Sophomores Give Annual Banquet

Montford, Walsh Serve as Toastmasters—50 Attend.

The second annual banquet of the Class of '33 was given Wednesday night at the Woman's Club. A. H. Montford and Howard Walsh served as co-toastmasters. Approximately fifty faculty members and students were present.

After the invocation had been given by Dean Lacey Leftwich, Frederick Isely began the program by announcing that the toastmasters were missing, but that Mr. Montford had been noticed recently in the environs. Doubt was dispelled from the minds of the guests when the two persons in question appeared in the doorway and took their places at the table.

With explanations for his delayed arrival, Mr. Montford introduced Noel Roberts who did several tap dances. Further events on the program were discontinued until after the first course had been served, during which time the company was entertained with music from the radio.

Bill George then gave a toast to Miss Lyde Spraggins, class sponsor. In return, Miss Spraggins complimented the fidelity and spirit of the sophomore class and expressed her pride in being chosen as its faculty sponsor.

Mrs. Alexander, class mother, replied briefly to the toast given her by Billie Dickie. Delbert Sharbutt, a former student of the class of '33, entertained with three saxophone numbers, and a vocal solo, called for by popular request. Marion Hicks proposed a toast to the faculty which was followed by a toast to Bill George, class president, given by A. H. Montford. Mr. George in a succinct response complimented the loyalty of the members of the sophomore class in attendance.

A piano solo was played by Frank McMordie while the last course was being served. This was followed by an introduction of all boys present after which Howard Walsh announced the conclusion of the banquet. Mr. Montford "rose to the occasion" and from a precarious position upon the banister, gave an invitation from Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Alexander to continue the occasion at their home at 2907 Fifth Avenue.

The banquet hall at the Woman's Club was arranged in decorations suggestive of the George Washington season. Place-cards, together with favors of small hatchets for the ladies and large ones for the men, were placed about the plates. Ferns and small flags completed the individual favors.

$4,000,000 Total T. C. U. Resources, $626,000 in 1916

When President Edward McShane Waits came to T. C. U. in 1916, there were only 301 students here to welcome him. In 1928-29, the student body numbered 1634, a 442.8 per cent increase over the 1916 enrollment. In all, the student body enrollments for the 15 years of President Waits' administration total 12,952. These facts were included in the President's report for 1930.

In 1916, the faculty had 15 members, only one of which was a woman. Today, the faculty consists of 82, with 25 women.

During the first three years of President Waits' administration, the enrollments totaled less than 1000 for the entire period. That was during the World War. From 1918, when the student body numbered 580, the enrollment has increased steadily, up to this year, when there was a decrease of 300 under last year's total.

In 1916, T. C. U.'s resources stood at $26,000, while the school's resources today total more than $4,000,000.

During the present administration, the graduate school has been organized—in 1926—and T. C. U. has been elected to membership in the Association of American Colleges, in the Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools of the Southern States and in the Association of American Universities. It also joined the Southwestern Athletic Conference, in 1923.

The gymnasium, the Mary Coats Burnett Library, the basketball court and the present stadium have been built since President Waits came here. Almost $5,000,000 in endowments has been attained since 1916.

Harry Bone Is Sunday Speaker

Open Forum Is Feature of Pi Gamma Mu Fellowship.

The Pi Gamma Mu fraternity presented Harry Bone, national secretary of the southwestern division of the Y. M. C. A., at the University Religious Fellowship meeting Sunday night. He spoke on "The Meaning of Maturity," or "Some of the Problems of Growing Up."

Dean L. L. Leftwich presided and introduced Mr. Bone as a man speaking a different language from most of us, unafraid of life and unafraid to tell the truth. Mr. Bone cited the difference between growing older and growing up. He said, "Growing older is an inevitable process, growing up is a process of thought and particular effort."

The following he gave as signs of immaturity: Undue emotional dependence, inability to be alone, hypersensibility, persistent feelings of inadequacy, bad conscience about harmless things, persistence of child development in religious outlook, tantrums, and whining attitude. He summed up "growing up" as a process of passing from dependence to independence.

Following his talk Mr. Bone conducted a forum. Miss Gladys Wilkinson, president of the fraternity, acted as pianist.

After the meeting, members of Pi Gamma Mu entertained Mr. Bone with a buffet supper at the home of Mrs. E. K. Stivers, 3129 Rogers Avenue. Those present were: Misses Vera Bell Stephenson, Lamoyne Laurence, Lesbia Word, Martha Temple, Mary Lois Yarbrough, Margie Smith, Mamie Yarbrough, Angeline Jones, Lillian Stivers and Gladys Wilkinson, and Jo Brice Wilmetts, Bill Rogers, Jay Paxton, Noel Roberts, Gerald Lloyd, Lewis Copeland, Herschel Gipson, Prof. Paul Baker, Mr. Bone, and Dean and Mrs. L. L. Leftwich.

March 5 Is Set For Comedy Date

"Her Husband's Wife" Committees Are Appointed.

March 5 was announced as the date for the Dramatic Club play, "Her Husband's Wife," a three-act comedy, at the Dramatic Club meeting last night.

Rehearsals for the play have been in progress for more than a week and day and night rehearsals were started Wednesday.

Paul Packard and Laurence Coulter were named as the publicity directors of the play by Miss Opal Gooden, president. Ed Mace was appointed chairman of the committee to prepare the tickets and programs for the play.

Packard will help Miss Pauline McCollum and Miss Corinne Lewis with properties for the show, and Misses Dorothy Conkling and Anna Beth Baker will have charge of the make-ups for the cast.

Miss Katherine Moore of the public speaking department is directing the play. Miss Lamar Griffing has been cast in the leading role. The other members of the cast are Bob Gray, James Dacus, William Anderson, Miss Sheila Grace Whitner and Miss Gooden.

Gray Speaks at Brite Chapel

The Rev. A. Preston Gray of the University Christian Church was the speaker at Brite chapel Wednesday. His subject was "The Mind of the Master."

Dr. Clinton Lockhart To Celebrate 73rd Birthday Tomorrow

Dr. Clinton Lockhart, professor of Old Testament and Semitics in T.C.U. and a world authority on the Bible and Greek, will celebrate his 73rd birthday tomorrow, Feb. 21. Dr. Lockhart has been a prominent figure on the T. C. U. campus since 1906 when he was elected president of the institution.

He came to Texas Christian after a year's leave of absence from Drake University, which he had spent in travel over the United States and Europe. The trustees of the University invited him to meet with them and at a later meeting elected him president. Dr. Lockhart had not anticipated having the executive position; he had only met with the trustees because he desired to become a professor in the school.

When he took over the reins of the college it was $63,000 in debt and had few endowments. Within four years he had relieved the University of over half of its debts.

'June Moon' Leader

LAURENCE COULTER

Student Takes Part in Comedy

Laurence Coulter Has Leading Role in "June Moon."

One Texas Christian University student and at least two graduates and two "exes" are members of the cast of "June Moon," full length comedy by Ring Lardner and George S. Kaufman, which the Little Theater will present beginning Monday night.

Laurence Coulter, junior, has the leading role of Fred Stevens, the young and unsophisticated lyric writer who goes to "make his fame and fortune along "Tin Pan Alley," that mythical street of New York where the popular song hits are manufactured.

Playing opposite him is Miss Clyde Roberson, who was graduated in 1929, as the demure, young thing from Albany, while her sister, Miss Winnie Roberson, a 1930 graduate, plays the role of the gold-digger.

Two ex-students in the cast are Donald A. Loyd, a musician who is cast as a music pluggier in a publishing house, and Reginald C. Martin, a window-washer. Coulter, Martin and the Roberson sisters also played last season in the Little Theater's presentation of Kaufman's "Butter and Egg Man."

As is perhaps already surmised, "June Moon" concerns the popular song writing industry. It opened on Broadway last season and was acclaimed one of the 10 best plays of the year by the New York Critics, particularly Burns Mantle and Gilbert Gabriel, of the American, who declared it was "a Broadway classic."

The plot, involving the boy and girl and the "gold-digger," is punctuated by typical Lardner wit and his funniest satire, combined with the master technique of Kaufman, who has had his hand in more plays, probably, than any other American writer. Because of his knowledge of the theater, Kaufman has collaborated with half a dozen famous authors, while he has written several plays of his own.

The box office will open for business tomorrow morning and the initial curtain is scheduled to open on the performance at 8:30 o'clock Monday night. As usual, students tickets may be obtained for half the regular price.

Weddings, Illness Main "Gags" for Chapel Excuses

"I was not absent, I came in at 10:30 So THUS was late." This is one of the typical chapel excuses posted on the bulletin board, and gives an insight into the "excellent" English which is being used by the student body of T. C. U.

"Illness" and "illness of an aunt or uncle" seem to be the favorite "gags" of the girls in excuses from chapel. The boys use the idea of "I was out of town on business for my father." From the number of this latter type of excuse it appears that the mothers and fathers sit back while the boys and girls go traveling over the country doing their work for them.

Weddings are another means of escaping chapel services. It appears that there has been a wedding in almost every family since school started in September.

Football boys use "dathery" treatments, and blood transfusions as the big excuses, which are always granted. It appears that these mighty men are either helping themselves or others, and their spirit of helpfulness extends throughout the entire chapel period.

One excuse which appears at intervals, but is not granted is the "I had to ride the street car and I missed it" idea which seems null and void so far as getting out of chapel is concerned. Those aspiring young teachers who "observe" during the chapel period never put down just whom they are observing, but the excuses always seem to get by.

Classes Have 10 Council Members

Groups Nominate and Elect Student Delegates.

New rulings in connection with the method of class representation on the student council allow 10 members from the four classes. The senior class will have four representatives, the junior class three, the sophomore class two, and the freshman class one.

The president of the freshman class, James Miller, will be the freshman representative on the council. Miss Jaque Lansdale, Marion Hicks, A. H. Montford and Paul Martin were nominated for representatives on the council from the sophomore class. The nominations were made at a meeting of the class Monday after chapel.

Miss Marian Smith, Alf Roark, and Gibson Randle, were elected representatives from the junior class at a meeting of the class last Friday.

Misses Marie Roberts, Vera Bell Stephenson, and Helen Jenkins, and Jimmie Miller, Elbert Lavender, and Jay Williams were nominated to represent the senior class at the class meeting Monday morning. The class voted to make Jim Gaddy Norris, president of the class, the fourth representative of the class.

The election of the members on the council from the senior class was held in chapel this morning.

Trustees Pass Student Petition For Blanket Fee to Be Payable Through School Business Office

"T" Association To Give Carnival

Athletes Plan Annual Show for Night of March 5.

A giant athletic carnival will be sponsored by the "T" Association of T. C. U. at the big gym Thursday, March 5, to raise funds to entertain the high school athletes, who will be guests of the "T" Association during the Fat Stock Show meet.

The detailed program has not been mapped out, but Hal Wright, chairman of the program committee, has definitely arranged for some entertaining features. The final basketball game between the juniors and seniors that will decide the intramural championship of the school will be the feature of the show. The T. C. U. tumbling trio has worked up some new acts especially for the athletic fiesta, and there will be ping-pong matches with the championship of T. C. U. at stake. In the ping-pong preliminaries John McDiarmid and Vance Woolwine have placed themselves head and shoulders above all others in the field. It is highly probable that Woolwine and McDiarmid will be the finalists.

Mrs. Murphy is furnishing the "T" men with some tap-dancers, and Cy Leland, president, has arranged for some high class entertainment from downtown to add color to the show. Some popular vocal numbers featuring Misses Dorothy Jacobs and Margot Shaw have been arranged. Last year the T. C. U. athletes put on one of the most successful shows in the University the entire year, and Leland and Wright are working to make it the outstanding student presentation of the season.

Patriotic music will be rendered by the orchestra, conducted by Prof. Claude Sammis.

A bread line will be the model for the B. B. A. banquet next Thursday night. According to Prof. J. W. Ballard, modern business conditions determined this plan for the banquet.

Among those on the committee in charge are: Miss Josephine Shaw, Worth Leuthstrom, Harmon Hodges, A. T. Barrett, Charles Cartwright, Carl Rolater, and Billie Dickie.

Budget of $610,794 Is Set for 1931-32 School Year.

PRESIDENT WAITS TALKS

Praises Co-operation of City in Helping Build New Football Stadium.

Passing of the petition for the collection of the student blanket fee of 50 cents through the business office was one of the main issues before the Board of Trustees that directly concerned the students last Thursday. A. T. Barrett presented the petition of the students for the collecting of the fee by adding it to the student activity fee. The board granted the plea and beginning next fall the student activity fee will be $6.50. Barrett pointed out the difficulties experienced in the past years through the lack of funds. He also said that with the added amount of funds many conferences might be sought by the student body that before would have been out of the question.

A budget of $610,794 for the school year 1931-32, and the re-election of most of the faculty of the school constituted the principal business of the annual session.

Provision was made for two additional administrative officers. One of these will be a field representative, who will alternate between securing students and raising money through the churches for current purposes. The other will be an assistant dean of women.

President E. M. Waits stated that the year had brought forth some few mistakes but many things have been accomplished in his address to the board. Local co-operation proffered the school was also praised by President Waits.

"There has been a fine spirit of co-operation on the part of the citizens of Fort Worth," he said. "This is manifested not only by our citizenship in general, but by our high schools, our Chamber of Commerce, newspapers, city officials, dinner clubs and churches, all vitally concerned in the progress of the University."

"The greatest achievement since we met last February," he further stated, "is the new stadium. This great structure speaks so loudly for itself that it needs no further comment. This could not have been realized without the fine enthusiasm and intelligent leadership of Amos G. Carter and the other members of the Stadium Association."

Officers of the Board of Trustees were re-elected. They are: Van Zandt Jarvis, Fort Worth, president; H. W. Stark, Gainesville, vice-president, and Butler S. Smiser, Fort Worth, secretary-treasurer.

The board officially invited Governor Ross S. Sterling to deliver the commencement address in June at the University. Whether the invitation will be accepted is not known to date.

CONGRATULATIONS.

T. C. U. takes this opportunity to congratulate Baylor on her attitude toward the renewed relationship between Baylor and A. & M. after the four years of silence in athletic relationship between the two universities.

The Baylor Lariat shows how "Down the back trail four years ago Baylor and A. & M. were the principals in an unfortunate series of circumstances, short and swift though they may have been at the time. Like war, the blight descended in a frenzy, then passed like the fleeing cyclone, leaving its mark upon the consciousness and pride of both institutions. The children had their 'spells,' and then Dr. Time stepped in to take over the case and mend the damage.—Now he has pulled the gauze and the tape off, and the sister institutions have looked on his work and found it good."

This expresses in all sincerity the feelings of those two universities, as well as those of the other members of the conference, and the hope is now expressed that they will be friends in every phase of the word from this time on.

The conference has had its wounds healed at last. The friendliness with which these two schools continue in the future will be the basis of the underlying factors which make up the success of the competitive friends of the Southwest Conference.

T. C. U. extends to both institutions the sincerest hopes for the best of fellowship between Baylor and A. & M.

EYES FRONT.

The next few months will be a season of contacts. Seniors and graduates of the great universities and colleges over the country will be on the lookout for contacts with positions of promise. Big corporations will be sending out representatives to interview and examine graduates in the hope of contacting with those who will fit into their organizations.

Our own University has in the past come in for consideration on the part of these "scouts," and it is to the credit of this school that a number of applicants taken from Frogland's ranks have climbed the ladder of success through such contacts.

Thorough examinations are usually made of every promising applicant. Scholastic records, manners, speech, appearance and participation in extra-curricula activities are all taken into consideration. Foremost of these points is that of scholastic record.

This is the day of college men. They receive first consideration, and for those who will apply to the contact men who will visit our campus during the next few months, let them consider the importance placed by the business world on a student's work in college. Every college man, whether graduate or underclassman, who goes out next summer looking for a job, will be faced with this same sort of scrutiny.

STUDENT ACTIVITIES.

Students quarrel and cry for student activities. Even though there are activities the leaders receive little or no cooperation. The different organizations have sponsored entertainments and programs. When there are campus activities those who clamor for activities should take part and co-operate with the leaders.

Lack of student activities is blamed on the leaders and faculty. In reality a great deal of the blame should fall on the student body. If the student body were to exhibit interest and co-operation the activities would increase. In the past leaders have been discouraged by the lack of enthusiasm among the members of the various organizations. When an activity is being planned a spell of listlessness seems to fall over the students and the same few and faithful co-operate each time.

Those who complain of the need of more activities are mainly those who offer little or no help. They do not take part in the activities that are planned. Better co-operation and more interest of the student body will increase activities.

IS IT SO BAD AFTER ALL?

In the October issue of "The Rotarian," Dr. Hendrik Willem Van Loon asked the question, "College for two?"—referring to his own two sons—and answered that question with an emphatic "NO!" He further states that he will not send his two sons to college because the present-day college "is everything it should not be." And we wonder!

Dr. Van Loon's accusations bring forth the remarks that there are not more than a half dozen men in a half a dozen universities who could really inspire his sons to do something great and noble, and that they would not teach the sons anything that they would remember. And again we wonder!

It is true, very true, that most of the knowledge that is acquired from the colleges is forgotten. But how about the foundation that it offers? How about the recollection of "forgotten things" when you read the newspapers, enter into round-table discussions, talk with learned men? Is it all forgotten? Hardly. There is that foundation in the general fields—literature, history, economics, philosophy, science—that was acquired in college. Is it entirely useless?

Then there is the social life. The contacts with the students is worth something. The contacts gained in college are usually the stronghold for future activities. The person who has been to college is usually not afraid to take the lead in things after he gets out of college. He is not afraid to go out and mingle with people. He knows how to meet them in the business world. Is that useless?

And lastly, there is the contact with the professors. That is something. The professors may be dry, they may be uninteresting, they may be bores—but the little bits of knowledge that they put forth in the classroom, the references that they are able to give are something. Then too, despite the fact that many are uninteresting, there is always one who proves to be a lifelong memory. One who has been somewhat of an inspiration—and we are happy to mention him, to recall him to our memory.

There might be other things to be gained from college. There are many other things. "College for two?" and the answer should come back, "YES!" Is it really so bad?

SWEET PEG

I had a dame
With honest name
Who knew no shame.
Her cares were light
And smile was bright
And scruples right.

She felt hurt
And tore my shirt
And threw much dirt.

When I felt of her wooden leg
And asked her why they called her
"Peg."

BEWILDERMENT.

Sometimes I wonder if my vagrant thought
Shall ever stray to sweet first-fruits of toil,
Or whether, wandering with my mind
upwrought,
I'll ever find but acme of turmoil.

From roaring, raging waters shipwrecked souls
Uplifted white hands foam-framed from the deep:
Then all is calm, but in the depths
below,
Still-tortured souls drift to eternal sleep.

And ultimately,—why not now—the world
Will leave me to oblivion and go on
To destinations strange, so why contend,
Soul-seared with sadness from the setting sun.

Ah, there's no hope, beloved! Life without a breath
Or ghastly murmur passes thru' the throes of death
To sink serenely to the gleaming, shark-sulled sand.
Whence no one tracks nor turns again.

MID-WINTER ROMANCE (?)

Close by my side, astonishingly close walked one whom I admired so much, too much, I feared. He turned his head suddenly to whisper a soft something, interesting and eager in my ear, and I saw that his features outlined those of Apollo. Instantly my heart thumped and my pulses surged realizing that at least for tonight he could be said to be mine, all mine. Were we two not alone? and this unearthly hour and moonlight—
Then I giggled softly, but only an excited, rasping, rattling sound issued forth, so that I caught breath to withdraw the disturbance. But it was rather amusing the thought of Apollo whom I'd so often read about now actually so very near. And for the next half hour Apollo dominated my thoughts and I mused upon the person whose Grecian physique and Aquila profile had won such admiration. Basil was this person's cogno-

CLASS ELECTIONS.

The selections of the members of the new council from each of the four classes is to take place soon. The interest the students are taking in the affairs shows about as much enthusiasm as a jellyfish would show. Students are going casually on their way without a thought as to the importance of the selections of the council members.

The new council is of importance to every student in the University. It shows a revived interest in student government, and its purpose is a valuable one to the students in the University. The student council will now be an active voice rather than a passive voice. It will have meetings and discussions. Problems will be taken up by a group of representative students from each class.

Representative students? Perhaps—if the student body gives the thought some serious consideration. The position of the students on the council is not wholly an honorary position. There is naturally some honor connected with it, but it is also work. Not just a little work, but lots of work.

It is the duty of each member of each class to show some interest in the selection of the council members from his class. Place students on the council who are capable students—students who are willing to work and to be of some use to the student body of the University.

Texas Poetess Speaks to Group

Mrs. Harris Is Winner of Texas Poetry Society Award

Mrs. Hazel Harper Harris of San Antonio, winner of the 1930 Book Publication award of the Texas Poetry Society, read some of her poems to the 9 o'clock English classes of Dr. Herbert L. Hughes and Miss Mabel Major last Friday.

Mrs. Harris gave some points on color in poetry and in the writing of poetry, and illustrated these points with her own poems.

"Wings of Morning," the volume which won the prize, was chosen from twenty-seven manuscripts which were submitted. The book is divided into four divisions: Love, home things, Texas things, and miscellaneous things. For the most part the poetry is of the pleasant, lyrical type of poetry typical of the Texas writers.

Mrs. Harris has had poems published in the New York Times, Christian Science Monitor, Country Gentleman, The Dallas News and several magazines.

Capt. John Noel Presents Lecture

Motion Pictures, Slides Shown of Trip to Mt. Everest.

Illustrated slides and motion pictures accompanied the lecture given by Capt. John Noel in the University auditorium Thursday night, Feb. 12, on "The Epic of Mt. Everest."

Capt. Noel, soldier, author and explorer, took his audience on a journey through parts of India, into the forbidden country of Tibet, through his pictures. Many interesting character studies of the people of Tibet, the tropical forests and plant life of the country were shown.

"One thing that the climbers realized," Noel said, "was the power, beauty and strength of nature and the mere insignificance of man." The climbing of the huge ice sheets is a complicated organization, he said, and its success depends entirely on good luck.

The expedition to Mt. Everest, of which Noel was the official photographer, was sent out by the Royal Geographic Society of London.

SOCIETY

By VIRGINIA LOU SAUNDERS

Campus life at the University was astir this week with a number of prominent social events commemorating the birthday of George Washington. The red, white and blue motif was carried out at most of the parties, dinners and banquets, chief among which was the annual sophomore banquet held Wednesday evening at the Woman's Club. The latter affair was attended by 50 members of the class.

Numerous parties were in session during the week, and a large number of students had the privilege of attending the operas in Dallas Tuesday and Wednesday nights.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Walker, former students in the University, who were married in Amarillo last Saturday, visited their many friends on the campus the first of the week. They are spending their honeymoon in Fort Worth and Cleburne. Mrs. Walker is the former Miss Betty Mathis of Amarillo, while Mr. Walker will be remembered as a former football and baseball star in the University. They will make their home in Amarillo after this week.

Miss McLaughlin Is Entertained

Misses Floy Edmondson and Eloise Whitfield honored Miss Margaret McLaughlin, who will leave soon to make her home in Eastland, when they entertained with a bridge supper Saturday night at the home of the former on University Drive. Valentine decorations were carried out in the table appointments, the centerpiece being a bowl of red sweet peas. The dessert course of heart-shaped cakes and moulded ices further carried out the motif.

Miss McLaughlin was presented with a shower of lingerie, and also was given the high score bridge prize, won by Miss Ruth Sullivan, and the low score prize, won by Miss Harriet Sandiego.

Others attending were Misses Lenore Ayers, Linnie Doris Robertson, Jerry Brown, Mary Lloyd Garnett, Annabel Goldthwaite, Thelma Lavender, Eloise Barksdale, Mary Lucille Hatheway, Lettie Bell Wills, and Mrs. T. E. Bennett.

Miss McLaughlin was also honored Sunday night at the home of Miss Goldthwaite with a waffle supper.

Outcast Club Has Valentine Party

The Valentine motif was carried out in the Outcast Club party given Saturday evening by Miss Pearl Decker at the home of Mrs. Frank Taylor, 1820 South Henderson Street.

A treasure hunt was one of the features of the party. The guests were given clues which finally led to the dining room where they received their "treasures."

The table which was laid with a lace cloth was centered with a large heart-shaped cake. Tall red tapers burned at each end of the table. Red silk streamers from the cake marked the places of the guests, where their fortunes were placed.

Approximately 20 members attended the party.

Mrs. Cahoon Honors Opera Members

Miss Constance Eberhart, prima donna with the Chicago Civic Opera Company, and Miss Harriet Lundgren, premiere danseuse of the company, were the honor guests at a tea given by Mrs. Helen Fouts Cahoon in her studio at Bush Temple, Dallas, Thursday afternoon.

Members of Sigma Alpha Iota, national music sorority of which Mrs. Cahoon is a member, as is Miss Eberhart, assisted Mrs. Cahoon.

Mrs. Ben Landsman, Mrs. Stanza Bitterl and Miss Julia Barashkova, of the Chicago Civic Opera Company and former pupils of Mrs. Cahoon in Chicago, attended the tea. They studied under Mrs. Cahoon while in Dallas.

Miss Jenkins Is Luncheon Hostess

A Valentine luncheon of four courses was served Thursday, Feb. 12, by Miss Ruth Jenkins. The luncheon was carried out in a color scheme of red and white, red sweet peas being used as a table center.

This luncheon was the last of a series being served by a class in meal preparation and table service, taught by Mrs. Fred Scott, of the home economics department. A series of formal dinners, to which members of the faculty are invited, will begin Feb. 26. Miss Gladys Dowling will be hostess at the first dinner.

Miss Jenkins' guests were Misses Bennie Sue Ratliff, Fanna Mae Flowers, Eufalia Whitefield, Lollie Betts and Maxine Edwards.

Dr. Henry D. Guelick, head of the School of Fine Arts, discussed the stories of the operas "Mignon" and "Die Walkure" Tuesday night at the home of Mrs. Helen Fouts Cahoon, 3121 Wabash Street.

Mrs. Cahoon and David Scoular sang "Light Flitting Birds" from "Mignon" and Miss Annabel Hall sang "Dost Thou Know That Fair Land," from the same opera. J. J. Patterson sang several baritone solos from "Die Walkure." Other numbers from the operas were played from records.

A new ruling that the Scholarship Society would not award keys to its members until they were made permanent members was passed at the meeting of the society Tuesday night in the Brite College clubroom. By the new ruling, members will not be given keys until after their graduation.

The general theme of graduate universities was carried out in the program. Three phases of graduate study was discussed. Dr. John Lord talked on graduate work in political science, Dr. J. L. Whitman on graduate work in natural science and Dr. Herbert Hughes on graduate work in English.

Miss Ruth Johnson entertained the society with a piano solo, "Evening Star," from Wagner's "Tannhauser."

About twenty members attended the meeting.

Washington's Birthday, Feb. 22, One of Most Famous on Calendar

The birthday of George Washington was celebrated by our forefathers with thanksgiving and rejoicing before the death of Washington. He had the satisfaction of receiving the congratulations of his fellow-citizens many times upon the return of his birthday, frequently attending banquets given in his honor. After the Revolutionary War, Washington's birthday took the place of the birthdays of the various crowned heads of Great Britain, which had always been celebrated with enthusiasm during colonial times. When independence was established, all these royal birthdays were cast aside, and the birthday of Washington became one of the most conspicuous in the calendar of America's holidays.

The first recorded mention of a celebration of the birthday of Washington is said to be in the Virginia Gazette or "The American Advertiser" of Richmond. The account was: "Tuesday last being the birthday of his Excellency General Washington, our illustrious commander-in-chief, the same was commemorated here with the utmost demonstrations of joy." Feb. 11, 1782, was the day that was celebrated when the Old Style calendar was used. The stone placed as late as 1815 on the site of his birthplace in Westmoreland County, Virginia, had the following inscription: "Here, the 11th of February, 1732, George Washington was born." In 1784 many places including New York City celebrated Washington's birthday. The people of Richmond, Va., entertained with a ball in the Capitol Building. As late as 1796 Kentucky and Virginia persisted in using the old calendar in celebrating the birth of Washington. There is a record giving evidence that in 1790 the Tammany Society of New York celebrated the day on February 22. At that time Washington lived in the lower part of Broadway, a few doors below the Trinity Church. It was the last year that New York was the capital of the United States.

The Revolutionary officers of the First Brigade of the Pennsylvania militia and other patriotic people gave banquets celebrating the occasion. At all these banquets it was customary to give as many toasts as there were states in the Union. Just when the custom died out can not be definitely determined but probably the rapid increase of the states may have had an influence on it, as the diners probably saw that it was taxing their drinking abilities too heavily with the addition of each new state.

Balls and banquets were the outstanding methods of celebrating the day. There was scarcely a town so small that it could not manage to have at least one entertainment to honor George Washington. The early newspapers for a month or more after Feb. 22 give brief accounts of these celebrations from different localities.

Responsibility of Family to Be Undertaken by Students

Responsibility of a family is a man sized job that only the brave will tackle. However, this is the duty that eight T. C. U. students are undertaking. The care of the members of a family, to aid them in all their economic, social, physical, and mental problems, will be the lot of the students in Prof. Paul Baker's class in social case work this semester.

Until this year, students of case work accompanied various of the city's social workers on visits, observing their methods, but not undertaking any actual work themselves. This year Mrs. E. K. Stivers of the Fort Worth welfare department has been put in charge of all the students and each is to have a "case" of his own. The work consists of making a call on the family each week and providing them with money, supplied by the city, for food, clothes or rent that they cannot obtain themselves. The worker is also depended on to straighten out all difficulties, from prevailing on a deserting husband to return to his family to giving a cow a dose of soda.

According to Prof. Baker, many interesting and tragic conditions, about which a college student has little opportunity of knowing, are being discovered by the class. Students are beginning to perceive the reality of the old saying, "Truth is stranger than fiction," as they come in contact with almost unbelievable situations.

Members of the class are: Misses Vera Bell Stephenson; Marrene Britton, Sylvia Smith and Zeda Fowler, and Chester Crow, Oliver Harrison, Edward Mace and Glen La Due.

COULTER'S COLUMN

Dear Coulter:

Even if you don't have such good advice you do have a good idea once in a while. I believe that people should think twice as you said last week. My problem is not a very serious one since it is a case of where I want friendship instead of love.

I live in the dormitory and am from a small town outside of Fort Worth. Last summer when I came here to school I was really in love with a boy, but when I went home for the holidays, I found that I didn't care anything about him any longer.

I felt awfully funny when I was around him because I knew that he loved me. I don't know why things happened like they did but they happened like that. I told him that I didn't care for him after trying to keep it from him. He knew that there must be something wrong because of the way I acted, so I just had to tell him. I think it is best that I did tell him for now he can try to forget me and get some other girl to take my place.

Can you tell me how I can keep his friendship, because I still like the boy? I don't know just how to act toward him for I do feel sorry for him and yet there is nothing that I can do about it. Sincerely, GEM.

Time will be the only factor that can help you in gaining this boy as a friend. He will keep on hoping that you will finally change your mind about him until some other girl comes into his liking and then for a time he will look back over your affair and imagine that he was kind of a fool for doing some things that he did.

When that condition wears off he will again be a friend to you, but I'm afraid that as long as he still thinks of you as a lover he cannot be your friend. Someone has said that a girl and boy cannot be friends, and that they were either in love or not in love. This is really not true for some of the best friendships have been between boys and girls. They seem to have a respect for each other and each other's thoughts and beliefs and, if any one tries to break these beliefs or ideals, both friends will stick up for one another.

A friendship between a boy and a girl is really a thing to be admired for it is one that is clean in every respect—that is, there is no smutty stories told between them to cloud their minds and other such things that a boy might say to a boy or a group of girls might tell while they are alone.

Keep on writing this boy for he really looks for your letters, even though he knows how you feel. In time he will learn to write a letter to you as though you were always just friends to each other and that nothing has ever marred that friendship.

Don't feel sorry for the boy. It's one of those things that just happen and it's a good thing that you found that you didn't love him before it was too late. Sometimes a boy or girl will go through life without ever forgetting, but in this modern day with so many contacts with other people sooner or later things will be just a memory.

Be careful what you do or say toward him and sometime he will look back on your affair with no regrets and once again you can just

Frogs Stay in Southwest Chase By Defeating Aggies 34 to 32 And Downing Longhorns 41 to 36

Doc Sumner Is Hero of Cadet Battle With Winning Goal—Dietzel's 26 Points Against Texas Ties Record.

The Texas Christian Horned Frogs met two state institutions during the last week of play and turned both back in defeat. Last Friday night the Aggie cagers met the Frogs on the Christian fieldhouse floor and were defeated 34 to 32. Tuesday night the Purple journeyed to Austin to defeat the Water quintet 41 to 36.

Sumner Shines Against Aggies
"Doc" Sumner was the whole show against the Aggie crew. He scored 16 points and tied the score in the closing minute of play with a spectacular circus shot to keep the Frogs in the running for the Southwest championship. The Schmidtnen played a fast game in the opening half to pile up a 22-to-13 lead. Then the Aggies came back strong to demand a tied score and later a five-point lead. The Cadets then attempted to stall, but it was their downfall. The Frogs were forced to come out after the ball and Dietzel cut the Aggie lead with a field goal. Green made a foul shot, and "Too Tall" again looped a goal from the field to tie the game. It was at this point that Sumner, the brilliant Purple forward, sank the shot that spelled defeat for the Farmers.

Dietzel Ties Conference Record
"Too Tall" was the big-shot of the Longhorn battle. He scored 26 points to equal the conference high point record held by Schoonover, formerly of Arkansas. The tall Dutchman made 10 goals from the field and dropped six foul shots through the meshes.

The Longhorns played the Frogs on even terms up to within five minutes of the end of the game. At this point the score was 37-to-36 in favor of the Purple. Then Dietzel scored two points on foul shots and Sumner sneaked through the Orange defense to sink a crisp shot.

Hoke and Fomby Stand Out
The opposing captains were the stars against the Purple in both encounters. Captain Hoke of the Aggies made 8 points and was all over the floor on the defense. Veltman and Beard, both guards, played smooth games for the Farmers. Captain Fomby, Elkins and Price split the honors for the Longhorns.

SPORT WAVES

By JACK BELZNER.

Coach Schmidt received announcement Monday of his appointment as a member of the American Football Coaches' Association membership committee. Other members of the group are: Harry G. Kippe, Michigan, chairman; Lewis L. Manly, Tufts College; S. L. Robinson, Mississippi College; G. Killinger, Reseller Poly; O. M. Solem, Drake, and H. W. Hughes, Colorado Aggies.

It is a great honor to become a member of this body. Only a select few throughout a nation of several thousand football teams can be so honored. We wish to congratulate Coach Schmidt. We are proud to have such an outstanding coach handling the destinies of our football and basketball teams.

According to Schmidt, the coaches of the Southwest Conference schools will select an official basketball team. The idea was first carried out during the past football season and met with great approval throughout the loop. The Horned Frog mentor is secretary of the Southwest Coaches' Association and already has sent inquiries to the other coaches in regard to the first and second teams.

"Bear" Wolf, Purple line coach and freshman baseball tutor, signed a contract to play with the Peoria, Ill., club of the Three I League. He will not report until May since he will be held here until the close of the fresh diamond season. It will be his first appearance as a professional baseball player in three years. He has been kept on the sidelines due to a bad knee. "Bear" believes that it has entirely healed and will give him no more trouble.

A lot will be heard from "Dutch" Meyer during the next few months. He is now working out daily with his diamond artists and has prospects of placing a good team in the loop race. He has been refereeing conference basketball games all year in basketball and has been termed the most efficient official in the league. He has also earned the same reputation on the Southwest grids.

Coach Clark's hopes were definitely quelled this week. It was learned that "Red" Oliver would not be permitted to compete on the cinder paths this season. This breaks up a combination of Oliver, Leland, Houser and Nugent that would have gone far towards a record in the 400-yard dash. Plans had already been made to enter the team in some of largest meets of the year.

Hopes were high for the greatest track team ever to be produced at T. C. U., but in the opinion of many there will be little to look forward to. It is true that Oliver was a leader in the hurdle events and only a split-second behind Leland in the dashes, but still the Purple will have the best balanced thinly-clad squad to be turned out in several years. Three letter men will be back for the field events and three will be back to compete on the cinders. A host of sophomores and reserve men of last year's squad will round out the roster.

More than $30,726.72 is spent by Texas Christian students toward sporting goods each year. The men of the University spend $1,502.28 for miscellaneous sporting items, $7,190.40 for knickers and $2,426.70 for bathing suits. The women spend $13,369.44 for miscellaneous items, $1,785.36 for sport clothes and $4,442.64 for bathing suits. This gives no account of the vast amount of sport supplies bought annually by the University in order to clothe its football, basketball, baseball, tennis and track participants.

Atkins Featured In NEA Service

Article and Picture Is Carried in Issues of Feb. 7.

Nationwide publicity was given Noble Atkins on Feb. 7 through the Newspaper Enterprise Association. The Association is a syndicate of feature articles and pictures. These syndicated articles appear from coast to coast and appear in the Fort Worth Press in this city.

The story that was carried with the picture of Texas Christian's all-around athlete stated "When nominations are in order for the best all-around college athlete in the Southwest, practically all of North Texas will rise and shout 'Noble Atkins of Texas Christian!'"

Atkins has won three football letters two basketball letters (not counting this year), and has pitched on the baseball team. He is the first Horned Frog athlete to captain the football and basketball teams in the same year.

Atkins was practically a unanimous choice for center on the All-Southwest Conference teams named last fall. He won the third team center berth in the NEA Service All-American awards. He climaxed his football career by participating in the East-West contest in San Francisco last December, and in the New Year's contest in Dallas between Midwest and Southwest all-stars.

Last year Atkins was a popular choice for all-conference basketball guard. He was the high scoring guard in the conference.

Frosh '5' Closes Gap in City Race

Wogs Tighten Chase By Defeating Oilers 33 to 28.

Coach Dutch Meyer's Polliwogs still have a chance to tie the Major City League into a knot after defeating the Texas Pacific Oilers Tuesday night 33 to 28 in a close contest. To be able to throw the league into a tie, the Polliwogs must win their contest with the Tivoli Theater quintet and defeat the Springtown five in a game that was postponed from the Christmas holidays. If the Wogs lose either of the two remaining games on their schedule they will not be able to tie for first place.

In the contest with the Oilers, the Wogs came from behind after Richardson, Oiler forward, sank a field goal less than 30 seconds after the game started. Perkins and Carpenter sank free shots to tie the score, but the Oilers gained a big lead when Scott and G. Carter sank long field goals, closely followed by B. Carter's long shot with a couple of charity shots thrown in.

Coach Meyer shifted his squad around, then the Polliwogs hit their stride, and after Meyers tied the count, Perkins and Kizy sank long shots that gave the Wogs a four point margin at the half.

In the second half the Meyermen went on a scoring spree and amassed a total of 10 points while the Oilers sank one free shot. The Wogs started a stalling game and the Oilers came within two points knotting the count. The Wogs went on another scoring spree and scored five points while the Oilers scored one field goal.

Tennis Team to Work Out Soon

Three Vets to Return—Seasoned Sophs to Aid Lettermen.

Texas Christian tennis candidates will report for practice within the next few days, according to Prof. E. W. McDiarmid, coach. "Prospects for a winning tennis team are brighter this year than ever before," is the statement issued by the net tutor.

Capt. John McDiarmid and Noel Roberts are the lettermen who will return. McDiarmid is playing his third year for the Horned Frogs and Roberts will be trying for his second letter. The team is somewhat handicapped due to the loss of Charles Ewell who was number two man for the last two years.

James Wolfenden, a veteran of the last two years, will also be out for the team. Walsh, Smith and Williams are sophomores who will be out for the squad. Walsh was intramural singles champion last year and played on the freshman team with Williams. Smith did not compete under the first-year colors but made a creditable showing in high school circles two years ago. He has also pleased high in the amateur tournaments throughout the state in the last few years.

The Frogs will meet five conference rivals this spring. Texas, Baylor, A. & M. and S. M. U. will all meet the Christians in Fort Worth and the Frogs will journey to Houston to play the Rice Owls. Oklahoma and Drake Universities are also on the schedule and several other matches will be carded.

Sophs Due to Repeat Last Year Intramural Champs Are in Lead for Trophy.

The sophomores, last year's winner of the class intramural shield for the class winning the highest number of points, are now leading their closest rival for this same honor by 20 points. They are in the lead with 50 points, and their nearest rival, the frosh, have 30 points.

The juniors have a good chance for the basketball title, and should they win they would be in the lead for the shield. Should they win the championship they will gain a total of 24 points more toward the winning of the shield.

Following is the list of the classes and the number of points each has. Sophomores, 50 points; juniors, 27 points; frosh, 30 points; and seniors, 10 points.

Ashley Wins Handball Singles

The intramural handball singles championship was won by David Ashley, senior. Bill Bryant won second place, and Howard Walsh and Roland Hall are tied for third place. They are to play off the tie sometime this week.

"Family Day" to Be at Church

Four Veterans To Be Nucleus For Meyer Nine

19 Men Answer Initial Call for Spring Practice.

PITCHING STAFF IS WEAK

Additional Players Expected to Report After Basketball Season Closes.

Nineteen men, only four of whom are lettermen from the brilliant 1930 team, reported Monday for spring baseball practice as Coach Dutch Meyer inaugurated the 1931 training season.

Led by Capt. Hal Wright, fleet center fielder; Howard Carrell, second baseman; Grassy Hinton, right fielder, and Jay Williams, catcher, all that remain of the fifteen 1930 lettermen, the entire squad is being whipped into shape by the doughty little coach who last season produced the greatest nine in the University's history.

Batting Practice Started
Round after round of "pepper" games, general limbering-up exercises and leaps around the field were the order for the day up until Wednesday, when the squad took its first batting drills. Meyer, a devout exponent of long batting practices, will emphasize that phase every afternoon.

A real problem faces the Christian mentor this season. The loss of three ace pitchers, two catchers, his first baseman, third baseman, shortstop and one outfielder, leaves him with the task of building almost a complete new combination. Meyer's hardest problem is finding a pitching staff which can hope to cope with conference batmen.

19 Candidates Report
The nineteen candidates who are out for the 1931 team are: J. W. Townsend, Wendell Schuler, pitchers; Jay Williams, Harry Gillum and James O'Brien, catchers; John Histine, first base; Howard Carrell, second base; Howard Baxter, Johnny Clark, W. L. Carrell and John Jarrott, third basemen; Paul Snow and Cy Miller, shortstops; Hal Wright, Grassy Hinton, Guy King, Madison Pruitt, Vance Woolwine and Hubert Dennis, outfielders.

The squad will increase to approximately 25 men at the close of the basketball campaign.
