Band Plays at Casino Tonight

Chamber of Commerce to Take Musicians to Lubbock.

At the formal opening of the Casino at Lake Worth tonight the Horned Frog Band will play an hour concert beginning at 7:30 o'clock on the boardwalk, under the direction of Prof. Claude Sammis.

Members of the band and their dates will be guests of the officials of the Casino at the season's opening program after the concert. The Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring several entertainments Friday night on the boardwalk.
Solo and free dances will mark the program on the dance floor. The Casino will be open every night after Friday night. Pre-opening programs have been in progress for the last three week-ends.

The band will make a trip to Lubbock May 14, it was announced yesterday by the Chamber of Commerce, who is sponsoring the trip to the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention. An extension of the special train to make a tour to the Carlsbad Caverns and other parts of New Mexico is being planned. If this trip is realized, the band will be gone from the campus five days.
Two years ago the band was taken to El Paso in October to the convention. Every member of the organization was able to make the trip after a midnight matinee was given to raise money for 16 men other than the 32 that the Chamber of Commerce took. In May, last year, the band went to the convention in Abilene.

'Tell It to the Judge' Joke on Band President

These band boys are getting worse and worse! One day last week the noon day crowd in the front hall of the main building was dumfounded at the sight of the dignified president of the T. C. U. band being marched toward the door between two husky gentlemen in the uniforms of Fort Worth policemen.

Having been spared the embarrassment of handcuffs, he marched bravely with uplifted chin until Sammie Frankrich approached to take a sad farewell. "Well, so long old man," he said, taking his hand in a parting clasp.

Amid tongue wagging and much neck stretching the now crestfallen dignitary was led out of the building. He had been seized upon with such force that he had time to no more than ask a hasty explanation of such outrageous treatment. The belligerent coppers, having demanded if he went on the Marlin trip (oh yes, we heard all about that trip) pinched him "in the name of the law" for speeding on the way to the train.

Shades of Major Seagrave! He could feel his pocketbook diminishing. Voices were shouting "That's the man!" Even Prof. Sammis, whom he had thought was his friend, had turned against him. Well it was no use resisting, someone might get hurt. So he decided to "tell it to the judge."

Once outside the officers grinned and said, "We don't want you" and left him standing amazed but relieved. Upon re-entering the building he found the jovial "professor" awaiting him with outstretched arms. It had all been a joke on his "beloved pupil."

Heavens! What will they do next?

Prof. Claude Sammis is the musical director for the operetta. The T. C. U. orchestra will play the accompaniment for the presentation, with Miss Heyer as pianist.

Those who will take part on the program are: Misses Bita May Hall, Annabel Hall, Elizabeth Strayhorn, Mota Maye Shaw, Madeleine Wilson, Elizabeth Worley, Helen Clark, Wilma Spratt, Betty Mercey, Leta Luyster, Betty Blankenship, Clara Manning, Ruby Williams, Mary Louise Gilliam, Dorothy Trostman and Hannah Ann House and Mrs. H. Gordon Hargett and Mrs. Eglantine Glasgow.

Juniors who are interested in applying for the scholarship offered for 1931-32 by the Northwestern National Life Insurance Co. should secure an application blank from Prof. J. W. Ballard in the business administration office.

The scholarship of $250 will be awarded some junior boy interested in the field of life insurance. It requires the student to do two hours of research work each day. The final date for all applications will be May 15. The award will be announced commencement week.

156 Seniors Are Candidates for Degrees in June

B.B.A. Department Has Largest Number of Applicants.

26 ARE ENGLISH MAJORS

15 Have Chosen Work in Music, 16 in Foreign Languages, 15 in History.

One hundred and fifty-six seniors are candidates for degrees in June through work in 17 subjects, according to an announcement from the registrar's office. The list of majors of students in the senior class was compiled last week together with the total number of points of each student and the total number of hours toward degrees.

Thirty-one seniors have chosen work in the business administration department for their majors to lead all other subjects chosen.

English carries off second honors with 26 majors listed in this department. Sixteen are majoring in foreign languages, and history and music department seniors follow with 15 each.

Nine Majors in Sociology

Nine are majoring in sociology, eight in economics, seven in biology and geology, six in chemistry, five each in government and education, three each in journalism and public speaking, two each in philosophy, psychology and physical education, and one senior is majoring in mathematics. No majors are listed in home economics, Latin, physics and Bible.

The total number of points accrued is 47943.6 and the total number of hours made is 18046.9. The index number is 2.66 for the class.

To graduate, each student must average a C grade which has an index number of 2. Points are given as follows: A is equal to 4, B is equal to 3, C is equal to 2, D is equal to 1, and F is equal to 0. Before this year, a student could make 120 points and graduate, but beginning this year the making of an average of C in all work went into effect. When making the average, the F grade is also averaged with the others.

Exercises to Be May 30-June 1

The program for the seniors includes the class day exercises May 30, the baccalaureate sermon May 31, and the commencement exercises June 1. Governor Ross Sterling has been invited by the Board of Trustees to deliver the commencement address, but whether he will accept the invitation has not been decided.

Faculty Men to Make Addresses

Four Will Speak for School Graduation Exercises.

The following engagements have been made by faculty members to deliver commencement address and to preach baccalaureate sermons for various high schools in Texas: President E. M. Waits, sermon at Bowie High School, May 17, sermon at Celeste High School, May 24; Dean Colby D. Hall, sermon at Jacksboro High School, May 17, commencement address at Avalon High School, May 22, commencement address at East Texas State Teachers' College at Commerce, May 29.

Dr. John Lord, commencement address at Morgan High School, May 14, commencement address at Arlington High School, May 20, commencement address at Graford High School May 27, commencement address at Troy High School, May 28, baccalaureate sermon at Whitespur High School, May 17. Dr. Edwin A. Elliott, commencement address at Mineral Wells High School May 22.

Odor of Cooking Leads Boys to Kitchen Portal

Boys in the university could profit greatly by the simple, (or is it so simple?) means of "playing up" to the girls who are majoring in the fine art of cooking.

These girls learn how to do everything from acting as hostess, preparing menus, and cooking, down to waiting on the tables, and acting as chief cook and bottle washer.

At the present time the seniors in the department are engaged in the task of supervising a luncheon and acting as hostess to five of their friends. They have complete charge of the menu, and are assisted by the other girls in the department who act as cooks, maids, or what have you? The luncheons are carried out with all of the completeness of any up-to-date hostess might offer. They are held in the dining room adjoining the cooking room on the third floor of the main building. The majority of the students can easily find this place by merely following their noses up the three flights of stairs.

Several of the young men about the campus can be seen loitering around the hall just outside of the kitchen door about the noon hour, and the girls usually take pity and hand out some of the food to them. Jo Brice Wilmett seems to have made a record for this "loitering act." The girls in the department have checked up and found that for six years he has been ready and waiting at approximately 12 o'clock every day at the kitchen door. This is a good way for the poor working boy to provide his "board."

The students in the department seem to enjoy their work, and all say they realize the practicability of it more each day. It is indeed practical and a great success. It can be verified by the fact that the one writing this story just came from one of the luncheons, and they are "delicious and refreshing."

"American Mother Is Greatest Source of Country's Strength"

"The service rendered the United States by the American mother is the greatest source of the country's strength and inspiration; we honor ourselves and the mothers of America when we do anything to give emphasis to the home as the fountain head of the State; and the American mother is doing so much for the home, the moral uplift, and religion, hence so much for good government and for humanity," was former President Woodrow Wilson's decree when he issued a proclamation directing the government officials to display the United States flag on all government buildings, and inviting the people to display the flag at their homes or other suitable places, on the second Sunday in May as "a public expression of our love and reverence for the mothers of our country."

Mother's Day has been set aside as the result of the joint resolution of Congress approved May 8, 1914. Since that time the day has been held in reverence for those who brought us into this world and has spread throughout the entire country into the smallest village.

Cadman Arrives For Rehearsals Of 'Sunset Trail'

Operatic Cantata to Be Fort Worth's Part in Music Week.

TO BE GIVEN ON MAY 9

Pageant Will Be Given Under Direction of Mrs. Helen Walker Murphy.

Charles Wakefield Cadman, America's foremost composer-pianist, arrived in Fort Worth Wednesday to conduct the final rehearsals and the public presentation of his operatic cantata, "The Sunset Trail," which will be given in the T. C. U. stadium May 9. "The Sunset Trail" is Fort Worth's contribution to the observance of National Music Week.

Pageant Directed by Mrs. Murphy

The T. C. U. chorus will assist the civic chorus in the presentation of the cantata. The orchestra members will join with the Fort Worth Symphony Orchestra in providing the orchestral accompaniment. The pageant will be given by students from the physical training department, under the direction of Mrs. Helen Walker Murphy.

Mr. Cadman will be presented in a benefit concert tonight at the Central High School auditorium. The concert is being sponsored by the Mothers' Council and music department of the Fort Worth public schools. Mrs. Helen Fouts Cahoon will sing two groups of songs on the program.

Mr. Cadman Is Indian Music Authority

Among the works of Mr. Cadman are four grand operas, several orchestra works, cantatas, song cycles, choral works and pieces for violin, piano and organ. He has become particularly well-known in the field of Indian music, being an authority on American Indian folksong. He has lived among the Omaha Indians in Nebraska, and has become familiar with their ceremonial songs and flageolet love calls.

During his visit in Fort Worth, Mr. Cadman will live on the hill. He will be the guest-teacher of Mrs. Cahoon.

Nephew of Dr. Combs Is Visitor

Leroy Combs, senior in the University of Kentucky at Lexington, en route to El Paso because of ill health spent last week in Fort Worth with his uncle, Dr. Josiah Combs. He was in his first year in the School of Law and is a pledge to Phi Delta Phi, international legal fraternity. He is also a member of Phi Sigma Kappa, social fraternity.

"American Mother Is Greatest Source of Country's Strength"

is the custom to wear on that day either a red or white flower, a red one for the living mother, and a white one in memory of one dead. But as President Coolidge once said, "The letter home, the songs, recitations, school and church exercises, while simple, help to make us remember the everyday things we are in danger of forgetting, and are more cherished by the mothers."

The wearing of a white carnation first began in memory of our martyred president, William McKinley, who always wore this favorite flower in honor of his mother. The beginning of Mother's Day in America was at a Philadelphia Sunday School, which set aside a special day in honor of mothers.

Although the idea of Mother's Day is, quite new in the United States, mother love is older than the Christian faith. Rhea, the "great mother of the gods," was worshipped as were other Greek and Roman goddesses. The Virgin Mary became the "Mother" of the Roman Catholic faith.

VOTE.

Every student should make it a point to vote for the student body officers. The race will be a close one. The candidates for the office of president of the student body are both splendid and capable men. Many students will have difficulty in choosing between the two because each is well qualified for the office.

Because of the fact that the winning candidate will receive the office by only a small number of votes over his opponent, the students should make an effort to cast their ballot. Even though the seniors will not be here next year to participate in the student body activities, they should be interested enough in the University to vote for the candidate that they think will make the better officer.

Now is the time for the selecting of the student body president—next year is too late, for he will already be elected. If each student votes he can feel that he has done his part in trying to place the best candidate in office.

BUG HUNTING.

Bugs, beware! There is an army of students making biology collections. The insects are now at the mercy of the net, bottle and gasoline. One of the greatest disappointments to the collector is to open the box containing the insects and find that the most prized bug has his antennae broken off. There is only one thing to do—glue the antennae back in the proper place for another such specimen could not be found. While the gluing is in process precaution should be taken not to break the legs or wings of the other victims.

One of the saddest lessons that biology experience teaches the girls is in the collecting of butterflies. After a girl spends many hours in catching a butterfly, her first thought is to kill it before it breaks its wings. She knows nothing of killing insects and this is the first of her collection. She has the bottle one-third full of gasoline and puts the butterfly into the bottle. Her grief is great when she discovers that the wings of the specimen are utterly ruined by the dry cleaning, although the insect is dead.

Bug hunting brings blistered and sunburned faces from the sun, and stung fingers from the bugs. With all its hardships, bug hunting is one of the most enjoyable of the requirements of the University.

A WISE CHOICE.

The senior class made a wise choice in selecting a student loan fund as a gift to the University. It is better that the money given be placed where it will aid students who wish a degree than for it to be sunk in rock, concrete or bronze that will mar the beauty of the campus.

The loan fund is a lasting gift. Such things as sidewalks, monuments or ornaments for the campus will soon crack and deteriorate. If each class presents a gift for the campus, the campus will soon be crowded with gifts.

The senior class has not attempted something that is too large an undertaking. The gift will not work a hardship upon the seniors and will aid other students. The loan fund is more valuable to the University and the students than any other one thing the senior class could have given. By this gift the senior class will make it possible for students to attend the University next year and the years to come who otherwise would not have the opportunity to finish their work in the University.

$5 FOR NOISE.

The city of Fort Worth has taken at least a portion of its law seriously, and is fining its self-centered horn blowers $5 for the use of rasping automobile sounding devices or the needless use of any motor horn.

There are certain people in every city who are so insignificant that they have to put a Packard horn on a Ford car to attract people's attention. Otherwise they would not be noticed. These insignificant who broadcast themselves to the world are a menace to society because the devices they use are not sounds of warning.

These insignificant are not lacking on the campus. It is easy to walk across University Drive and have one of the shrieking horns blare at you and cause you to run for your life. It would be a commendable thing if the city of Fort Worth, in doing away with the unnecessary horns on the downtown streets, would extend their campaign to the campus and extricate all pests who make life miserable for those who have to cross the street during the course of the day.

SWAPPING HORSES.

Never before has the task of selecting student leaders been so great, so all-important as this year. We are charged with the responsibility of putting such men and women into our offices as are super-endowed with qualities of leadership, chief among which is the gaining of confidence and co-operation of every member of the student body.

Our University has come to be recognized as one of the outstanding schools in the Southwest. This has come about through the success of the athletic department in building those types of teams that are feared and respected by opponents; it has come about, too, through a commendable rise in the University's scholastic ranking. Both athletically and scholastically Texas Christian University ranks with the best in the Southwest.

The work of Barrett, Dacus and Miss Jarvis, student body officers of this year, has been of excellent quality. These have helped materially in putting the University near the top. These have set a precedent that should be a goal toward which next year's officers should steer.

Don't be a slacker when the election comes. It is the duty of every member of our great student body to vote for the candidates of their choice the first week in May. Regardless of the size of the army, it would be lost without the leadership of efficient officers.

COULTER'S COLUMN

Thoughts while thinking: A. H. Montford's vocabulary . . . The fellows who think that it's great to be called on the jury. . . The people who listen in on your conversations on party phones . . . Mary Lee Poindexter sitting with her hands under her chin in psychology class . . . abnormal. . . Wonder how fat some of the girls will get when the tax goes in effect in regard to cigarettes. . . Some of the girls in Jarvis are getting corns on their fingers dialing the radio. . . The continual torn-up condition of the streets in Fort Worth. . . Frank McMorde at the Casino. . . Wonder if Perry Sandifer's mustache grew too hot . . . anyway he has cut it off (this is for the benefit of the girls who did not know the fact).

Gwendolyn Montgomery wants to know if tree sitters ever sit in shoe trees.

Did you ever stop to think what heaven must think of us? It probably thinks people are in an awful predicament, since it never hears from anybody except those who are in trouble.

Being collegiate: Agreeing with a fellow boy friend that a certain girl is not the kind that a fellow should date. The same fellow ringing up the girl ten minutes after the conversation.

Ask Gibson Randle why he was picking daisies on his recent trip to the League of Nations Assembly in Norman. Sprousser Wynn also says that syrup is good to the last drop. Just mention something of the two above tips and you'll see the prettiest blushes on the campus.

The story is going the rounds that C. C. Isbell bought a book of dance tickets at the Casino last week with a pal. The book was divided in half, but Isbell ran out of tickets about twice as fast as the other fellow. He had an idea that the fellow really must be a "pal" — What really happened is that Isbell was putting two tickets in the box for every dance.

Correct this sentence: "Why, I don't mind taking pre-junior exams," says any student.

The best way we know for any tormented popular student who longs to become lost in the background is to try becoming the smartest student in his class.

Scientists say that headache is a sign of brains. Ad Dietzel is always asking the nurse for aspirin.

Some one has said that the smartest pupils are the poorest spellers. That's the first time I ever heard that.

The life of man: Is born of loving parents. Grows to be a small boy. Learns how to smoke corn silk. Goes to college. Learns how to smoke cigarettes. Goes into business world. Learns how to smoke cigars. Decides to become radio announcer. Learns how to smoke a pipe. Dies. Learns how to smoke.

"Love is everywhere." Bud Taylor has been riding through the park.

Dear Coulter: Why is the spring time the time for love? Essa.

Dear Essa: The parks are more agreeable in the spring.

The girl who was mentioned last week as wanting a class rush day has very kinky red hair, plays the piano and lived on the second floor of Jarvis. Someone asked her name, but as a slight bulge on his hip was perceptible, it was feared that it might accidentally be a gun. You couldn't get us to reveal her name but it contains these letters—Grigiae Shppdrae. Watch for more silliness next week.

Dr. Elliott to Address Mineral Wells Seniors

Dr. E. A. Elliott will deliver the commencement address before the Mineral Wells High School graduating class on the evening of May 22.

The commencement for the 51 graduates will be held in the Convention Hall in Mineral Wells.

PEN AND INKLINGS

By Siddle Joe Johnson.

"CAN" IT
 Rebellion seethed in Dave Collier's heart. Why did he have to be stuck off up here so far away from home, the folks, and Ann—especially Ann? He had no objection to going away to college, in fact he liked that. But this idea of dad's of sending him 2,000 miles away was too much. What was the matter with Breasted College anyway? For two years he had gotten on well enough there, and he and Ann had planned so much for those next two years. And this was supposed to be a great opportunity, this being lost in a big university with a big space between himself and home. The big name might be nostalgic but he knew he was just plain homesick.

"Meet in this room at 8 o'clock Thursday for your examination. Class dismissed," drolled the professor. Dave brought himself back to earth, unwound his extremities from his seat, and left the lecture hall rather dejected. But there wasn't any time to be fooled away with silly ideas of being home again. It was time to get to work and pass those infernal exams. What good was it all anyway?

A glance at his watch told him he had an hour to spare before lunch. He should study but how could he? Every time he tried lately the words blurred and all he could see were home, Ann, and the gang. Oh, Lord, he couldn't go on like this forever. On sudden impulse he decided to take a walk.

Walking with a big easy stride he quickly left the boulevard and was soon on the road through the park. Gradually his pace quickened and he began to feel that somehow the faster he walked the nearer he would be to home. He saw nothing around him. He didn't even feel the stinging wind upon his face. His mind was a raging inferno. How could being up here in this vast ice box of intellectual numb-skulls help him to be any better fellow? Back at Breasted he knew everybody and was well liked. He had made good in athletics so far and would surely have made the varsity this year in a couple of sports. But here at Overton he was just a black gold fish in a sea of octopuses.

Last year Ann and he had played tennis a lot and rode horseback every week together. She wrote that she missed him so much but had been going with Bob Allen, Gene Weber, Floyd Evers and some of the others of the gang all the time. He couldn't always understand just what she meant in her letters. There it was again! How could he know whether Ann would give two safety pins for him if he ever did get home? A moment later he was ashamed of the thought. His pals and Ann Garner were not that kind and he knew it. And then, he hadn't been exactly dateless even at Overton. Oh, well!

To the tune of screaming brakes Dave made a sudden jump to the side of the road. A none too courteous voice greeted him from a roadster. "Say, you damn fool, what's a big idea tramping down the middle of the road? Go home and go to bed if you don't know where you're going." "Well, this isn't the Indianapolis Speedway, you big dummock," came like a flash from Dave, as he turned to face his would-be assassin. But a few seconds later he was following the road again, this time more slowly and wondering why the roadster hadn't killed him. . . That would have been a nice finale to the Overton symphony of loneliness, heartaches and doubts. No, that would never do, for Dave was sure that he would be homesick even in heaven right now.

Wonder what Ann was doing now? Gee, they had great fun that day walking together along the shores of the lake. That seemed so long ago. How could he ever have made it through these long weeks without that new picture of herself she gave him Christmas? It was on his desk now. But the day of silent pictures was passed and what he needed was a "talkie." He told her that when she gave it to him, but she only laughed at him with her eyes and told him she would do some research on the problem. Funny girl, Ann. You never knew what she would do next. If only he could hear that deep rich voice of hers, hear her say again, "Hello, Dave." A sudden decision swept over him. He would hear it again, and dad's, mom's, everybody's at home! He'd stay through exams and then leave this damn place forever. He might know something some day, but it wouldn't be an Overton prof's fault.

He was soon back on the campus with resolutions to enjoy his last meals at Overton. It was time for the noon mail and he found a package in his box. Who would be sending anything to him now? It was a thin, flat, square parcel in a heavy brown envelope. It was from Ann. Opening it he found in another envelope: "A Personal Message to Dave from Ann"—A small phonograph record.

Dave took the stairs four at a time and covered the distance to his room in record speed. His portable was there, open. He put the record on and started the machine. Then it came. "Hello, Dave." An angel's chorus could not have sounded sweeter to him. "Letters are dangerous and pictures won't talk, and this is another way of being inadequate. But in this day of canned music, canned 'I love you's' are sure to follow, aren't they? There shall not always be so many miles between us and then we can talk and talk and talk." Oh, would they! "I'm so proud of you, Dave, and happy that you are making the most of your big chance. Don't feel that you are alone, for all of us back here are with you. I meant it, Dave, Christmas. I'm thinking of you, counting on you, believing in you, loving you always."

Dave pulled himself up, squared his shoulders, and looked intently into the mirror at the figure he presented. A light came into his eyes and a smile spread over his face. Then he heard himself say, "Go back? You fool, you're going to stick and have the grit she thinks you have!" —Opal Gooden.

Over the Air

By ELBERT HALING
 "In presenting a weekly radio program that is of the dignified nature of our T. C. U.—WBAP Air College, I think we are accomplishing something worth while." These are the words of President E. M. Waits regarding the newest addition to the institution, the College of the Air.

"Developing Personality in College Students" was the subject of an address given last Tuesday by Dean Lacey Leftwich over WBAP at the usual Tuesday broadcast at 2:30 o'clock. College is a good place for developing personality, according to the dean.

This columnist has turned Shakespeare and can be heard most any Wednesday night from KPJZ at 9 o'clock. (Not an advertisement). T. C. U. students recently appearing over other programs are: Miss Allah Reeves; Miss Thelma Lawrence, the Collegiate Girls' Quartet, Albert Luper and others.

Dr. Herbert L. Hughes will speak on "In the Field of Literature" Tuesday afternoon from WBAP, at 2:30 o'clock.

SOCIETY

BY VIRGINIA LOU SAUNDERS

The most prominent social event of the year was held last night when the seniors assembled in Anna Shelton Hall at the annual event in T. C. U. for many years.

Several years ago it was the only banquet held in the spring semester and was the most outstanding event of the year. In the last few years banquets have played an important part in the social activities.

There are few organizations on the campus that do not conclude their work for the year with a banquet.

The junior-senior banquet always brings a note of sadness to the seniors. It brings the realization that the work and association with T. C. U. as students is rapidly drawing to a close. The junior-senior banquet is one of the lasting memories of the seniors.

Cabaret Dinner Honors Seniors

Multi-colored balloons decorated the room and serpentine paper and confetti fell among the guests during the cabaret dinner given last night in Anna Shelton Hall or the Woman's Club by the juniors as their annual tribute to the seniors. Favors marked each place.

Glowing white tapers in crystal holders gave a soft light over a centerpiece of bluebonnets and white candytuft at the head table and each individual table was centered at the head table and each individual table was centered with a low bowl of the same flowers, carrying out the motif of purple and white.

Miss Jo Alice Walker and A. D. Weatherly were the escorts when President E. M. Waits was driven to his place of honor in one of the little Austin cars.

Gibson Randle acted as toastmaster. Songs and dances were given in between each course. Miss Margot Shaw and Dorothy Jacobs known as the Harmony Honeys presented a group of songs. Dances were given by pupils from the Elizabeth King School of Dance and the Burgess School of Dancing.

The following were guests at the dinner: Dean and Mrs. Colby D. Hall, Dean and Mrs. L. L. Leftwich, President Waits, Dean Sadie Beckham, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Ammerman, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Gilliam, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer V. Staude and Miss Katherine Moore.

Mrs. Staude is the senior class mother, and Mrs. Gilliam is the junior class mother. Miss Moore is faculty sponsor for the senior class and Mrs. Ammerman fills the same position for the junior class. About 200 guests attended.

Rice Owls Win Over Frog Team

Texas' Victory Causes T. C. U. to Receive Second Defeat.

The Horned Frog netters lost to the Rice team here Saturday afternoon, 4 to 2, in a dual meet. This is the second loss of the season in as many days for the Frogs, having lost to the Texas netters Friday afternoon, 6-0.

The brilliant playing of Capt. John McDiarmid, No. 1 man for the Frogs, was the feature of both days' matches. The brilliant playing of the Frog captain against Bruce Barnes, of the Texas team, was the feature of Friday's play. Barnes won 7-5, 7-5. McDiarmid came back Saturday, however, and defeated Quinn Connelley, ace of the Owl team, 6-1, 6-2. McDiarmid won five of the games in the first set before allowing Connelley to take a game.

Noel Roberts, No. 3 man on the Frog team, turned in the only other victory for the Christians by defeating Carter 7-5, 6-4. Jack Smith dropped his match to Holden, No. 2 man for the Owls, 6-2, 6-3. Walsh was defeated by Guinn, 1-6, 7-5, 6-2.

In the doubles McDiarmid and Smith were defeated by Connelley and Holden, 6-3, 6-2, in the No. 1 doubles. The excellent playing of Holden, both in his service and in his net play, was too much for the Frogs. McDiarmid played an excellent game, but Smith was off form, and the Owls had little trouble in trouncing the Christians.

In the No. 2 doubles, Roberts and Walsh put up a better scrap, forcing the Owls to 6-4, 6-4, to win the match. The superior service of Carter enabled the Rice men to win this match.

Barnes defeated McDiarmid, 7-5, 7-5. Smith lost to Kamrath, 6-3, 6-0. Roberts lost to Taylor, 6-2, 6-0, while Walsh gave LaCoste a better run for his money, before losing 6-2, 7-5.

In the doubles, Barnes and Kamrath won over McDiarmid and Smith, 6-2, 6-4, while Taylor and LaCoste defeated Walsh and Roberts, 6-1, 8-6.

AT THE THEATERS

WORTH

Beginning tomorrow, THE FRONT PAGE will go on the WORTH screen for four days. This newspaper story is a story taken from real life. Adolphe Menjou takes the part of a hard boiled city editor and according to critics he handles the role to perfection. The star of the show is Pat O'Brien, who takes the role of Hildy, the reporter. The story concerns a battle in the heart of the reporter between matrimony and the greatest newspaper story ever to break on his paper. The real Hildy, who was a reporter on a Chicago newspaper for several years, died recently.

TARNISHED LADY comes to the screen Wednesday. Tallulah Bankhead, London stage star, and Clive Brook are co-starred in the picture which concerns New York's "400."

PALACE

George Arliss will come to the PALACE Sunday for four days in THE MILLIONAIRE. The picture shows this great actor as a man forced to retire for his health. It is the most energetic and humorous picture he has yet made for the talking screen. In it he dons overalls, does hard physical labor and takes a course from two young lovers on how to be happy though rich. Work, interest in others and a sense of humor Arliss claims are the three secrets of his own good health.

TIVOLI

Douglas Fairbanks in REACHING FOR THE MOON comes to the TIVOLI Sunday for three days. This is the first picture that Fairbanks has ever made in which he plays the part of a young business man. The play is a comedy and Bebe Daniels is also in the cast. Doug takes the role of a New York stockholder whose motto is to "Shoot the works." For those girls who do not know how to win a woman hater, the play gives a good lesson. You may have to wait until the fellow is broke before he will look at you, but in the long run you will win him.

SPORT WAVES

By JACK BELZNER

"The chief changes of the rules for the next basketball season were made in order to speed up the game and to eliminate roughness," says Coach Schmidt, who recently returned from New York where he has been the official representative of the South-west Conference in the annual meeting of the National Basketball Rules Committee. "There were some of the rules made in order to make basketball a better and more interesting game from the spectator's viewpoint and a few to make it easier on those officiating."

Here are some of the new rules. Each team be allowed three one-minute time-outs instead of the two-minute rest periods. If a player consumes more than 10 seconds at the free throw line or enters the free throwline, the jump ball is to be at center instead of the 15-foot line. On a free throw following a technical or double foul, players shall not line up on the free throw lanes. On a missed free throw that hits neither hoop nor backboard, the ball is given to an opponent out of bounds on the sideline. The marks for home and visitors on the free throw lane, that were suggested last year, become a rule this year. The timer may blow his whistle for substitution when the ball is on the 15-foot line. The committee also suggested that the players be numbered on both front and back.

A minor change was made in the manner in which the rule book would be published. The coaches decided to put illustrative pictures in the back of the book that will clearly show what blocking really is, and to place the questions and answers under the rule to which they apply instead of making reference to the back of the book.

Coach Schmidt, the busiest man on the campus, has been putting the football aspirants through a fast pace since the spring season opened. The first day out he had the men blocking, bull-necking and going through most all of the fundamentals that are generally given late in the season. Some of the freshman candidates assure the world that they have learned more about grid tactics during the last week than they ever dreamed existed.

"Dutch" Meyer was well pleased with Alf Roark's ability to hurl in the single inning that he faced the Longhorns last Friday. He may see fit to start the lanky right hander against the Texas nine tomorrow.

The seniors pounded out a 18-to-4 victory over sophomore intramural club and gave the juniors a clear claim to the first half baseball title last week. Play for the second round opened Wednesday with the juniors playing a double-header against the soph "B" and the freshmen. All of the clubs have added strength to their lineups and any one of the five teams may be second half champs.

Junior Aggies Defeat Polliwog Netters

Williams, McIntire, in Doubles Win One Game From Opponents.

The North Texas Junior Aggies easily defeated the Polliwog netters in a dual match on the wog courts Saturday afternoon. The aggies won the match, 5-1. Williams and McIntire, in the doubles, won the only match of the day for the first year men.

Cotton, No. 1 man for the Aggies, had no trouble in downing George, 6-2, 6-3. In the second match, Gregory defeated Alexander, 6-4, 7-5. Chandler won over McIntire, 6-0, 6-4. Cannon and Williams, No. 4 men had a tougher time than any of the others. Cannon finally won the match after 20 games in the first set. The score was 11-9, 6-2.

In the doubles Cotton and Gregory took Alexander and George to a 6-2, 6-3 cleaning, while Williams and McIntire defeated Chandler and Cannon, 6-4, 7-5, for the only win of the day for the Polliwogs.

Frogs to Meet Longhorn Team This Afternoon

Coach Meyer May Use Roark as Starting Choice in Tilt.

PLAYERS DRILL HEAVILY

Carrell and Hinton Expected to Deal Misery to Both Aggies and Steers.

Well pleased with the showing made by Alf Roark, sophomore knuckle-ball artist, in the final inning against the Texas Longhorns in Austin a week ago, Coach Dutch Meyer has intimated that the slender Saratoga moundsman will take the rubber this afternoon when Coach Billy Ditch's Texas nine makes its first and final appearance on Clark Field. The game will start at 3:30 o'clock.

If Roark is the starting choice in the tilt this afternoon, the Christian mentor will have Noble Atkins and Ellsworth Chappell, veterans, for tomorrow's game with the Texas Aggies here. J. W. Townsend and Vance Woolwine are ready for the relief roles this afternoon as the Frogs open their home stay against the Steers, who, in the opinion of most of the Christians, look the most likely to wear the victor's crown in the 1931 race.

Coach Is Pleas'd With Team Despite inclement weather during most of this week, the Frogs put in hour after hour of batting drill in an effort to strengthen a weak offense. These daily drills have been featured by the best hitting exhibited by the team all year, which may indicate that the Steers and Aggies may run into plenty of trouble this afternoon and tomorrow.

Meyer is well pleased with the improvement in the team's batting strength as a whole. Howard Carrell and Grassy Hinton, two of the leading hitters last year, seem to have taken on new life at the plate and are expected to deal some misery during the two games. If the pitching staff can come through with some steady twirling, both the Steers and Aggies are going to find the going rough.

Atkins to Pitch Against Aggies. It is not known who will get the call for the Longhorn pitching burden. It will be Mike de la Fuente, who pitched against the Frogs last week, or Oscar Peeples. Both are veteran righthanders and have performed excellently all season.

Coach Higginbotham of the Aggies will likely send Ab Hawes, veteran righthander, against the Meyer men in tomorrow's tilt. He will be opposed by Noble Atkins, who showed the Steers plenty of stuff in Austin last week. Tomorrow's game will also start at 3:30 o'clock.

Tomlinson Speaks at Fellowship Services

Publisher of All-Church Press Presented by Dana Press Club.

Douglas Tomlinson, president and publisher of the All-Church Press was presented at the University Religious Fellowship service by the Dana Press Club Sunday night. He spoke on "The Church and Newspaper."

Mr. Tomlinson presented the criticisms of churchmen made by newspapermen and the complaints lodged against newspapermen by churchmen and made clear the merits of both. He stated that unfortunately the religious press has not kept pace with the secular papers. In closing he said, "Men like Menken will never laugh God out of the universe and even Sinclair Lewis cannot destroy Him with his mighty pen. God and His truth are eternal."

Jay Williams, president of the Dana Press Club presided at the meeting and Paul Logan Martin gave the devotional service. Laurence Coulter led the song service and pronounced the benediction. Miss Lillian Lundberg played the offertory and accompaniment for the song service and Prof. J. W. Ridings played a piano solo, "Melody," by Brigadier General Charles Dawes.

'Vengeance Is Sweet,' Says Former Frog Ace on Winning First Race

By CY LELAND

SAN FRANCISCO, April 25.

"Vengeance is Sweet! Little did I realize how true that axiom is until this afternoon. After being completely shut out upon two successive Saturdays, and placing second and third in the 100 and 220 behind decidedly second-rate sprinters on the third Saturday, I had begun to wonder how to get out of the habit of chasing the rest of the boys across the line. Of course, everyone said, that in time I would work into shape and I knew that they were right, but I also had a pretty good idea that regardless of what they said they were probably secretly thinking that I was a pretty bum sprinter and greatly over-rated.

However, despite a rain-soaked track, I was able to vindicate myself this afternoon by winning the hundred in 9.8 seconds. Hec Dyer of Stanford was relegated to third place by Ralph Montague of San Francisco University. Dyer, by the way, has his biggest test of the year next Saturday when he meets Frankie Wykoff at Palo Alto. The occasion is the annual dual meet between Stanford and U. S. C. Wykoff looks unbeatable this year in the 100, but he just doesn't have the strength for the 220. Dyer looked good today in winning the 220 in 21.8, which is good time for a sloppy track. I have done practically no work on the longer race, and do not intend to until June.

The Olympic Club was an easy victor in the meet today. The official title of the meet is the Pacific Association A. A. U. Championships, but it resolved this year into a meet between the Club, Stanford, and University of California. The Olympians scored a total of 106 points, more than doubling Stanford, and Cal was a poor third.

The best performance of the afternoon was the half-mile run by Ben Eastman, Stanford sophomore. After "wading" through the first lap in 52 seconds, Ben pulled up a little in the second and finished in the remarkable time of 1:53. This time is only a second and a fraction over the world's record, and Eastman should certainly break it before his college career is finished.

Track is certainly a major sport on the Pacific Coast. A few weeks ago I saw the annual Stanford-California dual meet, which everyone knew would be a Stanford walkaway, and there were 10,000 people at the meet. Next Saturday, with the prospects of one of the closest contests in the history of this section, U. S. C. and Stanford should draw around 25,000 spectators.

The next major competition for the Olympic Club is May 9 at the Fresno Relays. This is probably the only meet on the Coast that brings together stars from every part of the state. The meet is to be held at night, and one of the features is a special 100-yard dash. Yes, Wykoff, Dyer, et al. will be there, so competition will certainly not be lacking.

Wogs Win 3, Lose 2 to End Season

Many Varsity Prospects for Play Next Year From Wolfmen.

Freshman Coach Bear Wolf's Polliwog baseball nine closed the current season last Friday with a percentage of .600 in five games. The Wolfman defeated the N. T. A. C. nine 3-0 in the opening game only to drop the initial game with Decatur Junior College 2-4. In a return game with the Decatur junior, the Wolfmen pounced on the offerings of Dickey and avenged the former defeat with a 17-2 victory, but dropped the return game with the N. T. A. C. 2-4. The first-year men defeated the North Texas Traction Company 4-1.

Walker led the club at the plate with a percentage of .500. He also led the club in extra base hits knocking one circuit drive, one double and three singles in 10 trips to the plate. Paul Donovan, centerfielder, also shows promise of furnishing some of the heavy hitting for Coach Meyer next season.

In Herschel Kinzy, Coach Wolf has a dependable hurler, who should be the ace of the varsity staff next spring. "Hap" Massingale, mid-term entry from Jacksboro, seems to be the class of the club in all-around performance. Although a bit erratic in the field, it seems that Elbert Walker is destined to fill the shoes of Howard Carrell on second base, and Perkins has played some good baseball on the initial bag. With a batting percentage of .370, he has connected with two three-base hits, one double and seven singles in 27 trips to the plate. In addition to his classy fielding, Massingale hit .304. Wallace Meyers, with an average of .321, completes the list of Polliwogs with a percentage of .300 or more, although Warner, with .272, and Kinzy, with .260, fell short of it by only a few points.

Prexy Randle Is Cry of Students

Executive Experience Is Primary Need For Presidency

Gibson Randle is the man for president of the student body of T. C. U. He will make one of the best student body leaders that the school has ever had. In looking back over the qualifications of a student body president, one may see that Randle is easy to work with in his dealings with members of the different classes. He is always willing to do his part in any work that concerns the good of the students.

This year he has been serving as president of the junior class and any executive he can tell you that an executive he has left nothing unturned in his attempt to guide the junior class through a successful year.

In choosing between Randle and Roark, it is a hard question since both men have a pleasing personality. It is necessary for a student in such a position to have this in order to meet representatives from the other colleges. Do not think that because Randle has had the office of president of the student body, he has proven himself capable in all his work and does not seek the office because of the publicity connected with it but because he knows that he can handle the position since he has had experience.—Adv.

T. C. U. to Meet S. M. U. Netters

McDiarmid, Smith and Walsh, Roberts to Play Doubles.

With Capt. John McDiarmid at the helm, the Horned Frog netters will meet the S. M. U. racquet wielders on the T. C. U. courts Saturday. In a previous meet in Dallas, the Frogs won a 4-2 decision over the Mustangs. The No. 2 match between Jack Smith and Boothman is due to be the best of the afternoon. Although Smith was victor in the first match, he won by a slim margin.

Since the first meeting, Roberts, third ranking Frog, and Walsh, who was in the final bracket have exchanged rankings. Roberts lost and Walsh won in the previous match. Coach McDiarmid will have a chance to give the exchange of rankings a severe test. Capt. McDiarmid, Jack Smith, Howard Walsh and Noel Roberts will play singles in the order named. McDiarmid and Smith and Walsh and Roberts will pair for the doubles combination.

The Mustangs will probably bring Newton, Boothman, Wasson and Boyer to play singles, while Boothman and Wasson and Newton and Boyer play doubles.
