As Chester thought, a man approached on horseback. What was he to do, with a broken shoulder, in the way of protecting his treasure? The trasure, and special conditions and protecting his treasure? The man had a gun, and commanded Chester to move on, but when he saw the down off the horse, and expected it—inspected is the word, because what happened in the next few minutes was not in the least expected. Any one knows that to walk in the rear of a horse is very bad luck, and this is just what the intruder did. As he stood with the gun pointed at poor Chester, or can we call him poor with all this colothes full of nuggets, mounted the horse, told the man, filled him had his shoulder set, and had his shoulder s he wrote a check and bought a truck. He loaded the horse and the clothes that belonged to the man on the truck and started back to the gold nest.

On the way he had a flat tire, and when he found the cause what do you think it was? Nothing less than a horse shoe. He fixed the flat, and proceeded. The man was still at the treasure, and had a great heap of the Sandifer brothers, entertained from radio station WBAP. The orchestra was composed of T. C. U. students and had eight members.

It was learned that nearly sixty-five students attending T. C. U. were married and, in the case of at least five, both husband and wife attend the university.

B. Beckman, president of the branch, opened the affair by welcoming the Dallas visitors. Mrs. Lola McFarland Hill responded for the guests. Mrs. Sadie Beckham then introduced the speaker of the afternoon, Dr. M. D. Clubb, who spoke on "The Suppressed Desire for Beauty."

The luncheon was served buffet style on long tables in the back parlor. The tables were lavishly decorated with flowers. Silver candelabra held pink tapers at either end of the large table. The menu consisted of chicken salad, potato chips, olives, stuffed celery, bread and butter sandwiches, salted pecans, tea or coffee and mint ice with cakes.

SPORT WAVES Frogs Win Over

By CY LELAND, By CY LELAND.

The Frogs seem to be definitely out of the present conference cage race. Before their trip last week they had an outside chance, by winning the remainder of their conference games, but Saturday night's 24-to-23 loss to the Owls practically eliminates them from all title chances. It would be pretty hard for a team to lose three out of five conference games and still come back and win a conference championship.

The Texas Longhorns' decisive vic tory over Baylor accomplishes two things. It certainly stamps the Long-horns as one of the outstanding, if not Raylor Tuesday. Will Meet horns as one of the outstanding, if not the outstanding basket ball team in the conference. They are at the top of the heap now, although the schedule is only half finished. The first game Texas played against the Bears was forced into two extra periods to decide a winner. The Austin club seemed to be inspired Saturday night in the return engagement.

William Cassidy of the same team takes a close second with 17. Third place goes to Ralph "Buster" Walker, senior A, with 14 points. Frank Walsh, freshman A, and B. T. Carter, sophomore Independent, are tied for fourth place with 12 points.

PURPLE STANDING DROPS

Baylor Tuesday.

The completion of the new gym at Texas establishes the athletic plant of Texas University as the most complete in this conference. Memorial Stadium, with its forty thousand capacity, is at present the largest and best in the Southwest. The baseball park at Texas is naturally the best back below the .500 mark and kept the Purple five from solvential the purple five from solvential the purple five from solvential texts. a superb scoring spree the last ten ipped in the conference, as Uncle by Disch's nine is habital chaming to third place in conference standing.

park at Texas is naturally the best equipped in the conference, as Uncle Billy Disch's nine is habital champion in the baseball, race each spring. The cinder track in Manorial Stadium is among the best and is the scene of the Texas Relays, which every year draws track teams from the entire country. The new gym is the last unit of the university's athletic expansion program. Since the old gym burned two years ago the Longhorns have been playing in one of the smaller gyms in Austin. Due to the size of these other courts, each student was able to see only two games a season. This is one disadvantage of a large student body.

Within another year or two T. C. U. should be in need of another gym, We should have a championship team mext year or the year after if these freshmen stay eligible, and as the first unit of the new stadium will be completed, there will be room on the program for a new gym. Basket ball in Fort Worth is in the same position that football was a few years ago—Fort Worth fans are not aroused sufficiently until there is a championship team produced. If Coach Schmidt produces another of his "Wonder Teams," there will not be room enough to hold the crowd that will try to attend the games. Then, and not until then, will basket ball be put on a paying basis at T. C. U.

Coach Schmidt has certainly made basket ball a popular game in Fayetteville with his championship clubs. The gym, although large enough for a town of that size when it was first built, is now packed for every game. On the nights of conference games the gym is full an hour before the opening whistle.
