

SPORT WAVES

By JAY WILLIAMS.
There has been no "dash of the century" in America this year, but there will be one at the national meet in Chicago this summer. In at least two meets this year in which one over Leland has matched strides with Claude Bracey, newspapers have heralded the event with the above phrase. No dash will be the "dash of the century" until Leland is matched with George Simpson, the Ohio State Greyhound.

Simpson, with the widespread publicity given him in the East and Middle West this spring, is a more general favorite for the title of the nation's fastest. Leland's performances have made it impossible for him to be even partially ignored in any part of the country, but as has always been the case with Southwest athletes, Eastern newspapers are failing to give him proper credit. They admit that he is one of the four fastest in America, but they will admit he is as fast as Simpson only after the Flying Frog shows his heels to the Buckeye Bullet—if he ever does.

Saturday Simpson came through with his first victory of this year over Claude Bracey, whom he defeated at the national meet in 1929, and was clocked in 9.5. It was Simpson's best time of the year, although he has consistently hit the string in 9.6, once without the aid of starting blocks. Leland has been clocked at 9.5 once or twice, has hit 9.6 on numerous occasions, and at the Kansas relays was clocked at 9.4. Eastern newspapers will not let you forget that a wind helped Leland at Kansas, however. There must be no wind in Ohio—except that created by some of those sport scribers.

The two will put on one of the greatest exhibitions ever seen when they meet at Chicago. Bracey, Toland and others will be entered, too, but at present Leland and Simpson are in a class to themselves. Either is likely to win, but in no case will the winner be far in front at the finish. Provided track and weather conditions are ideal, the winner will probably set a new world's record.

Ripley's "Believe It or Not," which recently told of Charlie Paddock's famous "8.9" for the century back in 1923, is food for thought. The illustrious Paddock was in his prime then, and his time was made with a flying start. It would be interesting to know what Leland could do it with a flying start. With starting blocks as his only aid, he has sped it in half a second slower time. Perhaps he can be induced to try the running start some time. If he does, Ripley will have another good one for his books.

The Baylor Bears fulfilled a promise by defeating Texas University last Saturday at Waco. For some reason or other a warm friendship has developed between members of the Frog and Bear baseball teams. The Frogs will tell you that there are no better or cleaner athletes in the conference than Botchey Koch, Jake Wilson, Bob Kiersy and their teammates. Of course, they would like very well to knock Jake Wilson's block off, but they do admire the little fellow a lot.

To get back to that promise, after Baylor had nosed out the Christians in the second game at Waco last month, the Bears who are backing T. C. U. to win the championship, promised to do their bit by defeating Texas once. Oddly enough, Jake Wilson, winner over the Frogs, did the pitching

Frog Tracksters To Go to A. & M. Christian Thinly-Clads Lose Dual Meet to Mustangs.

Headlining one of the most brilliant assemblages of track stars ever to appear at a conference meet, Cy Leland of T. C. U., Claude Bracey of Rice and Marion Hammon of S. M. U. are the candidates most likely to create new records when Southwest Conference track teams vie for honors Friday and Saturday at College Station. Leland and Bracey will appear in the dashes, while Hammon is an outstanding entry in the javelin.

Coach Mack Clark and his Horned Frog team will leave Friday morning to participate in the final meet of the year until the national meet at Chicago some time in the summer. Leland will wear the Purple at Chicago in an attempt to better his 1929 performance, which gained him fourth place in the century and 220.

At College Station the feature attraction will be a renewal of the Leland-Bracey feud in the 100-yard dash, but these two fliers will have plenty of competition in Emmons of A. & M., Wilkey and Craig of Texas, Godard of Baylor and Oliver of T. C. U. Just as Leland, Bracey and the other dash men are likely to endanger conference records in the dashes, Hammon is likely to set a new mark in the javelin. There are a number of luminaries in all track and field events.

Texas A. & M. will be favored to win the meet by virtue of its showing throughout the season. The Aggie team exhibited plenty of all-around strength last Saturday when it won a triangular meet from Texas and Abilene Christian at Austin. Emmons, dash man, Harlan and Slocomb hurdlers; Farmer, broad jumper, and Floyd, in the javelin, are sterling cadet performers, good for points in any meet.

The Frogs ended their final dual meet of the year last Saturday by dropping a meet to S. M. U. The score as Texas went under. The Meyermens are grateful.

Rice will be guests here Friday and Saturday for T. C. U.'s last two games at home. The Owl team will be far from a set-up. In Ray Hart, sophomore left-hander, they have one of the outstanding pitchers in the conference. Hart defeated Texas early in the season, and if he is going good when he takes the mound Friday or Saturday, the Frogs are going to have a tough time. The Owls have another good southpaw in Capt. Cecil Keith. As a whole the team is mediocre, but excellent pitching will make the club ever dangerous.

was 64 to 53, the Christians proving superior in track events but failing to take enough field events to nose out the Mustang team.

Capt. Cy Leland sped the century in brilliant fashion to win with a 9.5 time and captured the 220 against the wind in 22 flat. Red Oliver was high-point man for T. C. U., however. The former Poly flash won the 120-yard high hurdles, the 220 lows, the high jump, and then took second in the 100 to amass 15 points.

The Summary.

Frogs Win Over Aggies in First Flynn Pitches 6-to-4 Victory—Sain-Hinton Hit Well.

Dutch Meyer called Al Flynn, towering conquerer of Texas last week, to the mound Monday to stop the Texas Aggies in the first of a two-day stand on Clark Field, the former Poly flash coming through in brilliant fashion to defeat the Cadets, 6 to 4, in the best tilt seen here this season.

Superb support by his teammates after a rather uncertain start, enabled Flynn to come through for his fourth conference victory, as the Frogs clouted 11 hits to score two runs in each of three innings. The final brace of runs came in the eighth inning, when three singles and a costly error by Gil Johns on a double-play ball broke a 4-1 tie.

Ed Sain, catching his first game of the season, started the final rally with a single to center, his third hit of the day. Hinton drove a terrific liner into center which went for a single, moving Sain to second. Hill hit a perfect double-play ball to Davis, Aggie second baseman, but Johns dropped the throw to the bag and all hands were safe. Capt. Pete Wendt took the hill for the Aggies at that point. Sain, scored when one of Wendt's pitches got away from Lacey. Grubbs singled past third for the other run and the ball game.

The Frog outfield helped Flynn greatly in his victory. Hal Wright cut a runner off at third with a beautiful throw from deep center, and in the ninth Griffin made a remarkable back-handed stop of Wendt's hit into left, whirled and caught the Aggie as he tried for second. The Frog left fielder had thrown out another runner at second earlier in the game. Sain, with two doubles and a single, and Grassy Hinton with three singles, figured prominently in the victory. For the Aggies, Vernon Pompell, a freshman at T. C. U. was outstanding with three safe blows.

Tommie Mills started for the Cadets and pitched fairly good ball, but he was hurt by poor support.
