Resume of Work Shows Success Of Fellowship

Last Program Before Holiday to Be Given Sunday.

TO BE CHRISTMAS SONGS

A. T. Barrett Is Nominated to Represent T. C. U. at Detroit Convention.

By MARRENE BRITTON
Sunday night's Fellowship program, a Christmas cantata given by the music students of the Jennings Avenue Junior High School, will be the last to be presented in 1930.

The Fellowship has been an experiment this year, combining all the Religious organizations of the campus into one unit, with various organizations of the University presenting the programs. One of the most unusual programs was presented by the "T" Association. The platform was marked off as a gridiron and the speakers sat on a football bench. Other programs have had drama, music, pageantry, literature and art as their themes.

Members on the Fellowship committee are: S. W. Hutton, Miss Vera Bell Stephenson, A. T. Barrett, Noel Roberts, Lewis Copeland, Travis White, Bill Rogers, Dr. E. A. Elliot, Mrs. Helen Fouts Cahoon, Prof. W. C. Smith, Dean L. L. Leftwich, Dean Colby D. Hall and the Rev. A. Preston Gray.

The illustrations for the programs for each meeting have been drawn by Miss Vera Bell Stephenson, the Y. W. C. A. representative on the committee. The national Y. W. C. A. officers have asked for a full set of the program for demonstration exhibits at their conferences.

According to Dean L. L. Leftwich, the Fellowship has nominated A. T. Barrett Jr., president of the student body, to represent T. C. U. at the Student-Faculty Conference in Detroit, Dec. 27-31. He will present the work of the Fellowship as an example of experiment in student-faculty cooperation.

Ten programs have been presented by the Fellowship this year and organizations that have given their services are: Association, Spanish civilization class, B Sharp Club, University Chorus, Pageantry class, Public Speaking department, University Co-ed Circle.

The first program in 1931 will be given January 11, by the Horned Frog staff. The theme will be "Youth in a Modern World."

Coaching Conference Will Start Jan. 4

United Christian Missionary Society to Have Charge of Training School.

A coaching conference for missionary leaders, deans, accountants, instructors, Young People's Conference faculty and prospective leaders will be held in Brite College of the Bible, Jan. 4-9, under the auspices of the division of education of the United Christian Missionary Society.

The following training units will be offered:

Unit 5, The Message and Program of the Christian Religion, Miss Joy Taylor, Indianapolis.

Unit 93, Supervision in Religious Education, Charles Darsie, Indianapolis.

Unit 108, Dramatization and Pageantry, Miss Grace McGarvan, Indianapolis.

Unit 110, Social and Recreational Leadership, Virgil A. Sly, Indianapolis.

Classes will be held each evening except Sunday from 7 to 9 o'clock. Charles Marion Ross, southwestern superintendent of Religious Education, has been instrumental in securing this conference for Texas, according to S. W. Hutton.

Fowler Homes Visited

Sunday School Departments Are Represented in Trip.

A committee of eleven from the American Christian Church Sunday school visited the Juliet Fowler Homes for children and aged in Dallas last Sunday afternoon.

T. C. U. Boys Have Novel Scheme of Advertisements

The giant sheet metal Horned Frog Pharmacy has been creating quite a stir on the front wall of the University bit of curiosity on the part of patrons of the soda fountain, but it is merely an advertising scheme on the part of John "Dubb" Davis and Bob Lewellen. The combination advertising board and Horned Frog is a partnership idea on the part of the two owners and is being worked on a partnership basis. Both of the young men combined their efforts to make the Frog. Lewellen is doing the art work while Davis solicits prospective advertisers.

The Horned Frog is about 4 feet in length and on its back it bears a small bulletin board with room on it for several advertisements. At present Berry Bros. and Donahue Cleaners, and the Modern School of Music have advertisements. The remainder of the space is devoted to typical collegiate art work.

To date the young advertisers report that they haven't made as much off of the board as they expected, but said that in the future they had promise of making a neat sum.

Music Students To Give Cantata

"Wondrous Story" to Be Presented at Fellowship.

"Wondrous Story," a Christmas cantata, will be presented for the University Religious Fellowship Sunday night by the music students of the Jennings Avenue Junior High School. The students will be under the direction of Miss Katherine Pearce.

Miss Pearce will be assisted by Miss Edith Kelsey of T. C. U., soprano, John Coffman, reader, and Miss Margaret Moriarty, accompanist. Mrs. Helen Fouts Cahoon will introduce the leaders.

According to Mrs. Cahoon, the most unusual feature of the program will be a Boys' Choir of unchanged voices. Miss Alvo Lochead, superintendent of public school music, is experimenting with young voices and trying to establish a choir of boys with unchanged voices.

This will be the last Fellowship program until after the Christmas holidays. The offering, which will be in charge of the Rev. A. Preston Gray, will go to the Juliet Fowler Home for orphans in Dallas.

Former Student Wins Distinction

Shepherd to Represent Texas as Rhodes Candidate.

Henry Shepherd, Fort Worth, a graduate of the University in 1926 and former editor of The Skiff, has been selected as one of the two Texas candidates to represent the state at a restricted meeting of the Rhodes scholarship committee, which meets in New Orleans the latter part of this month.

Six states, each sending two representatives, will be represented at the New Orleans meeting of the committee. From these twelve candidates who have won out in state selections, the district committee will select four Rhodes scholars.

Dr. Herbert L. Hughes, head of the department of English at the University, who for years has sponsored the Rhodes movement at T. C. U., expressed his opinion that Shepherd will have an exceptionally good chance of winning one of the four scholarships to be awarded at New Orleans. According to Hughes, Shepherd is the first T. C. U. student to ever win the distinction of being selected as one of the two state candidates.

Students Go to Denton

Texas State College for Women Invites Group to Meeting.

A group of students from T. C. U. have been invited by the Poets' Club of Texas State College for Women to attend a meeting and a dinner given in Denton tonight for the discussion and recitation of poetry. The Makers' Club of Southern Methodist University has also been invited to attend the meeting.

Those invited from T. C. U. include the following: Miss Mabel Major, associate professor of English, and Misses Siddle Joe Johnson, Thelma Breithaupt, Harriett Griffin, Marie Roberts, Leta Ray, Marjorie Miller, Emily Garnett, and Mary Louise Spinks and James Wolfenden, Edward Mace, Ben Boswell, and Charles Hanna.

The group will leave from Jarvis Hall for Denton at 4:15 o'clock.

Brite Freshmen Show Increase Over Last Year

Decline in Enrollment of All Classes Is Shown.

10 TEACHERS NOW HAD

Students Must Have Practical Experience in Facing Congregations.

Twenty students compose this year's freshman class at Brite College of the Bible, while the same class last year consisted of only four students, according to a statement made by Dean Colby Hall recently. Although there is a large increase in the size of the freshman class, the complete enrollment of 80 students shows a slight decline over the total number last year. "This condition," Dean Hall said, "is due to the large number of graduates from this school last year."

Prof. S. W. Hutton of the Brite College faculty states that another reason for the decline of students this year is the difficulty of securing ministerial places for the practicing students who must have a certain amount of field work.

The freshman class of last year was equally divided among the sexes, there being two men and two women students taking preparatory work. This year's freshman class is more uneven in regard to the number of men and women students as there are fourteen men and only six women represented. The men once more outnumber the women when the total enrollment is considered. The present register of ministerial students who are men number fifty-three, while the women number twenty-seven.

The Brite College of the Bible was founded under a separate charter by L. C. Brite in 1914. It is a separate corporation legally distinct from the University. Interchange of class work, however, has always been carried on with the other departments of the University, and Dean Hall is acting dean of both Brite College and of the University.

Prof. E. C. Cameron, formerly a pastor in Winfield, Kan., and a chaplain in the U. S. Army Reserves, is the newest addition to the faculty. The addition of Cameron this year brings the total number of faculty members to ten. In 1914 the faculty consisted of three members.

"What musical instruments can you play? Can you lead singing? What steps have you taken to secure work?" These are but a few of the many questions asked every freshman ministerial student. The purpose of them is to supply Professors H. L. Pickering and S. W. Hutton with data to use in securing desirable locations for aspiring ministers, as every Brite College student is required to secure practical experience in the field in order to apply the theory learned in the classroom.

"Facing a church full of people intent on being converted is much harder than delivering classroom orations, promising young ministers will tell you. One young man said that he received a call to substitute for a minister friend in a nearby town. There had been a severe storm the night before and when the doubling parson arrived on the scene he found the church had been blown from its foundations. Although the structure tilted at a crazy angle and the congregation was sparse, the young preacher remembered his training and services were conducted in the ordinary manner.

A surprisingly large number of Brite College students work their way through school, and some are engaged in well-paying occupations.

One young lady is a P.B.X. operator. Another works for Montgomery Ward & Co. One is a popular radio accompanist, and many others are engaged in social work of some kind. Almost all of them teach a Sunday school class.

Oratorical Contests Will Be Held Here

Girls' State and Gough Orations to Be Staged in Early Part of Spring.

According to Prof. Lew D. Falls, the State Oratorical Contest will be held next spring at Texas Christian. The Gough contest will also be held at this University about the first week in March, 1931.

Prizes totaling more than one hundred dollars will be offered in the state contest, and a twenty-five dollar gold medal will be given in the Gough Contest.

The Girls' Oratorical Contest will be held in the University also. Girls who are interested in this contest should prepare for the preliminaries to be staged soon after the second semester. Miss Opal Gooden has charge of the preliminaries for the girls.

Soda Skeeet Says Slangy Symbols Signify Stories

"Shot sour!" "One drunk" and "one singing!" "Honest!"

No, this isn't a portion of a scandal sheet. It is only a part of a soda skeeet's vocabulary, a la Glen LaDue. LaDue, who is working at the University Pharmacy as well as going to T. C. U., knows the language of the soda skeeet as he knows the English language, and he knows the history of the words.

A coke is called a "shot" because it was thought, when they first came out, that they contained cocaine and morphine, thus the idea of a "shot." A "shot sour" is a lime coke; a cherry coke is "honest," derived from the story of George Washington and the cherry tree; "one drunk" is a chocolate coke, named because of its peculiar taste, and a lemon coke is "one singing." The lemon coke acquired its name because the lemon is yellow, as is the canary—thus, the "one singing."

Dr. Pepper acquired the name of "Waco" because it was formerly made in Waco. An orangeade is a "Red Ball" because of the standardized use of Red Ball oranges. Sometimes the orangeade is called a "grind" because of the use of the Sunkist machine in which they are ground. A "squeeze" is nothing more than a lemonade.

A milk chocolate has two names, depending on the person ordering it. If a boy orders a "square" for an egg malt because it has often been advertised as a square meal,—"choc-in" for chocolate in the glass, "rickey" for a lime and grape juice mixed, and "Red Ball in the skin" for an orange with the rind on.

The hop boy calls out his order to the mixer and the mixer repeats the order—"the echo"—for the sake of exactness in orders.

Holidays Extended

Monday, Jan. 5, is the date set for first classes to be held after the Christmas holidays. An official report from Dean Colby D. Hall's office late yesterday afternoon gave notice to The Skiff that the University has extended the holiday period three days. Classes will be resumed Monday, Jan. 5, instead of Friday, Jan. 2, as originally planned.

The three-day extension will give students and faculty members exactly fifteen days in which to enjoy the Christmas Holiday season. Classes will be discontinued after 2 o'clock on Saturday, Dec. 20.

Fellowship Has Mexican Slides

Mrs. Hart Interprets Pictures of Life in Mexico.

The feature of the program presented by the University Co-ed Circle for the University Religious Fellowship last Sunday night was a presentation of slides showing scenes from Mexico.

The stage was decorated to produce a Spanish effect, and in this setting the program opened with the singing of "La Golondrina" by the Girls' Quartet, composed of Misses Annabel Hall, Margot Shaw, Mota Maye Shaw, and Eva Keeling, accompanied by Miss Mozelle Bryant.

Following a prayer by Hershel Gipsen, S. W. Hutton led the singing of the hymn "I Gave My Life for Thee," which was accompanied by illustrated slides.

Mrs. Bessie Hart, graduate of T. C. U. who is now State Secretary of Missionary Circle Work, gave explanations of the slides on Mexico as they were shown. Mrs. Hart told of the type of work being done by various religious organizations in Mexico. She said, "The Christian Missionaries and teachings inspire in the Mexicans the spirit of service, and if the educated class catch this spirit toward the people the troubles of Mexico will be practically over."

Sophomore Favorites

MARGARET REEDER

ELOISE BARKSDALE

MOZELLE BRYANT

MARIAN MILLER

(Editor's Note: This is the first of a series of layouts of class favorites selected in the recent primary elections for pages in the year-book. Margaret Reeder, Knox City; Eloise Barksdale, Fort Worth; Mozelle Bryant, Gonzales, and Marian Miller, Waco, are the winners in the sophomore division. They will participate in the final election to be held Jan. 5.)

Group Conducts Church Service

Ashburn Heads Party to Denton for Program.

Led by Prof. Karl E. Ashburn of the economics department, a representative group of University students was in charge of the regular mid-week services of the First Christian Church of Denton last Wednesday evening. Ashburn conducted the group to Denton in response to an invitation from the Rev. William Vivrett, pastor of the Denton church and a former student in the University.

Beside Ashburn, the group included Judge Frank Patterson of the Texas Legislature; Sterling Brown, editor of the Horned Frog; Jim Gaddy Norris, president of the senior class; Curtis McHorse, head yell leader, and his two assistants, Johnny Lebus and Alf Roark; Harmon Hodges, business manager of the Horned Frog; A. T. Barrett, president of the student body; James Dacus, vice-president of the student body; Lewis Copeland, a leader in the Youth Movement of America, and Jay Williams, editor of The Skiff.

The party left Fort Worth Wednesday afternoon and was honored with a turkey dinner at the church before the evening services. The dinner was given by the women of the church. At the evening services, attended by an exceptionally large crowd, the Rev. Vivrett introduced Prof. Ashburn, who in turn introduced the chairman of the student group, Sterling Brown. Brown was in charge of the program and introduced the speakers of the evening. These were Alf Roark, who spoke on "The Religion of the Youth of Ancient Greece and Rome"; Lewis Copeland, "Modern Youth's Christian Movement"; A. T. Barrett, "The University Religious Fellowship"; Jim Gaddy Norris, "The Place of Religion in University Life"; Curtis McHorse, "Sportsmanship and the Modern Student Body," and Johnny Lebus, "The Religion of Modern Youth."

The other members of the group, including Judge Patterson, were not on the program as speakers, but each was introduced to the assembly and was allowed to say a few words. The pastor expressed his gratitude for the group's sponsoring of the program, and members of the church personally welcomed the visitors after services.

Marian Miller Stricken With Acute Appendicitis

Miss Marian "Snappy" Miller was stricken with acute appendicitis this week and is in the school infirmary under the care of Miss Leta Bonner, resident nurse.

Miss Miller is not in a serious condition and will be able to attend classes again soon.

Horned Frog Has Seventeen Girls In Beauty Race

180 Girls in the Four Classes Were Named on Ballots.

SENIORS TO HAVE 5 GIRLS

Final Selection Will Be Made After Style Show to Be Given Jan. 9.

Approximately 180 girls in the four classes in the University were named on ballots which were cast last week for the selection of the class representative for the 1930-31 Horned Frog beauty sections. Of the 180 nominees, the four highest in each class were selected to be in the final selection, with the exception of the senior class. The senior class will have five representatives because of a tie between two of the candidates.

Of the sophomores nominated, Misses Marian Miller, Waco; Eloise Barksdale, Fort Worth; Mozelle Bryant, Gonzales, and Margaret Reeder, Knox City, polled the most votes.

The junior class will be represented by Misses Marian Smith, Fort Worth; Lillian Elyers, Shreveport; Elizabeth Ruff, Brownsville, and Mary Louise Gilliam, Fort Worth.

The five who will represent the senior class are Misses Sheila Grace Whitener, Fort Worth; Texora Pierce, Breckenridge; Frances Anderson, Merkel; Frances Veale, Breckenridge, and Nell Muse, Dallas.

The seventeen girls who were selected in the primary election will compete in the style show to be given Jan. 9 in the University auditorium, the two favorites of each class to be the final selections. Eight downtown stores have agreed to furnish the girls with clothes for the style show. The final selections will be made by the student body by popular ballot. The girls will have boys selected by the Horned Frog staff, with the approval of the girls, for escorts.

The final selections will not be revealed until the annual is published in May. The two winners from each class will have pages in the annual, with no preference given to either of the eight. The pictures of the seventeen girls will be made in the costumes which they wear in the style show.

Mississippi A. & M. Students Burn Effigy

Wholesale Faculty Dismissal by State Head Causes General Uproar.

Considerable uproar has been in existence in the state schools of Mississippi since Governor Bilbo caused the wholesale dismissal of the faculty in these institutions. The students of the Mississippi A. & M. College (fillet) pair of pajamas with hays, tacked the governor's name in the dummy, and then proceeded to burn it to show their resentment of the governor's action.

It is reported that Governor Bilbo had said that he would see that every faculty member in the state universities and colleges would be dismissed if they did not vote for him in the recent election. At the convention of the Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools of the Southern States which was held last week and which Dean Colby Hall attended, it was decided to drop the Mississippi colleges from the membership of the association.

The governor's trouble has just started, since the dropping of the schools from the Association means that the students' credits will not be acceptable in other colleges in different states.

Skating Party Planned

The junior class of the University, under the direction of its president, Gibson Randle, will sponsor an all-University skating party at the Columbia Rink, Hemphill and Daggett Streets, next Monday evening at 7:30. This will be the second all-University affair that has been sponsored by the juniors this year, they having had charge of a midnight frolic at the Worth theatre a few weeks ago. According to Randle, the student body will leave from the University at 7 o'clock, with the traction company furnishing special transportation to the Columbia Rink. Included in the evening's entertainment will be some exhibitions of fancy skating by professional skaters.

Tickets for the skating frolic may be obtained at the book store; from the executive committee, which includes Gibson Randle, A. D. Weatherly, Alf Roark, Elizabeth Ruff and Marian Smith; or from the ticket committee, comprised of Tom Hanks, Mary Jean Knight, Johnny Lebus, Mary Louise Gilliam and Cy Terry.

Prof. Elliott Speaks At Boys' Conference

Texas Y. M. C. A. Holds Meeting for High School Youths at Lubbock.

Prof. Edwin A. Elliott was one of the principal speakers at the fifth annual meeting of the Northwest Texas Older Boys' Conference which met in Lubbock Dec. 5-7. Prof. Elliott delivered three speeches: "Three Philosophies of Life," "Youth in the New Economic Order," and "The Proving Ground of Christianity."

The conference is composed of high school boys of Northwest Texas who meet each year under the auspices of the Texas Young Men's Christian Association and discuss problems unique to boys life. Lecture groups and discussion periods are held at the conference.

While in Lubbock Prof. Elliott was the guest in the homes of two alumni of T. C. U., Earnest Lowery and Vernon Bradley. Mr. Lowery is an instructor of athletics in the Lubbock High School and Mr. Bradley is in business in Lubbock.

A RANK INJUSTICE.

(By Jay Williams.)
 When in the course of post-season football events it becomes necessary to fete the University football team, The Skiff believes that all sports editors that have backed that team throughout the season are created equal. This is an apparent counter opinion to the view taken by the athletic council at its yearly banquet honoring the Fighting Frogs.

To get down to brass tacks, this publication is highly provoked and indignant toward the council for its cool disregard of The Skiff's sports editor's right—which few will dare question—to attend this year's athletic council banquet. The banquet was held last Monday evening. Just why our sports editor was deliberately ignored when invitations were tendered sports editors and writers of downtown papers is somewhat of a mystery as well as a direct affront against one of the team's and University's most loyal backers—this paper.

Just to remind the council of The Skiff's policy and work during the past season in backing the Horned Frogs, we shall quickly scan the high points and let them speak for themselves.

The Skiff devoted approximately one-fourth of its reading columns to sports, principally varsity football; its reading matter was accompanied by cuts and layouts of players in each edition, that were obtained at a rather surprising expense; it put out three play-by-play extra editions which were appreciated at least by coaches, players and students in general, if not by the athletic council; it put out a special stadium dedication edition before the Arkansas game; it sent its sports editor to every out-of-town tilt played by the Frogs; it sponsored, along with the Student Body Association, a Western Union play-by-play report of the Texas Christian-Rice game in Houston. If there is a sports editor or writer in the entire city or state who has backed the Frogs more loyally, more faithfully, or with more individual interest and spirit than Jack Belzer, then we do not know of him and we question his existence.

Our sports editor was not the only one slighted at the banquet, though he is the one in whom we are most concerned. One of the team's principal cogs—its faithful trainer—as well as the three yell leaders, were conspicuous by their absence, and they were absent for the same reason our sports editor was absent.

The Skiff cannot see wherein downtown sports writers can possibly hold any seniority over our sports editor at a banquet given by the University athletic council. It is high time that authorities awake to the fact that The Skiff is due far more consideration than athletic authorities tendered it Monday evening. We feel that we have been done a grave injustice which demands an apology.

T. C. U. CAN HELP, TOO!

The appeal made for old clothes seems a fitting subject to place before the student body of T. C. U.

All students have clothes, which to them are old, but to some much more unfortunate boy or girl would be their "Sunday suit."

Some in the University might take this appeal lightly with the famous "I have my old clothes on" line, but this is merely an indication of thoughtlessness on their part. There is always something which a person has that he or she will never wear again, so why not send it to some one who needs it greatly?

"It's a lot of trouble" some will say, but why couldn't a place be arranged where dormitory students might leave their contributions, and let someone pick them up? Trucks are furnished for this very purpose and the students should take advantage of this opportunity to help someone have a little more comfort during the coming winter.

The town students can aid by gathering their clothes and those of their family and dropping them at the 100 block on Houston.

In our midst of plenty we forget these unfortunates. However, if we can realize that that old hat or pair of shoes will make someone's burden a little lighter, we would put aside that thought of "others will help so I needn't bother."

PIONEERS IN THE LEAD.

Texas Christian University has become, by virtue of keen foresight and judgment on the part of the administration, a pioneer in a movement which in a few years may revolutionize the American system of education.

This month the system of achievement tests, which is the main feature of a newly adopted curriculum, will enter into its second year of activity at this University. Achievement testing, still in its little-known infancy, is part of the plan proposed by the American Council on Education for adoption in all the leading colleges and universities in America.

This council is a co-operative organization of the colleges and educational institutions throughout the country, and is showing the way for progressive institutions to follow. The council has expressed its belief that a system of achievement tests, such as it has outlined will become universally accepted in time to come, and will change the entire aspect of college educational systems. Widespread acceptance of this method of rating scholastic ability is expected.

It is gratifying to note that the administration of this University as early as last year saw the advantages and value of such a system and was one of the first institutions in the country to put it into effect. This year more have followed the lead of the "pioneer" universities in adopting similar systems of testing, until it is inevitable that the plan will soon become universally adopted.

It is even more gratifying to note that students are coming to see the value and worth of the plan and are no longer howling about "extra burdens" being placed on their shoulders. It is a feather in the hat of the University and a boon to Southwest educational systems. The Skiff is proud of the keen foresight and hearty efforts of our administration in putting T. C. U. into the pioneer class of such a commendable and universal movement.

PEN AND INKLINGS

FUENFRA
 (From the Spanish of Carlos Fernandez Shaw)
 Oh, beautiful glen, oh, glen
 Of Fuenfria's pass in the mountains,
 You are never more lovely than when
 Beneath moon's luminous fountain!
 How luxuriously now, in the sun,
 You lighten my heart's bill shadows!
 Green and a-glimmer, your hilly
 slopes run,
 Green and a-glimmer, your meadows,
 Where through the bright hours
 The gold-colored flowers
 Nod at their crocus.
 Smiling and speaking of spring,
 The warm light pours through the day—
 A generous light and a heartening
 In the typical Spanish way.

COULTER'S COLUMN

Bill Sloshinheimer was a delivery clerk in the biggest department store in the biggest little town of its size in the greatest nation of all sizes in the world. (More sighs.) Bill's salary was little or nothing per week, but he had managed to save some and save the bill shavers.

The reasons for all this saving was that at some time or other he wanted to quit work; he wanted to get married; he wanted an automobile; he wanted to take a trip to the biggest city in the world; and last but not least he wanted to make his poor mother happy by giving her wealth and everything that goes with it.

His bank account had grown by degrees—very small—but he had managed to save enough to look for a good investment. He thought for days and days. In fact, he couldn't think until he had adjusted his thinking powers for days and days. (Pardon the repetition.)

One day he picked up a magazine that some customer in the store had dropped and, as it was dark in his lunch hour he started to read. His mind worked very slowly. There! Yes! There it was! He had found just what he had been looking for. Why he would be rich in no time. He read the ad again. Yes, it was a company that paid dividends every month. He must buy the shares that his savings could stand for in his fake Maggot Exterminating Company, and then another fifteen minutes signing his name to the beautiful printed bonds.

Months passed by but still Bill Sloshinheimer did not receive any dividends. Letters that he received reassured him by saying that business had taken a slump but would soon be going full blast. The months turned to years and if dividends were coming they must come pretty soon for Bill had worked himself to a nub. He was very ill and his strength was low. Finally he died and his mother was left alone.

She put the shares away in an old dresser drawer still hoping that sooner or later she would receive the long looked for dividends.

About six months after Bill's death a man knocked at the door of his mother's house. He was there to make a report on her shares. Mother Sloshinheimer went to her dresser with hopes high. She dreamed of comfort. My shares must be worth a small fortune now she said. When she had gone to the door the man had explained that a new company had bought the interests of this fly by night concern and was now ready to buy all the shares that had been given out.

After getting her shares Mother Sloshinheimer turned her thoughts to how happy Bill would have been to see that she was at last wealthy.

The man at last figured out the worth of her highly prized shares. Mother Sloshinheimer thought she would faint when she heard the vast amount of money mentioned when she knew it was all hers.

Mother Sloshinheimer did faint... "Mrs. Sloshinheimer," began the man, "your shares are worth exactly one dollar and fifty-seven cents."

Clipped at random from the country's newspapers:
 "Examinations will be held today at Texas Christian," read one of the downtown papers.
 The next day an apology appeared in the same paper explaining that the word should have been "held" but a typographical error had been made. The day after the apology the editor received a letter from one of the students saying that the paper was right the first time.

Miss Edna Mae Beck, a former student of T. C. U., was a visitor on the campus last week. Miss Beck is now living in Oklahoma.

Ye Olde Editor Presents Staff With Frog Jobs

"Say! The meeting will now come to order!" said "Parson" (J. B.) Brown.

"There's nothing to order," spoke up some freshman on the staff. And so the meeting came to order—more or less. Helen Jenkins was still reading an old Central High School annual. Ever once in a while she would utter a laugh—much to the disgust of all present—but when the object of her laughing was discovered the whole meeting (this was the meeting of the Horned Frog Staff at the home of Dorothy-George) was soon turned into a mirthquake.

Listen reader! Helen had found an old picture of none other than Bill Rogers, as he looked when a senior in high school. Imagine his embarrassment! He shouldn't have been embarrassed for there is practically no change today.

"The meeting will now come back to order," Parson yelled. Imagine him yelling. "If you will be kind enough (this is merely fiction) to bring me, I will endeavor—not the Sunday evening kind—to give you an assignment."

The assignments were given, and the annual was half finished. I say half finished because half the job of getting out an annual is getting the staff together to give them assignments.

"Evalyne Connelly, Roy Bacus, Lillian Eyles, Marjorie Robinson, Helen Jenkins, Leta Ray, L. O. Dallas, Virginia Saunders, Jay Williams, and Coulter," further stated Brown, "can all get together to work out this section of the book."

The meeting started to adjourn but, as no one was ready to get together yet, all members of the staff quietly seated themselves and listened to the rest of the editor's speech (this is merely the editor's compliment).

After the regular meeting was adjourned, a short get-together was held (not the kind the reader is most likely thinking about) and the different phases and features of the annual were discussed.

Several visitors were present. Miss Jean Harrell, Bill Rogers, and Jim Gaddy Norris were there.

After the editor had finished his duties the business manager, Harmon Hodges, failed to respond to the loud jeers (should be cheers but there's no time to change it) of the staff and did not speak.

Miss Dixie McCallie of Breckenridge visited Miss Louise Sarver of Jarvis Hall last Friday and Saturday.

Open Forum

The Honor Committee has found a student guilty of mutilating a library book, and has assessed the penalty of loss of credit for the course involved, and the purchase of a new copy of the book. The student had cut out some pictures and used them in a class theme.

The Committee considered seriously suspending this student, because this is a very serious offense.

Taking library books or magazines, or mutilating them by cutting out pictures, pages, or clippings, etc., is little and not honorable; it has not been practiced much in the T. C. U. library. It is distinctly beneath the sense of honor and good breeding of our general student body. The few who fall into this temptation should be frowned upon by their fellow students as unworthy.

Will Go Duck Hunting

Party From T. C. U. Will Leave on Trip to Caddo Lake.

Prof. J. Willard Ridings, head of the department of journalism; Dr. J. A. Glaze, head of the department of psychology, and Jay Williams, editor of The Skiff, will leave tomorrow afternoon for a three-day hunting and fishing trip on Caddo Lake, near Marshall.

The three will be accompanied by Roy Howard of Fort Worth and will join a party of Marshall friends of Williams, who is a graduate of Marshall High School and a former resident of that East Texas city.

The party has planned a week-end duck hunting trip to Johnson's Ranch, Caddo Lake, one of the most popular hunting paradises on the lake. If there are no ducks flying the party plans to try its luck fishing.

Dr. Waits Addresses Class

President E. M. Waits addressed the men's class of the University Christian Church Sunday morning on "The Message of Amos."

Houses, Lots, Land, Horses, Cattle And Herbs Sold to Start T. C. U.

A house and lot in Fort Worth; a house and five acres of land in Bonham; 480 acres of black land in Collin County; two thoroughbred horses; cattle and vegetables were sold to replace "Stony Lonesome," the first building occupied by Add-Ran College at Thorp Springs.

Begun in the year of the great nationwide financial panic, 1873, Add-Ran, forerunner of T. C. U., had a slow and laborious beginning. The sacrifices made by the founders of T. C. U., and many other anecdotes concerning the foundation of the school are recalled in a thesis, "The Beginnings of Texas Christian University," written last year for the degree of master of arts in the department of history by Mrs. Frank Miller Mason.

"In writing this story of the beginning of Texas Christian University, an effort has been made to select the most significant incidents. The students who are to come within its walls should have a record of the standards and ideals that guided those who preceded them," said Mrs. Mason in the introduction to her thesis.

Taking up the story of education in Ft. Worth at the time of the first school there, 1854, which was conducted by Col. Peter Smith, Mrs. Mason takes up through the first attempt at the establishment of an academy by good friends.

In a letter to Mrs. Mason from Mr. Randolph Clark, which told of the sacrifice of the family property for the school in 1877, it is revealed that when the first railroad came to Fort Worth about 1870 the village was destined to become a city and was therefore no fit place for the academy. The young educators, Addison and Randolph Clark, then chose Thorp Springs.

The thesis is dedicated to Prof. Charles H. Roberts, head of the history department.

Besides numerous old records and documents Mrs. Mason personally interviewed a number of people who were connected with the foundation of the school for the material for her thesis.

They are: Mrs. Lennie Jarvis Burgess, Randolph Clark, Mrs. Mattie Scott Coffman, Mrs. Fannie Broiles Cook, Mrs. A. S. Dingee, Mrs. Pauline Sherley Haile, Dean Colby D. Hall, Mrs. Lou Ella Clark Holloway, Robert F. Clark, C. W. Howard, Mrs. Ida Van Zandt, Mrs. Van Zandt Jarvis, Mrs. Hyde Jennings, Mrs. Lily Peak Jones, Prof. F. C. Jones, E. S. Kuykendall, Mrs. Hittie Jacobs Lewis, Mrs. Ida Clark Nisbet, Howard W. Peak, Sr., Mrs. Minnie Rider Rhome, Byron C. Rhome, Mrs. Johnnie Hanna Rogers, Mrs. Chas. Scheuber, Mrs. Hal Sellers, T. E. Sherley, Major K. M. Van Zandt, Dr. I. L. Van Zandt and Miss Fannie Van Zandt.

Major K. M. Van Zandt was interviewed only a few weeks before his death.

SPORT WAVES

By JACK BELZNER

The season of banquets has arrived for the members of the 1930 Horned Frog grid and their coaches. The first was held Monday night at the Fort Worth Club. Harlos Green, veteran fullback, was elected to captain the 1931 Schmidt machine and Johnny Vaught was chosen line captain for next year. The freshmen players chose John Kitchen as honorary backfield captain and Bud Taylor honorary line captain for the year. Kitchen acted as captain in each game the Polliwogs played this year and was appointed by Coach Meyer.

Capt. Noble Atkins, all-conference center for the past two seasons, was awarded the Dan D. Rogers trophy, a gold watch, for being the most valuable man on the Frog team during the past season. Howard Grubbs, all-conference quarter, was awarded the trophy last year. The presentation was made at the Lions Club banquet on Tuesday. At the same time each member of the 1930 team, the coaches, Student Manager Rolater and Pete Wright, athletic business manager, were awarded 10-inch silver images of a football player in action.

Tonight the W. A. A. will be hosts to the varsity squad at an annual entertainment given them by this organization. The entertainment will be in the form of a progressive party. All varsity men and members of the W. A. A. will meet at the home of Mrs. Helen Walker Murphy. At the same time the Progettes will entertain the members of the freshman squad.

Amon G. Carter will be host to the squad and the T. C. U. at the Shady Oak Farm some night next week. The exact date has not yet been announced. The Christian coaching staff will also be present. Last year all of the squadmen were introduced over WBAP at a similar party given by Carter.

Coach Schmidt gives the following comment about Othol Martin after he was awarded the Simon's Jewelry Co. trophy for being the man of greatest service to the 1930 Horned Frogs. "Martin was a consistent varsity to the team all through the season. He was especially great on defensive work. He blocked four punts during the season, and was on the receiving end of one of the passes that was converted into a touchdown against Baylor. Although he weighs but 167 pounds, Martin received several votes for the second all-conference team picked by the Southwest coaches, and is altogether one of the outstanding ends in the loop."

With two of his most promising sophomore stars on the sidelines with injuries, Coach Schmidt has a none too bright outlook for the coming cage race. Roberson is also possessor of a trick knee and any day he may be laid up. Trick knees will stand any kind of punishment at times and probably during the next fifteen minutes the thing will pop out of joint while walking on perfectly level ground. However, at the rate Connelley and Dietzel are improving at present, they will be "fit as a fiddle" in another week or less.

All of the pre-season games have not been arranged yet but tilts with Jack Sisco's North Texas Teachers have been set for Dec. 17 on the Frog court and a return game on the Eagle floor Jan. 3. Games with the Dallas Athletic Club, made up of former S. M. U. players, and the Commerce Teachers are tentative. There will be games at irregular intervals with various city league opponents until the opening conference game.

Schmidt's 1930 Horned Frog basketball team did not finish the season with much glory but they were up in the running until they became stale in the latter part of the season and started dropping games with unpleasing regularity. The Frogs tied with Rice for sixth place last year, winning four games and losing eight for a percentage of .333. "Bud" Eury, last year's captain and center, was third in conference scoring with 104 points during the season. Atkins scored and was the highest scoring guard in the conference. Both men were practically unanimous choices for their respective positions on the all-conference team.

Chloa F. Weekley, sports editor of the Baylor Lariat, recently had a laugh from this column. And at the same time he showed that I was a "shade green" about this stuff. Well, if I were any good, I'd have a job on the Baylor Lariat writing a "Weakly" column. Mr. Weekley says in his column: "Introducing Jack Belzner, sports editor of the T. C. U. Skiff, with his all-conference selections." Then he lists the team. In another paragraph he says "We offer no criticisms but leave it up to you. Have you seen a worse all-conference selection? And if so, where? We like to laugh!" However, eight of the eleven men I chose for the team were placed on the first eleven by the coaches of the seven different conference teams. The other three were placed on the second team by the mentors. Well, maybe Mr. Weekley will send me a copy of his all-conference selection and we'll see what kind of a picker he is.

David Bruce Scouler, instructor in voice, was the guest artist on the White Swan hour over radio station WBAP last Wednesday night.

Green to Lead Schmidtmen in 1931 Title Race

Named on Several All-S. W. Teams While a Sophomore.

VAUGHT IS LINE CAPTAIN

John Kitchens and Bud Taylor Chosen as Honorary Leaders by Freshmen.

Harlos Green will captain the 1931 Horned Frog football machine. The veteran fullback was elected to this position Monday night at the annual football banquet held at the Fort Worth Club. Johnny Vaught, sophomore guard this year, was named line captain. The freshman squad, who played through the season just closed with no regular captain, named John Kitchens honorary backfield captain and Bud Taylor honorary line leader.

Green, a 180-pound powerhouse line plunger, was named on several all-Southwest Conference teams last year, while a sophomore on the Christian team. The former North Side High product has not failed to letter but once in any sport, the first time he tried out. That was varsity basketball last year. He has lettered twice in football and once in track since entering T. C. U. In high school he lettered twice in football, three times in basketball and once in track and baseball. He captained his team last year in basketball.

Since he has been going out for athletic teams he has only failed to enter one contest, in which his team has participated. He did not play against Texas University when the Longhorns met the Frogs this year on the new T. C. U. stadium grid. In basketball he was named all-city guard two years and was all-district pick during his last year on the North Side team.

The plunging fullback throws the javelin and runs the 440 on the track squad. He was second in the city in the javelin in 1928, his last year in high school, and lettered at this event last year on the varsity team. In 1928 he was a member of the district state championship one-mile relay team, which finished third in the national meet held at Chicago. He tosses the javelin a little better than 170 feet.

Green is an outfielder in baseball and occasionally plays first base. As yet the all-around athlete has not decided whether to perform with Clark's cinder path squad or to play baseball under the tutelage of Coach "Dutch" Meyer.

Martin Awarded Simon Co. Trophy

Watch Given Star End for Great Service This Season.

An expensive watch was awarded Othol Martin, 167-pound end, by Simon's Jewelry Co. for being the player of greatest service to the 1930 Horned Frogs. The award given to Martin is the culmination of a whole season of giving awards to the Frogs on the part of Arthur Simon, jewelryman of Fort Worth. Before the opening of the season, Simon announced that he would give a cup to the most valuable player in each game, the man to be selected by his team mates. The game awards for the season were as follows:

- Sept. 19, Denton Teachers, B. W. Spearman, Jermyn, half.
- Sept. 20, Commerce Teachers, Foster Howell, Commerce, tackle.
- Sept. 27, Austin College, Jack Shackelford, Abilene, tackle.
- Oct. 4, Simmons University, Ben Boswell, Fort Worth, tackle.
- Oct. 11, Arkansas, Hubert Dennis, Memphis, half.
- Oct. 18, A. & M., Noble Atkins, Crystal Falls, center.
- Oct. 25, Texas Tech, Lon Evans, Fort Worth, tackle.
- Nov. 1, A. C. C., Johnny Vaught, Fort Worth, guard.
- Nov. 8, Rice, Othol Martin, Jacksboro, end.
- Nov. 15, Texas, Vance Woolwine, Fort Worth, quarterback.
- Nov. 22, Baylor, Adolph Dietzel, San Antonio, end.
- Nov. 29, S. M. U., Richard Oliver, Fort Worth, half.

1931 Leader

GREEN - FULL

Recently elected to captain the 1931 Horned Frogs. The 180-pound fullback received several votes for first all-conference selection while a sophomore on the Schmidt machine. He is a two-letter man in football and has lettered in track. It was his toe that brought Texas Christian its first football title when he kicked the goal that tied the score with S. M. U. in last year's game. The hard-tackling fullback is an all-around athlete, taking part in football, basketball, track and baseball.

Two Frog Cagers On Injured List

Loss of Connelley and Dietzel May Be Disastrous.

All of Coach Schmidt's hopes for a Southwest Conference basketball title lie in the fate of three trick knees. Warren Connelley, towering sophomore forward and scoring ace, fell by the wayside last week with a locked knee. Ad Dietzel, giant center, from San Antonio, received a similar injury in scrimmage Tuesday afternoon. Clyde Roberson, letterman at forward, has been practicing daily but it would be no surprise to have him on the injury list at any time due to his trick knee. His knee was wrenched in baseball last summer and kept him out of the lineup during the football season.

It is impossible to judge just how hard the injury jinx has hit the Frog camp because of the inconsistency of knees of this type. The three may turn out for the best. On the other hand, there is an equal chance of their being unable to continue. In case of the latter, the hopes of Coach Schmidt to carry a squad composed practically of sophomores to a championship will be blotted out. With his two tallest men injured, Schmidt will be forced to shift "Doc" Sumner from forward to center. McCulloch, letter man at forward, will play Sumner's position. Sumner was tip-off man on the national championship Athens High quintet in 1928 and is an excellent man but he will be at a distinct disadvantage in college because of his comparative smallness of stature.

While the two sophomore stars are laid up with injuries, the first string team will probably be Roberson and McCulloch, forwards; Sumner, center; and Capt. Atkins and Brannon, guards.

Amon Carter Speaks At Chapel Exercises

Juniors, Seniors Entertained by Hawaiian Trio and WBAP Hired Hand.

Amon G. Carter spoke at the junior-senior chapel exercises last Friday morning. Harold Hough, famous "Hired Hand" of radio station WBAP, introduced Mr. Carter after announcing the program of a Hawaiian trio.

"Beating S. M. U. gave me more pleasure than I would have had if the Frogs had won the conference championship and then been beaten by the Mustangs," said Mr. Carter in his short informal speech.

The Hired Hand also announced the radio program of Sunday night that featured the grid stars who have played their last game for Texas Christian.

Rev. Gray to Speak on Faith

"The Reward of Faith" will be the title of the sermon by the Rev. A. Preston Gray at the Sunday morning service of the University Christian Church. A special Christmas number will be sung by the choir, under the direction of Prof. S. W. Hutton.

Misses Dorothy Rogers and Betty Ligon of Jarvis Hall visited at their homes in Dallas last week-end. Miss Jo Pearl Weatherby of Hubbard, a former student in T. C. U., visited on the campus this week.

Frog Grid Teams Honor Guests at Annual Banquets

Varsity and Freshman Team Members Attend Dinners.

W. A. A. IS HOST TONIGHT

Amon Carter to Fete Teams at Shady Oaks Farm Next Wednesday Night.

The 1930 Horned Frogs and their coaches will continue to be honored at banquets and parties, throughout the coming week, for their service to Texas Christian during the past season.

The annual dinner for the varsity and freshman squads was held Monday night at the Fort Worth Club. Harlos Green was elected to lead next year's team and Johnny Vaught was chosen as line captain at the dinner. The first year men chose John Kitchen as honorary backfield leader and Bud Taylor honorary line captain at the meeting. The freshmen have played through the season minus a captain but before each of the three contests, Coach Meyer appointed Kitchen as captain for the day.

The annual Lions Club banquet was held Tuesday and each member of the team was awarded a trophy for his efforts during the season. Presided at Tuesday's banquet, Capt. Noble Atkins, all-conference center for the past two years, was awarded the Dean D. Rogers trophy as the most valuable man on the Frog team during the past season's play. Prof. E. W. McDiarmid, head of the Texas Christian athletic council, presided at Tuesday's banquet. Speakers included Dr. E. M. Waits, L. C. Wright, Butler Smiser, Amon G. Carter, Ellison Harding, Dan. D. Rogers, Prof. Edwin A. Elliott, Prof. Raymond Welby, Coaches Francis Schmidt, Raymond Wolf, and Leo Meyer, Dr. Webb Walker and Boyd Keith.

The varsity men who have finished their grid careers at T. C. U. made brief speeches including Noble Atkins, Austin Griffith, Cy Leland, Othol Martin, Clyde Roberson, Leo Butler, Roy Eury, Howard Brannon, J. C. Boyd, Rob Eil Cox, John Hammond, and John Hirstine. Other football men present were: Boswell, Dennis, Evans, Green, Hinton, Howell, Lambert, McCulloch, Olliver, Pruitt, Salkeld, Shaekens'ord, Spearman, Snow, Vaught, Woolwine, Carpenter, Brannon, Dietzel, Taylor, Phelps, Sumner, Tiner, Townsend, Welch and O'Brien, varsity squadmen; Adams, Allison, Bassinger, L. Brown, E. Brown, Clyne, Graves, Haas, Jordan, Kitchens, Kinzy, Langdon, Meyer, Peyton, Perkins, Ragsberger, Stevens, Thomas, Barrett, Wallace, Walker, and Wilkerson.

The members of the Woman's Athletic Association will be hosts to the varsity men tonight after the T. C. U.-T. P. Cowboys' dual basketball game. The Frogettes, an organization of freshman girls, will entertain the Polliwogs tonight. Next week the varsity and freshman squads, coaches, and the band will be the guests of Amon G. Carter at Shady Oaks Farm for a dinner. Carter extended the invitation to the annual banquet Monday night.

Smith Gives Lecture at Baylor

Dr. William C. Smith gave a lecture "Among the Head Hunters of Assam" at Baylor University Thursday evening. Dr. Smith delivered the lecture before the Alpha Kappa Delta fraternity, the local chapter at Baylor of the National Sociology Honor Society.

Extra Rehearsals Announced

Mrs. Helen Fouts Cahoon has announced that rehearsals for those in the chorus who cannot attend on Tuesdays and Thursdays at 12 o'clock will be held on Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Appear in New Roles

CAPT. ATKINS COACH SCHMIDT

Being the only coach in the conference to guide both football and basketball and being the only captain in the conference to lead both major sports, are the accomplishments of Coach Francis A. Schmidt and Capt. Noble Atkins. Coach Schmidt is the "iron man" of the Southwest coaching circles and Captain Atkins is the "Hercules" among the players. When asked if any time out were going to be taken between the football season and basketball practice, Coach Schmidt answered, "Yes, we had Sunday off."

Kitchen Leads Freshman Team

Triple-Threat Back Is Versatile Man for Polliwogs.

John Kitchen, Okmulgee, Okla., was appointed captain of the Texas Christian Polliwogs in all three games played by the first-year men this year. The 187-pound fullback played almost every minute of each game this year and made a remarkable showing.

The big fellow is a fraction over six feet tall, and ran the 100-yard dash in 10.5 when a junior in high school. Last year he acted as captain of the Okmulgee team while the regular leader was injured.

Kitchen played only two years in high school, being hampered by injuries during his freshman and sophomore years. During his last year he was named on the second all-state team and was placed on the all-Central Conference club. The Central Conference is made up of the larger high schools in Oklahoma. He was given honorable mention during his junior year on the all-conference team.

He is a triple-threat man and alternated with Ben Clyne in the punting and passing departments of the Polliwog team this year. He also plays basketball and throws the javelin on the track and field squad. Last year he threw the javelin 175 feet for Okmulgee in the state meet. He played two years as a guard in prep school and was named all-conference guard his senior year.

Coaches Select All-Conference Team This Year

T. C. U. Gets Nine Men Named—Two Are on First Team.

PLACES ATKINS, BOSWELL

Vaught, Leland, Griffith, Second Team—Martin, Oliver, Hinton Salkeld Mentioned.

Coach Francis A. Schmidt, secretary of the coaches association of the Southwest Conference, has announced the first all-conference football team ever to be named by vote of the coaches of the respective schools. The coaches of the seven member schools—Arkansas, A. & M., Baylor, Rice, Texas, S. M. U. and T. C. U.—selected the teams. These men know the inside of football if anybody in the conference does. They know what each man was supposed to do, how well he did it, and what he meant to his team. Their selections, then, more nearly approach an official all-conference team than any that has ever been named in this section.

The selections are as follows:

First Team	Pos.	Second Team
Long, S. M. U.	Tracy, A. & M.
Peterson, Texas	Creighton, Ark.
Blanton, Texas	Sketters, S. M. U.
Boswell, T. C. U.	Witcher, Baylor
Koch, Baylor	Morgan, Rice
Emerson, Texas	Vaught, T. C. U.
Atkins, T. C. U.	Paradeaux, Bay.
Wilson, Baylor	Elkins, Texas
Shelly, Texas	Stafford, Texas
Dale, Arkansas	Leland, T. C. U.
Koy, Texas	Griffith, T. C. U.

Honorable Mention: Ends—Martin, T. C. U.; Salkeld, T. C. U.; Vining, Texas. Tackles—Morris, Baylor; Moulton, A. & M.; McGill, A. & M.; Harrell, Rice. Guards—Neely, S. M. U.; Cook, Texas; Secret, Arkansas; Lord, A. & M. Centers—Howie, Texas; Gatour, Texas. Quarterbacks—Gilbert, S. M. U.; Kattman, S. M. U. Halfbacks—Hinton, T. C. U.; Kyle, Arkansas; McElreath, Baylor; Oliver, T. C. U.; Mueller, Rice; Lewter, Baylor; Wallace, Rice. Fullback—Squires, Rice. Texas thus led all member schools in the number of players named somewhere in the list, with 11. T. C. U. came next, with 9. Others had players named as follows: Baylor, 7; S. M. U., 5; Rice, 5; A. & M., 4; and Arkansas, 4.
