College Place of Opportunities Says Harry Bone

Y. M. C. A. Traveling Secretary Lectures in Chapel.

VISITS SOCIOLOGY CLASS

Brought Here by Local Organization—Talks at Goode and Clark Halls.

"College is a place of special opportunities for certain people," said Harry Bone, traveling secretary for the Y. M. C. A., while discussing problems of college life with a group of T. C. U. students and faculty members last Friday afternoon. "Others who attend college can—and do—go through four years of cultural environment without getting their feet wet."

"Those students who really want an education should consider themselves a college within a college," Bone advised. "Culture is within one's self, anyway."

Bone visited T. C. U. on the invitation of the local Y. M. C. A. organization. He was the speaker at the junior-senior chapel and spoke at parlor meetings held at Goode and Clark halls Thursday night. He also visited Prof. Paul Baker's sociology class studying the family.

In chapel Bone spoke on "The American Campus." He outlined the two branches of college work—the college curricula and the student activities outside the class room.

Mr. Bone graduated from the University of Vermont in 1923, and since that time he has visited almost every major campus in the United States.

Abbe Dummett to Speak

Others to Lecture Are Eastman, Wells and Miss Millay.

Abbe Dummett, philosopher, will open the lecture series in the auditorium of T. C. U. Nov. 15 which are being sponsored by the Federation of Women's Clubs. His subject will be concerning philosophy.

Other lecturers scheduled on the program are Edna St. Vincent Millay, who will lecture Jan. 7 on French poetry; Max Eastman will speak Feb. 8, but his subject has not yet been announced, and Carvel Wells will give some of his personal experiences some time in March. There is an open date for the fifth lecture, which will be announced with the name of the speaker at a later date.

Tickets are on sale in the book store for students and faculty members for $1.50, for outsiders $5 per ticket, which will admit two.

Winton, Scott Attend Geological Meeting

Prof. W. M. Winton, head of the department of geology and biology, and Dr. Gayle Scott of the same department will attend the annual meeting at Austin Friday and Saturday of the Southwestern Geological Society.

Professor Winton will address the convention Friday evening on the subject, "Recent Advances in Paleontology." The address will cover those aspects which have received the most attention during the past decade and are considered under seven headings—paleontology, general invertebrate paleontology, biostratigraphy, micropaleontology, paleobotany, paleopathology and vertebrate paleontology.

Misses Hallam and Haskins Rank High in Seashore Music Tests

What goes on in a psychology laboratory? The curiosity of a layman was thoroughly satisfied when Dr. Glaze, head of the psychology department, took him through the workshop and explained the workings of the innumerable apparatus used in the study of the mind, and gave him the tests of musical talent arranged by Dr. Seashore, director of the psychological laboratory at University of Iowa.

"Dr. Seashore," Dr. Glaze said, "spent a lifetime working in audition and music. He has tested thousands of children and adults in formulating his tests."

The tests consist of phonograph records on which are recorded differences in pitch and intensity of tone, time, consonance, memory and rhythm. The students try their ability to detect these difference and are scored accordingly. In a class of about forty students a wide range of ability was shown.

21 in Scholarship Race

Leader to Be Announced—Rogers Urges Students to Work.

There are twenty-one students working for the scholarship to be given by the Horned Frog in the retail advertiser's scholarship contest, it was announced by Bill Rogers, business manager of the annual.

After a check up within the next few days, he said, it will be announced who is leading in the race, or the who has the most votes up to date.

The contest closes Jan. 1. Rogers urges that those in the contest continue working as they have.

They are Tyler Dean, Dortha Mae Proctor, Harriett E. Copeland, Harriet Griffin, Louis Levy, Charles Patterson, Rosa Bellah, Orville Bay, Spencer A. Hallberg, Perry Sandifer, Hazel Hall, Doris Ward, Mildred Woodlee, Eva Jean Engler, Ruth Dunn, Cyril C. Williamson, Virginia Belle McPhail, Sterling Brown, Jim Gaddy Norris, Theo. F. Cromer and Edith Hudson.

"Youth Abides by Law," H. L. Willett

Chicago Man Lectures On the Spirit of Young America.

"I believe that the youth of today is law abiding. It is the older people, who are tired of doing the usual things, who are the law breakers," said Dr. Herbert L. Willett, professor of Oriental languages at the University of Chicago, in a lecture on "The Spirit of Youth," delivered in the T. C. U. auditorium Wednesday night. He was introduced by President E. M. Waits.

Dr. Willett gave the story of Jason and the Golden Fleece as the supreme example of the adventurous spirit of youth. The world was never so young as it is today, he asserted. He said that his father was considered old at forty, whereas today a man is just entering the most useful period of his life at that age.

"Life is the first adventure that comes to all of us—in its physical form. The youth of today wants all that there is to be had of life, whether it be joy, sorrow, suffering or success," he said.

Dr. Willett named light as the third characteristic of the modern youth. The desire to have light shed on all facts concerned with past, present and future is uppermost. Libraries and museums are at the disposal of youth and are being used to great advantage.

He said that youth was conscious of discipline and things that were worth while, that education was more than merely gathering facts; it was assimilating them in such a manner that other facts of life could successfully be faced. Dr. Willett stressed the need of disciplinary courses because they give liberty and peace that they give.

"Liberty, that is, self-expression, is another characteristic of youth. Now he does not follow his father's trade; he chooses, after experimentation, what pleases him or what he is best suited for. Women are now free from old prejudices and chose a career with the same thoughtfulness that a young man does," he stated.

"Young people today realize the debt that they owe to the community, and they try to pay this by service. No longer do they think of life work in terms of dollars and cents, but of how much service can be rendered," he said.

Misses Hallam and Haskins Rank High in Seashore Music Tests

unusually high record and puts Miss Hallam among the very best in the country in potential musical ability. But musical ability depends upon several other factors besides merely having a good ear for music. Those who show the discrimination are not necessarily good musicians.

In the workshop Dr. Glaze has the facilities for making much of the apparatus used. He has saved the university a good deal of money by improvising many of the instruments.

"Here is a way we make the curve of improvement by practice," he said, and brought out a target and a handful of darts. "A person usually comes closer and closer to the bullseye with each trial."

"And here are some solutions whereby we can prove that sugar solution on certain portions of the tongue tastes bitter, and sour tastes sweet. This instrument will give the curve of fatigue. The subject grips the handle with each beat of the metronome until he is unable to make it register."

Buy $1 Tickets Here Today.

All T. C. U. students and faculty members must take their athletic tickets to Austin with them, because the $1 admission ticket requires an identification. No $1 tickets will be sold in Austin, but they must be bought at the athletic office here.

The admission will be $2.50 if the student fails to procure a ticket before leaving. Round-trip tickets may be bought at the business manager's office for $4 or $5.40 with the provision of returning as late as Sunday night.

Mathematics Is Used More Now

Is Tool for Problems in Other Fields, Says Sherer.

"The United States is beginning to show itself in mathematics," said Dr. Charles R. Sherer, head of the T. C. U. mathematics department, recently when discussing the progress this country has made in the past twenty-five years in this field.

"Mathematics is not a dead subject," said Sherer. "Mathematics is being used more today than ever before. It is the backbone of all sciences, and is being used as a tool to solve problems in economics, chemistry, physics and other studies. Mathematics is far ahead of all other sciences in its development."

"The United States now ranks with Germany, England, Italy and France in the field of mathematics," Dr. Sherer said. "Five publications of mathematics are finding it difficult to present all the worth-while material being prepared here."

Only about a half dozen men really understand the Einstein theory, according to Dr. Sherer. This theory states that there is a mathematical development of all physical phenomena. Dr. Sherer is a member of the American Mathematical Society, the Texas division of which meets in Austin every next year.

Athletes Should Be Payed, Says Dr. H. L. Willett

"I think it would be a good idea for universities to hire football teams just as they hire dramatic artists to give concerts," Dr. Herbert L. Willett said in an interview last Wednesday afternoon.

Dr. Willett said he did not think athletics in general were detrimental to a school, but that too much emphasis was placed on football. Track, tennis, and baseball, he said, did not have as devastating an effect on a school as football.

Dr. Willett said that he had had experience himself in having athletes fall down in their scholastic work because they did not have time to study or else were too exhausted to study after two hours of training.

All of Dr. Willett's sons are graduates of the University of Chicago. He thinks if the home is in a locality which has a good school the children should be sent to that institution, and not sent away just for the idea of being away from home.

"The influence of travel on education is enormous," said Dr. Willett. "I think it is a good idea for every student to have a year abroad after graduation."

Dr. Willett said he had noticed no specific differences in the personnel of Eastern and Southern schools. While there are a few cultural differences in the many schools of this country, students everywhere are really the same.

When asked about floating universities, Dr. Elliott said his information on the subject was not sufficient to enable him to express any definite ideas. He said, however, that he imagines it would be difficult to keep order and discipline on a cruise.

"I know this," he concluded. "I would certainly hate to be in charge of one."

Music Club Meeting Postponed

The Music Club was forced to postpone its regular meeting Wednesday because of examinations, but there will be a meeting next Wednesday at 1:30, in room 301, according to Jo Bryce Wilmet, president.

W. A. A. managers decided at their meeting Tuesday to award three emblems, a fish, frog and tadpole, to girls making hours in swimming instead of awarding the usual letter. The fish for the more advanced swimmer, the frog for the next class and the tadpole for the beginners' class.

Plans were also made for an o'possum hunt to be given in December. The Christmas pageant was also discussed. The date has been set for Dec. 18.

A bulletin board will be placed in the main hall for all announcements to the W. A. A.

Geology 30 Makes Field Trip.

The group was led by Dr. Gayle Scott and was composed of the following students: Howard Grubbs, Peter Smith, James Atchison, Miss Elizabeth Harris and Miss Lucille Jackson. The army sketching board was used by the class.

Ft. Worth Man Leads Rice Vets.

The Parabola, Math Organization, Elects Officers at First Meeting.

The Parabola, mathematics club, elected officers at its first meeting Wednesday evening, Oct. 23, at the home of Prof. C. R. Sherer, 2018 Sixth avenue.

Ed Wilson was elected director (president) and Miss Anna Harriet Hoyer focus (secretary-treasurer). A social meeting followed the election.

Furthering of scholastic interest in mathematics is the purpose of Parabola, according to Professor Sherer. Permanent members must have completed six hours of math with an average of B, and associate members must be taking some mathematics course in order to be eligible.

The next meeting will be Nov. 21, at 8 p. m., in the Brite College club room.

Inter-Seminary Meeting Is Held

T. C. U., S. M. U., Trinity Represented at Arlington.

The inter-seminary meeting was held Friday night at Arlington with representatives from T. C. U., S. M. U. and Trinity, according to E. R. McWilliams. The meeting was in the form of a fellowship banquet, followed by a period of discussion and a worship service.

The faculty and students of Brite College of the Bible extended an invitation to the faculty and students of the school of theology of S. M. U. to be their guests one day. The date has not been arranged yet. Plans were made for the next inter-seminary meeting, but the date of the meeting has not been arranged.

At the meeting Friday there were twenty-six representatives from S. M. U., including three members of the faculty; eleven from Trinity, including one member of the faculty; and twenty from T. C. U., including three members of the faculty.

"World War, Peace" Is Sermon Subject

Arch's Significance Recalled by Armistice Celebration, Says Gray.

"The significance of the memorial arch in front of the main building of T. C. U. has been recalled to our minds by the celebration of Armistice Day, Nov. 11," said Rev. A. Preston Gray in his sermon, "World War and World Peace," last Sunday.

The arch is a gift sponsored by the class of 1923 as a memorial to Texas Christian University men and women who served in the World War of 1917-1918.

Prof. Edwin A. Elliott of the economics department, and a graduate of the class of 1929, is responsible for the idea of erecting the arch and for putting over the work on it. Professor Elliott served in the war and later came back to T. C. U. to graduate. While in the war he was appointed chaplain, but armistice was signed before he acted in that office. He was honored by the United States government in T. C. U. chapel for "bravery under fire."

Milvan Little, whose home was in Lampasas, was killed in action. Miss Louise Richards, of Oakwood, Ala., is a niece of Mr. Little's parents. Miss Richards is a student in T. C. U. and lives in Jarvis Hall.

Herndon "Dick" Hardwick, whose home was in Whitney, and Aubrey Cooper, whose home was in Crowell, were also killed in action.

Mrs. Hoyer Is Class Mother and Sponsor

Mrs. A. W. Hoyer was elected class mother and Sterling Brown class representative at the senior meeting Monday. The invitation committee was given the power to close the contract for the invitations. The company has not been chosen by the committee yet. Culver Giddings, business manager, reported that the class had cleared $133 from the sale of the lecture tickets.

Frogs' Defeating Rice Gives T.C.U. Conference Lead

Green Makes 3 Touchdowns as Defence Holds Owls.

GAME IS PLAYED IN MUD

Woolwine and Walker Show Improved Punting—Power Visitor's Star.

With Harlos Green, brilliant sophomore fullback, carrying the brunt of a driving attack, T. C. U.'s Fighting Frogs fought their way to the undisputed leadership of the Southwest Conference football race Saturday on rain-drenched Clark Field by plunging to a 24-0 victory over the Owls of Rice Institute.

A scoreless tie between the Green Bears of Baylor and the Texas Longhorns served to bring Baylor below the perfect percentage mark and to leave the Frogs as the only team in the conference that has neither been defeated nor tied.

On a field that was too treacherous for a passing or running attack, Green, behind a driving, fast-charging Purple line, threw his 170 pounds through center and over the tackles time after time for gains of from one to ten yards to lead the Purple to a four-touchdown victory. He carried the ball over for three of the markers, while "Football" Moore scored the other. All tries for extra points failed.

Rice's only opportunity to score came in the second period when an Owl recovered a fumbled punt on the Frog 15-yard strip. The Owl failed to advance the ball on plunges or passes, and Walker punted out of danger. The Frogs threw away chances to score at least two more touchdowns. On one of these opportunities Brumblow recovered a Rice fumble on the Owl three-yard line, and the best the Christians could do in four tries was to carry the ball to the six-inch line, where Rice failed to advance the ball on plunges or passes, and Walker punted out of danger. There were a number of fumbles, with the Owls being guilty of the larger number.

The punting of Walker and Woolwine for the Frogs was the most pleasing feature of the game from a Frog standpoint. Punting has been the only visible weak spot in T. C. U.'s play in preceding games, but Saturday Walker and Woolwine left nothing to be desired in that line. Woolwine got off a few quick kicks standing only five yards behind the line of scrimmage—kicks which traveled far and accurately. His best effort was a 50-yard kick which rolled out of bounds on the Rice one-foot line.

The charging of the Christian forwards was largely responsible for the Frogs' victory. The big Purple line opened holes for the battering Green and other Frog backs to go for long gains, and the three first downs chalked up by Rice speaks for the defensive efforts of the Purple.

For the first time this season Cy Leland failed to run for at least one touchdown. But despite the slippery field, he made a number of neat gains over tackle and around the ends, and his brilliant return of punts kept the ball in position for Green and Moore to ram it over. Howard Grubbs ran off-tackle for a few gains, but he contented himself most of the afternoon with directing the play and letting the other backs carry the ball.

Outstanding in the Frog line were Capt. Mike Brumblow, who completely smothered the play of Capt. Bush Jones of the Owls, and Noble Atkins, who played the best game he has shown this season. He was knocked out in the final quarter and was replaced by Hirstine, who carried on in excellent fashion. Every member of the line played exceptionally well. Excepting Green, honors were divided about evenly among the Frog backs.

For the Owls, Power at left end, was the outstanding player on the field. He played a strong, heavy game, breaking through the Frogs' interference a number of times to smear plays around his side of the line. Morgan, tackle, stood out with some nice punting, and Ralph Jones, half, played a strong defensive game for the Owls. Frog second and third stringers played the latter part of the fourth quarter. They exhibited unusual power, and at the close of the game were deep in Rice territory, apparently on their way to a fifth touchdown.

Score by quarters:
T. C. U. 0 12 12 0—24

AT AUSTIN.

T. C. U. has been building for the last few years a reputation for good school spirit and excellent sportsmanship. The student body of T. C. U. is known throughout the State and the Southwest Conference as one which can graciously accept either victory or defeat. When visiting football teams play the Horned Frogs on Clark Field, the visitors expect to find, and do find, a spirit of friendliness and hospitality existing on the T. C. U. campus which is hard to equal.

This is as it should be. Visiting teams expect to get a battle on the gridiron and have a right to expect it. Likewise a visiting team and student body have a right to expect courteous treatment, as that to a guest by his host. No visitor will be disappointed in this expectation at T. C. U. The student body can be depended upon in the matter of hospitality.

Tomorrow the student body of T. C. U. will be playing the role of guest rather than host. A holiday has been granted for the trip to Austin. Holiday spirit will prevail, and that is all right. There is, however, this danger—in that prevalence of holiday spirit that students may become careless and forget themselves. This game is one which means much to a student body which has hopes of realizing this year a long awaited football supremacy in the Southwest Conference.

The outcome of the game will not be definitely known until the last gun is shot. T. C. U. may win and yet she can lose. But whether T. C. U. is allowed to experience again the satisfaction that comes with victory or is forced to accept the bitter taste of defeat, let no one forget that the T. C. U. student body can accept graciously either victory or defeat. Let no one forget that by the actions of the individual, the spirit of the whole is judged. The student body of Texas Christian University has a reputation for good sportsmanship to maintain. Let every one be as jealous of that reputation as he is of his own. Let every one conduct himself in the approved manner of the guest toward his host.

Prof. Zeigler Helps Decorate Club House

Makes Pictures Telling Story of W. T. Waggoner's Life and Activities.

Prof. Samuel P. Zeigler, head of the department of art in T. C. U., worked on the mural decorations at the Texas Jockey Club house at Arlington Downs during the past three weeks. The decorations are oil paintings made on the separate canvases, which make a frieze between twenty-five and thirty inches wide and about sixty feet long.

The pictures tell the story of W. T. Waggoner's life and activities up to the present date. Mr. Waggoner is the owner of Arlington Downs. There are four large paintings, and the center of interest in each is one of Waggoner's favorite horses. The first canvas begins the story with a picture of pioneer days with the covered wagons, buffaloes, the first ranch house and a group of mixed types of cattle.

The second canvas has a painting of a fine Hereford bull, a large group of fine Hereford cattle, oil derricks, refineries, tanks and a train of oil cars.

The next panel shows the barns at Arlington Downs, scenes of the small houses and a group of eight yearling horses which Mr. Waggoner expects to make favorites of. The last has a picture of the club house, the grand stands and scenes at the Downs as they are today.

Dwight Holmes, a graduate of T. C. U.; Miss Sally Gillespie, teacher of art in Central High School, and Mrs. Lionie McGill, a teacher of art in the Fort Worth public schools, were the others who worked on the decorations.

OPEN FORUM

Student Body Resolutions.

It has been rumored about the campus that the privilege we now have of reading in the library at night is in danger of being taken from us. This is due to the excessive talking and general noise made by the students while in the library supposedly for the purpose of studying. WE WANT OUR NIGHT LIBRARY. So with this in view, the action on the part of the student was the adoption of the following resolution.

al. It is the desire of the students that our library be made as quiet as possible.

(a) We petition the administration to furnish rubber caps for the legs of the chairs used in the library, in order to prevent the scraping noises occasioned by the moving of them.

(b) We beseech the administration to refrain from allowing monitors, matrons, deans or others from entering the library for the purpose of detecting disorder; that the regulation of this matter be conferred by the will of the student body upon the discretion of the library force; that they shall be and in accordance with the will of the student body give demerits to persons who in their belief are not in the library for the purpose of studying; that upon receiving three demerits either in the day or at night the reading privilege of said person be withdrawn from them for either the day or night when the offenses occurred.

(c) This move on the part of the student body is initiated for the purpose of maintaining our standing as college students and that it would be contrary to our principles to have the standard lowered by the instituting of regulations not in accord with the dignity of an institution of higher learning, as are at this time being threatened by the administration.

Two other resolutions were at the same time adopted.

II. Advertising bills or stickers shall not be allowed to be placed on the steps or sides of buildings.

III. It shall be considered a breach of student policy for any student to drop any paper, Skiffs, candy wrappers or trash upon the floors of the hallways.

According to the Constitution of the Student Association only fifty per cent vote is required for the adoption or carrying of any proposal. This requirement has been fulfilled by the unanimous vote of the freshman-sophomore group, but of course this will be brought before the junior-senior group for action on Friday.

HUGH BUCK, Student President.

Dear Editor: The arrival of two more Skiffs today is, I guess, the cause of this epistle, in a way. For I can't help congratulating you and the staff for putting out such an excellent paper. Each copy makes an old Frog that much more sick for "the hill."

After three years of living and loafing in Clark and Goode, its mighty hard to have to be somewhere else, and especially so very far away. But I've been busy telling these "Yankees" all about T. C. U. and the Fighting Frogs. It's just my luck to be away this year, the year that the Horned Frogs win that old conference championship.

I surely hope that nothing comes of all argument about changing the name of the Frogs. It's hard on one's peace of mind to think of any such change. Let it be Fighting Frogs forever!

Indian Is Feature At Los Hidalgos

The feature of the Los Hidalgos program Thursday at 7:30 p. m. in the Brite College club room was Indian songs by Bert Little Sun. He was dressed in Indian costume and sang, in Indian, a lullaby and a Christian song that his mother composed. He also sang a selection translated into English, according to Miss Eula Lee Carter, sponsor.

Other numbers on the program were "Marine Band" and Metropolitan Nights" by the Los Hidalgos orchestra, directed by Miss Edith Armstrong and Miss Elizabeth Huchingson as accompanist. Two trombone solos, "Corazones y Flores" and "La Golondrina" by Perry Sandifer. A play in Spanish, "La Clase Astuta," was directed by Miss Elizabeth Rice as the teacher. The pupils were Misses Frances Schober, Zilpha Haskins, Laura Lee Barclay and Eugenia Baskin. The program was concluded with some songs in Spanish, directed by Miss Elizabeth Rice.

Refreshments were served to about fifty-five. The next meeting will be Nov. 21, and at this time new members will be initiated.

200 Tickets to Austin Sold

Up to Thursday noon it was estimated that over 200 railroad tickets had been sold to Austin for the Texas game. The business office at T. C. U. announced that the rush would come Friday and urged that students get their tickets as early as possible.

SNOOPY SUE

There were more green and red slickers at the game Saturday than any other color and Snoopy especially liked Frances Veale's coat slicker.

Wendell Schuler and A. Montford wore bath towels around their necks which served as scarfs, towels, and handkerchiefs.

Nell Russell and Marjory Scott tried to see which one could eat the most peanuts.

Bennie Sue Ratliff, urged by upperclassman Dorothy, wore a stunning Jew model derby to the game and every time T. C. U. made a touchdown, the upperclassmen around Bennie Sue beat on the derby. It sounded like a drum to Snoopy.

Betty Mathis lost both shoes at the football game last Saturday. Snoopy didn't inquire whether or not she was attempting to punt.

John Lawther was seen in Trinity Park last Monday afternoon. It seems that John was celebrating Armistice Day.

Snoopy wonders if it is a sin to snoop on Sunday. If so, Snoopy has things for which to ask forgiveness. Sunday afternoon Coach Schmidt and the Frogs had a "talkie" of the Rice game in the amphitheatre—well, at least the coach was talking it over and every man was speaking for himself.

The campus on Sunday afternoon was the stage for a style show as many pretty co-eds paraded the walks on University Drive in fashionable attire. T. C. U. has its own Fifth avenue.

Snoopy doesn't like to mention rumors, but this one is plausible. It goes like this: Joseph B. Cowan, young journalism instructor, has a weakness for fair trails. He took one to the aces last week. Snoopy heard that her name is Leta Leyster.

Does any one know who is on the Amarillo end of Mota Mae Shaw's regular Saturday afternoon long distance call?

Miss Mary White spent the weekend at her home in Houston.

Miss Zilpha Haskins has been in the infirmary for several days with the flu.

PAUSE AND REFRESH YOURSELF

OF COURSE IT'S NO FAIR PLAYING THE PROCTOR AND SPYING OUT SUCH A DELICATE SITUATION AS THIS. BUT THEN, WE'RE NO PROCTOR, AND WE CAN RESIST ANYTHING BUT TEMPTATION.

All of which goes to prove (if we may be excused for saying so) that the pause that refreshes is the sweet temptation which millions ever succumbed to. And to these same millions the pause that refreshes has come to mean an ice-cold Coca-Cola. In tingling, delicious taste and cool after-sense refreshment have proved that a little minute is long enough for a big rest any time.

SPORT WAVES

BY JAY WILLIAMS

Texas Christian University's Fighting Frogs form one of the greatest teams in the nation today. Not only are the Frogs outstanding because they are riding the top rung of the Southwest Conference championship ladder, but they are one of the seven major college teams in America that have neither been defeated nor tied.

The other six teams are Tennessee, Tulane, Purdue, Pittsburg, Cornell, and Notre Dame. The Frogs rank in that group as the best defensive unit and rank fourth in scoring, having held all opposition to a meager seven points while running up a total of 193. T. C. U. is tied with three other teams in that group in the matter of victories, having won seven games. Texas University and St. Mary's, California, are the only teams in the country with uncrossed goal lines, but their records are marred by tie games.

Tomorrow afternoon, down in Memorial Stadium at Austin, the Frogs get their supreme test against the twice-tied Longhorns in the feature grid classic of the week. Never in history has a Frog football team defeated Texas University, their best effort being a 0-0 tie in 1927 out of 11 tries.

You can bet your last dime that when the sun goes down tomorrow afternoon in Austin, somebody's record is going to be smashed. It may be the Frog's record of being undefeated, or it may be the Longhorn's record of having never lost to a Purple team. I'm inclined to think that the Steer goal line is going to be crossed, no matter what the outcome may be.

Undoubtedly the Frog-Longhorn game will be one of the fiercest battles ever fought in the Southwest. Texas will be fighting for their one last chance. They will shoot the works in an effort to win, and they will play a wide open game because the game will put them as completely out as a loss. Dexter Shelley has been stopped the past two weeks, and he will be very much in there with all his possessions. Capt. Mike Brumbelow will try to wrest laurels from Gordy Brown, and Noble Atkins and Mac Burnett will perhaps put on the best battle of centers seen this year.

Nor is that all. Without a doubt Texas and T. C. U. have the best two defensive teams in the conference, with both teams boasting of a powerful and heavy line. Both teams have been high scoring units all year, displaying lots of power on both line plays and in the air. Shelley is one of the greatest backs in the conference and a triple-threat, but he will meet his match in Howard Grubbs. Grubbs is the best passer in the Southwest and without a doubt is the brainiest field general the conference knows today. Nona Rees, Texas safety, is a natural, but he can't match speed or elusiveness with Cy Leland, America's speed wizard.

Texas has Eddie Beuler, Perkins and one or two others who are real ball toters, but they are at least no better than the Frogs' first string backfield, with Howard Grubbs directing the play. Really there isn't much to choose between the two teams taking them at two machines.

We were well pleased this week to get a letter from Wade Hawkins, last year's sports editor of The Skiff, telling us that the Frogs were receiving quite a bit of recognition in Eastern football circles. Hawkins is in New York, where he has witnessed a number of major grid tilts this fall. He is of the opinion that the Frogs could hold their own against most of the teams of that section. Teams up there play a more smashing, line crashing game than Southwest teams, he says. Their passing attacks and their pass defense can't compare with the Southwest style of play, however, and he thinks a speedy team with a smart aerial attack could rout their heavier, slower teams.

Texas to Test Power of Frogs

Schmidt Expected to "Shoot the Works" Saturday.

All athletic interest in T. C. U. centers solely on the clash Saturday with Texas, who has been held to scoreless ties in their past two games by first the Mustangs and then the Green Wave of Baylor. It will be the supreme test for Coach Francis Schmidt and his Horned Frog machine. For the first time this year Schmidt will be forced to turn his bag of tricks inside out and "shoot the works."

The Frogs were driven to the limit this week by Coach Schmidt and Wolf in an attempt to have the team primed to its greatest efficiency for the test. The Longhorns have been well scouted and much time was spent in perfecting a defense against the slashers of Shelley, Beuler, Rees et al. The Christians emerged from the Rice fray unscathed. Both Austin Griffin, fullback ace, and Rob Ell Cox, tackle, demonstrated in the Rice game that they are ready if needed.

The coaches left with the team for Austin Thursday night. The team will take a light workout in Memorial Stadium this afternoon. Students of the university have been granted a holiday for the game, and special trains will leave the Texas and Pacific station about 7 o'clock Saturday morning, arriving in Austin about 1 p. m. Approximately 1,000 T. C. U. students plan to make the trip. There will be hundreds of Fort Worth citizens, ex-students and fans from over this section of the state to make the trip on the specials and by automobile. Early estimates placed the number of Frog supporters who will view the game at approximately 2,500. There may be even more than that. Fort Worth fans are not blind to T. C. U.'s chance of winning its first Southwest football championship. Their visions have been materially strengthened by the fact that the wearers of the Purple are riding the crest of the championship wave as the only team in the conference that remains undefeated and untied, and one of seven such teams in the nation.

Drake Graduate Leading Lady in Plaza Operetta

By A. J.

Drake University was represented in Fort Worth last week by a player in "The Vagabond King," which played at the Plaza Theater. Miss Vida Hanna, the leading lady, who played the part of Katherine De Vaucelles, is a graduate of the music school of Drake University, Des Moines, Iowa.

Miss Hanna went from Drake to the American Conservatory at Chicago, where she studied for several years, going from there to New York, where she continued her studies in voice, and began studying in a school of dramatics. It was in New York that she first became interested in operettas. She sang with Ziegfeld's "Three Musketeers" for several seasons, but went back with "The Vagabond King."

Miss Hanna's voice is one of unusual quality and volume. It thrills the audience with every note. Several prima donnas have sung Katherine De Vaucelles, but none have equaled Miss Hanna, according to the press.

She is a member of Phi Mu Epsilon, national music sorority. University Christian Church. Sermons for Sunday, Nov. 17, to be preached by the Rev. A. Preston Gray at the University Christian Church at the 11 o'clock service and "Sowing and Reaping" at the 7:30 o'clock service.

Boys Send Off Gassed Balloons Get One Answer

Horrell Silverstein, member of the T. C. U. Band, came back from the Fort Worth Association of Commerce trip to El Paso and brought with him approximately 100 of the "booster balloons," which were taken for advertising purposes by the Fort Worth representation, according to John Burns, freshman.

Silverstein and Burns filled the toy balloons with gas and turned them loose after tying notes on them saying that these balloons were sent out by John Burns and Horrell Silverstein, weather engineers of Fort Worth, and asking any one picking them up to please return them and tell where picked up.

Burns said that he had received a letter from C. E. Wood of Waco stating that he had picked up one of the balloons a few miles out of Waco, a distance of nearly ninety miles from Fort Worth, and was expecting others at any time. Wood declined to return the balloon, saying that he wished it for a souvenir.
