recently been added to the regular curricula of sports sponsored by the Woman's Athletic Association and points toward W. A. A. awards will be given members of the skating team just as they are to the other athletic teams. A felt letter award and 100 points will be given for thirty hours practice to those who make the team.

Beatrice Schallhorn, a junior in the University, was elected W. A. A. manager of this new sport at a recent managers' meeting of the association. Twenty girls responded to the first call for those interested in skating last Wednesday afternoon. The group will go to Columbia skating rink for practice, definite meeting dates have not been set.

The following are the girls coming out for the sport: Freshman, Theresa Fulps, Florence Clarkson, Edna Mae Beck, all of Fort Worth; Jean Knight, Eddy, Margaret Johnson, Taylor; Louise Lester, De Leon; Sophomores: Marguerite Bennett, Lady Mildred Thomas, Laura Lee Barclay, all of Fort Worth; Nancy Bringham, Houston; Ruth Mahlon, Shreveport; Inez Reynolds, Houston; Billy Jo Davis, McAllen; Juniors: Ruth Burman, Loveland, Okla.; and Vera Jackson, Allene, Edith Hudson, Lorena Houtchens, Kate Phillips and Pauline Barnes, all of Fort Worth.

Mrs. Helen Walker Murphy, instructor in physical education for girls at the university and sponsor of the Woman's Athletic Association, will accompany the girls who go to the rink.

Amos Melton Speaks In Chapel on China

Tells of Experiences While on Summer Tour in Orient—Band Plays.

"If you are addicted to golf sox, don't visit Korea," is the advice of Amos Melton, chief speaker on the senior program of junior-senior chapel Friday. He explained that the Koreans are so fascinated by golf sox that to appear in them on the streets simply stops traffic.

Mr. Melton, who received his A. B. degree from T. C. U. last year, visited Japan, Korea, China and Manchuria this summer with a party picked from the outstanding students of the country by Upton Close, authority on the modern Orient. The party of about forty persons sailed June 11 from Seattle on a Japanese steamer to Japan, by way of the Northern route.

Mr. Melton described a ceremony in honor of a dead Chinese general, to which the party was invited, and also a dinner party which consisted of thirty-nine courses, featuring "century" eggs. He also described the present Chinese form of government, which is modeled upon that of Russia, and which is generally expected to succeed.

Weir McDiarmid, president of the student body, introduced the speaker and had charge of the program, the remainder of which consisted of announcements and numbers—by the band.

Sophomores Win Play Contest Cup

Second-year Players Victorious Over Fresh for Third Time.

The sophomore play, "Grandma Pulls the String," won the cup in the freshman-sophomore play contest Oct. 25. This is the third time the sophomore class has won the cup. The judges were Miss Rebecca Smith, R. W. Jenkins, and Dr. R. L. Green.

The cast of the freshman play was composed of Bettie Ellis, Harry Jean Boone, Laurence Coulter, William Gonder, and Bryce Ryan. Miss De Rue Armstrong directed the freshman play.

The cast of the sophomore play consisted of Virginia Hudson, Benita Waggoner, Lamar Griffin, Leta Ray, Lois Ishman and Bob Gray. Miss Katherine Moore directed this play.

Stewart Helman, president of the T. C. U. Dramatic Club, introduced both plays to the audience, which filled the auditorium. The contest was sponsored by the Dramatic Club.

Speaks to Sophomores

Mrs. R. R. Bennett Asks Co-operation With P. T. A.

Mrs. R. R. Bennett, from the Parent-Teacher Association, talked to the sophomores Friday at 10 o'clock in the big gym. As a representative of that association, she assured the class that the P. T. A. would like to have a part in the activities of the class, and would like to have the co-operation of the class in some projects which the organization is planning.

For the purpose of securing this co-operation a representative of the class, Tyler Dean, was appointed to meet with the P. T. A. every second Friday at 2 o'clock.

A class sticker was presented and approved. This sticker will soon be on display at the book store. It is a white "31" on a purple background.

Mary Magee President

Heads Scholarship Society—Initiation Planned.

Mary Magee has been chosen president of the Scholarship Society, with Weir McDiarmid as vice-president, Ollie May Cook, secretary-treasurer, and Phyllis Pope, recording secretary.

The society is planning monthly meetings in which business, social and entertainment features will be combined. An initiation in chapel is being planned for early in November.

Robert Qualls Made President Of Choral Club

Group May Appear at Christian Churches Downtown.

PLANS SUNDAY MUSICALS

Organization to Combine Men's With Women's Voices to Total 72 Singers.

Robert Qualls, blind student at T. C. U., was elected president of the University Choral Club last Thursday at its first joint meeting. The club is made up of both the Men's and Girls' Glee Clubs, and substitutes and extra members, totaling some seventy-two voices in all.

Miss Jessie Hawkins will assist Mr. Qualls, as vice president. Miss Joe Ella Butler is secretary, Ralph Sanders, treasurer, and Miss Louise Lester, librarian.

The purpose of the club is to stimulate interest in good music, according to Professor Paul T. Klingstedt, director. A Sunday afternoon twilight musical program will be given once a month on the campus.

"We hope," said Mr. Qualls, "that the group may appear at the Christian Churches downtown, and even out of the city." He believes also that, with the interest and the material at hand, the organization will surpass, in activity, the record of the club a year ago.

The standard is being raised, says Professor Klingstedt, by the selection of a high type of music to be used. The list of members, including the glee clubs and extra members, is as follows:

First sopranos—Mabel Cline, Leora Bennett, Josephine Collins, Edith Kell, Elizabeth Strayhorn, Maurine Sutherland, Mota Mae Shaw, Maxie Keith, Betty Self, Margaret Clements and Winnie Mayo.

Talks at Clark Hall

J. W. Jenkins, Houston, Chief Speaker on Program.

J. W. Jenkins of Houston, father of Miss Helen Jenkins, made the principal talk at a meeting of the boys of Clark Hall last Thursday evening. J. D. Moss and Russel Ball gave several musical numbers. Wendell Schuler told of his impressions of T. C. U. and the T. C. U. spirit.

A health committee is functioning in Clark Hall and an inspection of rooms is conducted each Saturday. If a room is not clean a charge of 50 cents is assessed.

The boys of Clark Hall have set out to challenge other groups of students for the honor of high grades.

Picture Schedule Announced

Today and Friday will be the last days for senior pictures to be made. Starting Monday the sophomores and juniors will make their appointments.

Gray Stresses Value In More Co-operation

Denominationalism Is Curse of Age to Church, He Says at Brite College.

"Co-operation is one of the greatest needs of our church and university today. The thought of co-operation, that everyone pulls and no one kicks over the traces, is essential for progress," said A. Preston Gray, pastor of the University Christian Church, in an address at Brite Chapel Wednesday.

"Everything about us is organized, the air, water, food. Thus it can be understood that every great accomplishment to be achieved must be done so through co-operation. The greatest co-operation can only be gained by knowing our work is in harmony with the will of God."

"The most dangerous curse of this age is denominationalism, which is due to slow, obsolete methods of the churches with no co-operation. I am hoping for and looking forward to the day of no denominationalism to hinder us and to keep us from being 'laborers together with God.' We must follow the old military rule to divide the enemy and to unite our own forces."

Woman's Athletic Meeting Set for December 6 to 8

18 Colleges Are Asked To Send Delegates To Conference.

BUSY PROGRAM PLANNED

Lois Houtchens to Preside at Three-day Session—Is Annual Affair.

The fifth annual Texas Athletic Conference of College Women will be held here on Dec. 6, 7, 8, this year, according to Miss Lois Houtchens, president of the Woman's Athletic Association of T. C. U.

Mrs. Helen Walker Murphy, director of physical education for women and sponsor of the W. A. A. at T. C. U., represented the local association at the conference held at the University of Texas last year and was instrumental in bringing the meeting here.

The purpose of the conference is to further athletic activities for women in Texas colleges and to recognize, for conference membership, any college having an active W. A. A. with student officers and a written constitution.

In accordance with a ruling of the conference that the president of the Woman's Athletic Association in the college where the conference meets is president of the conference for the year, Miss Houtchens will preside over the assembly. The secretary for the conference will be one of the delegates from the college in which the meeting was held the preceding year.

The program for the conference will begin with registration of delegates on Dec. 6. The entire day will be given to registration and assignment of rooms to the visitors, who will stay in Jarvis Hall while here. The "Spirit of W. A. A." a pageant, will be staged the first night in the chapel auditorium by members of the T. C. U. association. Mrs. Murphy will direct the production.

McDiarmid to Speak. On the first night also Professor E. W. McDiarmid will give the welcoming address from the athletic council and Miss Houtchens will welcome the visitors in behalf of the members of the W. A. A. Texas University will be called upon for the response.

The conference will be formally opened for discussion and business at the meeting at 8:30 o'clock on the second morning. At 10 o'clock the conference will be the guests of honor at the university chapel exercises which will be in charge of the W. A. A. The program for the remainder of the day includes luncheon for the student delegates at a downtown tea room and luncheon for the physical directors to be held separately, a tea for all delegates given by the T. C. U. faculty in Jarvis Hall from 5 to 6:30.

Band Boys Are Bold and Bad

It happened at a recent party where T. C. U. students were gathered. The object of the game being played was to create an effective alliterative statement. Each person playing was assigned a letter, the one in this case being "B," and told to write a sentence with every word beginning with the letter. Here was the product of the "B" writer: "Beckham's Bewitching Bathing Beauties Behaved badly, But Blushing Before Bold Bad Band Boys."

Languages Show Big Enrollment

Majors Increase From 5 to 20 in Three Years Time.

Enrollment in the modern language department at T. C. U. is larger this year than it has ever been before, there being approximately 900 students registered in the department, according to Dr. Josiah Combs. This is an increase of over one hundred students over last year's enrollment.

The increase in the number of majors in the department shows the growth. In the period from 1912 to 1926 there were only 6 majors in the department. In 1926-27 there were 5 majors, and in 1927-28 there were 14 majors. This year about 20 majors are expected.

Eight new courses are offered in Spanish this year. The three new courses with the largest enrollment are Spanish 31, "A Survey of Spanish Literature," Spanish 133, "Spanish Conversation," and Spanish 144, "Social Backgrounds of Spanish Literature." There are 36 enrolled in Spanish 31, 24 in Spanish 133, and 16 in Spanish 144.

In all there are 14 courses offered in Spanish; 12 in French, including 7 new ones, and 5 in German. Outside the regular French courses, Mrs. Combs has started a class in "French Conversation." There are 12 in this class.

There are 9 taking graduate work in the department. They are: Dick Bailey, Virginia Greer, Grace Jones, Catherine Wisdom, Mrs. Anise N. Pickard, Ethel Reid, Annie Lorena House and Miss Bessie Ellis.

The department has more and better equipment this year than it has ever had before. Maps are now used in the study of all of the modern languages. There are now nine instructors on the staff, including two new ones. The new ones are, Dr. Margartha Ascher and Mrs. Connie Brackett.

Prof. Baker Working On Doctor's Degree

"Punishment as a Means of Social Control" Is Thesis Subject.

In the story which The Skiff carried two weeks ago concerning faculty members who are working toward the Doctor of Philosophy degree, Professor Paul Baker was inadvertently overlooked.

Professor Baker has done several summers' work at the University of Chicago in the field of sociology, on leading to the Doctor's degree. He has already written the first draft of his thesis, "Punishment as a Means of Social Control."

The thesis is based on literature in the field of criminology and social control, and on original research done in connection with the schools, courts, parents, teachers, judges and attorneys in Tarrant County.

Professor Baker expects to place a copy of his dissertation in the library about the first of the year for inspection by those interested in the subject treated.

Former Student Campus Guest

Winford Isleib, a former student in T. C. U., was a guest in Clark Hall last week. He is now working in Fort Worth and expects to return to school in February. He is classified as a sophomore.

Baylor Squad Is Coming Here to Revenge Defeat

Critics to Watch the Game to Dope SWC Outcome.

BEAR TEAM IS IN SHAPE

Frogs Have Own Machine Well Oiled to Make Battle Tough

Baylor comes to Frogland Saturday, led by a fighting desire for victory, and a lust for revenge. If Baylor does all she intends to do, the Frogs will have their hands full.

When the dust of battle has settled on the gridirons of the Southwest Conference Saturday the status of some of the various teams will be altered. T. C. U., Texas and S. M. U. have perfect records at stake; while Baylor, Rice, Arkansas and A. & M. have been defeated.

Whether or not the Fighting Frogs will continue to keep their slate unmarked is attracting a great deal of attention among football fans and critics of this section of the country. Some say that the Frogs will meet their first real opposition of the season when they encounter the Baylor Bears on Rogers Field Saturday afternoon, giving as their reason that A. & M. is weaker than they have been in years.

The game is without question one of the most important on the Frog schedule and if they are able to emerge victorious their stock will take a considerable rise, and conditions will be more favorable for victory when they come in contact with Texas University and Southern Methodist, two of the strongest teams in the history of the Southwest.

Both teams have finished their preliminary games with non-conference opposition and their so-called training season is over. Therefore the products of Morley Jennings, mentor of Baylor and Matty Bell, leader of the Christians, will be sent forth in an effort to prove which is the "best man."

Baylor comes fresh from two crushing victories over non-conference clubs. Centenary and St. Edwards were the victims. Even though the Arkansas Razorbacks administered a 14-0 beating to the Waco group, the losers of that contest are regarded as one of the strongest major college elevens in this section.

While comparing the season records of the two teams, the background of the Frogs overshadows that of the Bears. T. C. U. is undefeated in six contests, with only one touchdown and one field goal scored against them. However, the 28 points scored against the Tech Matadors was the largest score of the season on the part of the Frogs. While Baylor has run up impressive scores on Centenary, Trinity and St. Edwards.

In sizing up the lines and backfields of the two elevens indications point to a greater amount of speed in the Baylor ball carriers, while the more experienced Christian linemen give the latter the edge in that department.

Such speed merchants as Weir Washam and Jake Wilson cause the Frogs to fear the running attack of which the Jennings' men are capable of staging. The big fellow that dealt Centenary and St. Edwards so much misery will be watched by the Frogs. He is Gilliland, of Itasca, and he plays halfback. Two long runs were made by him against St. Edwards last Saturday when the Bruins ran wild to amass a total of 48 points.

But if the Bears' running attack is stopped before it reaches the Frog forwards little trouble will result as the Waco eleven is weak on line plunging.

T. C. U. will hope for victory in their powerful line plays that spelled defeat for the Farmers on Kyle Field. Much will be expected of Captain Williams, Brumbelow, Atkins and Moore to open holes for Griffith, Grubbs, Eddleman and Thompson to go through. Both teams can be depended upon to do everything within their power and ability in order to claim victory.

T. C. U. has witnessed two very decided and marked displays of excellent school spirit within the last two weeks and both were the fine attitudes which two of Texas' major colleges showed in defeat.

Oct. 20, at College Station, Texas A. and M.'s vaunted football team was defeated on Kyle Field for the second time within eight days, a thing which had never happened before in the history of the school. Despite the outcome of the game, the Aggie band marched from the field undaunted, playing their beloved war song, "Goodbye to Texas University," which is always done, regardless if they win or lose. The student body tramped off, 12 abreast, chanting to their conquered team, "That's all right, boys, that all right." Defeat failed to affect their attitude in the least toward their victors from T. C. U. and only the friendliest and most courteous relations existed after, as well as before the game. True to the words of the song they sing, "It's the spirit of Aggieland."

THE other example of fine spirit was last Saturday, when, after having been beaten by the Horned Frogs, we saw Texas Tech supporters leave our campus in the best of friendly moods, still believing in their team and still proud of them, though defeated, and still engaging in the most friendly relations with their conquerors. No jeers, nor comments of any kind were heard from the rooters of this plucky college aggregation who had come out of the West, confident of seeing their team victorious, who, though a young school, are well versed in sportsmanship and school spirit as endorsed and practiced by older institutions of the Southwest who have the benefit of years of which to base their traditions of school spirit.

THE actions of Texas Tech came nearer to approaching Southwestern Conference standards than any other non-conference group the Purple has encountered this season. T. C. U. looks forward to the time when she may welcome Tech as a sister member in the Southwestern Conference.

Our Rooting Can Be Improved and Here's the Way Some Say To Do It

Each week The Skiff plans to take a referendum on some question of interest and importance on the T. C. U. campus. It is hoped that out of the many and varied opinions here expressed may come some suggestions that will be constructive and lead to progress in the matter under consideration.

The question this week is, "How can our rooting be improved?" The following are as many of the opinions as The Skiff has space to print: Jake Williams, "By closer co-operation with the yell leaders. Too many students are not getting in on all the yells!"

L. C. Wright, "The pep leaders approach means a lot in the volume pulled from the student body. Rooting sounds louder from the side than from the ends."

Leo Butler, "The only way to improve the rooting is to get a larger number of students in school."

Weir McDiarmid, "I think that the trouble lies in the fact that a large number of the new students have not been instilled with the T. C. U. spirit."

Joe Pate, "Devote more time to yelling in chapel. This would give opportunity for co-operation between town and dormitory students, and give the town students a better chance to learn and practice the yells."

Clinton Buskin, "Those who come to root and intend to do so should sit in one section, and those who did not intend to give their best efforts in organized yelling would not hinder those who did."

Mrs. Beckham, "I think the best way to improve the yelling in T. C. U. is for every one to take part by shouldering under his part of the yelling, and feeling obligated to come to pep meetings. I think the students should occupy the center section of the field instead of the end."

Miss Rebecca Smith, "The student body rooting is non-existent. A short talk in chapel on the technique of yells might help."

Miss Eula Lee Carter, "Let the yell leaders tell us how to root by signals instead of through the megaphone."

Sid Latham, "Consider a pep meeting a pep meeting and not just a place to get away from Jarvis Hall. Every student should consider himself the twelfth man on the team. One for T. C. U. and all for T. C. U."

Sarah Beth Boggess, "If every student would get the spirit in his bones we could out-yell the Aggies. We don't have it now, but that's no sign we can't get it."

Miss Margaret Cook, "Learn signals which the pep leaders could more easily communicate to the student body."

Bob Alexander, "The boys tend to congregate at the top of the section instead of being close to the cheer leader."

Mrs. Beulah Boggess, "The rooting could be improved if the faculty would take more interest and come to the pep meetings, and if juniors and seniors would come as well as underclassmen."

Phyllis Pope, "The use of signals would get our yells off quicker and louder."

Jelly Lafayette, "Dormitory students and town students must better combine their efforts."

Wade Hawkins, "Better co-operation between the town and dormitory students."

Helen Powell, "Don't be bashful when you open your mouth to yell."

Professor Sammis, "All of the students should watch the cheer leader closer and follow him."

Horned Frog Band Entertained

The Horned Frog Band was recently the guests of the management of the Majestic Theater, the occasion being the showing of a college football picture.

The band played a number of songs in front of the theater and the T. C. U. pep song just before the showing of the picture.

John Philip Sousa, world-renowned musical conductor, may write a march for C. I. A. where he and his famous band gave a concert last week. When a request for the march was made, Sousa promised to consider the matter after his present tour. If the march is written it will be Sousa's first to be composed for a girls' school.

The sixty members of the Rice Institute Band have lost 350 pounds this month, due to their suffering from the intense heat and excitement at football games.

Students with more than four chapel cuts a term at Southwestern University are suspended, according to a recent issue of the Megaphone.

The Extension School at S. M. U. is considering the use of radio to facilitate correspondence courses in foreign languages. One lesson a week is to be given by radio for teaching correct pronunciation, and other lessons will be given by correspondence. If this plan is used, it will be possible to cut class by turning off your receiving set; and profs will have to contend with excuses dealing with static, interference and burned-out tubes.

Both Armistice Day, Nov. 11, and San Jacinto Day, April 21, fall on Sunday this school year, but students of Texas University will not be cheated out of their holiday on that account. The following Monday, in each instance, has been declared an off-day by authorities.

A few weeks ago an o'possum was found in a C. I. A. dormitory. Now comes the report that two goats found shelter in a building at the college during a rain.

Dates for corps dances at A. & M. have already been announced this year in order that cadets can arrange to have their girls come to the college for the entertainment. The first dance was held Oct. 20, after the T. C. U. game.

Freshmen girls at Howard Payne at Brownwood must wear tams to football games. An article in the Yellow Jacket advises them to buy tams before the next pep meeting and suggests unpleasantness if they do not.

S. M. U. has applied for membership in the American Association of Universities, an organization composed only of the outstanding universities of the country. Decision on S. M. U.'s application will be made by the association sometime in December.

Baylor University has taken to 'ology courses this year, seventeen of them being offered. They are bacteriology, biology, cytology, ecology, embryology, entomology, histology, morphology, mycology, parasitology, pathology, psychology, physiology, pomology, sociology, toxicology and zoology.

The Texas High School Press Association will hold its annual meeting at Baylor College, Belton, in December. Several hundred high school students will attend, and several Texas editors and publishers will give lectures.

Nine hundred students of S. M. U., or 38 per cent of the entire student body, worked their way through school last year, according to the student employment bureau of the university. Nine per cent of these were girls.

Don't waste aesthetic effort on the kind of slicker that won't last. Use a genuine Tower's Fish Brand Slicker—a background worthy of your masterpiece. Fish Brand Slickers are not only better looking—they stay that way. They're built to take any sort of beating you or the weather can give them. The "Varsity" model is a big, handsome, roomy coat, full-lined. It has a corduroy-lined collar, with or without a strip. Buttons or buckles as you choose, and the patented "Reflex" edge that keeps water out of the boots. The pockets are wide and deep and rip-proof. Your choice of colors. Best of all, a Fish Brand Slicker—"The Rainy Day Pal"—costs not a bit more than others. And you can buy it anywhere. A. J. Tower Company, Boston, Mass.

Get Rich Quick Sell Space In Your Parked Car

Sitting space in cars parked around the campus can be commercialized.

One young lady parks her car in a certain place every day so that an unknown couple can use it to sit in while they pass non-class hours away. And she receives for her service the sum of one penny.

The couple, which pays off every day to the tune of one cent, is not known to the owner of the car, and she has only occasionally seen them in the car, but she always finds the penny left in the car, she supposes as payment for use of the sitting space.

This is an idea. Why cannot the thing be commercialized? Let every car owner place a sign in his or her car for patrons to please pay off by leaving their pennies in the ash trays before leaving the car.

Martin Is President

Heads Upperclass Group in Sunday School.

Kenneth Martin was elected president of the upper classmen Sunday school department at a recent meeting of the class. Other officers are Thelma Reid, secretary-treasurer; Gladys Wilkinson, first vice president; Lloyd Armstrong, second vice president; Ruby Lusk, third vice president, and Mary Ruth Campbell, fourth vice president.

The plan which is now being carried out by this group is new on the campus, chiefly for the purpose of discussing campus problems and the future good of our students. Questions for discussion arise from the Sunday morning worship program. Questions which have been reserved for future discussion are "Can a student be religious and participate in war?" "Has the church any place in modern life?" "What should a student understand about vocations?" and "Should college students attend popular amusements?" These questions are under the direction of Dean L. L. Leftwich, who, assisted by Professor Carl Wells, is sponsor of the upperclassmen department.

Miss Polk Elected

Miss Robbie Lee Polk of Killeen, Texas, was elected secretary-treasurer of the senior class last Friday morning at the regular class meeting. Miss Polk was chosen to fill the vacancy left by the resignation of Miss Elizabeth Ayres, who was forced to give up the office on account of her heavy schedule for the year.

Homesickness, Need of Money, Themes of Telephone Calls

"Write Mrs. Beckham to let me come home," is a tearful plea heard over the long-distance telephone at Jarvis Hall, along the first week of school when freshman girls are just beginning to feel the first pangs of homesickness, according to Miss Frances Dacus, head operator on the T. C. U. switchboard.

T. C. U. has its own private exchange with 41 inside station lines, four outside lines and one long distance line. Several new telephones were put in this fall and four new outside lines are being added to the board to take care of the added calls, according to Miss Dacus.

The switchboard is handled entirely by T. C. U. students who work in shifts, each working four hours a day, and one girl working on Sundays. Other students on the board are Misses Mary Ruth Campbell, Valerie McLemore, Ruby Lusk and John Hammond.

From 5 to 25 outgoing and from 10 to 30 incoming long distance calls and telegrams are handled each day, with Jarvis Hall, girls' dormitory, leading with about 85 outgoing long distance calls each month. There are more calls home than elsewhere, generally for money or because of homesickness.

All long distance calls and telegrams are supposed to be placed over the T. C. U. switchboard to keep charges and records straight, and a new system of filing is being used this year. One of the more interesting telegrams recently handled through the switchboard, according to Miss Dacus, read: "Do not read morning letter. Anxious to see you. I love you. Margaret."

"We have to teach the freshmen how to use the telephones with the two-operator system where they have to ask for outside," says Miss Dacus. "Even then, some of them insist on calling for 'local operator' or get frightened and hang up."

Pay telephones for long distance calls are being installed in Jarvis, Clark and Goode Halls for the purpose of eliminating students gassing calls to outside without notifying the P.B.X. operator. There are more calls between offices and dormitories and more calls for outside than there are from outside for inside lines. Registrar E. R. Tucker's office gets more calls from outside than any other one telephone.

The operator on the board is a regular information giver. Everything from "What time is it?" to locating stray students is put up to the operator. Some people ask why they have not received receipts. One person called and asked, "It looks like it's going to rain, they won't have the football game, will they?"

Another says, "My little girl is in school out there and I won't be home to fix her lunch, will you please tell her to eat in the cafeteria."

One town mother asked the operator why her boy had not come home and wanted to know if there was a ball game. It was just before dark, and she said, "he had never stayed out that late or done that way before without telling her." Still another complained to the operator because of having to pay the student activity fee included in all the students' bills. "My daughter is the studious type and does not care for athletics," said the mother. The operator had to explain the additional use of the fee for the school paper and annual besides admission to athletic contests.

"People just do not realize that we are not an information bureau and how it retards service on the board to answer so many questions," says Miss Dacus. Another one of the troubles is from people within T. C. U. who unthoughtfully call in, giving the name and location of the desired party but failing to give the telephone number, leaving that to the operator to look up herself and give to the outside operator.

Hours, with an operator on the switchboard are from 7 o'clock in the morning to 11 o'clock at night. After 11 o'clock Jarvis, Clark and Goode Halls and the cafeteria are connected up with outside lines and receive the same service as during the day when an operator is at the switchboard.

Football Is One Dangerous Game--Read This Story!

"Go to A. & M. and find yourself a husband," said Mrs. A. J. Florey of Midland, Saturday, Oct. 27, at College Station. Mrs. Florey will be remembered, as Miss Leo Hubert who attended T. C. U. last year and the year before.

Two years ago when Leo was a freshman in T. C. U. and A. J. was a senior in A. & M. the two met at the game at College Station between T. C. U. and A. & M.

"This is the way it was," answered Leo when asked, "I saw a senior walking along with a little red flag in his boot that he had when helping make the Aggie T. I decided I would like to have that flag to take back to T. C. U. with me, so I began to follow him."

"I kept walking behind him saying, 'I wish I had a little red flag,' but he wouldn't pay any attention to me at all, so I followed him about a block and kept saying, 'I'd just love to have one of those cute little red flags,' and finally he turned around and said, 'I'll be delighted to give you mine.'"

Leo sighed and continued, "Well he walked down to the train with me, and the next day I had a special delivery letter from him, then he came to see me once, well, several times, and now we are married."

Leo and A. J. Florey were married at 7 o'clock Saturday morning at Beaumont and left immediately for College Station to attend the game. They will make their home in Midland.

"Isn't it lovely," added Mrs. Florey "that I can come back on my wedding day to the same place and to the same game that I met A. J. two years ago?"

The Store Every Woman Knows

Frog Flashes

By WADE HAWKINS.
Ransome Walker spoiled the Frogs' goal line record. He is the first to cross it since our S. M. U. defeat last Thanksgiving. This fact should spur the Frogs on in order to keep it from being crossed in the future.

Baylor's crushing defeat over St. Edwards, by a score of 48-0 is not music to the ears of the Purple. Baylor and T. C. U. will strive for supremacy on the Frog gridiron Saturday.

Gilliland, Bear halfback, is competing with Redmond Hume of S. M. U. for honors in the Southwest. Gilliland depends more on brute strength and power than does Hume. The Methodist flash is noted for broken field running. Can the Frogs stop the powerful Bruin?

"Red" Eddleman proved to the home folks that he, too, can carry the ball, as can Grubbs, Tolar and Griffith. The sorrel top youth may be depended upon to show his heels to the visitors Saturday.

The showing made by Clifton Bruce at center Saturday was pleasing to fans and coaches. Hirstine and George, heretofore being the only understudies of Atkins. However, the lack of weight seriously handicaps the two. Bruce is a 190-pounder and should go good.

Should Bruce get in the Baylor game he will oppose one of his high school team mates who starred with him at Stamford. Bruce played full-back then and was a tower on the offense.

The power exhibited by the Frog reserves was pleasing to T. C. U. fans. Never before in the history of the school have the coaches had such wealth of material. By having two or three men for each position Coaches Bell and Kubale were able to wear down the Tech opponents. Reserve strength is important.

S. M. U. comes forth with another smothering offense, turning Trinity back 60-7. Even though the Mustangs smother the non-conference clubs they have all managed to score on the powerful Methodist, something that Texas Tech alone has been able to do against the Frogs.

West Point beats Yale 13-6. They did not do S. M. U. that had, therefore the pilgrimage of Coach Morrison and his men into the East gains prestige.

It looks as though Tech will have to be content with the conference of which she is now a member for a while. Texas University also beat them.

Texas University is heralded as a strong contender this season but low scores in games with Rice, Vanderbilt and Tech cause a question mark to appear in the minds of some. We are not discounting the power and ability of the state institution, but results from previous encounters speak for themselves.

Virgil Roberts, playing his first year with the Frog varsity, is suffering from a severe injury of his left ankle. The injury resulted from scrimmage last Wednesday and he will be out for a long time, probably the remainder of the season. Virgil is a good offensive back and his presence on the reserve squad will be sorely missed.

Clyde Roberson's back injury, received in the Aggie game, is slowly healing and he will probably be back in the lineup Saturday against Baylor.

Reports come from Baylor that they have "their eyes on the Frog game" indicates that the Bruins are seeking revenge for the 14-0 defeat handed them by the Bell men last year at Waco.

Through the courtesy of the Star-Telegram WBAP broadcast the Tech game, enabling many West Texas fans to learn of the game from first hand. The Baylor game will be broadcast, too.

Yet the prices paid for admission does not sound much like amateurism. Of course the equipment, salaries, transportation, etc., must be taken care of. It may be interesting to note, however, that athletics at West Point and Annapolis are purely amateur. Not a cent is charged for any athletic contest of which either of the two schools participate. The trip to West Point by S. M. U. cost the Texas school several thousand dollars.

BEAT BAYLOR, FROGS, BEAT BAYLOR!

Tech Is First To Cross Goal Entire Frog Squad Got Chance to Get in Game.

Were it not for the efforts and accomplishments of one football player of Texas Tech, the Fighting Frogs would continue to be the only team in the Southwest Conference with their goal line uncrossed. To Ransome Walker goes this honor, he has done something that even A. & M. could not do.

From game to game the Frogs have improved both on the defense as well as the offense. The second and third string men showed the regulars, who sat on the bench the major part of the contest, that they also could play football.

A large amount of credit gained by the opponents goes to Chubby DeWitt, a Central High product, for his sterling efforts on the defense. At the side of this stocky built lad was Vaughn Corley, who fought furiously on the defense and between the two a large number of the T. C. U. efforts for gains went for naught. DeWitt played guard while Corley held down the center position. Not all the defensive glory goes to these two lads, however, for there was a young man by the name of Westerfeldt, substituting at left tackle for Carpenter, who gave his all in interest of the Lubbock institution.

As has been stated, Ransome Walker dealt the Frogs plenty of misery of the offense, yet he was not the only source of trouble for the Frogs. A feature of the game was the punting and ball carrying of Brothers, a Tech halfback who is handicapped by having only one hand. Marr did some nice-work in returning punts and running interference for Captain Walker. Levi Walker, young brother of the Captain, kept the Walker name in the limelight by doing his part in the vainest effort for victory.

James "Red" Eddleman was the whole show in the backfield for the home aggregation. The tall lad from Weatherford played his best game of his college career, and this is his last year on the Frog team. Sharing the honor with Eddleman is another young man who, too, is to pass from the portals of Texas Christian University, in June. Harry "Hopper" Akers is his name. No one on the Bell Kubale coached team enjoys playing any more than Harry does and his exhibition on the field Saturday brought glory to himself as well as T. C. U.

Frosh Banquet Dec. 3

Open House for Faculty, Theater Party Also Planned.

Freshman class activities at T. C. U. will be inaugurated with a banquet on the evening of Monday, Dec. 3, according to announcement this week by class officers.

On the afternoon of Dec. 16, the class will hold open house for students and faculty members. A theater party is planned for Jan. 9.

Freshman students whose homes are in Dallas are planning to give a special party, at which the feature will be a one-act play. The date for this is still undetermined.

Frog-Bear Game Recalls Rivalry of Old Waco Days

WACO, Oct. 23.—When Baylor sends its Golden Bears to meet the Texas Christian Horned Frogs in Fort Worth Nov. 3, the event will bring back memories of the colorful rivalry between the Frog and Bear eleven when T. C. U. was also in Waco. Gang fights held as prominent place in that day as did the actual football encounters.

Homecoming days were the occasions for the big games between the two schools, just as the annual T. C. U. Homecoming Day will be the date for the Frog-Bruin tilt this year. Last year the game was played in Waco on the Cotton Palace Gridiron on Oct. 29, Baylor's Homecoming Day. T. C. U. was the victor by a score of 14 to 0.

When Texas Christian University was located in Waco, the buildings for the institution were on North Eighteenth Street, all the way across town from the Baylor campus. Even today there is the "T. C. U. Drug Store" where it stood when that part of town was Frogland.

When Baylor would play on T. C. U.'s gridiron, all of the students would go across town on special street cars which were usually covered with green and gold banners and signs. According to older faculty members here, the first object of the opposing team was to tear off all of these banners and begin a minor gang battle just before the game. This encounter would cease for the football contest, after which the real fight began.

Dr. T. D. Brooks, mayor of Waco and chairman of the School of Education, was a student in Baylor at the time. He states that no one ever got hurt seriously, but that nearly every man in the two universities took part in the fights.

Baylor and T. C. U. were the greatest rivals in the state during 1906 and from then until T. C. U. moved to Fort Worth. T. C. U. was usually the baseball winner, but Baylor won the majority of the contests involving the pigskin.

Boxing Class Meets

Junior-Senior Section Holds First Session Monday.

The junior-senior section of Graham Estes' boxing class held its first workout Monday morning, Oct. 22. Only twelve of the twenty-five or thirty that signed up for the section were present, but these twelve were put through a short drill.

Mr. Estes expects to get both sections in full swing this week, since all equipment is expected to arrive before Friday, and he has asked that all class members attend each meeting of the section to which he is assigned to meet. He also states that those students interested in boxing, and who have not seen him about signing up, may attend the class meetings without seeing him first.

The junior-senior section will meet at 10:15 o'clock each Monday morning, while the sophomore-freshman section will meet at the same hour each Friday morning.

Freshmen Lead In Intramurals

110 First-year Men Sign Up for Three Planned Fall Sports.

Sophomore athletes that are to participate in fall intramural athletics will have to show more interest than at present, if they want to outdo the freshmen in any of the sports planned by Graham Estes, head of interclass athletics at T. C. U.

Both classes held meetings during the past week and were given mimeographed sheets to sign and turn in to the office, after checking the sport or sports they intend to go in for. It was found that the freshmen were by far the more interested and enthusiastic in signing up for the three events listed, football, soccer football, and handball.

Eleven sophomores signed up for soccer, 12 for football, 2 for handball doubles, and 2 for handball singles. The freshmen had 45 to sign up for soccer, 45 for football, 13 for handball singles, and 7 for handball doubles.

The handball tournament will be of the "round robin" type, each contestant playing every other contestant. The winners will be given silver handballs at the close of the schedule. The games will be played on the handball courts at the old gym. Each man is to furnish a ball, and the winners will turn in the results. If one player fails to appear at the scheduled time, his opponent wins by forfeit, and two forfeits eliminate the defaulter from tournament play. The schedule for the handball games will appear on the intramural athletic bulletin board outside the math office.

Soccer football will begin about the first week in November, and will last until Dec. 1, at which time football will be begun, and will continue until the Christmas holidays. Mr. Estes says that no experience will be necessary to play soccer, though experience will be desired in football, and that playing soccer will help condition these wanting to play interclass football. Silver footballs will be presented to members of the winning teams.

Austin Griffith, president of the sophomores, and Lawrence Blanton, president of the freshmen, will manage their respective class teams in the coming events, while as yet the juniors, seniors, and faculty have not announced their plans.

Weatherford Victory 13th Consecutive One for Coach Meyer's Team.

Freshman Coach Meyer's proteges won their initial contest of the season from the Weatherford Junior College, by a score of 53-0, Thursday, running the string of consecutive victories by T. C. U. freshmen teams to thirteen.

Even though the visitors were subdued by a large margin, not until the final gun was shot did they cease fighting.

"Red Grange" Oliver and "Football" Moore lived up to previous expectations and bore the brunt of the offensive attack staged by the first-year men. A large percentage of the gains and touchdowns were made by the accurate passing of a young fellow by the name of Hinton who hails from Cleburne. "Prexy" Blanton's defensive work at left tackle was a feature of the game, while the blocking of McCollough was outstanding.

Discusses Courtesy

Dr. Combs Lectures in Chapel on "Manners and the Man."

"Lack of courtesy is a high significance of a civilization rapidly becoming materialistic," said Dr. Josiah Combs, head of the modern language department of Texas Christian University, at chapel Monday in a lecture to the T. C. U. student body on "Manners and the Man."

Dr. Combs discussed the gentleman and the business world and cited courtesy as a tremendous asset, showing that the uneducated who are courteous and polite, thus offsetting their lack of education, often win over the impolite educated.

"It is a constant struggle under the present trend of materialism versus culture and politeness," he said. "This constant haste and speed of the age in which we are living militates against politeness and courtesy."

Dr. Combs also discussed the manners and customs, in courtesy, of continental Europe in comparison with those of both the modern and the old aristocratic American. He also pointed the laxity in forms of greetings, responses to introductions and manners on street cars, shops and all public places.

T. C. U. visitor last week. On Thursday he presided at a one-day convention of Christian Churches in Brito College chapel. On Sunday evening he preached for the University Christian Church. Mr. Golden expressed himself as much pleased with the progress T. C. U. has made in the last few years.

Your School—Your Paper—And Your News

VOL. 27. FORT WORTH, TEXAS, WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 31, 1928. NUMBER 6.

EDITORIAL AS WE SEE THINGS COMMENT

By RAYMOND H. COPELAND. CRIED, you cried, and we all felt like using our handkerchiefs, but now it's all over, let's quit our crying and make the best of what there is left.

The game was great in all respects with the exception of the score. The team that played the last five minutes of the game was one of the best we have seen in action for a long time.

NOBODY, not even the editor, can say that our student body wasn't doing some very good cheering. Our pep leaders received excellent support, and Baylor knows that T. C. U. can still show her magnificent school spirit.

And another thing: our student body is still mainly and representative of true sportsmanship. At least, no fights occurred on our side of the field.

The senior show was all that it was advertised to be. It seems that our senior class has a special talent in presenting successful shows.

WELL, now that the political argument is over, we can settle down to arguing about such things as football games, exams, and poor grades.

This week The Skiff reporters interviewed students on the question of, "Are our new school songs effective?" Answers to the question were about even. There seems to be an idea that the alma mater song would be much more impressive if it were not played so close to the pep song.

THIS is a matter for time to work out. Both songs are fine. The time for playing them will be set probably more by custom than by rules.

Due to the fact that we need space, we are cutting the column short this week. (You probably wish that we needed space every week.)

Gibson Cottage Is Victim of Burglar

Miss Elizabeth Hutchinson is Heaviest Loser—Officers Investigate.

Entering Gibson Cottage Saturday while all residents were at the Baylor-T.C.U. football game, a prowler escaped with a wrist watch belonging to Elizabeth Hutchinson and about $25 in cash. All doors except the side door were locked, but the first person who entered the house found the front door unlocked, which seems to indicate that the thief entered the side door and left by way of the front door.

Although there were other valuables and articles of jewelry in the house, only one watch was taken. Some of the heaviest losers were Doris and Mota Mae Shaw, Frances Golston and Dora Macy.

The theft was reported to Mr. Smiser, who, with two plain-clothes officers immediately called to interview Mrs. McCartney, to get a description of the missing watch, and other details. According to Mr. Smiser, arrangements will be made at Gibson so that the girls' valuables will be secured from now on.

Thornton Wilder To Give Lecture Here April 23

"San Luis Rey" Author Scheduled for Last Talk.

JUNIORS SELL TICKETS Tolstoy, Thomas, Andrews and Other Noted Speakers Are Booked.

Thornton Wilder, who became internationally famous on the publication of his novel, "The Bridge of San Luis Rey," has been secured by Prof. Newton Gaines, chairman of the lecture committee, to appear on the T. C. U. lecture course for 1928-29. According to Professor Gaines, T. C. U. is exceedingly fortunate in engaging Wilder as the seventh and last lecturer on the course. He will be at T. C. U. April 23.

The junior class will have charge of the sale of the tickets. They will be put on sale on Nov. 12 at $1.50 for a season ticket. Stewart Hellman, president of the class, is to act as sales manager, with William Rogers, vice president, as assistant manager.

Under these two boys are to be five group captains, who in turn will have the supervision of five salesmen. These salesmen will have definite territories to cover, and will be able to answer any questions concerning the lecture course. The juniors will apply their profits on the junior-senior banquet fund.

Arrangements have also been made by the lecture committee for the following numbers to appear on this year's annual lecture course:

Count Ilya Tolstoy, son of the world famous Leo Tolstoy, Russian novelist, will speak Nov. 27 on the subject "Leo Tolstoy, His Life and Teachings."

Lowell Thomas, noted war correspondent, will appear on Dec. 14 speaking on "With Lawrence in Arabia."

"Hunting the Bones of Adam" will be the subject of Roy Chapman Andrews, explorer of the Mongolian desert in Central Asia, who will be at T. C. U. on the evening of Feb. 5.

On March 28, T. C. Smith, professor of philosophy at the University of Chicago, will give his lecture, "The Role of Philosophy in Everyday Life."

Dr. Charles Ivan Alexander, member of the faculty of the T. C. U. geology department, will speak early in April on the subject, "Recent Methods in the Geology of Oil."

At an April date yet to be determined Dr. Max Handman, professor of economics at the University of Texas, will lecture on some phase of his field.

Frogs In Need Of Owl Victory As Wins Count

Houston Team Has Good Ball Toters as Well as Linesmen.

BELL TO TAKE BIG SQUAD

Rice Was Victorious Over T. C. U. on Muddy Grid in 1924 Contest.

T. C. U.'s third conference game will be played next Saturday at Houston with the Rice Owls. Even though the Houston representative has been defeated on numerous occasions, the game will not be taken lightly by the Frogs. The game is a conference contest and the Frogs can not afford to consider it otherwise. A win over the Owls will count as much in the percentage column as one over the powerful Mustangs.

Southern Methodist University is topping the list in the Southwest pennant at the present time with wins over Texas and Rice. They have A. and M., Baylor and T. C. U. to reckon with, in the order named. All other teams in the conference have been defeated: Rice and A. and M. are out of the contest as far as the title is concerned, but not until the Thanksgiving day contests are over will the champion be known. And probably not then, for a tie could result and it would be left to the conference authorities to decide the winner.

Not since the fall of 1924 have the two teams, Rice and T. C. U. met on the gridiron. At the last meeting the Institute team humbled the Frogs with a 6-0 defeat on a muddy field.

The Frogs will face several players, who if they were on a stronger eleven would be outstanding stars. Alnooch powerful fullback, is the mainstay on the team. He has ability to punt pass and run with the ball. His efforts have helped in a large degree to keep the enemy scores down. Hertling, at halfback, is the main offensive threat of the Bayou City team. He is fast, powerful and elusive. The captain of the team, Knippell, is one of the outstanding linemen of the conference, even though he is on a team that has had little success at winning.

Coach Madison Bell will take a large squad to the game, in order that the reserves may carry the brunt of the attack and to allow the regulars as much rest as possible in preparation for the Texas game on Nov. 17 in Fort Worth. The team, Coaches Madison Bell and Edwin Kubale and Student Manager Wayne Shirely will leave Friday morning on the Southern Pacific.

In spite of the storm that raged outside, the Halloween frolic sponsored by the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A. last Wednesday night was well attended. The cold, drizzling rain did not dampen the ardor of the frolicers in the least, and an air of hilarity prevailed throughout the evening.

Change In Attitude Toward Art Is Seen Here By Prof. Ziegler

"It is encouraging to note the change in attitude of the student body toward art," says Prof. S. P. Ziegler, head of the art department. "Several years ago a boy was a rarity in an art class here at T. C. U., but now we have many boys enrolled and they are taking the work seriously as a profession."

The enrollment in the art department includes about 90 students, as compared with only 77 when Professor Ziegler came to T. C. U. four years ago. These are doing work in interior decorating, art appreciation, public school art, commercial art, still life classes and outdoor sketching.

Probably the most interesting phase of the work, according to Professor Ziegler, is the outdoor sketching class conducted by students in the fall and spring. These students take their easels and paint boxes and work out of doors along the ravines, valleys and rivers, at Lake Worth, and other accessible scenic sections around Fort Worth.

The students go out two afternoons each week and paint directly from nature. The sketches made are filed and sometimes used later from which to make enlargements. The classes have done some especially fine work according to Ziegler, painting wild flowers and bluebonnets, and in landscaping. This class increases each year and four or five T. C. U. students exhibit work at the annual Carnegie Library art show.

Quinn Buck, senior student in the art department from Crosbyton, was awarded first prize for a painting which he exhibited at the recent Panhandle-South Plains Fair at Lubbock. He also recently held a private exhibit in his home town, with some sixty oil paintings displayed. Much of his work has to do with canyons and plains scenes of West Texas.

Most of the art classes are concerned with still life sketching and painting in the studio, working indoors from groups of objects and portraits which furnish a foundation for technique. The students draw in black and white till they are sufficiently able to handle colors. The work is done in progressive order with the combinations and textures getting harder as the year goes on.

Quite an increase in interest has been shown in commercial art in the last few years, according to Professor Ziegler. Business is beginning to understand the value of commercial art and that true art may have a use in the commercial world as employed in the field of advertising and designing. Professor Ziegler has thirteen enrolled in his commercial art class this year.

Professor Ziegler has studied at the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts in Philadelphia and there won a scholarship to Europe in 1912, where he did sketching, private study and research while traveling through every country from Liverpool in England, to Naples, Italy. He returned from Europe on the S. S. Carpathia, picked up some of the survivors of the famous Titanic.

Professor Ziegler conducted a private studio in Philadelphia for three years, has taught at the University of Tennessee and Texas Woman's College, and is now in his fourth year at T. C. U. He won a gold medal in 1925 in Dallas, and first prize two years in succession for figures in the annual West Texas Art Exposition. Two years ago he won first prize for the best still life painting of selected Texas works at an exhibit in Nashville, Tenn.

An article on Professor Ziegler and his work in this colorful Western section appeared last year in "La Revue Moderne," an art magazine published in Paris, France. He has exhibited paintings in the most of the Southern cities and art centers, and in Philadelphia. Examples of his work are owned in Brooklyn, Philadelphia, Newark, Kansas City, Boise, Idaho; Los Angeles, Knoxville and in many Texas cities.

The Fort Worth Carnegie Library and the T. C. U. Mary Coats Burnett Library also have examples of Professor Ziegler's work which are permanent properties of these libraries. He has made a special study of landscaping, of Southwest scenes, oil fields and oil fires.

He is a member of the American Federation of Arts, Southern States Art League, Texas Fine Arts Association, Academy Fellowship, Philadelphia; Fort Worth Arts Association, Art League of America and president of the Painters' Club of Fort Worth.

Seniors Present First Program

"Grab Bag" Opens Class Entertainment for This School Year.

Russell Ward's Collegians were on the stage during the entire show. Returns from the national election were announced at intervals. The performance was under the direction of the entertainment committee of the senior class, composed of the following members: Margaret Rankin, Bob Alexander, Adeline Boyd, Phyllis Pope, Charlotte Housel, Elizabeth Ayres and Miller Robertson.

Mid-Semester Exams Run Up

The time of mid-semester examinations has been changed by the faculty cabinet from Nov. 20 and 21 to Nov. 27 and 28. This change has been made because of the fact that the band will be absent on the good will tour of the Fort Worth Chamber of Commerce. Certain examinations may be held earlier than Nov. 27, and 28, at the discretion of the instructor.

P. T. A. Gives Furniture

Is Providing New Equipment for Clark Hall Parlor.

The Parent-Teacher Association of T. C. U. is providing furniture for the parlor of Clark Hall. Some has already been placed and six floor lamps are among the things that have been ordered. Donations are being solicited from parents for a fund to furnish radios for the halls.

Several lectures are to be scheduled for future meetings of the Clark Hall boys. These will include talks on marriage, vocations, and other problems of interest to young men.

Horned Frogs and the initial letters T. C. U. are being carried out this year in the freshman class pins. This was decided upon at a meeting of the class Friday morning.

More Should Be Active In T. C. U. Group Societies

Greater Participation, Not More Clubs, Says Beckham.

BETTER PROGRAMS NEEDED

Social Calendar Committee Offers Suggestions for Improvements.

The social calendar committee, in scheduling the activities of the existing organizations of the university feels that the need just now is not for more activities, but for an increased participation of the part of students in the activities of the organizations of which they are members, according to Mrs. Sadie Beckham, chairman of the committee. "T. C. U. is becoming a great university," Mrs. Beckham points out, "and all who take part in our class and group activities must be conscious of this new status and feel an interest in making all programs and activities of a university level. Childish, hastily prepared entertainments, however proper in high schools, do not bring honor to T. C. U., or to any class or group at T. C. U."

Committee Suggested Policies. "This committee, in an attempt to help make these activities creative, attractive and liberating, suggests that the following policies, which are not to be thought of as rules, but as goals, to be reached this year, be observed by all groups."

The suggestions that the social calendar committee makes are as follows: "That in activities of each organization, participation of the entire group, where possible, be obligatory."

"That every program planned for presentation before individual groups or before the public, be thoroughly prepared; that those programs intended for public presentation be presented for approval, three days previous to the public performance, to an official committee, composed of the chairman of the social calendar committee, the student body president and the president of each class."

"That the maximum admission for student productions, be 25 cents, unless special permission is granted by the social calendar committee."

Faculty Sponsor Recommended. "That every organization have a duly elected faculty sponsor, whose counsel should be sought in all the affairs of the group."

"That all group or class activities be carried out without dates, each individual participating paying his or her own way."

"That, as far as possible, other faculty members than the faculty sponsor, together with some parents, be included in the social events."

"That no expenditures be made without official approval of the officers of the group, and that all business transactions be carried out according to contract, bills being paid promptly, etc."

Failure to observe these general policies will be considered sufficient grounds for withdrawal of special privileges from the offending group for the year."

Geology Group Goes To Arbuckle Mountains

Study of Old Formations in Rock to Be Made.

Some of the advanced geology students will take a field trip this week-end to the Arbuckle Mountains in Oklahoma in order to study rock formations there. These formations are millions of years old and cannot be found in Texas, except many feet underground. Volcanic actions have thrown the rocks in the Arbuckle Mountain region to the surface of the soil, where they may be easily studied. The group will leave Fort Worth early Saturday morning and return Monday night.

The personnel of the party are: Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Winton, Dr. Ivan Alexander, Dr. Gayle Scott, Ralph Sanders, End Norman, Jimmie Grant, Leo Hendricks and Buzz Morgan.

NOW then that we have a new flag we can tell people along the highway that we were just waiting for the old one to finish performing its duty.

The old flag was fast becoming a disgrace to our campus, and the school authorities have saved our name just on the verge of ruin once again.

AND now that we have the new flag, suppose that we take good care of it, and make it last as long as possible, but not last too long, that is until it becomes a disgrace to the school.

The idea that is worked at Baylor is good. Baylor has four flags a year. We could give the idea a try.

Students Discuss New School Songs In This Week's Question

This week the Skiff reporters have interviewed students and faculty members on the question, "Are our new school songs effective?"

Answers to the question show varied opinions. For the most part students seem to like the new songs; however, there are some who think that the songs could be made more effective.

President E. M. Waits: "The new school songs are very effective, but the pep song should not immediately follow the alma mater song as it destroys the spirit of prayer and reverence. A good class of religion cannot come from jazz."

Wilbur Boone: "We have not given the new songs a fair trial yet. I take several years to educate the student body to the songs."

Lloyd Armstrong: "Personally, I think that the new school songs are fine, but I do not think there is enough emphasis being put on them."

Ody Thompson: "The school songs are efficient. The alma mater hymn especially seems to have the desired effect."

Jelly Fall: "Our fight songs are much more effective than any we have ever had."

Warren Day: "I think that both songs would be more effective if the student body as a whole would sing the songs as they are being played."

Gladys Van Horn: "The school songs are much more effective because they are our own. They are more impressive."

Peggy Kipping: "The new songs are effective, but we should take them more seriously and put all of our heart and spirit in them."

Charlotte Housel: "The school songs are effective, but they would be more so if the students learned the words to the songs better."

Weir McDiarmid: "I think that our alma mater song could be improved by using more dignified meaning words. We want a song that can really be sung with a meaning."

Helen Jenkins: "By all means the new school songs are effective. When I hear those school songs, I can't help but feel the old fighting spirit down inside."

Florine Martin: "I have never heard a song more effective than T. C. U.'s alma mater song, but I think that a better athletic song could be found. I prefer the old song to this one."

Fred Erisman: "We upperclassmen can not give the full value to the new songs because of the memory of the old T. C. U. songs. Full appreciation will come when everyone knows the sentiment it carries."

Graham Estes: "The alma mater song is the most effective that I have ever heard. It inspires a traditional reverence that would do credit to much older school."

Mrs. Helen Murphy: "Our alma mater song is one that has unusually kept feeling. The minute it starts everyone automatically rises. Ever those who have never heard it before the new songs."

Dean Hall Returns From Trip To East

Was Offered Presidency of Transylvania College at Lexington, Ky.

Dean Colby D. Hall returned last Thursday from a week's trip to Ohio and Kentucky. In Kentucky he spent two days on the campus of Transylvania College, Lexington, Ky., the first time he had visited his alma mater since receiving his degree in 1902.

While Dean Hall himself has not been saying much about it, it is known that he had been invited to consider the presidency of Transylvania. When first invited to consider the matter, some weeks ago, he replied that he would not consider leaving T. C. U. Nevertheless, the committee insisted on a personal interview, hence his trip East. After the interview, however, Dean Hall still declined to allow his name to be presented to the board for the presidency, and stood by his first decision, to remain with T. C. U.

On the same trip Dean Hall attended the convention of the International Torch Clubs at Columbus, O. He is one of the national directors of this professional men's club and went as a delegate from the Fort Worth Club. He also managed to get in a few days' visit with his father at Madisonville, Ky., on his way home.

Prof. Pickerill Speaks at Brite

Social Development for Ministerial Preparation Stressed.

"Our personalities should be more highly developed so that our ministerial work may be more efficient," said Prof. H. L. Pickerill in a devotional talk at Brite Chapel Wednesday. "The religious leader of today is apt to forget to develop the social side of his life."

"I've seen many honor students who were not successful religious leaders because they did not know how to live among people. It is a sad fact that more people are influenced by a minister's personality than by his message."

Mrs. Pickerill played the prelude, "Largo," from the "New World Symphony."

The first Wednesday of each month some prominent non-faculty speaker will give the devotional talk. Dr. L. D. Anderson, pastor of the First Christian Church, will speak next Wednesday.

Clipped From The Exchanges
A. & M. Has 2,000 College Students
S. M. U. Chews.

TEXAS A. & M. has 2,693 students enrolled this year, the largest enrollment in the history of the college. Of that number, 1,128 are new students, representing the school's largest freshman class. The enrollment includes 661 in agriculture, 1,587 in engineering, 338 in arts and sciences, 79 in vocational training and 17 in veterinary medicine. Twenty students are taking special courses.

Baylor University uses four "Old Glories" a year on its 110-foot flagpole. One flag has already been whipped to shreds there this year by strong winds, and a new flag was raised above the Baylor campus last week.

DOES the college student as a type exist? This question was asked and answered in an editorial in a recent issue of C. I. A.'s Lass-O. Popular opinion has it that college students are saps, yell leaders, athletes, flappers or book-worms with large vocabularies, but these types do not exist in college. "The college student is distinctly individual and variations are interminable," states the Lass-O. "The book-worm is almost a thing of the past, and not a few college athletes and flappers take philosophy and psychology and like it."

West Texas State Teachers' College at Canyon dedicated its new educational building Oct. 19 and 20 with a two-day ceremony. Several thousand educators, legislators and citizens of Texas attended.

"Freshmen, you must wear your caps," writes the Yellow Jacket of Howard Payne in a second warning to new students. "You look as good with the green caps on as without them, so wear the caps."

S. M. U. students waste enough energy each day chewing gum to run a Ford car seven miles. Nine hundred students of the Methodist institution chew their gum four hours daily and use up 36 horsepower of energy. More than $9 worth of gum is sold to them daily, and each school year $1,944 is spent for the sticky commodity.

THIRTEEN religious beliefs are represented in the student body at Baylor, according to a recent issue of the Daily Lariat.

Armistice Program By B. B. A. Students

Program Monday Morning

Students in the department of business administration will present an Armistice Day program at 10 o'clock Monday morning at chapel, with Prof. John W. Ballard, head of the department, in charge.

The stage will be decorated like a Y. M. C. A. hut, the scene taking place the day after the draft troops got to camp. William Judson Rogers will be director of ceremonies and Ralph Isely will give an opening address on "Armistice Day."

About forty-five students from the department will take part. There will be an orchestra composed entirely of B. B. A. students, with Ralph Harrell as director and Shannon Thompson at the piano. Musical numbers will be given by Misses Mildred Austin, Marguerite Wendeborn, Milton Simon, and cornet and trombone numbers by Perry and Milliner Sandifer and James Watson. There will also be community singing of war songs.

Tom Rouse, Fort Worth, debate coach. The six men who make up the team will represent State in all intercollegiate debates during the year.

Lights that Fill the Skies with Commerce

THE air map of America is now in the making—on the ground.

Ten years ago, there were 218 miles of air mail routes with two station stops; to-day, a network of sky roads bridges the country from the Atlantic to the Pacific and from Canada to the Gulf of Mexico.

Can you imagine this growth without electricity—without illuminated airports—without trunk lines studded with electric beacons?

Men of vision are building for increasing traffic of the air. Soon, the skies will be filled with commerce.

Just as electricity is helping to conquer the air, the land, and the sea to-day, so to-morrow it will lead to greater accomplishments in aviation and in every human activity.

A majority of the beacon lights used in airport and airway illumination have been designed and manufactured by the General Electric Company, whose specialists have the benefit of a generation's experience in the solution of lighting problems.

T Association Plans Social Year

Banquets and Parties On Athletic Club Program

The "T" Association is planning several social affairs for the coming school year. The usual parties and wieners roasts will be given, in addition to the annual play.

Something unusual this year will be a banquet at the University Club just before the S. M. U. game. All of the active members and many old members will be there, as this will be the biggest get-together of the year. The varsity football squad will be the honor guests at this affair.

The last event on the social calendar is a "Dutch" picnic for members only. This picnic is the farewell party of the association.

Probably the biggest affairs of the organization are the semi-annual initiations of new members. The first is held immediately after the football letter men are announced, and the second during the last days of school, after the basketball baseball, and track letter awards are determined.

Although the "T" Association was first organized about 1917, it was discontinued during the World War and was not reorganized until 1926. During this year action was taken whereby each man is now awarded a token, upon the completion of his athletic services, which admits him to all future athletic events held at T. C. U., and which identified him as a "T" man. This token is a gold square with a purple "T" on it, and may be used as a watch charm.

The officers of the organization this year are: President, Odie Thompson; vice president, Bernard Williams; secretary, Mack Clark; sergeant-at-arms, Clyde McDonnell.

The members who are still in T. C. U. are: Buck Barr, Lester Brumbe- low, Jim Edgeman, Jimpie Grant, Charlie Hillburn, Harve Light, Cecil Morgan, Amos Melton, Fred McConnell, Clyde McDonnell, Marvin Norman, Fain Reynolds, Frank Stangl, Oran Steadman, Merlin Toler, Bernard Williams, Raymond Wolf, Jake Williams, Pete Wright, Howard Grubbs, Buster Walker, Leo Buckley, Roy Eury, Horace Wallin, Weir McDiarmid.

Recommends Reading

Dr. Hughes Urges Students to Use Good Books.

Dr. H. L. Hughes, head of the English department of T.C.U., gave the seventh of a series of nine lectures, in chapel Monday morning. His subject was "A College Student's Reading."

"Education is largely a matter of inheritance," he said. "There are five kinds of inheritance, physical, spiritual, literary, institutional, and religious."

Another point brought out was that youths—especially freshmen and sophomores in college—have the attitude that "What I don't know isn't worth knowing," and thus have their minds shut to things in life which are worth knowing. "There are mysteries of life, unknown to them, which reading unfolds," the speaker pointed out.

Dr. Hughes' advice was not to read books right off the press, but books at least a year old.

The famous "Varsity" model is built of the same sturdy stuff. It's a handsome coat, full-lined, with big, book-carrying pockets that won't rip. Strap-collar or plain, buttons or buckles, and your choice of colors.

If you want a lighter, dressier slicker, there's the "Topper"—smartly cut and finely tailored.

Frog Flashes

Determination and fight are the key words in football. And unless a team fights from start to finish in an important game they may be beaten. Three quarters of fighting and one quarter of loafing will not win many ball games. In other words it takes "60 minutes" of football to win most games.

The fact that T. C. U. was defeated last Saturday by Baylor has not dampened the spirits of the team, in fact they are going forward with more determination and more fight than they have had in the past and will cause the name of "Fighting Frogs" to be feared even more so than it has been in the past.

There is nothing much that can be said about last Saturday's game—we lost and that is all there is to it. Some have asked the writer what his personal opinion is about the loss—well every one has their own opinion and crying over spilled milk will not alter past conditions. All we can do now is forget the past and look to the future with a more determined spirit.

No one can justly say that the Frogs were over-confident or that they under-rated the ability of the Bruins, if anything it looks as if the Frogs were scared of their opponents.

Other than the first quarter the Frogs outclassed the visitors and hard luck in several occasions denied the Purple a victory. It was the first quarter that lost the game. The Bears were determined from the beginning, but it took 15 minutes for the Frogs to awaken their determination.

Even though the Bears defeated the Frogs the writer does not believe that the former has a stronger or better club than the latter. Two men in Baylor's backfield are the only men that overshadow any member of the T. C. U. team. Gilliland and Washam are their stars.

Pete Donohue, star pitcher for T. C. U. in years gone by and now with the Cincinnati Reds, witnessed the A. and M. game two weeks ago and remarked to M. W. Bell after the game, "I have seen teams play from coast to coast, I have seen Stanford, Yale, Harvard and Michigan play, and with the fight that the Frogs put out against the Aggies they could beat any team in the Nation." Evidently they did not fight Saturday as they did at A. and M.

Texas University evidently had their eyes on Redmon Hume in the game with the Mustangs last Saturday, for that demon of the gridiron was carried from the field late in the second period. Before the game he made the threat that he would make Texas feel as though a tornado had struck them. As it turned out the tornado struck him.

No matter how good a player is there is always someone to take his place. In the above case Sammy Reed replaced Hume and due to his efforts the game was won for S. M. U. Hume did not figure in the victory. And at last Hume has been stopped. It took Texas to do something the Army failed to do.

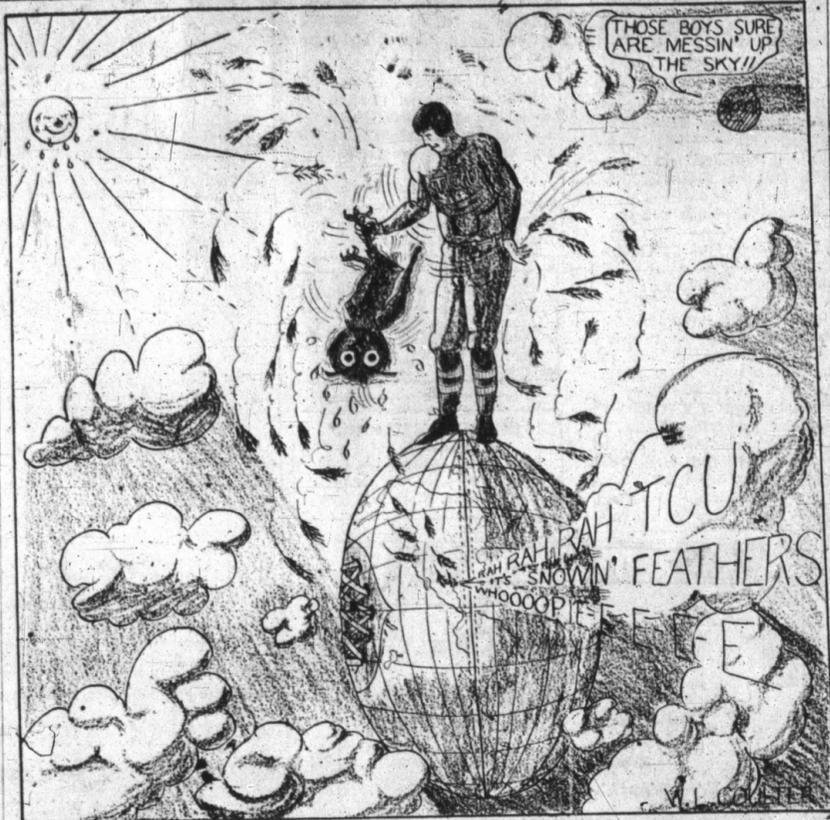

Even though the Texas team went down in defeat they are gloating over the fact that Redmon Hume did not help do it. They are not glad he is hurt, they are only rejoicing over their moral victory over Hume.

Statistics in a game matters little in the outcome. In the game last Saturday with Baylor T. C. U. outclassed the visitors in every department except punting. Noble and Wilson averaged 39 yards, while Moore, Tolson and Walker averaged 38.5 yards. T. C. U. made 13 first downs by Baylor's four. Baylor made 17 yards from scrimmage to T. C. U.'s 308. T. C. U. completed seven passes while Baylor completed only one. After all it is the score that decides the ball game, and not first downs, passes completed or punts.

The game with Rice Saturday will show whether or not the Frogs have quit or whether they will take on more determination and fight.

Probably the writer is using the phrase "determination and fight" to an excess, but from game to game the evidence is more convincing that these two elements are the outstanding factors in a ball game.

T. C. U. Freshman Is Runner In Pyle's Cross-Continental Race

Homer Shipp, Ranger, freshman student in Texas Christian University this term, was one of the runners in C. C. Pyle's marathon cross-continent race last spring, from Los Angeles to New York, in which Andrew Payne of Claremore, Okla., won the first prize of $25,000.

However, Shipp was forced to drop out of the race in Arizona on account of a bad knee which had been cracked while playing football in high school. He continued as far as Ohio with the runners as trainer for Kenneth Campbell, another entrant from Ranger. Shipp and Campbell had trained for about one year before going to California to enter the race, and followed with three weeks' intensive training after they reached the point of starting.

Shipp graduated from Ranger High School in 1926, where he played football, baseball and did four years' track work. Although he was forced to drop out and did not get to finish the contest, he is considered as a professional by all athletic associations to which he has applied and is therefore ineligible for any sort of college athletics.

He is taking the regular literary course in T. C. U. and is making his own way by working in an express office at night.

Shipp started out from Los Angeles with a group of 249 runners. Around 300 had started training, but found it too strenuous and dropped out. Around 500 men were included in the party of runners, trainers, dietitians, officials and movie men. "Red" Grange was assistant to Pyle.

"We were a little city in ourselves," said Shipp. "We had our own tents, bedding and cafeteria which was called Pyle Inn. We made from 35 to 73 miles each day and the winner was determined by the one who made each day's trip in the least number of hours, minutes and seconds, the whole group stopping at the same place for the night."

The group tried to make the largest towns by the end of each day and Pyle charged each town in which they stopped for the privilege of having his runners there. People came from miles around to view them and each night the participants were introduced to thousands of spectators, according to Shipp. Lunch, drink, shoe repair and medical aid stations were established at points along the highway to care for the party. A portable broadcasting station, KGGM, broadcasted the places of the runners in the contest each evening.

Each entrant had to pass a medical examination and be physically perfect before entering the race. Only 35 out of the 249 starting finished up at Madison Square Garden, New York City. "It was the hardest work I ever tried," says Shipp.

"It was interesting to note the different nationalities and different professions of people in the race," he said. "My friend Campbell and I were probably the youngest entrants. Ages ranged all the way from 20 to 64 years. Most of the entrants were professional runners. There was one channel swimmer who had taken part in a Catalina Island race, there were boxers, a life guard from Florida, a musher, or dog driver, from Canada, an Indian, a movie star and three negroes, one of whom placed third in the final ranking.

Practically every state in the United States was represented and almost every country in Europe, the runners having come to America for no other reason than to enter the Transcontinental marathon. Scotland, Germany, Sweden, Switzerland, England, Finland, Hawaii, the Philippines, Turkey, Estonia, Siberia, Italy, Denmark, Poland and Greece all had representatives.

"The changes in temperature was one of the hardest things we had to endure," said Shipp, in discussing his experiences. "The hottest weather we struck was through the desert in California and Arizona, and the coldest was in Amarillo, Texas, where we encountered snow and sleet in April. We also had trouble with the sandstorms in New Mexico and the rain in Missouri."

Shipp was winner of the Oil Belt Athletic meet in 1925 and district winner for two years in the Interscholastic League Meet, representing Ranger. He wore number 159 in the C. C. Pyle transcontinental race.

Baylor Bears Beat Battling Bellmen

Frogs Were Not Able to Kick Goal in Last Minutes to Play.

T. C. U.'s inability to put the pig-skin through the goal posts gave Saturday's game to Baylor. The glory of victory for the Waco aggregation goes to the powerful Virgil Gilliland. Other than the eighty-yard run by this man the Baylor offensive threat was a source of little worry for the Frogs.

Baylor came to T. C. U. as determined to win as were the Frogs when they journeyed to Aggie land two weeks ago. They fought, earned and won a victory—it was no fluke, it was straight football.

The Bears beat the Frogs with the latter's own defensive tactics. After Baylor scored seven points they turned to the defense and fought to make those seven points win. On numerous occasions the Frogs were in striking distance of the Bruin goal but on one occasion only were the Bellmen able to convert their efforts into points.

Baylor exhibited a well-balanced team, a strong offense, a powerful line and a fighting spirit. The team that defeated the Frogs was not the same team that the Purple defeated in Waco last year. Both teams were well matched and the Bear victory was not a surprise, nor would a defeat of the same team have been a surprise. At any rate it was "anybody's game" until the gun fired to end the contest.

Many thrills, tense moments, and exciting incidents were presented for the entertainment of the fans; long runs, short runs, passes completed, passes intercepted, blocked kicks made it an exciting contest and everybody knows that the Bears had to fight to win.

team from each class and a faculty team, according to Estes. There is also some talk of a team from the band members.

Weir McDiarmid will manage the senior teams, Gean Turner the junior teams, James Dacus the sophomore teams and Lawrence Blanton the freshman teams. Estes will have charge of the faculty teams.

Basketball, Soccer Intramural Favorites

Handball, Tennis, Baseball and Golf Teams Also Will Be Formed.

Sixty per cent of the students voting preferred either basketball or soccer. Handball came third with about 15 per cent of the votes, while tennis, golf and baseball were about equally divided among the other 25 per cent.

A preference vote of six sports for fall was asked, the sports listed being football, basketball, handball, tennis, golf and baseball.

Basketball has already been planned for February and March, so the three sports which will hold the intramural limelight at T. C. U. until the Christmas holidays will be football, soccer and handball.
