AS WE SEE ATHINGS

By RAYMOND H. COPELAND.

THERE are a few things that should be said about this class rush day business. In the first place, it should be understood that certain forms of "play" are not in keeping with the general atmosphere of the university. These forms must not be engaged in during the day.

IT WILL be considered absolutely foul play if the freshman president is kidnapped before class rush day. Such a thing is not within the rules, and of course, the sophomores can be depended upon to always abide by the rules of the contest.

HAZING is positively forbidden both by the catalogue, and the committee which has made the rules. If all other kinds of punishment are engaged in, this form must not be. It will not be tolerated by the administration.

NOW NO one is throwing a wet blanket on the play day. It is an open day for everyone to have a good time, and with high hopes of coming through all together with no ribs broken or other parts otherwise misplaced. The idea that is most important to the committee is that such forms of "play" as were used back in '28 are not used this year.

THE writer recalls very vividly how the thing was done that year. The most important rule was that anything would go but murder. And between flying plates, broken windows, and clubs, the rule was pretty well carried out. It happened like this:

THE freshmen were eating dinner in the cafeteria and trying to protect their class president. They were all seated up close to the counter in the front, around two or three tables. About half way through their meal, somebody looked up and hollered, "The Sophs." And sure enough there they were, about fifty of them, coming through the doors into the cafeteria.

THEY had clubs, boards, straps, and other weapons which deal out "pooch," and they were looking rather determined. They came in a quick rush. The freshmen turned over their tables, and fired a fusillade of plates. Their first volley failed to stop the advancing sophs, and a second barrage was turned loose. This time it consisted of cups, saucers, glasses, and most anything else that they could get their hands on.

THEIR last attempt failed, and they turned to run through the kitchen and out the back door. Their long-legged president still secure in their midst, but suffering from a bruised place on his head where a plate fired by a soph had just missed its mark, ran with them.

AT THE back door they were met by other sophs. And there the battle royal begun. Sophs and fish engaged in a tug of war with the poor freshman president becoming the much-pulled rope. The fight was staged on the ground now occupied by the parking ground. It was freshly plowed, and this was all that saved many a lad who hit the ground and went "boom."

WELL it was a grand fight, and the freshmen won and lost, but the main point is, that Mr. Smiser objected to the idea of smashing plates, and other articles of value, not because of the broken heads, but the broken plates. Now, we sincerely hope that no such affair occurs this year, and we know it won't.

Band to Play Thursday

To Advertise Junior Jamboree With Worth Theater Concert.

The Horned Frog Band will give a short concert Thursday evening between 7 and 7:30 o'clock in front of the Worth Theater as an advertisement for the "T. C. U." Jamboree.

Friday night the band will make its first appearance at the Fat-Stock Show, when a concert will be given between 7 and 7:30 o'clock in front of the Coliseum.

Schmidt Gets Spring Training Under Way Here

Regular Sessions Set for
3—Specials at 2 for Baseball Men.

COACH PRAISES T. C. U.

"We Will Go Ahead and Build Even Greater Things," New Mentor Says.

Francis A. Schmidt, the Frogs' new football and basketball coach, made his first appearance here Monday since he agreed to come to T. C. U. as head coach.

The former Arkansas mentor was introduced to the football and baseball men in the locker room Monday by Pete Wright.

Schmidt said, "I am certainly glad to be with you, and it goes without saying that I will do all in my power to put T. C. U. over in an athletic way."

"I was certainly glad to get the letter you letter men wrote me, pledging yourselves to co-operate with me. It makes me feel mighty good to know that you men are behind me here."

"One of the main things that I want to stress is your class work. It is mighty easy to get behind now when you don't really have to study, but it makes no difference if you are an all-American you have to pass your courses to play."

Schmidt spent the afternoon Monday, his first with the spring trainers, in giving them a few fundamentals of the game. Stress was laid on keeping possession of the ball. "You will lose more ground by one fumble than you will gain all afternoon, in a game," he remarked.

Regular practice sessions have been called for 3 p. m. each day, and the basketball men who play football will be given an opportunity to learn something of Schmidt's style of play through a special practice session at 2 o'clock.

When Coach Schmidt was asked what he thought about the change in the coaching staff here, he stated, "I would like to add my tribute to the two excellent coaches leaving Texas Christian University. Madison Bell has always, in my estimation, been one of the outstanding coaches of the Southwest Conference because of the remarkable results he accomplished with a minimum size squad. Ed Kubale has developed a line second to none in the conference, and has made T. C. U.'s line synonymous with the word 'stone wall'."

"I am looking forward with much pleasure to being able to work with the T. C. U. men during spring practice, and to meeting and knowing all of them personally. I have received many kind letters from the faculty, alumni and student body, and I am sure that with the wonderful T. C. U. spirit and the co-operation, such as has been pledged by the letter men and student body, we will go ahead and build even greater things for Texas Christian University in the future."

Snapshots Wanted

Annual Editor Asks for Pictures for Feature Pages.

A request has been made by Miss Louise Shepherd, editor of the Horned Frog, for snapshots to be used in the annual.

Pictures of yourself when you were a baby, or of you and your favorite pet, anything, or anyone relating to the T. C. U. campus can be used. These pictures may be handed to Miss Shepherd or turned in at the Horned Frog office. They must be in the office as soon as possible, in order to make arrangements for their grouping in the annual.

Pickerill Returns

Represents T. C. U. in Discussion of Sunday School Curriculum.

Prof. H. L. Pickerill has returned from Indianapolis, Ind., where he represented T. C. U.'s interest in the education division of the United Christian Missionary Society.

The subject under discussion was the present day need in forming new ideas upon curriculum studies for Sunday School students.

Dr. W. C. Bower of the University of Chicago was director of the meeting.

Glee Club May Go to Hubbard

Bridges, Randel Work on Plans to Give "Sunset Trail."

Lawrence Bridges, ministerial student and pastor of the Christian Church at Hubbard City, Texas, is co-operating with Gibson Randel, manager of the T. C. U. Men's Glee Club, in forming plans, which are as yet tentative, for the club to appear in Hubbard in the operetta, "The Sunset Trail."

The plans include a program at Corsicana and one at Hillboro, as well as Hubbard, which would make a three-day trip for the club. The dates, March 21, 22 and 23, are under consideration, but have not been decided on definitely.

Mr. Bridges, who lives in Hubbard, is majoring in Bible and receives his A. B. degree from T. C. U. in June. He was director of the high school glee club at Wilmer, Texas, several years ago, and in 1925 he was assistant boys' work secretary of the Y. M. C. A. in Fort Worth.

Paintings by Zeigler Exhibited at Jarvis

"Afternoon in the Hollow" Is Subject of Picture in Nature Study.

Four paintings by Prof. S. P. Zeigler, head of the T. C. U. Art Department, are on exhibition in the parlor of Jarvis Hall. Their picture subjects relating to nature.

The first of these is called "Afternoon in the Hollow," and was painted just below a hill south of Forest Park. This picture is 12 by 16 inches. The subject for "Golden Sunshine" may be found near the little stream that runs through Forest Park. "Rosebuds" was also painted near the park. The material for "Twin Mountains" was found in Santa Fe, N. M. These last three pictures are 16 by 20.

Information in regard to the purchase of these paintings may be obtained from Professor Zeigler.

A new exhibition of paintings will be held in the parlor of Jarvis Hall during the middle of the spring semester.

There are three other large pictures which hang in the parlor which have been the property of the school for some time. The largest represents the woods in autumn, another is a nature study, and there is also a reproduction of a portrait, which is known by the girls of Jarvis as "The girl who ate the green apples." There are several smaller pictures which have been donated to the hall at different times.

"Christian Unity" Meet March 12

T.C.U., S.M.U., Trinity and Austin to Participate in Program.

March 12 is the date set for Texas Christian University, Southern Methodist University, Trinity and Austin College students to discuss "Christian Unity" at T. C. U., according to Ed R. McWilliams, who is in charge of arrangements for the discussion.

The date, which was formerly announced as March 27, has been changed in order that all of the schools can have representatives present.

Following the discussion, which will be held at Brite College, the T. C. U. Brite College basketball team will play a team representing the theological students from S. M. U.

Red-Bound Books Are Weakness of Mary Evelyn Cook

Collecting books bound in red is the hobby of Miss Mary Evelyn Cook, senior in T. C. U.

Recently when two editions of the same Spanish textbook, one in tan and one in red, were placed on sale for students at the T. C. U. Bookstore, Miss Cook was distressed because she bought the one bound in tan without knowing that the same book was available with a red cover.

Miss Cook's collection includes "Autocrat of the Breakfast Table," by Oliver Wendell Holmes, Palgrave's "Golden Treasury," both in red leather, and Cervantes' "Don Quixote."

"I hope to receive the complete works of Sir Walter Scott, bound in red leather as a graduation present," she said. Miss Cook is majoring in English at T. C. U.

Junior Jamboree Scheduled For Worth Thursday

Twelve Students to Be Presented in Seven Program Skits.

BAND TO GIVE CONCERT

Tickets on Sale at Book Store and by Third-Year Class Members at 50 Cents.

The annual Junior Jamboree of T. C. U. will be presented at 7:30 o'clock Thursday evening at the Worth Theater.

This event is sponsored by the junior class, in co-operation with the Worth management.

The Horned Frog Band will give a concert preceding the show proper. Twelve students will appear in the seven acts that are scheduled.

Tickets for the Jamboree are on sale at the book store and by members of the junior class. The admission will be 50 cents.

The program has been announced as follows:

Horned Frog Quartet, composed of Dick Long, Alton Thompson, Thompson Shannon and Ralph Sanders.

Tap dancing, Noel Roberts.

Mandolin and song skit, Dick Long and David McNaughton.

Piano solo, Thompson Shannon.

Accordion duet, Don Lloyd and Girdline Dane.

Guitar duet, Russell Ball and Lloyd Motley.

Trumpet and trombone duet, Miller and Perry Sandifer.

T. C. U. Debaters Win From Austin College

To Go to Oklahoma City University for Contest Monday Night.

A T. C. U. debating team, composed of Rhodes Earle and Ben Bostwick, defeated Austin College in Sherman last Saturday evening.

The T. C. U. team upheld the affirmative side of the question, "Resolved, That a substitute for trial by jury should be adopted." The decision after the arguments was rendered by the audience.

The T. C. U. team, made up of Hugh Buck and Lloyd Armstrong, will debate Oklahoma City University in Oklahoma City Monday. Buck and Armstrong will take the negative of the question stated above.

Netter Makes Clean Sweep With S. W. U.

Frog Tennis Men Win 2 Doubles and 2 Singles From Georgetown Visitors.

The T. C. U. varsity tennis team defeated Southwestern University last Friday in an unofficial match. The Southwestern team stopped off here enroute to Waxahachie, where they had a match with Trinity University the following day. Two of the players were also members of the Southwestern debating team, which defeated the T. C. U. team Friday night.

The match was a practice affair, consisting of two doubles and two singles matches. John McDiarmid and Charles Ewell, No. 1 doubles team, won their match easily at 6-2, 6-1, while Weir McDiarmid and Guy Fox were also victorious at 6-0, 6-1.

In the singles, Weir McDiarmid of T. C. U. defeated Wilcox of Southwestern by a score of 6-2, only one set being played. John McDiarmid split sets with Brown of Southwestern in an unfinished match, which was the most spectacular of the day. The first set was won by Brown at 6-3, while McDiarmid took the second set at 6-0. The match was left unfinished, due to lack of time.

Southwestern Students Visit

Miss Lois Williams, Fort Worth, a graduate of Southwestern University at mid-term this year, attended the debate between Southwestern and T. C. U. last Friday night. W. Erskine Williams and Tom Q. Williams, former students of Southwestern, and Bill Gray and Sam Wilcox, students at present in the Georgetown University, also attended the debate.

Play Contest Set For March 14, 15, 16

Prof. Fallis to Manage High School District Meet to Be Held at T. C. U.

The date for the high school district one-act play contest to be held at T. C. U. has been set as March 14, 15 and 16. "Prof. Lew D. Fallis, head of the public speaking department, is manager for the tournament for district No. 12, for which Fort Worth is the center."

Eleven plays will be presented by the competing high schools. Four plays will be given on two nights and on one night three plays will be given. A small admission price will be charged.

The eleven high schools which will enter in this tournament are: Gainesville, Justin, Springtown, Weatherford, Aledo, Keller, Edgewood, Axtell and Polytechnic, North Side and Central of Fort Worth.

The winner in this tournament will compete with winners in the other district tournaments for sectional honors.

T. C. U. Victor In Triangle Debate

Armstrong, Buck, Hellman Are Frog Contenders.

T. C. U. won the triangle debate Friday evening when its teams defeated Southwestern University here and Trinity University in Waxahachie. This triangle made up of T. C. U., Southwestern University and Trinity University has been in existence some 25 years.

Stewart Hellman and Rhodes Earle debated Joe Humphrey and Rayburn Brown of Southwestern University in the Brite College chapel.

The T. C. U. team upheld the affirmative side of the question, "Resolved, That a substitute for trial by jury should be adopted."

Prof. Frank G. Jones of the department of education, acted as chairman of this debate and the judges were: James A. Jones, general claim agent for the Fort Worth and Denver Railway; Eugene Lary, a Fort Worth attorney, and N. A. Clark, assistant principal of Central High School.

Hugh Buck and Lloyd Armstrong debated Trinity University on the same question. The T. C. U. team upheld the negative side of the question.

Six Take Field Trip

Geology Students Study Formations—Scott Director.

Under the direction of Dr. Gale Scott, professor of geology at T. C. U., six boys went on the annual senior field trip over the week-end, leaving Friday and returning Monday.

The party visited Belton, where they studied the ancient Rhudistid Reef, the only one of its kind in the United States. They studied the rock formation at Travis Peak, Taylor, Pflugerville, Round Rock, Buda, Austin and Georgetown, collecting fossils and taking full notes on their findings.

They studied the whole cretaceous column of each formation, starting at the top and going downward on the rocks.

Dr. W. M. Winton, head of the science department, directed them to know on what formation they were at all times and if they didn't know to stop and find out.

Those who went on the trip were: Ralph Sanders, Jimmie Grant, Leo Hendricks, James Atchison, Bud Norman, Bracher Straud and Dr. Scott.

Luncheon for Frosh

First-year Class to Try New Plan for Meeting.

The freshman class is planning a new scheme for co-operation at class meetings.

"Eating is compulsory," says Marjorie Scott, secretary-treasurer of the freshman class, so according to the decisions of the class meeting Friday, the next meeting will be held in the form of a luncheon to be held in the cafeteria. During the luncheon, Wender Schuler, president of the class, will have charge of the meeting. Date of the meeting will be announced later by the president of the class.

Class Rush Day Events Set for Monday Morning

Regular Schedule Suspended for Day's Activities.

NINE EVENTS ARE LISTED

"Presidents' Rush" Will Be Feature of Annual Underclass Contests Arranged.

Annual Class Rush Day activities are scheduled for next Monday morning, according to plans announced by the committee in charge, of which Dean L. L. Leftwich is chairman.

There will be no classes Monday and no chapel exercises. Class rush events will be held throughout the morning.

"We wish to make it clear that all activities are to be confined to the campus," says Dean Leftwich. "Students are not to carry the school spirit of the day into the downtown district, where it is misunderstood and might lead to trouble for the individuals and the institution."

"Participation in the events scheduled is limited strictly to members in good standing of the freshman and sophomore classes," Leftwich points out. "However, we hope all of the students and faculty members will be on hands for the day's program of events."

The class presidents' rush, counting five points in the scoring, will be the feature event of the day, according to the list of points for each event.

L. C. Wright and Mrs. Helen Murphy will be in charge of the contests. Nine events are listed on the day's program, with separate contests for boys and girls.

The events, with the number of points awarded to the winner in each, are as follows:

Event	Points
1. Tug of war	3
2. Tug of war, girls	3
3. Sack race	3
4. Sack race, girls	3
5. Soccer football	3
6. Soccer football, girls	3
7. Presidents' rush	5
8. Boxing:
Girls, L. Wt.	3
Boys, L. Wt.	3
Girls, M. Wt.	3
Boys, M. Wt.	3
Girls, H. Wt.	3
Boys, H. Wt.	3
9. Swimming:
Individual race	1
Relay race	2

3 New Courses in Psychology Offered

Dr. Glaze Is Teaching Applied and Experimental Works This Spring.

Dr. J. A. Glaze, head of the psychology department at T. C. U. has introduced three new courses this spring. His course is "Applied Psychology," pertains to the practical application of the science to various phases of business.

A class in "Experimental Psychology," the pre-requisite of which is psychology 121, has been organized. This course has a laboratory which meets twice a week. The twenty-five experiments and references were worked out, written and edited by Dr. Glaze, who also made most of the material for his laboratory.

All the apparatus necessary in the working of experiments was arranged by Glaze. The psychology laboratory is in the basement of Clark Hall.

This experimental course, which Glaze says, is especially beneficial to majors in biology and pre-medical students, will have a limited enrollment until the curriculum content has been perfected.

Another new course in this field is psychology 24, which is a combination of psychology 121 and 124. It is a six-hour course, with two classes and one two-hour laboratory a week. There will be twenty-four students to a section. This course is an experiment, to find out if these pupils will learn general psychology better than those who work only with theory.

Two Cagers Graduate

Clyde McDonnell and Bob Alexander are the only men that will be lost by graduation to the 1930 basketball team. All other men on the 1929 squad will return.

More Library Help!

AT CERTAIN minutes during the day there is a heavy demand for more service at the library than the library is able to give. At the noon hour the other day, or any day, as for that matter, there was only one librarian to serve some 20 or 30 persons.

THIS lack of service works a hardship on both the lone librarian and those students who must catch noon cars to town in order to get to work on time. The library knows that more service is needed, but until those authorities who employ service realize the need, nothing can be done.

OBVIOUSLY, there is no need for hiring a permanent staff which would work 30 minutes and loaf the rest of the time, but there is a real need for service at certain hours, and if an arrangement could be made whereby a sufficient number of students could be on hand at the rush hours, a smoother flowing, and more efficient library service could be affected.

Standing for Speakers.

T. C. U. students have not always paid a rising tribute to those speakers who come to be on her chapel programs. At the suggestion of our registrar all students who are present at chapel stand to pay tribute to a chapel speaker. This makes the tribute one of mass action, and not of a scattered few. It is a good idea.

BUT the thing that is most distracting is the habit of standing for just "anybody." It seems that the act of standing is paying a very high tribute to a speaker. If that speaker is due a high tribute because of services rendered to the world, it is most fine that the students should honor him by standing, but if he is not such a great man, there is a question as to whether or not the rising tribute should be paid.

THERE is another thing about standing for every chapel speaker that comes. If we stand for all of them, what special tribute do we pay to the REAL speaker who has rendered a great service, and who deserves much praise and tribute? In other words, the more we stand for chapel speakers, the less value does our standing tribute have.

THEN who shall we stand for? Our registrar suggested that we stand for any speaker who the president of the institution stands for. But what if the president is already standing, or what if the president isn't present, then what? Well, it's a hard problem.

MORE ABOUT THE LIBRARY

Something ought to be done! Somebody screamed! Somebody else laughed out loud. Three girls to my left were giggling. Two boys in front of me were arguing about a book. Behind me a conversation between half a dozen boys and girls was in progress. A score of other groups nearby were similarly talking, laughing, and enjoying life.

This is an actual incident. It did not take place at some entertainment. It was not on a crowded street, or in a railway station. It was not anywhere that such things are supposed to happen. It was in the reading room of the T. C. U. library.

There are certain times when it is almost impossible to study at the library, because of the noise. Students are talking at almost every table. Perhaps the worst time of all is at 10 o'clock Friday.

A meeting place is needed for conversation, and we do not have it. Loitering in the halls has been stopped. Therefore, loiterers go to the library. That is even worse, and also needs to be stopped. In some libraries, a monitor prevents disturbance, and will quietly ask anyone seen talking, whether the talking is loud or not, to shut up or leave. We do not want to have to resort to such means at T. C. U. But the library should be kept quiet; and if a monitor is necessary to keep it so, then let's have a monitor.

A better solution, however, seems desirable. There are a number of regular workers in the library. If they would watch for those who disturb, and speak to them, the trouble could be greatly lessened. Perhaps at first, many minutes would be lost from regular work in helping to clear out the disturbers. But after a short time, students would begin to THINK, and would be more careful about their conduct in the reading room. Then very little effort would be required to keep perfect order.

Students who do not need to study ought to keep out of the library. Common courtesy demands that people who want to study should not be continually disturbed. We are no longer high school kids. We are college students, and should act our age. We have reached a time in life when we are expected to think of the other person. Well-bred people respect the desires of others, and try to keep from disturbing those who wish quiet—especially in the one place which is set apart for study.

Something OUGHT to be done.
 EDWARD D. HAMNER,
 A Student.

Freshman Committees Named

Three committees were appointed at the class meeting Friday by Wendell Schuler, president of the freshman class. Alfred Ronk was made chairman of the ticket committee; Laurence Coulter, chairman of the advertising committee, and Bryce Ryan, chairman of the stage program committee. Each chairman is to appoint two members to work on his committee, the names of whom will be announced later.

Shannon WBAP Artist

Thompson Shannon of Durant, Oklahoma, a member of the sophomore class in T. C. U., broadcasts each Saturday afternoon over WBAP. His program consists chiefly of popular numbers on the piano. Shannon is a member of the Horned Frog Quartet and until recently was the accompanist for the Men's Glee Club.

Student Clubs In T. C. U. Number 29, Survey Shows

Committee Wishes to Learn Status of Societies.

627 IN 21 ORGANIZATIONS

21 Local, 8 Are Chapters of National Groups—B. C. B. Is Largest.

There are 29 student societies and clubs in T. C. U., 21 of which are local and 8 of which are chapters of national organizations, according to a survey made recently at the university in order to learn the status of the various student societies.

The purpose of the survey, according to Dean Colby D. Hall, is to find what student groups are neglected, which clubs are really functioning, and what fields are being covered or neglected by the student organizations of the university.

A faculty committee which has been working on the project is composed of Miss Rebecca W. Smith, associate professor of English, chairman; Paul Baker, assistant professor of government and sociology; H. L. Pickering, professor of religious education, and E. Barton Howe, associate professor of English, assisted by Dean Hall.

Approximately 627 students are enrolled in twenty-one of the societies, which reported to the committee, although no figures were available for eight other organizations which failed to turn in a report.

The eight national organizations which have chapters at T. C. U. are: The Scholarship Societies of the South, Alpha Zeta Pi, honorary romantic fraternity; Pi Gamma Mu, honorary social science fraternity; Sigma Tau Delta, professional English fraternity; the Woman's Athletic Association, Pi Kappa Delta, forensic fraternity; the Young Men's Christian Association, and the Young Women's Christian Association.

Four of the T. C. U. organizations are based on scholarship alone, 3 are athletic organizations, 5 have a strictly social purpose, 3 are religious societies, and 14 are departmental organizations.

Brite College of the Bible Association has the largest enrollment of any student club at T. C. U., with a membership of 100, while the Math Club is the smallest, with twelve members.

T. C. U. NEWS BRIEFS

Rita Langston in Play

Miss Rita Langston, sophomore in T. C. U., was a member of the cast of "Turned Tables," which was presented by the dramatic section of the Junior Woman's Club at a meeting of the Tarrant County Scholarship League in Arlington Friday evening.

Pre-Medics to Hear Dr. Snider

The Pre-Medic Club will hold a meeting Thursday evening at 7 o'clock in the biology laboratory. The speaker of the evening will be Dr. F. L. Snider. Dr. Snider will speak at 8 o'clock.

Buckley to Be Outfielder

Leo Buckley, last year a member of Dutch Meyer's pitching staff, will appear in a new role when the Frogs open their conference season at Austin on March 27. Meyer has converted him into an outfielder, and he will be used on the mound only in case of an emergency.

Grubbs Slated for Good Year

Many fans do not know that T. C. U. last year had one of the best third basemen in the conference in the person of Howard Grubbs. Grubbs is back again this year and is slated to again play a leading role in the Frogs' fight for a baseball championship.

Freshmen Plan Class Play

Plans for the freshman class play were discussed at the class meeting Friday. The play will be under the direction of Miss De Rue Armstrong, faculty sponsor of the freshman class. Further plans will be announced later.

Prof. Aiken Visits T. C. U.

Prof. Riley Aiken of T. C. U., now on a leave of absence to work on his Doctor of Philosophy degree at Texas University, was on the campus last Wednesday.

Freshman Caps Now on Sale

According to Wendell Schuler, president of the freshman class, the freshman caps are on sale in the book store for 85 cents. Those who have not supported the class by purchasing a cap are urged to do so at once.

Beauty Shop Has One Regular Man Customer, to Girls' Horror

What! A T. C. U. boy in a beauty parlor? Just exactly that.

"Feminine mouths flew open, eyebrows, some restrained by curlers, were raised in holy horror, as a young man student walked in to get a manicure," said Mrs. Helen Brightwell, proprietress of Helen's Beauty Shop, which is just off the campus of Texas Christian University, in regard to the first time a boy came into the shop.

There is one young man out on the hill who can walk into a beauty parlor with perfect nonchalance. Once while he was getting a curl, a small boy, in the shop waiting for his mother, looked up at the youth in the midst of the curling process and said, "Why, you're gonna look just like a girl!" The young man merely smiled: It has been observed that while he is in the shop he can hardly keep a mischievous grin off of his face. He seems to regard his coming there as something just a little bit devilish and a jolly good joke, doncha' know, according to a co-ed who has been in the shop at the time.

Mrs. Brightwell has only one masculine customer; most of the others are dormitory girls. The young proprietress, who is known to the girls as just Helen, says that many of the girls drop in for "pop" calls. "One girl," she recalled, "used to stop in every morning on her way to school. She always started powdering her nose at the back mirror, combed her hair at another and came on to the front, getting a view of herself in every mirror in the house, pausing at length before a tall mirror. This same girl is very particular about her manures. Each nail must match perfectly the nail of the same finger on the other hand. She has been known to get a manicure every morning for weeks at a time.

Most T. C. U. girls are particular, but few of them are particular to a fault, the owner of the campus beauty parlor says. When asked whether or not she liked to have her customers made up of co-eds, she replied, "I wouldn't have a shop anywhere else. The girls here seem as much like friends as customers. They're easy to please. Sometimes when I get a cranky old lady in here, I can appreciate the girls more."

Girls talk and sing as they get their manures, finger waves, and other beauty treatments. While sitting in the beauty parlor for one hour you may learn what the co-ed considers the best show in town for the week; the latest "crush" of any number of girls; the latest song hits, sung by experts; the newest jokes; what color will be the most fashionable for the season; certainly, whether bobs will be long or short; the latest campus gossip; new romances on the campus, and hear any number of wise-cracks.

Girls like to talk about their S. L.'s (secret lovers), according to Mrs. Brightwell. One girl recently announced co-plainingly that she would have to get her a new S. L. as she had been introduced to her favorite one. She didn't want to change but it seemed that an S. L. was no good after an introduction.

The beauty parlor is a place where girls, and supposedly girls alone, meet and exchange their views and gossip, much as the boys used to do in barber shops before women entered them. Now, that boys have entered the beauty parlors, the girls may be forced to find a new place in which to exchange their confidences and choice bits of scandal.

Girls who come to the campus shop do not smoke or tell smutty jokes, according to the proprietress. Mrs. Brightwell has had a beauty parlor on the hill for the last five years. Her assistant, Mrs. Lala Lackey, has been with her for the last two years. Both are well known to girls in T. C. U.

Sidney Samuels Is Junior-Senior Guest

Is Speaker on Chapel Program Commemorating Texas Independence.

"Man proposes and sometimes the sword disposes; so it was reserved for a blue-eyed Anglo-Saxon people to claim Texas as its own and make it a part of its heritage, I hope forever and a day," said Sidney Samuels, speaker on the junior-senior program, celebrating Texas Independence Day, in chapel Friday.

"The early Texans were a sturdy race. Like Cromwell's Roundheads they 'feared God and kept their powder dry.' There was Houston, wisest of them all, whose voice later warned his people of the sorrows of secession. Other great leaders in those early days were Ashwell Smith, John Pickney Henderson, Lamar, Burnett, Rusk, (noted for his scholarship) and a host of other leaders who shaped the course of a people who were hard and difficult to govern.

"Why is it that the Spanish race left practically no impression on Texas, and the last vestige of France has disappeared? It is because the English were never afraid to give to others the right they most valued—the right of liberty and freedom.

"America is youth and youth claims and holds the miracle of time. Youth must make itself worthy of the great men who prepared the way for what the country is today.

"Living within the law never made a good citizen. Law can not kindle the glow of charity; it can not give to indolence the reward of industry.

"May the memory of the great men of our history tend to hasten the day, predicted by the Christ, when the tribes of the earth 'shall mingle together and the discords of the centuries be fused in majestic harmony.'"

The band opened the program with three numbers; the second of which was a serenade, "The Little Gray Church," and the third an "Indian War Dance." After the announcements the band played "The Star Spangled Banner" and Prof. Edwin A. Elliott, associate professor of economics, led the student body in prayer. President E. M. Waits introduced the speaker.

Frogettes Honor Hoover

The Frogettes of Jarvis Hall decorated the cafeteria dining-room for dinner Monday evening in celebration of the inauguration of Hoover. The Jarvis Hall orchestra made its initial appearance. This orchestra consists of: Marjorie Scott, Mavolene Bowe, Hester Leavell, Marjorie Miller, Helen Powell and Josephine Austin. The committee in charge of decorating consists of: Edna Lowry, Hazel Berry, Margaret Johnson, Relda Robbins, Pearl O'Dell and Marian Howrey.

25 Make All "A" Honor Roll Shows

302 Students—218 Girls, 84 Boys—on List of Best Scholarship.

Twenty-five students in T. C. U. made all "A's" for the fall semester, according to the honor roll just released from the registrar's office. Six of these were boys and the other nineteen were girl students.

A total of 302 students' names appeared on the honor roll for the past term, 84 of whom were seniors, 69 juniors, 55 sophomores, 70 freshmen, 18 graduates and 6 special students.

Only 84 boys made the honor roll while the list contains the names of 218 girls. A student to be eligible for the honor roll must be carrying at least nine hours that count toward a degree, making an average of 3.00, or "B," and be passing in each subject he is carrying at the time the fall grades are turned in to the registrar's office.

T. C. U. Is Well Represented at Fat Stock Show

Texas Christian University will be well represented at the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show which will be formally opened Friday night at 8 o'clock. Its uniformed band will give concerts day and night in front of the Coliseum. T. C. U. Students will sell souvenir rodeo programs and the university will have an attractive exhibit in one of the exhibit halls. Van Zandt Jarvis, chairman of the university board, is president of the university.

Liberal patronage from T. C. U. is expected during the Exposition which promises "eight days of fun and frolic" along with numerous interesting and educational features.

Practically every department has been enlarged and the largest number of rodeo contestants ever enrolled will be seen in action. Tickets are now on sale at the Worth Segar Store, Main and Seventh Streets, for the opening performance as well as for the sixteen rodeos. The price opening night will be $1.50 for each reserved seat with no general admission being charged that night for entrance to the Coliseum. The price for the opening show last year was $3 a seat.

Hyman Maurice's fifteen-piece orchestra will play four periods each day at the elaborate Automobile Show.

Thousands of visitors are expected here for the exposition. The special railroad and bus rates offered for the show make this a splendid time for parents and friends living outside of the city to visit students of Texas Christian University.

Art Department Shows Etchings

Etchings done by Whistler, Frank Benson and Ernest Haskell were on exhibition in the T. C. U. art rooms Monday afternoon under the auspices of the University Place Art Club. The rooms were decorated in red, white and blue. The members of the club were dressed in colonial costumes and served tea. All the art clubs of Fort Worth were invited. Also on exhibition were paintings of S. P. Zeigler and Japanese prints. The eighteen etchings were valued at $700.

Brushes Art Club To Order Pins

The Brushes Art Club decided at the last meeting on Feb. 20 to order club pins for the new members for this year. The club meetings will be held at night hereafter instead of in the afternoon. The next meeting will be at the home of Betty Southwell. Those present at the last meeting were: Mrs. Lucille Richart, Misses Betty Southwell, Gussie Lee Jones, Lesbia Word, Theresa Phelps; Messrs. Jack Greer, Wendell Schuler, Quinn Buck.

Two Ex-Students Wed by Father

Miss Brown and Maurice Gilmore were married last Wednesday at Broadway Presbyterian Church by the Rev. H. M. Gilmore at high noon. They left immediately for their home in Fabens, Texas, where the groom is pastor of the First Christian Church. The groom, who graduated last June, is the son of Rev. and Mrs. H. M. Gilmore of Grapevine Road. The bride, who was a sophomore, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Brown, 1434 West Terrell.

Junior Calendar Is Completed

The junior class calendar has been completed and consists of the following entertainments:
 March 7—T. C. U. Jamboree presented at the Worth Theater.
 March 20—Picnic at Forest Park.
 April 18—Junior-senior banquet.
 May 6—Skating party.

Parabola Adopts Constitution

The Parabola, mathematics club, adopted a constitution at its meeting Thursday evening in the Brite College clubroom.
 Gus Ramage, an associate member, performed several memory stunts and gave a short talk on memory training. Fine arts numbers concluded the program.
 About twenty members were present.

Church School Social Tonight

T. C. U. students in the Bible school of the University Christian Church will hold a social meeting this evening at 8 o'clock at Brite College.
 The program is as follows: "Getting Acquainted," a game led by Noel Roberts and Travis White; other games to be led by Weir McDiarmid, Lloyd Motley and Dean L. L. Leftwich. Lamar Griffing is in charge of refreshments.
 A pantomime play, "The Distressed Damsel," will be presented by Russell Ball, Wendell Schuler, Sterling Brown and Thompson Shannon.

Formal Dinner This Evening

A formal dinner will be held in the annex to the dining room at 6:15 o'clock this evening. This dinner is to be a weekly feature in the school, and is an effort to enable the faculty and the students to get acquainted. There will be twenty-four guests.

Congenial Co-ed Club Is Organized

The Congenial Co-ed Club is the name given to a new club organized by girls in T. C. U. last Saturday afternoon. Miss Margaret Moore has been elected president of the club. Miss Betty Mercey is vice-president; Miss Lesbia Word, secretary-treasurer, and Miss Lamoyne Laurence is parliamentarian.
 The next meeting of the club will be held March 8 at the home of Miss Word, 2561 Wabash Street.
 Other members of the club are Misses Allene Allen, Betty Lee Blankenship, Edith Day, Gertrude Van Zandt, Erel Day and Ruth Ward.

Miss Lois Houtchens To Entertain W. A. A.

Members of the Woman's Athletic Association of T. C. U. will be entertained with a party at the home of the president, Miss Lois Houtchens, 1316 Fifth Avenue, next Tuesday night.

Music Club to Hear Dr. Guelick Today

Dr. H. D. Guelick, head of the music department of T. C. U., will address the Music Club on "Modern French Music" this afternoon at 1:30 o'clock in the Administration Building.

Miss Helen Kent Boren, president of the club, is chairman of the program.

Personals

Miss Lucille Howry, a freshman, has quit school and returned to her home in Olney. Miss Howry had been out of school for the last two weeks because of illness.

Miss Mary Gladys Beck attended the Lambda Chi fraternity dance at the University of Texas Friday night. From Austin, Miss Beck went to San Antonio, where she spent Saturday and Sunday.

Miss Dale Hardy will leave Friday for College Station, where she will attend the "T" dance to be given by the letter men of A. & M. and Saturday will attend the corps dance. She will be the guest of one of the A. & M. lettermen.

Miss Frances Hill is spending the week-end at her home in Ennis.

Two former T. C. U. students, Miss Martha Van Zandt, B. R. A. last year, and Miss Bertine Moore, who attended the university in 1926-27, visited on the campus last Saturday.

Robert George spent the week-end in Van Alstyne.

Lawrence Sellers of Austin was a visitor on the campus last Monday, the guest of Derritt Moses of Jarvis Hall.

Miss Texera Pierce spent the week-end with Miss Madelon Flynt.

Edris Jenkins of Temple, is a new student. She has transferred from the Temple Junior College and will be classified as a junior. Miss Jenkins lives at Sterling Cottage.

Dr. E. B. Howe of the English department has purchased a new Dodge coupe. "Spring has come!"

Fine Arts News

The T. C. U. Music Club will meet today at 1:30 p. m. in the studio of Dr. H. D. Guelick. Dr. Guelick will address the club on the subject, "Modern French Music." The following numbers from the modern composer, Debussy, will be played: "Prelude," by Miss Allah Reeves; "Reflects Dans L'Eau," by Miss Helen Kent Boren; "Prelude Eccentric," by Miss Grace Bucher, and "Minstrels," by Miss Adelaide Boyd.

Another public recital will be given by the fine arts department in the T. C. U. auditorium on March 18. The T. C. U. orchestra, under the direction of Vess Taylor, will be featured.

The regular Saturday evening radio concert will be given next Saturday by Misses Bita May Hall, Valerie McLamore, Velma Smith and William Balch, over Station WRAP.

Magie Balch Estes and William Balch played and sang at the annual Texas Exes banquet last Saturday evening at the University Club.

Ralph Sanders and William Balch are singing with the Municipal Opera Company, which will present the opera, "Faust," tonight and Thursday night at the Civic Theater.

Student Cabinet Meet Tonight

Weir McDiarmid, president of the student body, has called a meeting of the first student cabinet for tonight at 6:30 o'clock in the amphitheater. Problems in student government will be discussed.

Miss Smith Talks at Cleburne

Miss Rebecca Smith of the English department gave a talk on "Southwestern Literature" before the Shakespeare Club of Cleburne last Thursday evening.

Grace Jones Is Club Secretary

Miss Grace Jones is secretary of the newly organized French Club of T. C. U. instead of Miss Hazel Potter as formerly announced according to Dr. Josiah Combs and Miss Potter with Mrs. Anise Pickard, compose a program for the "Cercle Francais."

T. C. U. Freshman Wins Recognition For Her Poetry

"The hardest disease to get is the writing mania, and after you get it you can't get rid of it," says Miss Siddle Joe Johnson, T. C. U. freshman from Corpus Christi, whose ability for writing poetry has brought her recognition from Texas poetry societies and popular magazines. Two of her poems, "Shore Road" and "Heron Flight," were recently accepted for publication by Poetry Magazine.

"The editor of Poetry sent me an acceptance slip for a Valentine," said Miss Johnson. "Recently my 'Ballad of the Old Woman' was included in Braithwait's 'Anthology of Magazine Verse for 1928.' Most of my poems are about the sea, but I try not to make it too dominant in my work. I have been interested in poetry since I was 8 years old.

"I came to T. C. U. because I was interested in the faculty and because I have relatives in Fort Worth. I like T. C. U., but after living in a seacoast town all my life I seem lost here. I intend to graduate here, majoring in English or Spanish."

Miss Johnson is a member of the Texas Poetry Society and has won several contests with her poetry. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Johnson of Corpus Christi.

Clipped From The Exchanges

Geology students at S. M. U. have it that Dallas is exactly two minutes ahead of Fort Worth in true time. Due to the fact that Dallas is located east of Fort Worth, it was found that the sun rose fully two minutes earlier there than here. The longitude of Dallas and Fort Worth in degrees and minutes was given the students, and the result was found by mathematical computation.

Jessie Rexes, C. I. A. student, has a hobby of driving fire trucks. She is the daughter of the station keeper at Orange, Texas, and has been the mascot of firemen all of her life.

The Chamber of Commerce of Texas Tech is offering a $25 award for a suitable school song. Any person is eligible to make entries. The contest closes April 1.

Does cramming pay? Professors at Sam Houston State Teachers' College believe that cramming pays, if the material memorized in cramming is frequently used afterwards. In their opinion, cramming does not pay when the knowledge gained by cramming is never used except on examination.

Journalism students at Baylor College, Belton, recently edited the Temple Telegram for one day, and the regular staff of the paper had a holiday. Anniele Nutt, editor of the Baylor Bells, had charge of the Baylor edition of The Telegram. Once each year advanced students put out the Temple paper.

More than 200 students at S. M. U. made an average of B in four courses during the first semester. This is approximately 100 fewer students than were on the honor roll the second semester of last year, according to The Campus. Sixteen students, nine girls and seven boys, made an A average.

Miss Eunice O'Hara, a senior of Southwestern University at Georgetown, was recently elected "Miss Southwestern" in a contest held there. Her home is in Diboll.

Tennis Ranking Established

So far this year the following ranking has been established for varsity tennis: No. 1, John McDiarmid; No. 2, Weir McDiarmid; No. 3, Charles Ewell; No. 4, Guy Fdx. The team is going to face some real opposition when Drake University comes here next month.

To Appear With Band

Miss Emma Nell Handley, band sweetheart, will be present at all of the sixteen concerts that will be given by the Horned Frog Band during the Fat Stock Show, March 9 to 16. The band will play in the newly erected bandstand in front of the Coliseum each afternoon and night.

IN VERSE AND STORY

WORDS

By SADDIE JOE JOHNSON

These are the things that I love best—words—and the sound of them, the feel of the loveliest of them upon my tongue, the clear-cut, silhouetted sight of them! But, as is often the case, this that I love best is not always the best for me. Though words are my chosen servants of expression, they are not noticeably faithful and obedient ones. They take the message that I wish to send and twist it out of its original meaning into something ridiculous or—worse still—mediocre.

When I would place the beautiful, bright things in lovely, prearranged patterns, they do not behave nicely at all, but group themselves in the most awkward and fantastic formations imaginable. Worse still, they are not particularly good for my moral nature. They never say to me, "Young woman, life is a serious problem. Better get to solving it!" Instead, like naughty children, they coax, "Oh, don't do that! Come and play with us. Maybe we'll do what you want us to—this time."

They never live up to that semi-promise, but I invariably listen to them and trifle my time away in their pursuit. Sometimes I wonder if, after all, they are my servants—my toys. I almost believe that I am theirs, instead.

Timothy Club Has Three Girls Listed on Its Roll This Year

The Timothy Club of T. C. U., an organization primarily for the preparation of young preachers in the university, has three girl students numbered among its members, Misses Myrtle Davis, Jessie Hawkins and Ruth Baber.

They do not intend to take up preaching as a profession, but all three are planning to be directors of religious education, in which work they will be often called upon to make addresses and talks, so the three are attending the meetings of the Timothy Club for the public speaking training, and in order to get a background for the service which they are going into.

Three Monday nights each month are given over to sermons which members of the club prepare and deliver, and the make-up, purpose and delivery of the talks are criticized by the faculty advisor of the Timothy Club, F. E. Billington, professor of Christian ministries at T. C. U. The fourth Monday night is given over to answering questions that come up in the work of the members as ministers.

"It is better than a regular public speaking class to us," says Miss Hawkins, "because the discussions deal with the same field of work into

To Demonstrate Liquid Air
 Dr. J. L. Whitman, professor of chemistry, will give a number of demonstrations with liquid air at the junior-senior chapel Friday morning. He will show, in experiments, the effect of extra low temperatures. The liquid air will be furnished by the Burdette Oxygen Company of this city.

Maybe the Lost Is Found!
 Books and other articles lost by T. C. U. students will be displayed at the University Book Store today and Thursday, according to Miss Laura Shelton, in charge of the lost and found department. Fountain pens, pencils, wearing apparel, vanities, and purses are among the articles to be exhibited.

FRED CAHOON AS MENTOR

Violin Department Head Served as Grid Director in 1914 Crisis.

It is a far cry from the days when Coach Ira P. Hildebrand, '95, dispensed "valuable instruction on tackling, catching, and falling on the ball" to his football team, to the last few years when Coach Matty Bell has trained his Frog eleven for the big games before a packed stadium.

In '94, Ira P. Hildebrand, a graduate of T. C. U., T. U., and Harvard, coached a team which rejoiced because "while heretofore we have not been allowed to go away from the city, (Thorps Springs) to play games, now we are not handicapped in any such way." This year there was also a "light weight" team which was coached by Professor Hammer, who was described as "better than the captain because he bought a complete outfit for the whole team. The pants are thick, heavy duck and the jerseys are purple and white, which gives them a fine appearance."

Stanford Man Coach.

The football team of '95 was coached by Joe Y. Field of Dallas. He had played right guard on the Lealand Stanford Varsity team. At that time it was difficult to arrange games between schools. W. O. Stephens was T. C. U.'s faculty manager to attend to this important item.

For the next year the coaches were the same and Colby D. Hall, now dean of the University, was student manager of the team.

In the '05 season, E. B. Hyde coached the football team.

He was again coach in '06. The captain of this team was Loy C. (Pete) Wright, now head of the physical training department of T. C. U. This was a successful year for the school, whose total number of points was 90 to her opponents' 69.

One of the most noticeable facts about these early teams was the large number of reserves. There were usually two or three teams of them, 1909 a Hard Year.

Football in '09 fell into hard places. The annual says this of it: "With no place to call our home, no place that we can call our school and to which we can invite visiting teams, no one whom we can call our coach, we were outplayed though we fought hard." This 1910 annual is the first "Horned Frog" to carry individual pictures of the football men.

In the '11 season, Coach Henry W. Lever from Ohio State Normal and a native of Ohio, was the coach. This year there was the first organized and regularly coached freshman football team.

The '12 team was coached by Willis T. Stewart, who played right end on the Vanderbilt team in '08, '09, and '10. His team was said to be one of the best T. C. U. had produced up to that time. His popularity is attested by the following poem written to him:

"Here's to our coach, so strong and so brave,
Who led us through battles mild and grave;
We have met and our hearts are filled with love for you
And we only ask that you be coach forever at T. C. U."

In the year 1913-14 T. C. U. was suspended from the Texas Intercollegiate Athletic Association; but a football squad was organized under Frederic Cahoon, head of the violin department.

Crisis in 1914.

The '14 team, coached by S. E. Boles and Frederic Cahoon, "faced a peculiar crisis in the athletic history of the institution, and looking for a man to lead them through the maze fitly and well, the authorities chose S. A. Boles of Wesleyan College, who won his football spurs under Coach McGuigin of Vanderbilt."

Coach C. Y. Freeland had charge of the '15 team. He was assisted by Coach Daniel Baker Squit. The team scored a 500 per cent mark in T. A. A. and their official slogan was: "We're going to beat Baylor in 1916."

In the '16 season the coach was M. E. Daniel, a former student of T. C. U. and an athlete of the University of Texas, where he won letters in every phase of athletics. He was assisted by Coach Frederic Cahoon. Baylor defeated T. C. U. by 32-14 in an otherwise successful season.

The '17 season was interrupted by the United States' entrance into the World War. The following is said of Coach Daniels: "He's just Dan and always will be. . . Most of us at the beginning of 1917 were ready to give up, but not Dan, he just went to work. He's in the army now and we have no doubt about the record he will make."

The '18 team was coached by Coaches Tipton and Cahoon.

Clipped From The Exchanges

Scores of Baylor College girls who lost all their personal belongings when fire destroyed Luther Hall recently are now searching the ruins of the dormitory for keepsakes. Metal banks, dishes, books, electric irons and damaged phonographs are among the things raked from the ashes. Although the girls who lived in the dormitory lost all their clothing, wearing apparel for them is arriving daily from churches, Y. W. C. A.'s and individuals in all parts of the state.

It has been said that clothes do not make the man, but good looking clothes make a grades for their owners, according to an instructor at Georgia Tech. He said that students with white shirts and attractive ties get better grades in his courses.

Fifty-four students were suspended during the long session of 1927-28 by the discipline committee at the University of Texas, according to the dean of student life there.

Standard.
I went to seek the straight, straight road,
But all that I could see
Was a charming crooked pathway,
With an air of mystery.

I walked the crooked pathway,
And so very dear it grew,
The crooked path looked straight to me,
Though crooked still, to you.
—T. P. in the Baylor Lariat.

Although there is a ban against airplanes landing on the campus of Texas Tech, one landed there recently when it was forced down because of lack of gasoline.

Several students at Baylor University celebrated Feb. 12, Lincoln's birthday, by "splitting the rails" of two old oak trees recently cut down on the campus. The trees were thought by botanists to be about 135 years old. The fact that the rails were split on Lincoln's birthday was purely co-incidental.

Programs given by various student organizations of Southern Methodist University are being broadcast each afternoon over KRLL. The series of programs is called "The University of the Air."

Baseball was reinstated as a major sport at the University of Arkansas recently by a majority vote of the athletic council there. Officials voted to discontinue the game at the close of last season.

It took a half-column of space for a student of Abilene Christian College to answer the question, "What is love?" in the Optimist recently. He wrote more than 200 words on the subject, at least proving to his own satisfaction that love could be defined.

North Texas Agricultural College has an enrollment of 597 students, according to The Shorthorn. Fifty-seven new students entered the Arlington school at the beginning of the new term.

Seven co-ed basket ball teams have entered the intramural race at Arkansas University. The teams have been practicing two afternoons a week since Jan. 10.

Sometimes I prate of problems great,
And how I conquering face 'em;
Sometimes I'd like the linotype
To put my comams where I place 'em.
—Jeerful Seraph in the Tech Toreador.

The replacing of Luther Hall, historic four-story dormitory of Baylor College, which burned recently, will have no effect on the plans for the building of the Theodore Presser Music Hall, according to President J. C. Hardy.

There were 5,628 students enrolled in Texas University at the beginning of the new semester. Two hundred and seventeen new students registered the first day of the new term.

C. I. A. is preparing to entertain journalists from nearly every university and college in Texas at the third Journalism Week of the Southwest, which will be held in Denton about the middle of March. Baylor University founded Journalism Week two years ago.

Light Helping With Track

Harve Light, former track and basketball star, and now a fellow in the department of education, will assist Bell in the coaching of the 1929 track team. Light has already begun work and will have full charge until Bell returns from spring football practice at A. & M.

Ten Tomlinsons T. C. U. Graduates

Someone of Family Enrolled Continuously Since 1904.

Records of T. C. U. show that one Texas family has been represented continuously in T. C. U. since the year 1904, and at present has one member enrolled. This is the Tomlinson family of Hillsboro, Texas. Ten of its members have received Bachelor of Arts degrees from T. C. U., and three of this number have married T. C. U. graduates.

Beatrice Tomlinson, now Mrs. C. D. Hall, wife of Colby D. Hall, dean of the University, entered T. C. U. in 1904, and graduate four years later. She was followed by Lela Tomlinson, who is at present head of the home economics department of the Wichita Falls High School.

Douglas Tomlinson, A. B. '09, received his LL.B. from the University of Texas, studied journalism in Columbia University, and spent several years in Europe studying European newspapers. He returned to the United States and established the All-Church Press, composed of the Fort Worth Tribune, Houston Times, Memphis Mirror, and the Dallas World. His brother, Roy Tomlinson, A. B. '11, is now in the advertising department of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

Myrtle Tomlinson, wife of Therman Allen of Coleman, Texas, who is also a T. C. U. graduate, was followed by her brother, Carl, deceased.

Homer Tomlinson, vice president and general manager of the All-Church Press; finished T. C. U. in 1913. The next member to graduate was Clyde Tomlinson, '16, manager of the Smith-Tomlinson Hardware Co. of Hillsboro. Walter Tomlinson, manager of the Houston Times, received his degree in 1925; and J. D. Tomlinson, Jr., succeeded him last year, and is employed at Montgomery-Ward at Fort Worth.

T. C. Tomlinson, father of Beatrice, Lela, Myrtle, Carl, and Clyde Tomlinson, is a member of the Board of Trustees of T. C. U., was chairman of the board at the time of the removal of the school from Waco, and a member of the committee that chose the present site.

J. D. Tomlinson of Hillsboro is the father of Douglas, Homer, Roy and J. D. Tomlinson, Jr.

Walker Longs to Pitch a Victory Over Longhorns

Buster Walker, ace of Dutch Meyer's pitchers, states that his highest ambition is to win a game from the Texas University Longhorns, who for the past several years have held a monopoly on baseball championships in the Southwest Conference.

"I had tough luck with these Steers last year," Walker commented, "but this year things are going to be different. At least that's the way I feel, and all I ask is another crack at them."

"If I could win just one game from them I'd almost be willing to lose all other games that I pitch."

5 Players Strengthen Squad

Dutch Meyer's baseball squad was strengthened this week by five new additions. Eury, Chappell, and Adkins, pitchers, and Flynn, an outfielder, having been playing basketball; and Howard Lee, infielder, has been kept from practice by a leg injury.

5-Day Trip for Baseball Team

One five-day trip is included in the Frogs' baseball schedule for this spring. The team will play A. & M. at College Station on April 19 and 20, and then leave for Houston on the 21st, where they meet Rice in a two-game series on the 22nd and 23rd.

Lane Terrell

Will Go To West Point

Lane Terrell Gets Appointment Following High Rating.

Lane Terrell, Texas Christian University student, has been recently appointed to West Point Academy by Senator Earle B. Mayfield of Texas. Terrell was given the appointment after he had made the highest grades in a civil service examination given him and six others.

If Terrell had been eight days older he would not have got the appointment. The age limit for entering West Point is 21, and when Terrell enters the Academy on July 1, he will lack just eight days of being 22. His birthday is July 8.

Terrell, a senior at T. C. U., was to have received his A. B. degree in August. He is a member of Pi Gamma Mu. Mrs. W. B. Lane, matron of Sterling Hall, is his grandmother.

Photos of 236 Boys Adorn Jarvis Hall

Seven Pictures of Same Man on One Dresser—"Love, and How," Says Another.

There are 236 pictures of boys adorning the dressers and desks of Jarvis Hall girls, not including pictures of fathers, brothers and movie stars.

These pictures are all kinds and sizes, ranging from portraits in silver frames to glassy prints pasted on the mirror of dressers.

There are very few autographed pictures. Only sixteen out of the 236 pictures are autographed, the favorite autograph seems to be "Love," and others are, "Love—and how"; "Always, Your Own, Hello, and Lots of Love." One dresser had pictures of five different boys, and two out of the five said, "To the sweetest girl in the world."

The face of one picture was turned toward the wall. When asked about it Alen Scott responded, "No, it is not turned on purpose, I can't be bothered how it is turned; I had a good one last year with the keenest autograph."

Miss Lillian Preston madly searched the dormitory for a picture that had been taken from her room. "I didn't mind the picture being gone half as much as I hated to lose the little love cross on it," she said. It was only taken in fun, and today the picture and love cross are back in the usual place on her dresser.

Virginia Saunders has the greatest number of pictures of the same boy. She has seven large photographs of him.

Peggy Kipping comes next with four of A. K. Scott.

An Auburn-haired hero adorns the dresser of Dixie Ruth Smith.

Frances Veale's dresser boasts of three pictures of Gordon Copeland.

Among those pictures on Sue Summerour's dresser is one of Albert Flynn dressed in a football suit. Yes, it is a glossy print.

Ed Prichard's picture is the only one on Beulah Griffith's dresser and under it is written in bold type "Thrill Slayer."

Mildred Guinn has pasted a verse on the boy's picture on her dresser. It is a little love poem and it ends like this: "For you I'd brave all hardship,
For you I'd crave success
Because you are my life, my love,
My hope, my happiness."
Marjorie Scott has a sober looking picture of James Miller on her dresser. Florine Martin, has several of Slim Steadham; and, of course, Texora Pierce has one of Horace Wallin.

Richard Dix leads in pictures of movie actors, with twelve of his in the dormitory. Buddy Rogers runs him a close second with ten, and John Gilbert follows with seven. Among other stage stars' pictures on the walls are Gary Cooper, James Hall, Conrad Nagel, Barry-Norton, Richard Arlen and Richard Barthelmess.

Generating Brain Power

BRAIN power, not horsepower, is the chief operating requirement of the electrical industry.

This requirement must be continuously anticipated to provide leaders for the future. Accordingly, each year, more than 400 picked college graduates come to the General Electric Company for a post-graduate course in electrical science.

With a faculty including inventors and engineers of international distinction, something more than electrical knowledge is imparted to these young men. Here they also find inspiration which prepares them for leadership in this electrical age.

You will see this monogram on the powerful motors of an electric locomotive and on the convenience outlet where you plug in a floor lamp—always and everywhere it is a safe guide to electrical quality and dependability.

Arkansas Offers High Praise of Francis Schmidt

Writer Says Frogs Are Getting One of Best Coaches in South.

SUCCESSOR IS UNNAMED

Fred C. Thomsen, Razorback Assistant, Favored for Job by Students There.

By JOHNNY ERP

Sports Editor, Arkansas Traveler. FAYETTEVILLE.—(Special to the Skiff).—Seven may be a lucky number to some, but it was a jinx to Arkansas sport fandom.

Celebrating his seventh year as pilot of Razorback athletics, Francis A. Schmidt, exploded a bombshell right in his own stronghold with the announcement that he was "Fort Worth bound" next season.

"It was a bitter pill for Potker native sons to swallow—Schmidt, the man who raised basketball from the mire, placing it on a high, dry and solid footing, leaving Arkansas to dress in enemy togs.

But Arkansas harbors no ill-feeling toward the foxy mentor. He will leave the Razorback campus with the same sort of spirit that any one of the Razorback squad might do. He is seeking advancement.

Possibly with the going of Schmidt to Frogland, Arkansas will be welded just a bit closer into the conference. That is the sentiment of native sons. But it's a costly sacrifice to make.

Since Schmidt handed in his resignation, the wires have been kept busy from men of national repute asking for the job of filling the veteran's shoes.

No successor has been appointed yet, however. The Razorbacks themselves, have petitioned President J. C. Futrell, asking that Fred C. Thomsen, assistant varsity coach, be considered for the task.

Both Schmidt and Thomsen are graduates of the Nebraska Cornhusker school. Thomsen was a star in football, track and basketball.

If the former Nebraskan is selected to succeed Schmidt, Arkansas will have a young mentor capable of delivering the goods in his own line. The going of Schmidt will hurt the maple floor game here.

It is the general opinion on the Razorback campus that the Horned Frogs now have one of the best all-around tutors in the entire South. It is this one trait that makes Schmidt great—he sees what his team is doing and what his opponents are not doing. And he puts two and two together for a winning combination.

Frogland will see a football coach drilling them with actual practice rather than pad and pencil theory. When Schmidt has a new play to pull, he takes his class first to the blackboard then to the lime-striped gridiron. Here the mentor dons football regalia the same as his lowliest reserve. If anyone wants to know a thing, Schmidt shows them, rather than telling them about it.

Graduation Present Is Trip To Europe

Betty Southwell Will Tour Five Countries as Guest of Her Aunt.

A trip to Europe will probably be one of the graduation presents of Miss Betty Southwell, senior in T. C. U. and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Southwell of 1612 Enderly Place, when she receives her Bachelor of Arts degree from the University on June 3.

Miss Southwell plans to tour five countries of Europe as the guest of her aunt, Miss Sue Dawson of Pittsburgh, Pa., during the coming summer. The trip will be the gift of her aunt.

Miss Southwell expects to sail about the middle of July and to return sometime around Sept. 1, when she will return to T. C. U. in the fall to do graduate work on a Master of Arts degree in English. The countries which she and her aunt will visit are to include England, France, Germany, Italy and Switzerland.

At T. C. U. Miss Southwell is president of the Brushes Art Club and has served as secretary and vice-president in her four years of membership in the organization. She is also vice-president of the Girls' Pep Squad in which she was awarded a sweater after the football season this year in token of two years of service. In addition she has been a member of the Scholarship Society for two years and has been active in the Order of Rainbow Girls, being a past worthy Advisor of the organization. Miss Southwell is majoring in English. She graduated in 1925 from Fort Worth Central High School.

Gossip to Math Problems Seen In Campus Books

Someone has said that you can tell a person's character by the type of books he reads. One way to tell the character of T. C. U. students, however, is to read what they write in the margins and fly-leaves of their textbooks. Judging from the second-hand books in the book-store and other used textbooks on the campus, everything from gossip about the professor to mathematical problems and notes about the lesson is found on the blank pages.

Inartistic sketches are often seen in students' textbooks, and a few students have the "mania" for setting down long columns of figures in the margins. Gossip about clothes, dates, ball games and the movies are also found. Many books have "Closed—A Sign of Progress" or similar remarks written on the outside of them.

Some students write words of warning concerning what will happen to the thief if the book is stolen. The following poem was written in a second-hand book:

"Don't steal this book, my honest friend,
For fear the gallows will be thy end,
And when you die the Lord will say:
'Where is that book you stole one day?'
And when you say, 'I don't know,'
Then He will say: 'Skiddoo below.'"

Matty Hates to Leave "The Boys"

Says Departure Is Business Proposition—Admires Aggies.

"The hard thing about leaving T. C. U. and going to A. & M. is leaving the boys," says Coach Madison Bell, concerning his departure to Texas A. & M. College as director of athletics.

"During the six years that I have been at T. C. U. I have learned to like the boys very much that play for me. That is what counts when a coach is considering a change."

Coach Bell will take charge of the Aggies next September, but will go to College Station soon after the close of basketball season to have charge of the spring training at that institution.

"A. & M. is the only school in the Southwest Conference that I would coach, beside T. C. U., of course. I have always admired the fighting spirit of the Aggies," related the former Frog coach.

"Coaching is a business proposition, and when a school makes a person a financial offer such as they made me down there, it was too good to turn down," said Coach Bell.

"Everything has been the best in the world between the institution here and myself. Some accuse me unjustly concerning the breaking of a verbal contract with the school. It was simply a matter of business with me, and anybody that would turn down a better business offer, well there is something wrong with them."

Bell goes to the Aggies after six years directorship of Frog athletics. He came to T. C. U. from the Haskell Indian Institute, Lawrence, Kansas in 1923.

Coach Bell's ability as a defensive coach has been heralded far and wide. He has not always had the best of material in football and basketball, but the stubborn defense of the Frog grid teams has caused them to be feared throughout the conference.

"They want winning clubs at A. & M., and I will have to win my share of the games if I stay, or they will get somebody that will. There will, however, always be a warm spot in my heart for T. C. U., especially the boys that play on the athletic teams."

"I am certainly glad that T. C. U. has secured the services of Francis Schmidt. I think that he is one of the best coaches in the game, regardless of section or conference. His coming to T. C. U. will bolster the chances of the Frogs in future competition. With Schmidt at the helm of the Frog athletic teams I know that when the Aggies encounter the Frogs that they will have a bigger job on their hands than ever," were the concluding words of Madison Bell.

Irene Crites is now teaching in the kindergarten at the B. H. Carroll School.

The Dallas Woman's Luncheon Club is raising money for a scholarship to send some girl to T. C. U. next year.

T. C. U. Gentlemen Do Not Prefer Blondes, Says Sociological Survey

Gentlemen no longer prefer blondes. At least they do not at Texas Christian University, where students answering a questionnaire on "What Characteristics T. C. U. Students Demand of Their Future Mates," voted nearly two to one in favor of brunettes. The questionnaire was given to 317 students in connection with a sociological survey on the family made recently by Adrian Dacus, Fort Worth, and Eulalia G. Luna, Aguascalientes, Mexico.

Students were asked to name the social, mental and physical characteristics which they desire their future mates to have. One hundred and fifty-six boys and 161 girls answered the questionnaire. These included 56 freshmen, 129 sophomores, 64 juniors, 60 seniors and 8 graduate students.

The typical husband wanted by girl students, according to the survey, is young tall and slender, and has black, curly hair. The typical wife desired by boys is attractive, of average height and has blue or brown eyes. Home-loving mates were desired by 180 students. Two hundred and seventy-two students demanded that their future mates have a college education, proving that the "beautiful but dumb" were not desired.

There were 81 boys desiring housekeepers, while 14 girls wanted their husbands to do the house-cleaning. Two hundred and twenty-five students preferred mates with common sense.

One hundred and fourteen students preferred mates with dancing ability. "Neckers" were desired by 18 boys, and 14 students wanted persons who would drink. One junior girl wanted a "wall-flower," and one boy required a non-popular girl. Fifty-five students desired to wed persons with wealth, while 17 preferred poor mates.

One hundred and fourteen girls preferred marriage to a profession, while 29 preferred the latter. Some of the intellectual characteristics demanded were interests in literature, art and music.

Several students commented on the uselessness of making such a survey. "Love is blind," wrote one, "and when on falls in love it makes no difference about physical or social characteristics." Another said there was little use in his describing a person and he would probably marry someone of the opposite type anyway.

Night Watchman Longs for Rainy Nights and Rest

"I look forward to dark rainy nights," says the night watchman, who makes his runs on the T. C. U. campus. "They are my easy nights, my rest nights, because the couples are forced to stay in the parlors, and on the porches of the dormitories then."

On these nights he seeks shelter in the Administration Building where he flashes his powerful searchlight from the windows over the campus to see if all is well.

"In 'always on duty," he continued, "rain or shine, because there's always someone doing the most unexpected thing at the most unexpected time."

When asked if he didn't get mighty homesick and hungry on his all-night job, he answered that he might if he were not kept so busy and that he could always find company and food at the drug store until far after midnight.

"My busiest nights are during the spring and early fall. On moonlight nights couples are scattered all over the campus, and some, who are just a little more venturesome than others, seek secluded corners past the row of lights in front of Jarvis, which is the boundary line. Some are even brave enough to go to the library, but when they see my searchlight they usually know what it means, and do not always wait to be told to leave."

The night watchman has been on the campus ever since the first of October, 1928. He has made many friends among the students.

"I want to be fair," he says, "but I've got to be fair to Mrs. Beckham as well as the students. It's my duty to report the girls to her if they continue to do what I tell them not to. Sometimes they do not always remember rules when they are new on the campus. If they will play fair with me, I'm more than willing to be fair to them."

Mrs. Sadie Beckham, supervisor of women, has made rules against dormitory students loitering in the Administration Building after dark, at the library, the drug store, or scattered at various corners of the campus and it is one of the many duties of the night watchman to keep the students from doing these things. According to his statements, there are not many who resent him telling them to move.

About a year ago he had a very narrow escape from death, attempting to light the hot water tank for some of the hired men who asked his help. The flames dashed across his face, burning him badly, and only dodging behind a nearby box saved his life.

"I have as much trouble with the town students as I do the dormitory students," said the night watchman with a twinkle in his eye, as if he were letting out a little scandal. "It's the girls that give me the most trouble, parking their cars behind Clark and Goode Hall and honking for the boys. I guess I have knocked many a boy out of a nice ride."

Seven Faculty Men Rank Bible As "First" Book

The Bible is the first book that a person must read to be really cultured. That is the opinion of seven members of the T. C. U. faculty who recently answered the questionnaire: "What are the first five books, in your estimation, that a person must read to be really cultured?" Each of the seven headed his list with the Bible.

Those answering the questionnaire were: President E. M. Waits; Dean Colby D. Hall, E. A. Elliott, professor of economics; E. W. McDiarmid, professor of philosophy; C. D. Wells, professor of sociology; H. L. Hughes, professor of English, and A. R. Curry, librarian.

Besides the Bible, seventeen other books or writers of books were named in the answers. Shakespeare was named on every list but one, while four thought Milton's "Paradise Lost" should be among the five books that no cultured person could miss reading. A good dictionary was specified by President Waits and Prof. Wells. A. E. Curry, librarian, had the most modern list, which included Will Durant's "Story of Philosophy," and H. G. Wells' "The Outline of History." Professor Elliott also named "The Outline of History."

Darwin's "Origin of the Species," was on Professor McDiarmid's list, and Dean Hall included Tennyson's poems in his answer. Dante's "Divine Comedy" and Spencer's "Fairy Queen" were named by Dr. Hughes.

Plato's "Republic," Victor Hugo's "Les Miserables," Bunyan's "Pilgrim's Progress," Homer's "Iliad" and Malory's "Morte D'Arthur" were among other books named but once. Several members of the faculty expressed the opinion that culture could not be measured by books.

Leland Out for Track Outstanding Dash Man Increases T. C. U.'s Chances.

The presence of Cy Leland on T. C. U.'s track team this year will likely cause other conference members to take more notice of the Purple institution than they have been in the habit of doing in years past.

Leland is one of the best, if not the best, dash men ever to report to Matty Bell, and is also an exceptionally good high jumper and broad jumper.

Last year Leland was the outstanding athlete in intramural track and field meets, and in a few tryouts against varsity men he consistently outdistanced the field in all dashes, including McCorkle, track captain, and one of the fastest men in the conference.

Frog Flashes

By WADE HAWKINS.

Many curious pairs of eyes will watch the maneuvers of the spring training practice of the Frogs under the tutelage of Coach Francis A. Schmidt.

The former Arkansas mentor arrived in Fort Worth Monday to take charge of the Frogs for four or five weeks of intensive training. It is not settled as to whether or not Schmidt will return to Arkansas after spring training. It depends largely on the appointment of his successor.

Arkansas footballers were left in the hands of Schmidt's assistant, Fred Thomsen. It is thought that he will get the place, but as yet nothing official has been announced.

With the coming of Coach Schmidt, Matty Bell leaves to take up the same kind of work at College Station. He will return the first of April.

With some fifteen or twenty men already out for spring practice, and more to report, Coach Schmidt will take advantage of every opportunity to instill into the Frogs the coaching system he intends to use next fall.

It is reported that several freshmen, prospective members of the 1929 gridiron team, met Coach Schmidt at the station to carry his baggage.

Saturday night's basket ball victory over S. M. U. was the first in nine starts against the Methodists. The football jinx was broken last Thanksgiving and now the basket ball jinx has been broken.

"Baylor extends to T. C. U. sincere congratulations for her choice and her ability to obtain the services of Schmidt to succeed those of Madison Bell. He is worthy of the call, and T. C. U. is worthy of the acceptance. To Coach Schmidt we extend a hand of greeting and welcome to our nearer proximity, and wish for him all that he deserves," states the sports editor of The Daily Lariat, Collier Parris.

Bob Cantrell, sports editor, The Daily Texan, University of Texas: "Schmidt will make T. C. U. a great coach, and the staff of the Horned Frogs in conference competition should take a great jump. I join with T. C. U. in greeting Schmidt, and wishing him all the success possible."

"T. C. U. certainly has something in store for Francis A. Schmidt if they are to welcome him as wholeheartedly as the men of Aggieland will receive Matty Bell," says the sports-editor of The Battalion, A. & M.

"Naturally I hate to see Coach Francis A. Schmidt leave Arkansas. But I don't blame him a bit for taking his chance to better himself if Texas Christian University offers him that opportunity," Johnny Erp, sports editor of the Arkansas Traveler, said concerning Schmidt's acceptance of the Horned Frog offer.

"Personally, I'm glad that if Schmidt had to leave Parkerland that he stayed within the conference. His Frog teams will take on a new color and with a man who can teach them a new hop or two, the Frogs should be dangerous foes in anything Schmidt has to do with them.

"I am sure I express the sentiment of the entire Razorback student body when I say that Arkansas harbors no ill-feeling, neither toward T. C. U., or Schmidt.

"It's not a crime to seek advancement and Arkansas would be the last thing in the world to step between Schmidt and his goal."

The high scoring honors during the current basket ball season went to the diminutive Longhorn captain, Holly Brock. The Texas ace passed Tom Pickel of Arkansas in Saturday night's game with A. & M. His total was 161, while Pickel's was 155.

Brock's record is a new high mark in the Southwest Conference, a record that will be hard to beat by basketeers in years to come.

ALL-CONFERENCE BASKET BALL SELECTION.

The 1929 basket ball season having come to a close, and the championship nestled in the heart of the Ozarks at the home of the Razorbacks, it is time for an all-conference selection to be made.

One would not go far wrong in picking the entire Arkansas team on the mythical five, yet there are other outstanding men in the conference that, were they on the Arkansas squad, would bid fair for a regular berth.

It is not a difficult matter to pick an all-star five from the seven conference clubs, for the season that has just closed did not produce but two strong teams, Arkansas and Texas. As to the forward positions, there is little question but that Schoonover, Arkansas, and Brock, Texas, are in a class by themselves when it comes to tossing baskets. Therefore, they get the call. Brock was high-point man in the conference, with 161 points.

The center place goes to the lanky Razorback star, Tom Pickel; 155 points was his total for the season. Rose, of the second place Longhorns, is a good pivot man, but he is not in the class with Pickel.

One of the guard berths is awarded to another champion Razorback, Gene Lambert. He is easily the outstanding defense man of the loop. There is a shade of a doubt as to a running mate for the Arkansas, for there are several other men in the Southwestern Conference that would fit well into anybody's combination. Yet the writer is inclined to pick the Frog captain for the place.

Wallin has played a consistent brand of ball all season, and were he on a stronger club, he would be a much better ball player. He is not a sensational player, just a steady, even going guard.

The writer witnessed the Frog's twelve conference games, thereby seeing every team in action twice.

Tennis Is Next on Intramural Program

Entries for Singles Tournament Must Be in by Noon on Thursday, March 7.

The next sport in intramural athletics will be tennis. Graham Estes has announced that the last date for signing up to play in the tennis singles tournament is Thursday, March 7, at noon.

This was one of the most popular tournaments on the intramural schedule last year, Estes said, and silver balls were awarded the winners. This year, however, winners of the first two places will be awarded the intramural medal, which has been adopted as the standard trophy for intramural athletics.

Matty to Aggieland

Goes to Take Charge of Spring Training for Farmers.

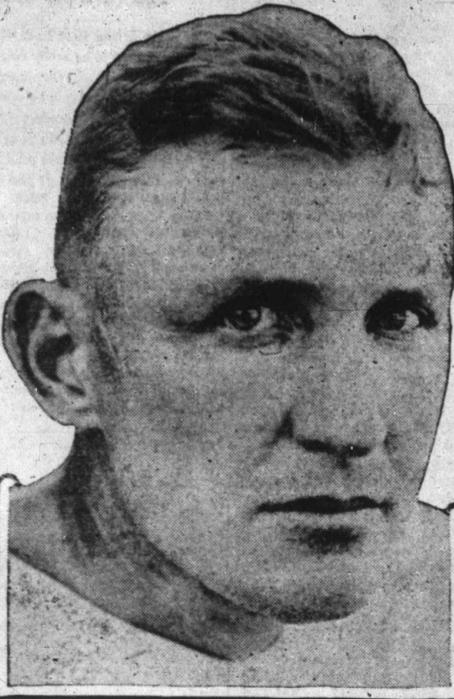

Matty Bell left Fort Worth Sunday for College Station to take charge of the Aggie spring training practice. He will return to T. C. U. the first of April to have charge of the Frog track work.

During Bell's absence Harve Light will direct the work-outs of the cinder path men.

Billington Defines "Worship"

"Worship is the experiencing of the presence of God," said Prof. F. E. Billington at Brite Chapel last Wednesday. "The true spirit of worship depends upon the atmosphere of the surroundings, the calmness and self-possession of the leader, the unity of the worship throughout and program, and the arrangement of the service to reach a climax."

HAS OUTSTANDING CAREER

'24 Cage Team Judged Best by Mentor—Preferred Football as Sport.

Matty Bell came to T. C. U. as head coach of football and basketball in the fall of 1923, the same year that the school graduated from the minors into the Southwestern Conference. After the close of the football season of that year, he took over the basketball squad and began training it for its first venture into so-called "big league" basketball, against teams that ranked with the best in the country.

Bell himself had been one of the outstanding players in the South during his career at Centre College. He lettered in basketball four years, being selected each year on the all-Indiana team, and in 1920, his last year in school, he was placed on the mythical all-Southern quintet by many coaches and scribes.

So when Matty took over the squad for the first time, fans began to wonder if he were capable of putting out a team that could hope to cope with the other conference members. Little did they think that he would put the Frogs right up into the thick of the pennant race, but when the season ended the Purple found themselves in undisputed possession of second place, having won 15 of their 19 conference games.

In those 19 games the Frogs scored 472 points to their opponents 382, and finished with a percentage of .789, the highest a Purple team has ever made. Four of the 15 victories in that year were over S. M. U. and marked the first time in years that the Purple had defeated an S. M. U. team.

Jim Cantrell, one of the best cagers ever to wear the Purple, captained the '24 squad, and the team he led was a five-man team, big, fast, and the most aggressive quintet T. C. U. ever had up to that date.

Lettermen of that year were: Cantrell, Frankie Cantelmi, Homer Adams, Tom George, Lawrence Tankersley, Harry Taylor and "Froggie" Lovvorn. George, center, and Cantelmi, forward, were all-Southwest Conference selections.

In 1925 Matty began the season for practically the same squad that he had the year before, in addition to a few good men who came up from the freshman team, and the team he placed in the conference that year came closer to a championship than a T. C. U. team has ever come.

The Purple finished second to Oklahoma A. & M. losing the championship by dropping two games, both by a one-point margin. Texas University defeated them 14 to 13, and Arkansas nosed them out 21 to 20.

Their record for the year showed 11 victories and three defeats; 371 points to their opponents 261; and a final percentage of .785. Homer Adams was captain of the 1925 team, and he developed into one of the fastest guards in the conference. Don Frazee, who was killed in an airplane crash at San Angelo a few weeks ago, was the other regular guard, and he and Adams were picked by various critics as the best pair of guards in the conference. Cantelmi failed to loop goals as he did the previous year, but his fast floor work and his accurate passing to his teammates led to many points, and he was one of the most valuable men on the squad. The spectacular all-round play of Tom George at center, and Lovvorn's scoring ability also featured the play of the Frogs throughout the season.

Lettermen of 1925 were: Adams, George, Cantelmi, Cantrell, Harry Taylor, Lovvorn, Gene Taylor and Frazee.

The 1926 season also proved more or less successful for the Frogs, although they dropped a notch in conference standing, finishing in a tie for third place, with 7 victories and 5 defeats in 12 games.

In the first place, Matty had to begin the season minus the services of the great Adams, lost through graduation, and Frazee, lost through injuries sustained during the football season, two of the best guards that ever performed for the Purple. Then in the next place, the team failed to play the ball against the weaker conference members as they played when they took on the Arkansas Razorbacks, winners of the title. If they had there might have been a different story to tell. The Frogs were the only team in the conference that defeated the Razorbacks, and they came within one point of downing them twice.

In the first tilt, the surprised and outought Arkansas team went down by a decisive 30 to 15 score, only to come back in the second game and rob the Frogs of greater glory by nosing them out 24 to 23.

George captained this team, and although he was "spotted" in every game he was high point man of the Frogs. He scored 94 points, as against 67 scored by Cantelmi, who was runner-up for individual honors.

"Ab" Acker and "Rags" Matthews made their appearance as regulars on this team at guards, and before the season ended they had become almost as fine a pair of guards as their predecessors, Adams and Frazee.

Lettermen in 1926: George, Cantelmi, Harry Taylor, Acker, Parrish, Matthews, Steadman and Light.

T. C. U.'s great winning combination was broken up by graduations after the close of the 1926 season, and the next year Matty had to build up a new team. Despite the green material that was ushered into the combination, the Frogs finished in fourth place by winning six of their ten conference games, to attain a .600 percentage. Two of the four games that were lost were by a one-point margin, however.

Cantelmi was captain of the Frogs during the '27 season, and his sensational goal shooting throughout the season was an instrumental factor in the showing made by his team. He was high point man of the Frogs, scoring 85 field goals and 16 foul throws to run up a grand total of 86 points. "Babe" McDonnell, with 42 points, and "Slim" Steadman, with 41 points, were runners-up to Cantelmi for team scoring honors. Matthews and Acker, guards, again stood out for

Mustang Defeat Sweetens Season

Frogs Strong Finish Is Pleasing to Fans After Early Losses.

Saturday night's victory over the Mustangs at Dallas brought a somewhat unsuccessful basketball season to a close. Yet, a victory over the Mustangs at the end of the season more or less causes fans to forget about the early season losses. The score was 34 to 28.

Living up to their name of the Fighting Frogs, Matty Bell's crew did themselves proud by turning in a victory for the last game the Aggie coach-elect will direct.

Never were the wearers of the Purple and White in danger of defeat. Getting off to an eight-point lead before the St. Clair men broke the ice, the vaunted Frogs held the Ponies in check and brought the bunting home to Frogland.

All five men on the floor were stars; one did not stand out over the little suestion but that Schoonover, sistent game. But Babe McDonnell, playing his last game, turned in one of his best exhibitions of his three years of competition. He was high-point man, with nine tallies to his credit.

To make the season's exit more colorful, a game was taken from the Baylor Bears last Wednesday night by a score of 53-24. McDonnell, Chappell and Flynn stood out in the Bruin victory.

Roy Eury is the high-point man for the Frogs for the twelve conference games. He has a total of 83 points, McDonnell comes close behind with 80, Wallin and Atkins are tied with 35, while Chappell takes fourth place honors with 32 counters.

Captain Wallin was probably the outstanding player of the season. The Frog captain is not the sensational type of player; he is a steady, hard-working guard who plays a consistent game from start to finish. He was picked by many on the all-conference selections.

McDonnell, playing his third year, was an important cog in the fourth-place Frog team. Babe is not a natural born basketball player, but his fight and determination is what put him over. Incidentally Babe is the only regular that will be lost to the 1930 aggregation.

Several inexperienced first-year men were developed into first-rate the Frogs with great defensive play and Matthews proved he had an eye for the basket by looping 37 points during the conference season.

Lettermen: Cantelmi, Steadman, G Taylor, Williams, Acker, McDonnell Matthews and H. Taylor.

The end of the 1928 season found the Frogs again holding fourth place in conference standing, with a record of 5 victories and 7 defeats in 12 games. This was the first year in which a Bell-coached team failed to win half or more of its games.

The Frogs got off to a bad start early in the season and dropped their first four games, but they recovered after that and won 5 of their last 8 games. Three of their losses were by one-point margins, with the Frogs seeming to have developed a complex for losing close games.

Two sophomores, Roy Eury and Horace Wallin, broke into the Frog line-up as regulars during the season and played great ball for the Bellmen, especially in the latter part of the season. Eury, a center, was probably the outstanding player of the year. He was high point man in the last four games, and was also high point man for the season, scoring 61 points. Matthews was second in scoring with 58 points, with Acker coming next with 42.

Lettermen for 1928 were: Steadman (Capt.); Eury, Acker, Parrish, McDonnell, Matthews, and Wallin.

Matty thinks that the 1925 team is the best team that he has coached since coming to T. C. U.

"It would be hard to pick between the team of 1924 and that of 1925," says Bell, "but I guess the latter would get the call since we came so close to winning the championship that year. Those two one-point losses to Texas and Arkansas were hard to take—and we could have won both as easily as we lost them. But it's all over now, though, and I think Oklahoma A. & M. really deserved to win. They had a real team."

2 Teams at Top of Basketball Leagues

Grant, Buck, Cox, Camp, J. McDiarmid, Milling, Lead Intramural Scoring to Date.

In intramural basketball each league has two teams which are close to the top in the percentage column. The two leaders in the Independent League are the Rough Riders and the B. C. E.'s. In the Class "A" League the Sophomores are firmly entrenched in first place, with the seniors in runner-up position. The seniors and freshmen are having a close race in the Class "B" League, each having won all of their games.

Grant and Buck are leading the scorers in the Independent League, Cox and Camp in the "B" Class League, and John McDiarmid and Milling in the "A" Class League.

To Centre This Week

Herman Clark to Take Up Duties as Kubale's Assistant.

Herman Clark, star quarterback for the Frogs in '23, '24, '25 and '26, will leave this week to join Coach Edwin Kubale of the Centre College Praying Colonels. The former Frog line coach will be in charge of the work there, while Clark will be his assistant and coach the backfield.

While at T. C. U., Clark was not only an all-conference quarterback for three years, but also a star third baseman on Dutch Meyer's diamond aggregation.

Clark's first coaching experience was with the Belton High School during the 1927 season. He went to Daniel Baker College the next year and coached the Hill Billies to a T. I. A. A. championship. He was graduated from T. C. U. in June, 1927.
