12:15 o'Clock Is New Ruling for Dormitory Girls

Regulation Is Adopted by Administration's Sanction.

MRS. BECKHAM APPROVES Annual Jarvis Affair Will Be Held After Basketball Game Tuesday.

In compliance with the request of the Skiff and the continued desires of the students, that the hour on Saturday nights be extended to 12:15 o'clock, I wish to announce that this hour has my approval and has been sanctioned by the administration," Mrs. Beckham stated in a message to the editor of The Skiff.

The Skiff starts tomorrow night. The new regulation starts tomorrow night and applies only to dates Saturday nights. Other rules in regard to time will remain the same. The administration, upon the advice of Mrs. Beckham, approved the new regulation and extension of time after an editorial had appeared in last week's Skiff.

Mrs. Beckham also announced that the girls in Jarvis Hall would be invited to all town girls Tuesday night. Guests of the girls will also be the guests of the University in the cafeteria Tuesday night and Wednesday morning.

Dates Are Stressed.

Boys were urged to bring the town girls to the dormitory where refreshments will be served and musical entertainment will be given after the Christian-Baylor game in the gymnasium. This is an annual affair in Jarvis Hall.

Confirmation of all dates on the social calendar was also stressed by Mrs. Beckham. All organizations should consult Mrs. Beckham before dates are set for social activities.

John Rice Speaks To Bible Association

The Radio Church" was the subject of an address by the Rev. John Rice of Fort Worth at the meeting of the Bible College of the Bible Association Wednesday night.

The B. C. B. quartet, composed of Mrs. Nielsen, James Duvall, Perry Graham and James Parrott, gave a number.

Miss Jean Cox led the meeting.

Senior Selected As Representative

Miss Marian Howrey, senior from Dallas, has been made this year's representative for Jackson's.

Miss Howrey is an honor student and is vice-president of Alpha Zeta Pi, national language fraternity. She has been a member of Los Hidaigos for four years and also belongs to the Scholarship Society and the Superettes. Miss Howrey is a Spanish major with French as a minor.

Miss Howrey was selected Jackson's representative from several candidates. This is the first year the organization has had a T. C. U. representative.

All co-eds interested in purchasing clothes at Jackson's should see her.

T. C. U. Debaters Will Meet Austin College

Three Teams Go to Sherman for Contest to Be Held There Tonight.

Six Texas Christian men will go to Sherman tonight to meet the Austin College teams in a debate on the question, "Resolved, that Congress should enact legislation to provide for centralized control of industry."

The teams that will make the trip are Milton Mehl and Reagan Sayers, negative; Lee Henderson and Cleo McGehee, negative; and Paul Martin and Marion Hicks, affirmative. Decisions will be rendered only in the first two debates.

Thomas Magoffin and J. W. Springle won a 2-to-0 decision from the Austin College team Monday night on the same question.

'Ego Amo Te' Has Taken Count for Modern Parlance

Shades of St. Valentine!

It is about time for campus Romeos to begin thinking in terms of "sugar's sweet and so are you" again. Cupid's arrows will be flying thick and fast in a day or two.

St. Valentine's Day dates back to the good old Roman days. Just think what an evolution "ways and means" have gone through in the meantime!

No doubt the brave Roman soldiers of Caesar's day blurted a staunch "Ego amo te" to the fair damsel of his choice. And the noble English gallant during Shakespeare's time probably sighed in his lady's ear, "Lady, by yonder blessed moon I swear,"

The early American youth of Washington's age more than likely ventured shyly, "I cannot tell a lie! I want you for my Valentine." The well-known jelly-bean of not so long ago might have drawn, "Say, baby, you're goin' with me to that Valentine hop. See?"

But what chance has the ultra-modern college hero? His best bet is to utter lazily from his state of boredom, "Yeah, I guess I'll be your Valentine."

Rupert Howard To Give Address

Fourth Presentation of Lecture Series to Be Wednesday.

Rupert Howard, juggler and magician, will deliver an address on "Magic Through the Ages" Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock in the University Auditorium. He is the fourth presentation of the Lecture Series.

His lecture will include the story of magic and superstition in primitive religions and descriptions of feats performed more than 6000 years ago. He will discuss modern magic, of which Houdin and Houdini are outstanding characters, and will describe the psychology underlying modern magic.

Howard will give demonstrations during the lecture which include feats with the Wand, centuries-old symbol of the magician, the devining daggers and decks of cards.

Exploring Scribe Discovers I. Q. Rating While Investigating Brite

Your aspiring, ambitious and ambidextrous reporter, while sitting comfortably on the steps of Goode Hall frantically searching for some news, inadvertently let his eyes rest on the building at the southern extremity of the campus. (Pardon me, I think I'll write this in the first person from now on. It's easier.)

"What's this?" I shouted excitedly, all the time rising leisurely and flicking an imaginary fleck of dirt from my trousers to the immaculate steps of Goode Hall (I'm still imagining). "I didn't know there was a third story to Brite. This must be investigated." So just like a little man, with my nose for news upturned—luckily it wasn't raining—I bayed fully in true journalistic-canine fashion and went exploring.

Sign on Door

After safely negotiating the thirty-one steps to the third floor (count 'em if you don't believe me), the first thing that met my eye was a door with "Psychology" printed on it. (Yes, I know that door is away back in the corner, but I have unusually good eyes. Yes, I know I misspelled "Psychology," too. I did that to see if you were paying attention.) Upon entering the door and seeing no one in my immediate proximity, I advanced further into the room looking for some psychology. Seeing none, I was about to retrace my steps when a young lady jumped up from behind a railing in the corner and thrust a big folder of paper in my hands. (Don't you think it's about time for another paragraph?)

Here's Another Paragraph

"Here," she said, "answer these 75 questions in twenty minutes. These are sample questions on the first page. You may practice with those now, but don't look at the other three pages until I give you the signal to begin." I was about to drop the paper and make a hurried exit, when one of the trial questions caught my eye. It looked easy and simple enough—some-

T. C. U. Debaters Will Meet Austin College

Three Teams Go to Sherman for Contest to Be Held There Tonight.

Six Texas Christian men will go to Sherman tonight to meet the Austin College teams in a debate on the question, "Resolved, that Congress should enact legislation to provide for centralized control of industry."

The teams that will make the trip are Milton Mehl and Reagan Sayers, negative; Lee Henderson and Cleo McGehee, negative; and Paul Martin and Marion Hicks, affirmative. Decisions will be rendered only in the first two debates.

Thomas Magoffin and J. W. Springle won a 2-to-0 decision from the Austin College team Monday night on the same question.

Beauties and the Bus

If smiles mean anything, the new T. C. U. busses seem to please the Horned Frog beauties pretty well. After riding on the old street cars for so long, students welcome the new method of transportation.

The street car line was the champion of its size for turns and twists according to officials. "This line had more turns than any line of the same length in the world."

Where's Miss Jane Jarvis? Well, this beauty just missed the bus.

Captain Knight Shows Eagle Film

Pictures From Natural Life of Bird Seen by Large Group.

Capt. Charles W. R. Knight, the English "eagle man," portrayed "Filming the Golden Eagle" by talk and by moving pictures last night in the T. C. U. Auditorium. The soldier-naturalist appeared under the auspices of the University Lecture Series Committee.

Captain Knight, regarded as one of the most humorous and entertaining speakers of England, is the first and only man to film the life of the golden eagle in Scotland. Three summers were required to secure all the pictures necessary to tell the complete life story of the eagle, from the hatching out of the young until the birds become too old to fly.

The captain's tame eagle, Ramshaw, performed before the audience last night. This bird has traveled with Captain Knight more than 25,000 miles and is exceedingly well-trained.

The handling of a golden eagle is a dangerous business, according to Captain Knight. "There is no other living creature in which such enormous muscular power is packed in such relatively small weight," he explained.

This is Captain Knight's fourth lecture tour in America. The captain has appeared with his film in the Polytechnic Theater, London, where he beat all records by making three appearances a day for 15 weeks.

'Hansel and Gretel' Will Be Presented

Mrs. Cahoon Will Direct Fairy Opera to Be Given Feb. 29 in Auditorium.

Soloists from the chorus and glee clubs, 14 members of the Girls' Glee Club, members of the orchestra, and students from the Jennings Avenue High School will take part in "Hansel and Gretel," a fairy opera, by Humperdinck, that is to be given in the T. C. U. Auditorium, Monday evening, Feb. 29, according to Mrs. Helen Fouts Cahoon, director.

Principal parts in the opera are taken by Misses La Verde Sessions, Bita May Hall, Dorothy East, Delia Collins, Mrs. Annabel Hall Bailey, Mrs. Harry Elkins, and Sam Cotton. The parts of the ginger-bread children will be taken by the Jennings Junior students. The girls of the glee club will take the parts of the angels.

'Sophomore Doughboys' Is Minstrel's Name

Cast Members Meet to Practice Parts in Class Variety Show.

The "Sophomore Doughboys" is the new name for the sophomore minstrel. The new name was decided upon at the last meeting held Friday, in Brite College, under the direction of its sponsor, Prof. J. W. Ballard.

Those present at the meeting were Lynn Brown, Ben Baxter, Bob Bradford, Miles Dewhurst, Joe Carpenter, Carley Bryant, Charles Casper, Wirth McCoy, Fred Miller, Frank Miller, Jack Langdon, Bud Taylor, Joe Sargent, James Wiseley, Cy Perkins, J. W. Sprinkle, Nat Wells, Lee Glasgow, Sam Sayers, Harvey Thomas and Julian Hunt.

Spanish Class Gains Honor of Being Greenest

Found! Found at last—the greenest class in school! Which one? Miss Eula Lee Carter's Spanish class, 12 o'clock TTS.

Proof? If this be proof, make the most of it: Six out of eight girls had on green dresses and one out of four boys wore a green shirt.

Miss Carter, having just graded a set of papers in which she was told Monticello was the home of George Washington and various other new and interesting facts, asked her brilliant freshmen if St. Patrick's Day had been moved up a month.

But no! The green ones maintained with all stubbornness that St. Patrick still "paints the town red" in March. Some one may suggest as the reason for this strange green phenomenon that fish just will be green. The culprits themselves, however, after deep thought and wearying concentration solved the question by advancing this astounding theory: Unlike things attract.

12 Band Members Win Scholarships

Burns, Meadows, Grant Judge Contestants in Tryouts.

Twelve scholarships have been awarded to members of the T. C. U. Band and Orchestra for the spring semester. Tryouts for the scholarships were held Tuesday evening, Feb. 2, under the supervision of Prof. Claude Sammis.

Those who have received scholarships and the instruments they play are: Trumpets, Milner Sandifer, Alto Tatum and J. E. King; clarinets, Tom Fleming, Frank McMordie and Murray Livingston; horn, Sproesser Wynn; trombone, Don Gillis; drums, Cody Sandifer; sousaphone, Charles Caldwell; drum major, Gibson Randle, and orchestra librarian, Mary Page Martin.

Judges for the scholarship contest were: Thomas Burns, former solo trumpet in the Highlanders Band of Toronto, Canada, Cecil Meadows of the Meadows School of Music in Fort Worth, and F. H. Gallant, instructor of woodwinds in the Fort Worth Conservatory of Music.

Band to Play at Fellowship Service

The Horned Frog Band, under the direction of Prof. Claude Sammis, will present a program of sacred overtures and classical music at the University Religious Fellowship program Sunday evening at 7 o'clock in the T. C. U. Auditorium.

As a special number, Billie Tom Stewart, band mascot, will give a reading. Dean L. L. Leftwich will have charge of the offering.

Glee Club Makes Initial Appearance

Spring Concert Season Is Opened With Program in Weatherford.

Under the direction of David Scouler, the Men's Glee Club opened its spring concert season with a program in the First Methodist Church at Weatherford Sunday evening.

Immediately after the concert the club was entertained at a reception given in the basement of the Presbyterian Church. Mrs. J. H. Doss, mother of Miss Rowena Doss, who is pianist for the club, was the hostess.

The Glee Club will appear in two programs during February. In the first concert the club will collaborate with the Girls' Glee Club, the Bryson Club and the women's physical education department in presenting a Washington Memorial program for the Fellowship service Sunday evening, Feb. 21.

On the following Sunday evening, Feb. 28, the club will sing at the North Side Christian Church.

'T' Association Skits Thursday

'T' Men Rehearse Farce Skits for Association Play

Stage Show to Replace Annual Athletic Carnival.

ATHLETES FORM CHORUS Forty Lettermen Will Appear Thursday at 8 P. M. in Auditorium.

Members of the "T" Association will be presented in the "Horned Frog Follies of 1932" in the University Auditorium Thursday evening at 8 o'clock.

This presentation, which will include an opening chorus and nine one-act skits, will replace the annual athletic carnival. Approximately 40 "T" men will appear either as members of the chorus or as characters in the plays.

Miss Moore Director.

Miss Katherine Moore of the public speaking department will direct the skits, Miss Philo Mae Murphee is in charge of the dancing, and Miss Kathryn Elkins will play the piano accompaniments.

Returning to the custom of the early days of the drama when women were prohibited appearance on the stage, men will have the feminine rolls throughout.

Characters Named.

In the opening chorus the feminine parts will be taken by Otha Tiner, Howard Walsh, Bob Preston, Robert Chappell, Charlie Williams and Paul Snow. The part of the escorts will be taken by Jack Shackelford, Lon Evans, Dan Salkeld, Cy Perkins, Vance Woolwine and Hubert Dennis.

Those who have parts in the skits are: J. W. Townsend, Jack Langdon, Shackelford, Foster Howell, Lucy Phelps, Wallace Meyers, Madison Pruitt, Salkeld, Lee Bassinger, Jack Graves, Raster McCulloch, Doc Sumner, Harlos Green, Johnny Vaught, Adolph Dietzel, B. W. Spearman, John McDiarmid, Ellsworth Chappell, Perkins, L. O. Dallas, Richard Oliver, Dennis, Buster Brannon, John Hirstine, Woolwine, Evans, Howard Carrell, Tiner, Preston and Walsh.

Houser Named on Track Honor Roll

Dick Houser, present holder of the Southwest conference record in the 100-yard dash, was on the all-American track honor roll as listed by the Athletic Journal. The Journal also ran the sprint star's picture in a starting pose, and accompanied it with a nice story.

Houser's 9.6 seconds clocking was surpassed in the nation by but two men and tied by one. Frank Wykoff of the University of California and Emmett Toppino from Loyola University in New Orleans were clocked at 9.5 and Eddie Tolan, the Michigan negro, tied Houser.

Trustees Convene In Annual Meeting

The annual meeting of the executive and advisory members of the Board of Trustees of Texas Christian University convened yesterday morning at 10 o'clock in the University Auditorium. Van Zandt Jarvis, D. C. Reed, T. E. Tomlinson, Lewis J. Ackers, Mrs. Ida V. Jarvis and E. E. Bewley, members of the Executive Board whose terms expire this year, were re-elected for a term of five years.

President Waits gave the annual report of the President on the affairs of administration. Other routine matters of administration to receive attention were the reports of Dean Colby Hall and Butler Smiser, business manager, on the election of the faculty for 1932-33; and the planning of the budget.

The other members of the Executive Board are as follows: C. A. Wheeler, L. D. Anderson, W. W. Mars and W. S. Cooke, Fort Worth; S. J. McFarland, D. G. McFadin and Dan D. Rogers, Dallas; Ross S. Sterling and H. C. Garrison, Austin; H. W. Stark, Gainesville; L. C. Brite, Marfa; H. H. Rogers, Tulsa, Okla., and Andrew Sherley, Anna.

Still Crying!

The Skiff is still crying for a new flag for the Texas Christian campus! If you have read the last two editorials on this subject, you have not heard all yet. Read on!

Wednesday, the flag was not flown for some reason or other. Perhaps the one in charge thought that a little care was due the flag, and, as it appeared likely weather for rain, some respect was thought needed. Praise ye, praise ye!

While the flag was at rest, a little investigation was in progress. The original measurements of the flag were 10 feet deep and 15 feet long. Wednesday the flag was nine and one-half feet deep and nine feet long. Only six feet of this most representative flag had disappeared with the wind!

Further investigation found that the flag cost the University $22.75 and was purchased before the graduation exercises last year. If care had been taken with the flag and if it had not been flown during rain and storm, this flag that flies over our campus today would be in fairly good condition. At it is now, the flag is dirty, fast rotting, ragged—and worst of all, it is only six feet shorter than it was when raised for the first time!

If the University cannot afford a new flag, won't some kind hearted organization donate one? There would be such rejoicing that the band might be induced to give a short concert and someone might be induced to make a flag waving speech—for five minutes.

By this time next week, the flag should be about another foot shorter—and remember, it is only six feet shorter now! Do we need a new flag—or are you content with that shipwrecked effect?

A Privilege Granted

Last week, The Skiff asked for an extra forty-five minutes for the girls in Jarvis Hall on Saturday night. This morning, The Skiff carries a news story announcing that the administration has granted this privilege.

Dean Sadie Beckham, The Skiff wishes to thank you for your co-operation in securing this added privilege to the girls in your care. It was through your efforts that this concession was made and The Skiff feels certain that those girls in your care will show their appreciation in more ways than one.

You have the duty of enforcing the rules—rules that are absolutely necessary for the management of any girls' dormitory. You have been performing your duties in a most satisfactory manner through the years and those girls who feel that you have not granted them any special privileges have always been those who have not justly deserved them.

You have been most lenient in your translation of the rules and have cared for every situation in a commendable manner. The Skiff again wishes to thank you for your most welcome co-operation in securing the extension of the Saturday night hour to 12:15 o'clock. May every girl in the dormitory co-operate with you in your work and may they never abuse those privileges that are granted to them.

A Tribute

The position of dean of any college is one which requires a great deal of knowledge of both the university and the university life. Too many of the deans and officials of the colleges today are too narrow minded. This is not so in our own University.

Dean Colby D. Hall is one of the most misunderstood men on the campus to those who do not really know him. He is always willing to listen to any proposition that students have to make and he is always willing to make concessions so long as the concessions are not injurious to the individual or to those surrounding him.

Many people on the campus think that the dean is supposed to be a person who is grouchy and looks disdainful on any new idea. This is not so with Dean Hall. Students who know him know that he is for any new movement or new idea which will add to the college life. He is strong for tradition, but if something better is found to take the place of an old tradition, he is willing to give the new idea a trial.

Dean Hall is one of the most beloved men on the campus. He has helped to guide Texas Christian through many long years of progress and but for his hand many innovations would still be lacking on the campus. The Skiff wishes to extend its most sincere appreciation for the broadmindedness, the good fellowship and friendliness, and the spirit that Dean Hall has shown during the years that he has served Texas Christian University. May your service continue for years to come as it has in the past.

The Bears Are Coming

Tuesday night the conference-leading Baylor Bears will invade the Frog Fieldhouse for what promises to be the most torrid game on the conference schedule, and since the T. C. U. student body will be the hosts of the evening, a great responsibility lies on its shoulders.

The feeling between the two student bodies has been on a high plane of late. Last fall, when the Bears knew that nothing but defeat could come to them in the T.C.U.-Baylor football game, they sent a special envoy to Fort Worth to welcome our student body to Waco. During the recent clash of the basketball teams of the two schools, they acted as perfect hosts.

Now when it seems that this game will have a most important bearing on the championship chase, there will be a severe strain on both the teams and the rooting sections. A crisis is impending, and it takes a crisis to test one's metal. There is no doubt that the greatest crowd that has seen a game in Fort Worth since the final game with S. M. U. last March will be on hand. With all of these circumstances the T. C. U. students have a chance to either "make or break" themselves as good sports. If we fall down on our duty as a host, if we direct our cheering energy in the wrong channels or if we do anything that falls short of the way that Baylor treated us in Waco, we have fallen down in a crisis.

COULTER'S COLUMN

THIS'N that about people on the campus: President Waits quotes more poetry per year than any of the English teachers. . . . Prof. Sammis is continually worried about that ever increasing lack of hair. . . . Dr. Elliott likes plumber's helpers. . . . Prof. Ascher never goes anywhere without her dog. . . . She will if that Goode Hall demon isn't expelled from school. . . . I always miss dog fights.

THE GOBLIN'S FEAST.

A spider built her web last night Of soft threads fine and thin, And when the goblins found the net They flung some jewels in. They threw great handfuls from the wet, Wet grass beneath the dew, And then they scampered off to tell A little child they knew.

They ran, and ran so fast until They came at last to town And found the baby tucked in bed Wearing a long night-gown.

They pulled his hair and thumped his head Until he was awake, And said to wear his over-shoes, And bring along some cake.

And then they took him by the hand, As anybody would, And led him to this certain place Right where a tall oak stood.

They patted him, and kissed his face; Then climbed up in the tree And swung him in a spider's web As strong as it could be. —Marie Hamlett.

A GOODE LAMENT.

Are there any ladies present, Cause I feel that I could curse? I'm in a predicament That couldn't be much worse.

I thought before I dressed tonight I ought to take a shower I didn't think that I would be —Up here for more'n an hour.

I took my shirt and pants off And hung 'em on the door And placed my slippers and my socks Beside 'em on the floor.

I'd just got nice and soapy When some stupid little squirt Stuck his hand inside the door And grabbed my pants and shirt.

Tonight is open house in Goode; There's girls here by the score In the parlor with their fellows, And my room's on first floor.

If I catch the guy what done it Him and me is gonna fight, 'Cause if someone doesn't help me I'll be here half the night.

And so I ask you, fellow, If you should get a chance Won't you look and see if you Can find my shirt and pants? —Charles E. J. Hanna.

Sally Eilers, James Dunn, Walter Huston, Jean Harlow on New Bills

Natacha Nattova (if Roscoe Ates was master of ceremonies how would he ever introduce her?) will be the headliner at the Worth starting Sunday. She is the acclaimed originator of the Adagio dance—the type that is a cross between a wrestling match and a boxing bout. The Palace will star Jean Harlow on the screen and Sally Eilers and James Dunn will occupy the Worth screen in the new flickers.

This new team of Eilers and Dunn is fast approaching the starring heights of Janet Gaynor and Charles Farrell. The new film, Dance Team, is rated by critics as one of the best of the season.

The story concerns two dancers whose fortunes are in their feet. The only trouble is that James lets the success that he enjoys go to his head.

He finally gets down and out just when Sally starts to marry a millionaire—and could you beat it? She discards the fortune and takes back Jimmy.

The stage show is the new Fanchon and Marco Idea, On Parade. Paul Sydel and Spotty, Joe Rose, Four Flushers and 16 more Sunkist beauties take the stage along with Nattova.

The Palace brings you Jean Harlow in the Beast of the City. Walter Huston plays the male lead in this new film. The only thing we know to tell you about this feature is that "you are not free from this beast at home in bed or behind the bars."

Sounds like it might be your conscience, but it isn't. This starts tomorrow. Ten Nights in a Bar-Room will take the screen a week from tomorrow with

ON THE AIR

By ELBERT HALING.

All of the four Mills Brothers are now equipped with mustaches. . . . Foster Howell would like to grow one. . . . Crosby wears a hat when airing. . . . Albert Jones prefers Mort Downey to Bing. . . . Russ Columbo drives his own auto—so does Ad Dietzel. . . . The Boswell Sisters wear pajamas when hiking—we don't blame Cy Leland for liking his job. . . . Dorothy Dillard wonders why we don't write more and funnier stuff—thanks Dotty. . . . Lawrence Tibbett is 35 years of age.

Singin' Sam states that the old-time minstrel show had its initiations. When he joined Field's Minstrels, they mixed varnish with Sam's burnt cork.

A Kate Smith Club has been organized at the Circus City Zoo in Peru, Ind. . . . Its members include a "living skeleton," a mid-geet, a strong man, and a fire eater. . . . T. C. U.'s McLean Sisters are considering a television broadcast—to complete the color scheme we suggest Lizzy Ruff. . . . Ben Boswell's puny frame thrills to Guy Lombardo's tunes. . . . Ben Bernie's real name is Benjamin Ancel, the son of a blacksmith. . . . A Skiff fan asks, "What does the radio editor look like?"—Big feet, red hair, talks Bing Crosby, listens to Love Story program, brown eyes, wears wading boots around the campus when it rains.

MAURINE JUSTIN wishes to announce that she positively does not go with John Morphis. Yes, Lee Phenix is the one—and if you haven't noticed that by now—well, don't you have eyes? And for everybody's information that told Sally about Ben last Monday—that was Ben Boswell's little sister that he took to the basketball game last Saturday night. Now you tattle-tales be quiet. Here's the latest on Cy Perkins: Eloise Barksdale calls him "Ducky Wucky." If you don't believe that will turn his face red, just call him that.

FOUND IN The Skiff box: Ma Clark would like to have a date every Saturday night for the remainder of the year.

Another note stated that Frank Johnston would also like to have a date every Saturday night. May the two could get together somehow.

SOCIETY

By ERNESTINE SCOTT

In spite of the fact that only a few organizations have turned in their social calendars to the committee, indications point to a program full of a variety of activities for the spring months. The freshman class members have scheduled an event for each month. Parties hold the supremacy over other activities on the first year students' calendar, which includes a skating party in February, a theater party in March, a picnic in May and a tacky party in April.

Sophs to Banquet.
The sophomores have chosen more of a variety of affairs. Their minstrel show is set for sometime the last of this month. A treasure hunt will be held in March and a banquet is scheduled for the last of April. Their final social will be a lawn party at the Jarvis home about the middle of May.

The juniors will participate in only three affairs as a class during the spring semester. The class play will be presented around the middle of April. The banquet near the last of April and a swimming party in May are the other two events on this calendar.

An open house this month, the sports banquet in March, an April Fool's party on April 1 and a picnic in May are the social activities listed for the senior class.

Affairs Scheduled.
The Scholarship Society has only one affair scheduled. That is the annual banquet to be held around the first of May.

The Dana Press Club has three social activities for the remaining months of school. Prof. and Mrs. Richards, sponsor and mother of the club, will be hosts to the organization in April. A picnic in March and the annual banquet in May, when the officers for the next year are elected, conclude the affairs for this club.

Clubs Plans Picnic.
The Music Club members will have a picnic at Klondike Ranch around April 1, as their first social activity. They will give a lawn party in May and the Fine Arts banquet will be the last of that month.

Dinner Listed.
Los Hidalgos has a progressive dinner listed for March and a picnic in May.

The Houston Club has a dinner, a banquet, a picnic and a swimming party scheduled for the next four months. A colonial tea will be given by the campus Y. W. C. A. in the parlors of Jarvis on Sunday afternoon, Feb. 21. The annual B. B. A. banquet is to be given Feb. 23. Another affair scheduled for the department is a picnic in May.

Miss Clutter and George Hays Marry

Miss Mjelle Clutter and George L. Hays were married in Ardmore, Okla., Feb. 1.

Mrs. Hays is a former T. C. U. student. Hays is a pilot with the American Airways.

Mr. and Mrs. Hays are making their home in Dallas.

English Club Will Hear Original Work

Misses Mary Jean Knight, Siddle Joe Johnson and Hannah Ann House will be hostesses to Sigma Tau Delta at the regular monthly meeting Monday evening in the parlors of Jarvis Hall.

The program will consist of the reading of original poetry, essays, plays and short stories written by members of the local chapter, according to the program chairman, Miss Harriet Griffin.

Publisher to Speak To Dana Press Club

M. L. McCain, editor and publisher of the North Fort Worth Sunday News, will be speaker at the meeting of the Dana Press Club Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock, when Paul Martin is host to the club.

Martin will entertain the group at his home, 1204 North West 15th Street. The Valentine motif will be carried out in the decorations.

Bryson Club to Sponsor Program

Modern dramas and novels will be the subject Tuesday night when the Bryson Club meets at the home of Miss Frances Griggs, 2441 University Drive.

The club will also sponsor a George Washington Birthday program in chapel, Feb. 22. Mrs. Cahoon and the Girls' Glee Club will sing.

Alpha Zeta Pi Holds Meeting

To bring back old members to active participation was the purpose of the meeting of Alpha Zeta Pi last Wednesday evening in Brite College clubroom, according to Miss Clotilda Anne Houle, program director.

Short talks on "My Favorite Spanish Dramatist" and on "My Favorite French Dramatist" were offered by Miss Dorothy Conkling and Miss Kathryn Williams. Miss Emily Garnett gave a discussion of Portuguese and Rumanian literature and Miss Ruth Johnson offered a piano solo.

Gipson Is Elected Banquet Leader

Herschel Gipson, senior, was elected toastmaster by members of the B. B. A. department for the annual banquet to be held Tuesday night, March 1.

Members of the department also voted this week on the B. B. A. queen, whose identity will not be revealed until the night of the banquet.

The committee that is working on the plans for the banquet is composed of Mel Summers, chairman, Kenneth Lacy, John Ruff, Dan Filligim, Billie Dickey and Howard Walsh.

Plans for Banquet Made by Parabola

Plans for the annual banquet of the Parabola were discussed at a meeting of the organization last night. The banquet is to be held Feb. 20 at the Worth Hotel in honor of the seniors in the department of mathematics and of the freshmen who are members of the special freshman mathematics class.

Miss Elizabeth Shelburne had charge of the program which consisted of a discussion of the calculus of variations.

thing or other about if John has an apple and a half and his mother has an apple and a half who shall they invite to dinner? I checked over the others on that page and they were just as easy, so I grabbed up a pencil and prepared for action. Besides, I figured they might be giving a new automobile or a trial-size jar of shoe polish to the winner.

First Question Easy.

The first two or three questions I answered were comparatively easy, but then they got tougher and I saw they were working the old Army game. I started out with first-grade arithmetic and grammar and ended up with solid geometry and a critical analysis of proverbs, to say nothing of analogies and similes. At least that's what the questions were about when the 20 minutes were up, and I was only on number 60. I was completely exhausted after the ordeal, but I hung around until she graded my paper.

No Contest Declared.

"You made a good grade," she said. "What's the prize?" I asks, innocent-like. "Prize? This isn't any contest," she answers. "Where do you think you are? Don't you take Psychology?" I thought of a snappy comeback, "Is that what you do with it?" Then I found out that she thought I was one of the students in that department and had come up to take the intelligence test, and she was some surprised to learn that I was only a struggling journalism student trying to make a grade.

I was a shade surprised myself when she said my Intelligence Quota was 123, and I felt terrible (oh yeah?) when she added that the I. Q. of the average student is 100 and of the college graduate 120.

SPORTORIALS

By STANDARD LAMBERT

The Tuesday issue of Miller's Sport Notes in the Daily Lariat initiated a campaign for Strickland as all-conference guard. As I see it, this is a very smart move on Miller's part, and shows some evidence of real thought. In the first place Strickland would make an excellent guard; secondly, it will probably give Strickland a place whereas if he were kept at center, he would probably be dropped to second team, and lastly, Miller wants to place Alford at the other forward position.

OF COURSE Elton did not admit that he is trying to find a place for Alford, but the fact was plainly obvious. I will admit that Alford is a classy cager, but hardly deserving of higher than second team ranking.

Because of the fact that there are several excellent guards in the conference, and a dearth of outstanding forwards, I still believe that the proper place for Strickland is at forward.

Arkansas has two excellent guards in Sexton and Murphy. Baylor has Barnett and Wells; The Aggies offer Beard and Veltman, and McLaughlin of the Ponies was no "slouch" last year. Technically speaking Sexton is a center and Beard a forward, but they are great defensive lights.

WERE Sexton, not so rough, we would name him without any hesitation, but he fouls out of nearly every game—and no player is any good on the sidelines. Murphy was placed on it last year and will be hard to be kept off this year. Brannon is head and shoulders ahead of the pack.

"The Horned Frog Follies of 1932" to be presented in the auditorium Thursday night will mark the crest of the tide of student entertainment for the winter and spring. The "T" Association, its sponsor, is one of the liveliest organizations in the school, and the Follies marks the best entertainment that they have ever offered.

Frogs Cut Two Notches on Gun

The Horned Frogs of Texas Christian carved two more notches on their victory gun when they took the Texas Longhorns in camp Saturday by a 36-to-14 score and won over the scrapping Texas Aggies 38 to 28 Monday. The Steers did not give the Schmidtmens much trouble, but the Aggies were the toughest opponents that the Frogs have met since their initial encounter with the leading Bruins.

Buster Brannon, brilliant guard, set the pace for his mates in both contests, and was especially colorful in the Aggie contest. Ad Dietzel led the scoring pack in both contests making 18 points against the Texans and looping the bucket for 17 points against the Aggies. Capt. Sumner's injured hand continues to give him trouble, and was the cause of his being a bit off color in the Monday night affair.

Horned Frogs to Meet Razorbacks In Fayetteville

Coach Schmidt Asking for Split Series—Hogs Are Tough.

GAMES TO PRESENT CRISIS

Schmidtmens Play 7 Frays in 16 Days—2 Tilts Are 400 Miles From Home.

By STANDARD LAMBERT.
Following their well-earned victory over the scrapping Texas Aggies, the Texas Christian Horned Frogs will invade the Ozarks Friday for a two-game series with the strong University of Arkansas Razorbacks.

By virtue of the Hogs' recent victory over the leading Baylor Bears, and the fact that the defending champions have to meet the Arkansasans on the Fayetteville court, the Schmidtmens are in for a tough fight. Coach Schmidt is asking for a split series in Fayetteville, and will be fortunate to get such a break.

Loss Would Be Fatal.
For the Frogs to take both games would be nothing short of a miracle, and should they lose both contests, they would almost be forced to leave their championship hopes in Arkansas.

The Bassettmen's victory over the leading Bruins gave birth to a new optimism in the Horned Frog camp, but now a new difficulty in the way of a schedule has arisen. As it now stands the Frogs are forced to play 7 games in 16 days, nearly an average of a game every other day. Three of these games are with the leading teams of the flag chase, and two of them are 400 miles away from Fort Worth.

Meet Bears Tuesday.
The most severe portion of this crisis is from Friday of this week to Tuesday of next week when the Schmidtmens meet the Razorbacks in far away Fayetteville Friday and Saturday, return to Fort Worth in an all-day trip over Sunday, and then, after one light workout, meet their leading rival for the flag Tuesday.

Howell Scores KO In First Fisticuff

Foster Howell, giant Frog tackle, started his fistic career Monday night with a knockout over Ed McRae of Dallas before 10 seconds of the first appearance for both fighters. Howell weighed in at 208 pounds while McRae was three pounds lighter sealing in the ring at 205 pounds. A large number of T.C.U. students were present to cheer Howell. As he entered the ring a tremendous yell of "yea Howell—fight—fight—fight" rang out over the auditorium from a pep squad formed by T. C. U. fans. Coach Schmidt and the Frog basketball team was present at the ringside as the guests of Dick Griffin, Fort Worth promoter.

TWIN-COACHES
Replace
TROLLEY TO T. C. U.

One of the most progressive changes affecting the student body of T. C. U. was made last Sunday when a fleet of modern 30-passenger twin-coaches replaced the street car service to the University.

Six of these fast coaches were put into service on the T. C. U. line.

They're as easy-riding and convenient as your own private car.

The busses follow the same route taken by the street cars, except they will use Mistletoe Blvd. instead of Rosedale between the Frisco tracks and Eighth Avenue.

In the downtown section in-bound busses will continue on Ninth to Main, south on Main to Tenth, and west on Tenth to Throckmorton, and on out over car line.

These comfortable Twins offer you a faster and more comfortable service to and from school.

T. C. U. passengers will still board and leave busses at Ninth and Houston, opposite Renfro Drug Store.
