Fellowship Will Have Memorial Service Sunday

Scott Will Deliver Address on 'T. C. U. Men in World War.'

STAUDE IS TO PRESIDE

Deceased Ex-Students and Benefactors of Learning to Be Honored.

The University Religious Fellowship will present a memorial service Sunday in honor of recently deceased ex-students and benefactors of learning.

Economists Sponsor Program.

The service, sponsored by the department of economics and to be presided over by Elmer Staude, will honor Dr. R. L. Greene, who was allied with the faculty and administration for many years, during which time he contributed generously both of his time, influence, and money; J. Aubrey Cooper, Milus Little, Herndon Hardwick, and other men of the University who lost their lives in the World War; Knute Rockne, Eugene V. Debs, Thomas A. Edison, and two members of the T. C. U. student body, who died last summer, Brooks Woodlea and Harry Kruse.

Dr. Scott Is Veteran.

Dr. Gayle Scott, who will deliver the address on "T. C. U. Men in the World War," is himself a veteran of the war, as is Dr. Edwin A. Elliott and Dr. W. J. Hammond. Both Dr. Elliott and Dr. Scott received decorations for their services.

The program will be presented as follows:

- Memorial Hymns.
- "T. C. U. Men in the World War," by Dr. Gayle Scott.
- "Account of Ex-Students," by Miss Bita Mae Hall, alumni secretary.
- "In Memoriam Brooks Woodlea," by Clyde Roberson.
- "In Memoriam Harry Kruse."
- "Alma Mater."
- Prayer by Dr. Elliott.
- "Knute Rockne, Coach," by Francis A. Schmidt.
- "Eugene V. Debs, Socialist," by Dr. Hammond.
- "Thomas A. Edison, Inventor," by Prof. Charles R. Sherer.
- "Dr. Greene, Friend of T. C. U.," by President E. M. Waits.
- Benediction.

Named by Solons

THIRTY TEXTIA MCCONNELL

Miss Thirty Textia McConnell, freshman in T. C. U., was named in honor of the Thirtieth Legislature of Texas. Her father, W. E. McConnell, deceased, was a member of that body, and the daughter was named by a House resolution. Miss McConnell plans to take the B. B. A. degree. Her mother and father and four of her brothers have been students in T. C. U. before her.

Giant Pep Rally In Gym Tonight

Martin, McHorse Will Speak—Walsh Urges Attendance.

The final pep rally in preparation for tomorrow's game with the Rice Owls will be held in the Frog Fieldhouse tonight at 7 o'clock, according to Howard Walsh, assistant yell leader. District Attorney Jesse Martin and Curtis McHorse, head yell leader last year, will speak.

"The support of the student body will be needed tomorrow as never before," Walsh said. "Now is the time to begin working for a championship—not after we have lost a game. Every student owes it to the school to be at the meeting tonight, and the yell leaders want the whole student body to be there."

At the first rally in preparation for tomorrow's game held Tuesday night, Roland Balch, head yell leader, and Charles Casper, member of the football squad, spoke.

Lights will be turned off in all dormitories during the pep meeting.

Former T. C. U. Students Are in Medical School

Four former T. C. U. students are now taking first year work at the Texas State Medical School in Galveston. They are: Ted Lace, James Atchison, Holloway Bush and Fred Wimberly.

Lace, a member of the June graduating class here last spring, has been chosen freshman representative on the Honor Council of the school. He is also a Phi Chi pledge.

Hunnicut Is Dietician, Veterinarian, Experience in Oil Fields Reveals

Applying domestic science to three score of cavalry horses in the oil fields of East Texas during martial law last summer was the experience of Sgt. Sam Lloyu Hunnicutt, student in T. C. U.

Hunnicut was in Camp Hulen at Palacios when martial law was declared in the oil fields and he was summoned to Kilgore with the score of mounts that he was in charge of at the camp. After arriving in Kilgore, the horses were taken to Gladewater, 15 miles east of Kilgore, and together with the other cavalry horses, were used to cover the oil fields and check the wells.

According to Hunnicutt, a cavalryman can check about 30 to 50 wells

What's in a Name? Scribe Says There's a Story, So Here It Is

Most every color of the rainbow, two seasons, two cars and several vocations are represented in the names of the students in T. C. U. There are the Browns, Whites, Grays, Blacks, Greens and Lavender. There are two Summers and one Winter, as well as a Ford and a Packard, not to mention the wiley old Fox, a Parrott, a Stag and a Crow. Then there are the Knights and a King to represent royalty; a Male and a Mann, and also a Beaver and a Bass to be encountered around a Brooks.

Then there are the Millers, Bakers, Porters, Weavers, Gardeners, Carpenters, Farmers and a Cook to go East and maybe reach out an arm or Armes bring home the Bacon, or still they might raise Cain, Cotton or Coffee, Acker after Ackers. The Household side was not neglected when the names were issued either with such names as Wall, Kitchen, Floore, Glass, Hall, Chappell and Chambers. Remaining on the premises we find a Sod and a Bush, as well as a Tea-garden to complete the yard and make it more attractive. Glancing up to the skies the weather looks threatening, and we might get a good Snow, it might Sprinkle or there may be a Flood. If the Fellows aren't too Short they can pick a Rose or a Peach, but they may have to get Strong and Ruff as well as get Smart.

The great statesmen have not been neglected nor have the presidents when the names were being dished out, for we have with us none other than Patrick Henry himself, as well as Patrick Henry Buchanan and a Wilson.

If one is Wise such a story would not be complete without such names as the Smiths, Jones and Johnsons, so here they are, with the Smiths being the commonest.

Then to bring things to a close, Kidd Cupid, throws his Dirks at some Ladd, or fires a Cannon and then the Trainer comes to take them in a Coffin to their Graves.

600 Arrive on Rice Owl Special

Band Will Meet Train At Santa Fe Depot At 1:20 P. M.

Rice University students, 600 strong, will arrive in Fort Worth tomorrow on a Southern Pacific special at 1:20 p. m. at the Santa Fe station, according to Pete Wright, T. C. U. athletic director. An earlier special which will arrive in Fort Worth at 7:40 a. m. is being run by the Santa Fe Railroad, but the Owl Band and the majority of students are expected to arrive on the afternoon train.

The Horned Frog Band will be at the station to meet the visiting student body. Alf Roark, Texas Christian student president, has asked that T. C. U. students drive to the Santa Fe depot to greet the visitors and bring them out to the campus in automobiles. "Let's show our visitors the courtesy, we should expect to receive on their campus. Rice specials have been coming to T. C. U. for several years, and have never returned to Houston having seen the Fighting Frogs defeated. Let's make it so again this year, but let us have our guests return with a warm friendship for T. C. U."

The Santa Fe special will leave Fort Worth at 10:10 p. m. There will be a regular Southern Pacific train leaving at 10:40 p. m., but the hour for the departure of the special will be 11:30 p. m.

Librarian Announces Arrival of 64 Books

Arthur R. Curry, University librarian, announced Tuesday that 64 new books have recently been acquired by the Mary Couts Burnett Library.

They are now being catalogued and will be ready for student use by Saturday. The books have been listed under the departments which recommended their purchase.

Billy Tom, Band Mascot, to Make Appearance Soon

The Horned Frog Band has added another versatile performer to its feature section. Billy Tom Stewart, 10-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Will M. Stewart of 1412 Paramount Street, was elected band mascot for this year at a meeting of the band last Saturday.

Billy Tom, who is now enrolled in the De Zavala School, has been entertaining in public since he was four years old. His versatility is shown by the fact that he sings, plays the piano, tap dances, and is a good dramatic reader. He is also president of the Juvenile Harmony Club, an organization composed of children who are musically inclined.

Billy Tom will make his initial appearance before the student body in a chapel program Wednesday.

Stowaways Are Guests of Team On Special Train

Every football team has ardent followers, and the Frogs are no exception. No less than five of this type accompanied the grid team to Arkansas, by the stowaway route. Judy Truelson, A. D. Weatherly, Carl Sain, "Sunshine" Glasgow and Otha Tiner were present when the train pulled into the station at Fayetteville. They described their trip as a "hide and go seek" affair in their experience with a suspicious conductor.

It seems that Alf Roark received a telegram marked "collect" from Sain and Weatherly, which he refused to accept. The telegram read: WEATHERLY AND SAIN ARRIVED OK STOP ARKANSAS HOT. The operator phoned the message to Roark and it was then he refused to acknowledge it.

The presence of "Stowaways" usually annoys a coach, but due to the help rendered in taping, carrying water, and etc., these were welcome guests.

Music Students To Have Recitals

First of Series to Be Given at T. C. U. Monday Evening.

Dr. H. D. Guelick, head of the department of music, will present the students of the department in a public recital in the T. C. U. auditorium at 8 o'clock Monday evening. This is the first of a series of monthly recitals that will be given by students of the music department.

The program will begin with vocal selections by Miss Ruby Williams. She will sing "Trees," by Rasbach and "The Morning Wind," by Branscombe.

Miss Mary Louise Gilliam will sing "Do You Know My Garden," by Wood and "The Lass With the Delicate Air," by Arrie. Miss Margot Shaw will sing two numbers, "Who Is Sylvia," by Schubert and a folk song, "When Love Is Kind." The final numbers of the recital will be vocal selections by Miss Dorothy East, who will sing two songs, "Lullaby," by Concone and "Secret Languages," by Foster.

Students in the department of piano will be Misses Mary Carolyn Kelly, La Verda Sessions, Mozelle Bryant and Rowena Doss. Miss Kelly will play "Valse," by DeLeon; Miss Sessions, "Norland Shero," by Gregor; Miss Bryant, "The Witches Dance," by Moszkowski, and Miss Doss will give an interpretation of Debussy's "Prelude."

Three students of violin will appear on the program. Miss Doris Nell Twitty will play a composition of Ten Howe, "Allegro Brillant." Mrs. Jean Hawes will play a Cadman number, "At Dawning," and an arrangement of "The Arkansas Traveler." Miss Hortense Baker will play selections from the ballet music of Schubert and Kreisler's "Rosamunde."

Miss Adeline Boyd, Miss Bryant and Mrs. Lillie Mae Laurence will act as accompanists for the singers and violinists.

West Texas Influence Is Shown By Many Campus Equestriennes

Many T. C. U. girls are interested in horseback riding this year. Most of the girls who have started riding are going with the W. A. A. group, of which Miss Marjorie McKean is manager.

The group rides in Trinity Park and Forest Park. They hope to have a riding ring which will be lighted at night so the girls can do some night riding.

Tuesdays and Thursday have been the days selected for this sport and the members meet at the stables at 2 o'clock on these days.

The girls who are working for hours in the W. A. A. by going horseback riding are: Misses Beth Nors-

Twenty Students Are Elected to Honor Society

Twelve Candidates Are Seniors and Eight Are Juniors.

MISS HOULE IS LEADER
Eleven Members Are Graduates of High Schools in Fort Worth.

The Scholarship Society of the South has elected 20 students in Texas Christian University for membership for 1931-32, according to Dr. John Lord, head of the graduate school. Twelve members selected from the senior class are all girls, while of the eight members chosen from the junior class, four are boys and four are girls.

Twenty Candidates Are Named. The candidates from the senior class are as follows: Misses Ina Bramblett, Thelma Breithaupt, Mary Frierson, Nancy Gately, Clotilda Anne Houle, Marian Howrey, Sidie Joe Johnson, Mary Jean Knight, Lamoyne Laurence, Elizabeth Male, Mary Louise Mobley and Marian Smith.

Misses Mozelle Bryant, Cora Lyle Ellis, Mae Housel and Doris Sellars, and Marion Hicks, Milton Mehl, William Fellows and John H. Hammond are the junior class members. Six of the senior candidates and four of the junior candidates are graduates of Central High School and one is a graduate of North Side High School. Miss Houle is Elected President.

Miss Houle is president for the ensuing year, succeeding Miss Bita Mae Hall, last year's president. Only students who are in the upper 10 per cent of their class and are juniors or seniors are eligible to membership. The first meeting and initiation will be held Tuesday, Nov. 17, in the Brite College clubroom. The third Tuesday in each month has been chosen as the regular meeting date.

"Blackbird" to Be Presented Nov. 11

"The Blackbird" will be presented by the student body of the Brite College of the Bible next Wednesday night at 8:15 o'clock in the auditorium of the Main Building.

The play is being directed and acted by Brite College students. Miss Elizabeth Male and Clyde Yarbrough have the leading roles. Others in the cast are: Miss Mary Lillian Anderson, Miss Elizabeth Henry, Albert Jones, Miss Annie Phares, Arthur King and Miss Eloise Washburn.

The play written by Ed Mace, a ministerial student in the University.

T. C. U. Delegates to Be Sent to Buffalo

Ten delegates from T. C. U. are expected to attend the quadrennial convention of Student Volunteer Movement in Buffalo Dec. 31 to Jan. 3. These delegates will be selected by the ways and means committee of the Religious Fellowship Society. Dean L. L. Leftwich is chairman of this committee.

The delegates will travel by automobile visiting many colleges and universities in the East on the way to Buffalo.

"I Am the Professor—"

"I am the professor who always has some sarcastic remark to students late to class. If I don't have anything to say, I just glare at them and make them feel that they shouldn't even come to class if they are late.

"I like to rave about my experiences in my old school days or what I saw last summer in Borneo National Museum. If I haven't been there, I relate what some other professor has told me. I haven't a sense of humor and never laugh at any jokes except those which I tell myself. I love to tell the same joke over and over for I believe that students never get the point the first time.

"I am the professor who is snobbish. I never speak to any of my pupils on the campus and barely nod when they speak to me. I like to pick out about five students in the class and call on them day after day. I never like to vary the class schedule by asking someone back in the left hand corner who never contributes anything to the class, because I do not give him the opportunity.

"Some of the professors are able to give their lessons without reading from the book, but I never do. I always read from the text and do not bring in outside work that I am supposed to know about. After talking about some phase of the work in class, I never feel able to the task of asking questions over it in examinations, but ask something which has never been brought up in class.

"I don't talk very plain, because I haven't the energy to emphasize my words. I usually talk in a monotone and often I am very dry, so the student thinks. Sometimes when I am feeling good, I have so much energy that I sputter and spray those students who are nearest the desk when I talk. When I have such energy, I stand upon the chair or throw a book at the light cord to turn on the light. I seldom do this, but sometimes I think it quite cute.

"I am the professor who likes to give long assignments and expects the student to get them in on time no matter what excuse he has to offer. I am not lenient in my grading. I believe my students should do more work than is assigned and should have every day's assignments perfect before I will give them an A. At the same time, I assign so much outside work that it is impossible for my students to do much outside work on their own initiative; therefore I am safe in not having to give any A marks.

"I believe that I know everything and have an attitude of know-it-all. I never compliment my students' work, but always try my best to just point out their mistakes.

"How do you like me?"

Sportsmanship

Last week, while the Horned Frogs were five hundred miles away from home playing a grudge football battle on foreign soil and with but a handful of supporters in the stands, the Arkansans did not forget that sportsmanship is the first word in the collegians' code of honor. As the starting team was knotted up in front of the bench receiving the final instructions from Coach Schmidt, the strains of the T. C. U. Alma Mater Hymn were sent up from the Arkansas band seated in the Arkansas student section. Mind you, our Alma Mater Hymn was played even before they played their own.

All the athletes noticed it, and appreciated it. As a result of that and the many other courtesies extended the Frogs, they came back with a warm spot in their hearts for the school where Coach Schmidt spent seven prosperous athletic years. The Frogs took their hats off to real sportsmen.

Although we pride ourselves in school spirit and sportsmanship, we can often learn a lesson from our conference rivals.

Thieves of Time

Five minutes a day, three days a week for one semester equals four and one-half hours of time. A swift plane can fly from Fort Worth to Kansas City in this amount of time. Immortal compositions in music and literature have been created in less time. But we have professors here at T. C. U. who take this time from 30 or more students every term. Each class period they talk five minutes after the bell and cease only when the noise of scraping feet and surreptitious coughs becomes unbearable.

Professors experienced in the usual noises accompanying the ringing of the first bell issue their assignments at the start of the class. The Skiff doubts sincerely that any real bits of knowledge are ever obtained from a professor after the bell sounds. The usual bustle prevents normal concentration on the student's part. Our professors demand courtesy from students. These "time snatchers" should remember their courtesy to students and dismiss class at the proper time.

Three Weeks to Homecoming

When the Horned Frogs went to Fayetteville last week, they knew that the Razorbacks were really having a homecoming. Every sorority house was decorated to the limit. "Welcome" was inscribed over every threshold. They greeted the returning alumni in a manner that made them feel that they were back in school again. Between the halves they furnished entertainment that kept the small crowd in an uproar all the time. Every conceivable impersonation and costume was in vogue. Arkansas really "pulled" a homecoming.

T. C. U. has never had anything extraordinary on homecoming day. It has been just another day when the old grads and exes return to see a football game. We shake their hand, tell them we are glad to see them, and maybe a brief "bull session" will follow and then it's all over. We have never gone to any special trouble to make the ones who have gone before us feel at home at the homecoming.

With the event three weeks in advance, now is the time to start planning. In a period of three weeks the student body president and the student council could make plans to make it a real red-letter day on the school calendar. We owe it to the exes since they have but one day a year.

Let's "pull" a real homecoming Nov. 28.

COULTER'S COLUMN

DEAR Coulter: I need information on how to get a certain boy in school. He is a junior and I am a freshman. He is real nice to me but I have no technique. Would you please give me some ideas? X.Y.Z.

DEAR X. Y. Z.: If you are a freshman, you should have little trouble getting this junior to notice you. Most juniors can only rate freshman girls, because when they were sophomores last year, they were so sophisticated that they dated seniors instead of freshman girls. This year, the senior girls of last year are gone and the freshman girls of last year are now sophomores. As a result of the slights that they received from the sophomore boys last year, they are most sophisticated now and don't pay the junior boys much attention. This leaves the juniors of last year and the juniors of this year in a class by themselves. They either have to date seniors or freshman, or girls in their own class. The girls in their own class know the boys too well to go with them regularly, so that gives the freshmen a break.

If you admit you have no technique, I hardly know what to say. Most girls think they have technique whether they do or not.

Here's the best suggestion I know: Brag about how you like to go to shows and how much you adore dutch treating. This will get any boy in school to notice you as one who is entirely different. The only trouble is getting the right boy to hear about your queerness.

If you have a car, let him know that you don't mind using it. Be careful and don't let any of the football men know that you have a car—they will want to use it to haul equipment around, or Ben Boswell might want it to go to the stadium in.

If you live in the dormitory, abide by all the rules so that when you want to get out in the middle of the week some night, Mrs. Beckham will be so surprised that you would want to break the rules that she will let you go. The only advice is to hurry out before she realizes what has been said. It might be added that this has never worked, but nevertheless it may be tried.

If you let him know that you favor dutch treating and offer to pay your own carfare or use your car, and still he does not ask you for a date, it might be said that he doesn't happen to be a student of Texas Christian.

We hear that Jimmy Beal complimented one of the automobile dealers in town and the dealer sent one of his cars for Jimmy to try out. I think that that root beer stand on West Seventh Street has the prettiest "queens" in town.

"I've gotta Chevrolet," said Kenneth Lacy.

"I've gotta Ford," said Elmer Staude.

"I've gotta Studebaker," said Jane Jarvis.

"I've gotta Buick," said Billie Dickey.

"Well, hurry up and get around the corner," said Gordon Musgrove.

IT IS rumored that one of the cafes near the campus makes such bad coffee that the proprietor has to serve it in gin flasks so the boys will drink it.

We wonder if Kay Prather has been going with Blannard Spearman long enough to learn how to block passes. Yes, or yes.

HE HELD his breath. He seemed gagged. There was something holding him back. If he could only utter one word, but no he was cut off like a manhole lid being put over a sewer. He tried again. He started to plunge away, but still he was held. Something invisible was keeping him bound. Was he never going to get to shout? And about that time he got to shout three words: "I've gotta go!" Polly Durie had ran out of breath — for a moment.

POPULAR INSPIRATION

When I see a poplar tree Majestically reaching high, I know he has reached his lofty place By looking to the sky. He seems to know the best abides Beyond all earthly things; So onward he grows through the weary day, And his heart forever sings.

Now whenever you have a task to do Or a heavy burden to bear, Try to look to the sky as the poplar does And place your troubles there, For then you can sing and smile to the day And grow to be straight and strong. And like the poplar you'll reach your goal With the help of a merry song. —Ruth Cowan.

SHADOWS.

Grim and gray and cloudy they are, And sometimes dark and black. Lovely and misty and dim they are, But always coming back.

Oblong or round or crooked or curved Grotesque on the wall they stand. Rounding and curving, twisting and swerving, They change by the touch of a hand. But no matter the color or form they are Within them a picture he sees; And he looks, and thinks, and wonders, For shadows are memories. —Nina Whittington.

Inflict not on an enemy every injury in your power, for he may afterwards become your friend.—Saadi.

Variety of Entertainment Offered At Local Playhouses Tomorrow

Theater goers will have a variety of entertainment to choose from this week-end. The Little Theater will close its second play of the season tomorrow night. The Worth will have a midnight show tomorrow night with a football picture, and the RKO Hollywood and the Palace bring in two stars, Warner Baxter and Lionel Barrymore. So take your choice.

At the Worth

"Touchdown", starring Richard Allen, Peggy Shannon, Jack Oakie and Regis Toomey, starts at 11:30 tomorrow night at the Worth in the only midnight show over the week-end. The story is different in that it doesn't have a Dick Merriwell finish. The team coached by Arlen loses by an overwhelming score at the end—and if that's not something new in football pictures then we've never seen one. Regular showings start Wednesday.

Tomorrow, "Once a Lady" moves in at the Worth. That dramatic star, Ruth Chatterton, furnishes some genuine acting. It's the story of a woman who can't get along with her husband so she starts in with a career—very dramatic.

Palace

Lionel Barrymore, one of the most capable actors of the screen, will be seen in Raoul Walsh's "The Yellow Ticket", which starts at the Palace Sunday. Elissa Landi plays opposite Barrymore in a good story about Russia. We still believe she takes the prettiest close-up of any star on the screen. Barrymore had to lay down his megaphone and start acting again after his return to the screen not long ago. His part in the current production is that of a Russian Lieutenant.

RKO Hollywood

Warner Baxter and Edmund Lowe appear together again in "The Cisco Kid", which starts at the Hollywood tomorrow. The story was written by O. Henry, so it's bound to be good. The action takes place on the border with Lowe chasing Baxter all over the country. Baxter loves all women and trusts not one of them—that's a good tip. The story is above the average and is sprinkled with lots of humor and plenty of lovin'. Conchita Montenegro, one of Fox's 1931 debutantes, is the subject of said lovin' and "such" movements—we are talking about one of her Spanish dances.

ON THE AIR

By ELBERT HALING.

Tonight, as on every Friday night, the Horned Frog Band will go on the air from KTAT at 8:30 o'clock. This evening's program will consist of patriotic airs played as only this band can play them. This is T. C. U.'s official weekly program and we should support it with calls and letters.

The other day Mark Warnow, Columbia conductor, drove up to Sing Sing to watch the undergraduates of that institution indulge in a football game. Upon his return, David Ross, announcer, asked him how he liked the game.

"Great," replied Mark, "It was a complete 'cell-out'."

Add this to your list of similes: "As unexciting as a radio kiss." For the radio kiss is usually caused by the meeting of a performer's lips and his own hand.

Carlile Stevens, recent addition to the CBS announcer's staff, was to broadcast an elephant's snort the other night. He did. A mike was suspended into the elephant's quarters at the New York Zoo.

ANN GORA'S CAT NIPS
Prof. Karl Ashburn was taken for a newspaper boy the other afternoon. He had been playing tennis and was dressed in white pants and didn't have on a tie. On the way home, he went by the girl friend's house and knocked on the door. Evidently the others in the girls family did not know him, because when the door was answered someone said: "Just a minute and I'll get the money to pay you." I wonder if he took the money or whether that blush gave him away. Gemma Nunley, someone has complimented you on that wonderful pair of supports of yours. Being only a girl, I never notice such things, but some boy left a note in The Skiff Box for me. After all that's what legs are for—to look at.

Oh, titter, titter! Someone called Miss Virginia Bales "Cotton" the other day in the hall. "Cotton" Bales is the best nickname of the campus. But she's high hat and doesn't speak to you when you call her "Cotton." And it's cute too—the nickname. Louise Briscoe road to town in the front seat with a taxi driver the other night when several of the girls in Jarvis played at the Texas Hotel. Louise, so it is said, found out his life history and told most of hers. She thought he was the hotel manager. And I'm glad she doesn't know yet who I am.

Two boys were seen in back of Jarvis Hall the other night taking a picture of the dormitory at night. It is rumored that they are going to charge a nickel a look at the finished picture.

'Tis rumored around the campus that Mozelle Bryant is trying to deny the statement made last week.

I hate to be a little tattle tale but I met four of Jarvis Hall's inmates (Continued on page 3)

SOCIETY

By ERNESTINE SCOTT

Hilarity, red and yellow colors, and gay Spanish costumes were the features of the annual festival banquet of the Los Higos held at King's Tea Room last night.

The welcoming speech was made by Miss Maurine Justin. Amy Beal, president of the organization, followed with a toast to the new members, to which Miss Maurine Parnell responded.

The play, "The Fatal Quest," was put on by Misses Mora Lou Washham, Grace Fallis and Helen Hall, and Miss Siddle Jo Johnson read a reading of her poem, "Los Higos."

The entertainment program of musical numbers by the Crash and Clatter orchestra, which was composed of members of the club, completed the entertainment for the evening. Committees for the banquet were: Transportation, Beal and John; Program, Misses Justin and Clotilda Houle; favors, Misses Louise Baker and Maurine Corder.

Those present were Misses Betty Hard, Iris Hays, Dorothy Conkling, Sarah Smith, Louise Briscoe, Kate Farmer, Opal Morgan, Martha Waide, Rowena Doss, Marion Dwyer, Dorothy Ezzell, Parnell, Helen Craddock, Mary Anna Phinney, Dorothy Dillard, Washham, Corine Koger, Violet Mikeska, Fallis, Pauline Jacobs, Judith Witherston, Edna Dees, Louise Cauer, Marie, Mary Frierson, Janet Large and Corder, and Lee Phenix, Joe George and Lee Gonzales.

According to Miss Louise Lester, chairman of the social committee, the Music Club wiener roast, which is to be held at the Tandy camp at Lake Worth Wednesday.

Reservations for the roast must be made by noon Tuesday. Members interested in music who wish to make reservations see any one of the social committee composed of Miss Lester, Miss Maxine Coffin, Mark Rhodes and Cody Standifer.

A business meeting will be held Wednesday at 1:30 o'clock to discuss other plans for the wiener roast. David Scoular will have charge of the program.

Bryson Club Studies Scientist's Biography

The Bryson Club met Tuesday night at the home of Miss Helen Annill, 2221 Lipscomb Street. A biography of Paul de Kruif, scientist, was studied. Those on the program were Misses Virginia Bryson, Philo Mae Murphree and Leta Layster.

Others attending the meeting were Misses Marion Smith, Mozelle Bryant, Mary Louise Wadley, Marjorie Scott, Arvohene Bowe, Margaret Thorne, Frances Griggs and Pannill, and Harard Spearman, Doc Sumner, Gene Woolwine and Prof. Karl E. Shuburn.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Miss Smith, 2829 Cantey Street, Nov. 17.

Dr. Elliott to Talk at Mothers' Club

Dr. Edwin A. Elliott will be the speaker at the meeting of the Mothers' Club of T. C. U. Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock in Jarvis Hall. Is the Home Economically Sound?" will be the subject of his address.

The Mothers' Club is composed of mothers of T. C. U. students. Mrs. K. Rose is president of the club.

Parabola to Have Treasure Hunt

The Parabola will have a treasure hunt next Thursday evening at Camp Jarvis at 7 o'clock. Reeder Shugart, chairman of the entertainment committee, will have charge of games.

The group will meet at Main Building at 6 o'clock. All those who wish to attend should sign their names in the mathematics office by Wednesday noon, according to Prof. R. Sherer, sponsor.

Dramatic Group Sees Sponsor Act

Twelve members of the Dramatic Club attended the showing of "Philip Goes Forth" at the Little Theater Monday evening. Miss Katherine Moore, sponsor of the club, plays one of the leading roles of the play. Those who attended were Misses Lilian Anderson, Betty Male, Corinne K. Lewis, Mary Elva Dillingham, Ruby Nell Poe, Lucy Mae Merritt, Jean Knight and La Verne Brunson, and Charles Hanna, X. R. Campbell, J. W. Sprinkle and Arthur King.

Skiff Reporters Are Experienced

Journalists Work on Many Periodicals for Talent.

The students of journalism, who publish The Skiff every week, are not beginners by any means. Ten of them have had experience on high school publications and city dailies, and the juniors and seniors have had experience on The Skiff that is of utmost value to them.

Leading the list in experience is Laurence Coulter, the editor. At Central High School, he served as cartoonist, and was also cartoonist for The Skiff during his freshman year. Reportorial duties were added to his cartooning during his sophomore year, and last year Jay Williams made him managing editor. He was elected to the editorship of The Skiff for this year, and is also on the Horned Frog staff. He holds a position as reporter on the Star-Telegram and has gained experience as advertising manager of the union labor paper in Fort Worth.

Lambert Works on Temple Paper. Standard Lambert, Skiff sports editor, served in that capacity on the Temple Daily Telegram before coming to T. C. U. and has been connected with the sports department of the Star-Telegram since his entrance in T. C. U. He is now sports editor of both The Skiff and Horned Frog.

Ernestine Scott, present society editor, was editor of The Pine Cone, Pine Bluff, Ark., high school publication, and served on The Skiff staff last year. She too, is a member of both The Skiff and Horned Frog staffs.

Haling Gains Experience. Elbert Halting, radio and feature editor, held that position on S. M. U.'s Semi-Weekly Campus in 1928, and also wrote several whole page radio features for the Dallas News. He was feature editor of The Skiff last year, and has a radio column this year.

John Hammond has had experience on his home town paper, The Memphis Democrat, and a local newspaper. He is assistant sports editor of The Skiff.

Paul Martin came to The Skiff from North Side where he was editor of the Lariat, school publication. He also did some advertising in Chickasaw, Okla., before coming to Fort Worth. He was on The Skiff reportorial staff last year.

Beginners Have Honors. The beginning journalists in the sophomore class do not come without some journalistic work. Joseph Sargent was editor of the Panthrette, Central High School publication, in 1930, and won third place in the Journalism Contest in the Interscholastic Journalism Congress his senior year. Rugeley Ammerman was a reporter on The Student, a weekly magazine published by the Fort Worth high schools. P. A. Cain has held reportorial position on the school publications of Wichita Falls High School and Kemper Military School of Booneville, Mo. He was elevated to the editorship of the Kemper publication last year. Mrs. Nancy Schmid was editor of the Sherman High School year book and represented the school in the Texas High School Press Association meeting in 1925. Charles Casper has reported for the San Antonio Light.

Class in Penmanship Offered by University

Dean Hall has called attention to the penmanship class taught by Miss Ruth Williamson. This course is non-credit and no tuition is charged. A new course is offered each semester. Any student who wishes may join the class.

Forensic Prospects to Have Meeting Monday

Marion Hicks, president of Pi Kappa Delta, forensic fraternity, has announced that the first meeting of the candidates for the organization will be held Monday at 1 p. m. in Room 304 of the Main Building. "All students who intend to go out for the debate squad or for oratory should attend this meeting," said Hicks. The purpose of the club will be explained and plans for this year's debate and oratory season will be discussed.

The Pi Kappa Delta is a national debate, oratory, and extempore speaking fraternity. T. C. U. holds the Texas Zeta chapter in the organization. L. D. Fallis, debate coach, will lead an informal discussion of the questions which will be debated this year, "Is Capitalism a Failure?"

$10 Prize Will Be Given by Staff

A prize of $10 will be awarded to either the freshman, sophomore or junior class depending on which one has the greatest percentage of their pictures made for the Horned Frog by Nov. 21, according to Miss Lillian Eylers, editor.

At the last meeting of the staff last Thursday night further plans were made for the style show. It was moved from the first week in December to some time immediately after the Christmas holidays. A definite date will be set later. Nominations for favorites will be held about Dec. 1.

Mrs. Murphy Favors Physical Pre-Junior

"Working Girls Sacrifice Health for Education," Says Department Head.

"American colleges are developing a woman's intellect at the expense of her health," says Dr. Beattie Littleton, N. H., who has recently made a survey of fifteen leading colleges.

In answer to this charge Mrs. Helen Murphy, head of the woman's physical education department at T. C. U., said that most of the girls who have to leave college because of a nervous breakdown are the students who are working their way through school.

Before entering T. C. U., all girls must take a physical examination. "I think this examination given the freshman year serves the purpose," said Mrs. Murphy. "However I believe another examination should be given before the girls enter their junior year. If students at T. C. U. are required to take an examination to see whether they are intellectually fit to continue with their work, why shouldn't they be examined to whether they are physically fit?"

Mrs. Murphy is also in favor of three years of physical education instead of only two; however, she does not believe that the educational training received in classes affords the girls enough exercise. They should become active in some sport that requires plenty of exercise.

Keith Is in Washington

Former T. C. U. Student Works on Crime Investigations.

John M. Keith, who received his B. A. degree from T. C. U. in 1918, is "dean" of Director J. Edgar Hoover's scientific crime detection school for department operatives. He is Inspector of the Washington field office, United States Bureau of Investigation. Keith is one of five men who compose the Bureau.

During the World War Keith was in the Secret Service. In 1920 he received a tip-off on a train robbery at Aledo, and killed one of the robber and captured the other two.

At T. C. U. Keith took work in German and government, in preparation for his present work. His mother, Mrs. K. Keith, was stewardess in the T. C. U. cafeteria in 1912-15. She is now at Wichita Falls Junior College.

Miss Elizabeth Tate of Comanche, a freshman in T. C. U. this year, is a cousin to Keith.

Change is Announced in Dr. Sewell's Hours

Miss Leta B. Bonner, University nurse, has announced a change of Dr. Sewell's office hours to 11 to 12 o'clock on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. On Saturday and Sunday there will be no hours at all except on special calls.

Miss Janelle Bush spent the weekend at her home in McKinney.

"What Will You Have for Lunch?" "Well, I'll Take Chicken, Gravy—"

Food, Food, Food. Everyone has to have it but few people give much thought to it. They eat their breakfast "on the run" to classes or to work, and many persons do without breakfast entirely. Lunch and dinner are also usually brief respites from buzzing activity.

A number of students and professors were questioned recently concerning their favorite dishes or menus. At first, some of them replied, "Oh, I don't know. Just something good to eat." However, after a little thought they were all able to decide upon their culinary preference.

Miss Rebecca Smith of the English department, when queried along these lines, wrinkled her forehead in her typical thoughtful manner and replied, "The most appetizing meal that I have ever partaken of was in Ceylon. It was cooked and served to perfection, and the native seasonings and condiments were incomparable. The basis was curried chicken and rice, prepared in a manner that I have never seen equaled anywhere in the world. Then, of course, the chutney, Bombay duck, and other inimitable side-dishes made that meal one long to be remembered."

Tom Hanks placed an immediate ban on all fancy dishes and "fixings" and cast his vote for a most proletarian meal. "Give me a couple of big slices of meat loaf, plenty of stringers (string beans), mashed potatoes, sweet milk to drink, and top it off with a big piece of cocoonut pie. I think with all of that under my belt I could easily last until the next meal."

Othol Martin, former Frog star and present assistant freshman coach, says his favorite dish is a tender, juicy t-bone steak served with shoe-string potatoes. "We usually finish practice before the varsity," he said, "and I am always the first arrival at the training-table. I like nothing better than to sit back there in perfect solitude and make that t-bone cry for mercy."

T. W. Carpenter says his idea of a satisfying meal is veal cutlets with plenty of catsup, French fried potatoes, beans (any kind), hot biscuits and home-made cherry pie.

Marjory Scott professes a liking for sea-food, shrimp cocktail, crab gumbo, fried trout and all of the "fixings" constitutes her idea of a good meal.

Mrs. Georgia Harris says her duties as cafeteria supervisor bring her in contact with so much food that she hardly has any preference for a particular dish. A menu which included prime rib roast, mashed potatoes and brown gravy, a heart of lettuce and sliced tomatoes would, however, be very agreeable to her appetite. She cares very little for desserts and sweets with the exception of lemon pie.

The consensus among dormitory students is that the Sunday night meal in the cafeteria is by far the best in the week.

Registrar Is Honored

E. R. Tucker is New Leader of Registration Group.

E. R. Tucker, T. C. U. registrar, was elected president of the Texas branch of the American Association of College Registrars at the annual convention held Oct. 30-31 in Waco. Tucker is the third president of the Association since its separation from the American Association of Colleges of which he was at one time secretary.

Tucker addressed the convention on "The Problems of the Transferred Students."

Other officers selected for the coming year are: Miss Edna Tucker of Austin College, vice-president; L. H. Kidd of Southwest State Teachers' College, secretary-treasurer.

Wednesday—and would you believe it? There was just the faintest odor of cigarette smoke distinguishable. My my, what are you girls coming to?

And again! Please, Dorothy Lee and Douglas Mitchell, won't you act like regular college kids. Aren't you afraid that you'll wear corns on your hands holding them so much. Douglas, if you'll smile when you look that way, Dorothy will like you lots better and people will know you care just as much about each other.

Overheard last week at the dance: "I hate to cut in on Camille Moore when I can see John Hopkins standing over there with that certain look in his eyes." I'll bet it's love-light.

And our hand is out to Dorris Higgins. I didn't want to be catty when I called her conceited about a month ago. Really, you've proven a brick. Will you pardon us?

SPORTORIALS

By STANDARD LAMBERT.
The Horned Frogs will run up against the toughest team in the conference when they tackle the Rice Owls tomorrow. Not only do the Meaghermen have a formidable starting eleven, but they can replace any player once without loss of strength, and in case of a tight they could make three or four substitutes at each position and still have a strong team on the field.

If we return the Feathered Tribe to Houston tomorrow night with the small end of the score it will be the greatest triumph that a Christian eleven has won in many years.

There is a possibility of Howell's being able to return to the lineup, and if he does, it will add a tower of strength in the forward wall. With Lon Evans on the other tackle, there will be little to worry about with the exception of our offense. In every major contest this year we have been repulsed from one to five times when we had our opponents grabbing for the high grass with their feet on their own goal line. We may not be able to score from the 30-yard line tomorrow. Being repulsed on the goal line will mean certain defeat.

So if we are victorious Saturday afternoon, just mark it down in your little memorandum that you are supporting a real football team—one that is destined to play the Mustangs for the championship in Christian Stadium, Nov. 28.

While news is a bit scarce I want to call time out long enough to hand out a few verbal bouquets to some of the freshmen. It is true that Dutch and Martin have less material out than in many years, but there are a few who have proved worthy of their spurs and what little mention that I can make is due them.

If I were asked to name the outstanding freshmen, I would start my list with an old family name in T. C. U. athletic circles. It is none other than Martin. Next I would name a long lanky center from way out in West Texas by the name of Woodson Armes. Third, I would pick a little mite of a quarterback from Paul Tyson's former home town who answers to the name of Coleman. And this George Kline from Gregory is no "slough" either. There are others that are worthy of mention, but these four have attracted more of my attention in the varsity-freshman scrimmages than the others.

Othol Martin, who is assisting Dutch with the tutoring of the first-year men, is as proud of his brother as if he were his own son. While the freshmen are trying to stop the varsity plays, Othol can be found a few yards from where his "kid brother" is playing end. He gives Hugh advantage of his three years of experience and is constantly giving him encouragement to the extent that he often makes monkeys out of some of the varsity blockers. Time and time again during the scrimmage, this second edition of the Martin family can be found throwing monkey wrenches into Coach Schmidt's prized offensive machinery. He weighs 175 pounds and is about 19 years of age. He will weigh 185 or 190 by next fall, and some of those regulars had better watch out. This youngster is just crazy enough about this pigskin game to want to be in that starting lineup, and he's liable to be there before next season is ended.

This lanky West Texan, Armes, that I mentioned is the smartest freshman center that I've seen since I've been in T. C. U. He diagnoses the varsity plays with the cunning of a bloodhound, and has plenty of power to break them up. He is a bit weak on getting his blocking assignments on the offense, but he'll learn that. Centers on small high school teams haven't been taught the art of blocking. Armes will learn tough and I believe that he will come through.

"This little Joe Coleman tickles the thunder out of me," Othol told the writer. "When a guard or a tackle has to go in and there are no others who play his position else 'Jodie' will jump in the hole left by the vacating linesman and battle the thunder outa them." That's the kind of football player Coleman is. He loves the game, can pass well, is a smart field general and is the spark plug of the Polliwog offense. It's a fine thing to have a man on the team who can lead men as he does.

Battered Frogs To Tackle Rice Owls Tomorrow

Boswell, Howell, Salkeld on Squad's Long Injured List

EVANS TO LEFT TACKLE Schmidtmen Defending Perfect Conference Record — Owls Have Lost One.

By STANDARD LAMBERT
A badly crippled Horned Frog eleven will line up against the Rice Owls on the Christian Stadium grid tomorrow afternoon and will attempt to hurdle its third obstacle down championship's straight and narrow lane. The starting lineup will probably be without the services of three regulars—Boswell, Howell and Salkeld. It is certain that Boswell will not even be in uniform. Howell, the other first string tackle who has been out since the Aggie game, has been going through the practice maneuvers this week but there is only an outside chance that he will start, while Salkeld's sprained ankle is dealing him not little misery.

Rice Must Win to Stay in Race.
The Owls must win to stay in the race for a conference title. Although they sent the champion Longhorns back with a one-touchdown defeat, the powerful S. M. U. Mustangs defeated them in Dallas. With a six-game schedule they have an outside chance to win or tie for the title, but a loss tomorrow will definitely eliminate them from the title hunt.

For the first time in a number of years, the Christians are doped to lose. The dopesters are giving the Feathered Tribe the edge partly because of the injury jinx that has held the Frogs at bay since the Aggie game, and partly because of the brilliance of the Owl stars and the deception and trickery of their offense.

To replace the injured Boswell, Lon Evans has been shifted to left tackle, and in the shift there will be the loss of little or no strength at that position. It will also be Evans' first appearance since the Aggie game. However, Cy Perkins who has made an excellent showing in both the Simmons and Arkansas tilts will see service. It is rather risky to put a sophomore in the key defensive position when facing such a deceptive offense.

If Howell does not start at his old job at right tackle, Jack Shackelford will receive the initial call with Slim Kinzy and Harvey Thomas held in reserve.

Should Salkeld's ankle keep him on the sidelines, either Wallace Myers or Jack Graves will start. In previous games, Coach Schmidt has favored Myers, but he indicated during the practice this week that Graves may receive the call. Both are capable wings. Myers has exhibited his skill on several occasions, and Graves played a faultless game against the Louisiana Tigers. The other regulars will start.

Meyermen to Play Plowboys Wednesday

Classwork Causing Meyermen Trouble—Physical Ailments Prevalent.

Coach Dutch Meyer's freshman football team will journey to Stephenville Wednesday where they engage the strong John Tarleton Junior College eleven. Both physical and scholastic injuries have claimed a heavy toll in the freshman camp.

The Stephenville team is unusually strong this year, and the freshmen are going to have a hard time beating the junior Farmers. In the past, the Polliwogs have defeated the Plowboys, but this year the task is going to be much harder.

With the exception of Blackmon at tackle, Coach Meyer will start the same team that received the initial kickoff against Weatherford. The only shift will find Truelson at tackle instead of end. The probable starting lineup is: Ends, Martin and Jacks; tackles, Truelson and Crum; guards, Chipps and Murray; center, Armes; quarterback, Coleman; halfbacks, Taylor and Harston; and fullback, Laneri.

However before the game is long under way Clark, Gaskin, Green, Creed, and Hart will probably be in the backfield; and Washon, Fitch, Kelsay and Denson will see line service. Floore, who made a fine showing at the beginning of the season, is still on crutches and will be unable to play.

The Meyermen have one more game on their schedule, closing their season with the formidable Terrill Prep aggregation here later in the season.

Girls Haven't a Chance

Porkers Have Gay Homecoming; Coach Schmidt Given Big Hand

When the exes of the University of Arkansas return to their Alma Mater on Homecoming Day, the really "pull" a homecoming. Last week the Frogs who made the trip to Fayetteville, saw Homecoming Day celebrated as it should be.

Incidentally, Coach Schmidt instituted the event and on the first Homecoming in 1922, the underdog Razorbacks defeated S. M. U. 9 to 0.

Every fraternity and sorority house on the campus was decorated to the limit. Judging from the signs and other decorations, one might think that Coach Schmidt had resigned at T. C. U. and was returning to Arkansas. Several of the frat houses had large "Hello Smitty" and "Welcome Back Home Smitty" signs strung across the front. The front lawn of one of the houses was covered with short sticks on which there was every kind of a hat conceivable. A big sign in front read, "Our Hats Are Off to Smitty." Another of the men's residences had a miniature gridiron on the front lawn with a large wooden Frog and Hog facing each other. The small goal posts were decorated in the colors of the respective schools.

At the game most of the students were dressed in some kind of crazy garb that may or may not have meant something. Every impersonation from the colored race to the street-sweeper was represented. The freshmen, who were seated apart from the other students, had their own yell leader.

Red Oliver and Hubert Dennis took advantage of the fact that Fort Worth is popularly known as "Cowtown" and made the trip wearing big five gallon hats, cowboy boots and corduroy trousers. They caused no little comment from the Arkansans as they paraded the streets of Fayetteville.

After the game, the tired and weary gridders boarded the original "slow train through Arkansas" that had been held up for over an hour waiting for them to eat. When a few miles out Coach Schmidt yelled at Red Oliver: "Red, the Arkansas players told me that they could tell which way you were going to run every time. You were pointing on every play."

Oliver did not look up from his no-trump bridge hand, but replied: "Well, why didn't they stop me?" Needless to say, this reply brought a roar of laughter from the squadmen and the hearty Frog coach had no comeback. Oliver had trumped his ace.

Schmidtmen Win From Razorbacks

Touchdown By Oliver In Second Period Is Only Score.

By STANDARD LAMBERT.
RAZORBACK FIELD, FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Oct. 31.—Playing before the Razorbacks' homecoming crowd, the Texas Christian Horned Frogs pushed the Arkansas eleven behind their goal line late in the second period and won a 7-to-0 victory in a sluggish game here Saturday. The sudden change in temperature caused the Frog backs to fumble often.

Red Oliver, hard running Christian halfback, was the spark plug of the Frog's offense, while Jack Langdon, playing in the place of Pruitt, and Cy Perkins, who replaced Ben Boswell, were the defensive lights. "Cowboy" Kyle was to Arkansas what Oliver was to T. C. U., but Capt. Secret, Darr and Johnson played excellent defensive football.

The Schmidtmen clearly outclassed the Hogs, haying made 12 first downs to the Razorbacks' six and covering 244 yards from scrimmage compared to 112 yards for the Porkers.

In the opening minutes of the first and last periods, the Frogs had possession of the leather on the Hogs' six-yard line, but lacked the scoring punch to push it across. At another time during the first period the Christians were on the Hogs' 11-yard marker but a fumble by Dennis stopped the threat. The third period saw the Arkansans backed to their 14-yard line, but again the Frogs lacked the goal line punch. The game ended with the ball of the Frogs' 10-yard line, first down and goal to go for the Schmidtmen.

Dormitory Boys Are Given Electric Clock

Dean and Mrs. L. L. Leftwich presented the boys of Goode Hall with an electric clock last Monday. The black walnut case matches the radio upon which it sets. A feature of the clock is that the day of the week and the date of the month are given.

Limerick Contest Winners Named

Miss Wilda Clark, Leonard Wallace and Miss Evelyn Green won the last three prizes in The Skiff-King Candy Limerick Contest this week. Honorable mention was given to Herman J. Winkler, Melvin Beaver, Miss Velma Marlin, Miss Maybeth Ellis, Miss Cora Lyle Ellis, Monroe Jackson, Dave Elias, Charles Boatner, Miss Mildred Kelly and Miss Mozelle Bryant.

"Spooks were trumps and he felt like a Jack" was Miss Clark's last line. Miss Green's line was "He turned ashy pale when a duck said quack" and Wallace's last line was "That then and there he lettered in track."

Tickets were mailed last night to be redeemable at the University Pharmacy for one-pound boxes of King's New Rhythm Chocolates.

Jack T. Stovall, representative of King's, wishes to thank those who entered the contests and announced that boxes of King's Royal Collection were being sent to all girls of the University.

INTRAMURAL SPORTS

By CHARLIE CASPER.
As the football season draws to a close the juniors find themselves clinched as the winners of the intramural league. The junior were set last week by a surprising 12-0 tie at the hands of the seniors. Previously the juniors had handed the seniors a 24-to-0 beating. Thus the juniors have not lost a game and have suffered only one tie.

To date the seniors and sophomores lost two games each and the result of the coming senior-sophomore game will determine the second place winner.

The finals take place Monday with the seniors tangling with the freshmen and the sophs taking on the juniors. The senior-fresh game will take place at 1:30 o'clock, and the junior-soph mix-up comes at 2:00 o'clock. Both the seniors and juniors are favored to win but most anything can happen before the game is over.

The winners of the intramural football game will be presented with silver footballs and the second place winners will be awarded silver medals.

The tennis finals are drawing near with the freshman members favorites. The finals will be played between Judy Truelson and Marjorie Hart, both of whom are freshman. Basketball managers will meet some time next week and prepare their schedule for the coming basketball season which will start about Dec. 1.

Eagle Harriers Win From Frogs

In its first meet of the year the T. C. U. cross-country team suffered a 23-to-33 defeat by the Denton Teachers team last Saturday.

Although Simpson of Denton, who holds the T. I. A. A. record for the mile, won first place in the 3 1/4 mile run, he was given a great race by Chappel of T. C. U., who placed second. Simpson's time for the course was 16 minutes.

Denton placed third, fourth and fifth. Ernest Brown of T. C. U. came in sixth, with Laurence Coulter, seventh, and Orville Paty, eighth. Denton placed ninth and Mel Sumner tenth.

Misses Eloise Washburn, Maxine Price and Ruth Morgan spent the week-end in Greenville.

Miss Theo Smart spent the week-end in Temple.
