Student Calls China by Radio W5ARV Message

"Hello China," was the greeting Will Shaw, University student and operator of amateur station W5ARV, sent out last Sunday morning to a fellow radio enthusiast near Shanghai, China.

It takes much time and money to contact China by other means than amateur radio. The cost of this communication probably ran Shaw's light bill up a few cents. W5ARV is located at Shaw's residence and has been in operation for more than three years.

The Home of the Horned Frogs!

For two years now, the new stadium has been without a name. Always this new athletic plant has been referred to as "the new stadium." When any athletic event is scheduled, newspapers as well as individuals have to explain that "the contest will be held at the old T. C. U. stadium" or "at the new T. C. U. stadium."

The Skiff knows that the officials have some reason for not naming the new stadium, but they have never let the reason be known. The Skiff does not believe that any single individual should receive the honor of having the stadium named after him. It is true that certain individuals were behind the move to erect the new playing field, but there were hundreds of others who put their shoulders to the project.

If some individual gave several thousand dollars toward paying for the field, the University might be justified in naming the field after that individual. But is not the day passing when millionaires pay universities a million dollars for a degree or thousands of dollars to have a new building named after them?

The new stadium cannot go on forever without a name. Clark Field was never named, but the name was gradually adopted by the newspapers, the players, and gradually by all. The Skiff feels that the stadium should not go without a name any longer.

It has been stated before that The Skiff feels that the new stadium should not be named after any individual. How many of you know who Kyle Field at A. & M. was named after? How many of you know why Owenby Stadium at S. M. U. was named after Mr. Owenby? But on the other hand one can always remember that Memorial Stadium at the University of Texas was named in honor of those who died in the World War? Why then can we not call our new stadium by some name that will carry some representation behind it?

The Skiff has to offer the name Frog Field as the name of the new stadium. Every person who contributed to the building fund was a Frog fan; every player who has played on its gridiron will be honored; the University will receive recognition every time that the name appears because all will know that Frog Field is the home of the Texas Christian University Horned Frogs.

The name contains alliteration, is short, easy to remember and carries with it the honor of every Frog fan, every Frog player and every Frog student. May The Skiff receive your comments as to its suggestion. If you have a better suggestion, please state your reasons and submit your idea. Here's to Frog Field—The Home of the Horned Frogs!

The Coming Elections

Politics is in the air. Candidates' names are in every conversation. Soon we will be told publicly the merits of each man. The trouble seems to be, however, judging from elections of other years, that there have been no issues at all brought forward. Mere personalities have been campaigned for. Should or through their representatives announce just what they intend to do if they get into office? If you have some special issue in mind about which you think there should be a declaration of policy by candidates, write to the Open Forum and tell about it.

And another thing—elections have just been completed at the University of Texas and other schools in which hundreds of dollars have been spent for campaigning. Every conceivable method has been tried in an effort to get votes. In a school the size of ours, however, there is no need for any expenditures at all. Let there be personal campaigning and speeches, but let's not be foolish enough to spend any money trying to influence a few people who could be reached just as effectively by other means. Let's be sensible. Last year there was a large amount of unnecessary and damaging publicity for candidates. This year let's act judiciously and fairly and see that the best men are elected. Let the present student body officers be criteria by which to judge prospective officers for next year.

Down With the Campus Sign-Painters

In last Friday's Skiff a feature story told of the tribulations of the various classes in placing their class numerals at certain vantage points. Sunday morning the University was surprised to find the gymnasium and the old stadium decorated with daubs of paint supposedly representing class spirit.

Such "spirit" is against all the better ideals of the institution. The marring and defacing of campus structures with signs of this type is high-schooling to say the least. The Skiff joins administration and faculty in chiding such regrettable practices.

For more than ten years laborers have worked unceasingly and money has been spent lavishly in making the campus and surrounding spots of beauty. The Skiff feature story was written solely to entertain. The writer thereof had no intention whatsoever of renewing a sign-painting epidemic.

Last year the administration was forced to issue an order restraining prospective campus officers from defacing the sidewalks and hallways. Editorially, The Skiff fought a winning fight in this matter, and amateur sign-painters were content with displaying their art on removable pieces of canvas. This restriction still holds good, not only for candidates, but for class-numeral artists.

President Hoover recently told Dr. George Truett that the way out of our troubles was to have "a new conscientious of God." Wonder what's become of the Republican Party?

COULTER'S COLUMN

THIS column is devoted solely to how columnists may get ideas for columns. If you don't ever expect to write a column, there's no use to read this. If you ever expect to write a column, don't read this.

Now the first thing to do is to walk around over the campus for about an hour with a girl hanging onto your hand. Since this never happens to editors, you can see why not many of them ever have ideas.

Start a conversation with some professor and hope that he will give you an idea. This has been tried successfully several times, but the result is often poor. Such subjects as prohibition, politics, education, depression and how to study are always brought up. The best way is to listen to a lecture in class and then write about something else.

ANOTHER way to get an idea is to sit at the typewriter for two or three days. If you don't get an idea by then, there is no use trying. I remember once when I couldn't find anything to write about for two weeks, but all of a sudden I looked up and saw a sign advertising a bull fight that I had brought back from Mexico with me. Since then I have been able to write columns about nothing. This was when I first started.

One of my best columns was written from an idea that I got from a chapel speaker who forgot his subject. In the spring, the best way to get an idea is to watch what others on the campus are doing. Be careful and see that you have the right girl before you try the same idea.

Right now there are two sparrows sitting on a wire just outside the office window. Sparrows are always good for an idea. See—I just got an idea for the last two lines.

WHEN the moon is full and the moonbeams are trickling down, there's not much use trying to get an idea. Most everyone has an idea by that time and the main trouble is trying to put the idea into print. Moon fever is as bad or worse than spring fever.

Spring fever—now there's an idea for some aspiring young columnist to write page after page of space. The main trouble with writing about spring fever is that the written word sometimes takes effect upon the writer.

You don't just sit down and pick up subjects to write about in a column. You have to labor, worry, perspire, study, start two or three pages which find their way to the office waste basket, and then write about something entirely different.

TAKE this week, for instance, I started out to write about a fictitious character called Sherbert Mover who said that prosperity was just around the corner. My next subject was love, the next was a trial at a few editorial paragraphs, the fourth trial met with failure before it got started, so I decided to write this column upon how to get an idea for a column. I might add that none of these methods have ever been tried.

There go those two sparrow chasing each other again. See, they were good for another line again. One might even write upon the evils of sparrows, their moral habits, their private lives, and one might even write a column on why sparrows chase each other.

AS I look across to the girls' dormitory, I get two or three ideas—not for a column. But the girls' dormitory would make an interesting subject for a column, nevertheless. I can think of several subjects that might be used: Why do girls never pull shades down? What do girls think about before they go to sleep? On what floors do the best looking girls live? And just any number of others.

This column is just about finished and I haven't told you how I get ideas for my columns. Well, to make a long story short, I've never had an idea. I just sit down and write along until I run out of paper and then an inspiration hits me and I haven't got anything to put it on.

By the time I find a blank sheet of paper I have forgotten what I was going to write about and as a result you have to suffer from what I have written before.

Why right now, I have an inspiration for a column that would probably make you think many minutes—before you could get at what I was writing about—but I'm out of paper. Who said, "Thank goodness?"

Ruth Roland Will Head Stage Show At Worth—Colman Stars at Palace

Milt Taggart and his Eleven Vagabonds will return to the Casino tonight for another week-end engagement. This orchestra was so popular last week at the third pre-season opening that the management brought it back for tonight, and Saturday and Sunday nights.

Taggart's orchestra has appeared on many NBC chain broadcasts in recent months and has made many phonograph records.

All boardwalk attractions will be open again this week-end. The announcement of the annual season opening night will be made next week.

Ruth Roland, movie star of the silent days, has been one of the big surprises of the year on the vaudeville stage. Heading the "Cozy Corner" Fanchon and Marco Idea at the Worth starting tomorrow, Miss Roland proves that she has ability to entertain without the need of the camera and a box of make-up.

She sings, dances and acts as mistress of ceremonies of her "own" show. There is also a good acrobat act which provides good entertainment as well as the other acts on the bill.

The Worth changes its billing dates with tomorrow's show. From now on the stage show will start Saturday instead of Sunday and the other film of the week will start Tuesday.

The new film starting tomorrow with the stage show is Devil's Lottery with Elissa Landi in the leading

ANN GORA'S CAT NIPS

Now is the time for all good politicians to come to the aid of the candidates.

Paul Martin was given a rousing cheer by his friend when introduced by Prexy Roark.

Milt Mehl intends to use the same tactics in his campaign that his cousin Moses did.

Gene Cagle is a reformer, an office-seeker and ladies' man. As has seen four or five girls trying to reform him.

Marion Hicks, though running for office, simply refuses to make promises or misrepresent things.

Otto Nielsen has promised to sit at every assembly if elected.

"Howard Walsh and his shadow for president" should be printed on the ballot.

Ernestine Scott is from Arkansas. That's nothing, Doris Sellers is from Hico. (pronounced with a 'h')

Ben Boswell forgot to wear his coat and tie when he was introduced but wore them today.

Some of Carl's ads: Vote Sain, Vote Insane; Be Sane, Vote in Sain; Don't Vote Insane, Vote in SAIN, etc.

Clayton McCutcheon says: I'm sane but vote me "in."

Ben Baxter, Ralph Brown and Jimmie Pate have promised not to jump stiff-legged while leading yells, elected.

Maurine Parnell is for women rights? Aren't we all?

Pansy Teagarden just craves publicity, and begged to see her name in print. Well, Pansy, here it is.

Ask Gordon Musgrove about "Cynthia" that visited here from Baylor College. He introduced her everyone but the broom-chasers, and they feel hurt.

Billie Dickey removed his trousers—coversalls in B. Law class the other day. That's all Ann heard about it.

Ann wonders whether or not it grammatically correct to pronounce "drama" with the "dramar" accent. The same goes for "idear."

We wonder what the lady at the Blackstone meant when she said Isabel Wofford: "Just a minute Dearie." (This is paid for by Isabel)

Well, what does it mean Isabel? We know, so if you want to know ask Isabel!

SOCIETY

By ERNESTINE SCOTT.

Miss Mary Madalyn Whitener, a freshman from Fort Worth, was elected last week by the freshman-sophomore group to be "Miss Liberty" in the bicentennial celebration of Washington's birth to be held in the Christian Stadium on the evening of May 7. Miss Whitener received another honor with her election—that of polling more votes than any other candidate has ever received from that chapel group.

This is the first year that the result of such an election has been revealed before the evening of the event. However, since Miss Whitener is not to have any ladies in waiting, the identity of "Miss Liberty" was disclosed.

Miss Whitener will wear a crown and sit on a pedestal with "George Washington," who will be some public-spirited man from down town since this is purely a civic affair. The only part the University students are taking in the production of the celebration is in presenting the pageant and taking part in the chorus.

NEW regulations passed by the Olympic Committee in regard to minimum times, distances and heights will give at least three of Coach Clark's thinly clad an opportunity to compete in the semi-finals held in Long Beach and Chicago July 8-9. The committee set 10.8 seconds as the minimum for the 100 meters and Red Oliver already has a 10.5 in that event. His consistent 9.8's in the hundred yards could also qualify him in the 100 meters since this race is 9 yards, 13 inches further than the 100 yards.

Charlie Casper and Blannard Spearman have also qualified. Casper has negotiated the highs in one-tenth of a second less than the committee specifies for qualification. Spearman has surpassed the 24-foot requirement in the broad jump on three occasions. Oliver will have an excellent opportunity to qualify in the 200 meter race. The committee has set 21.6 seconds as the qualifying time in this event and Oliver has run the 220 yards (which is one yard 10 inches more than 200 meters) in 21.4.

OUR friend, Charlie Burton, sports editor of S. M. U.'s Semi-Weekly Campus, took offense at this writer's statement that "the Horned Frogs got their first break of the season when two extra games were scheduled with Southern Methodist," but we can see no cause for it. He sent us a marked copy of his paper with my by-lined story to that effect in it and remarked on the border, "Keep that up and I'll make public enemy No. 1 out of you over here."

With four losses in as many games, it should have dawned on Burton by now that the Mustangs have a weak outfit. Then by using a little bit of simple seventh-grade arithmetic, he should be able to figure out that losing 3 games out of 12 gives a better percentage than 3 out of 10. No offense Charlie, didn't mean to appear cocky about our ball team, but if conditions had been reversed he would have probably made the same statement. Anyway Mr. Pete called the games off because he thought it a bit unethical to schedule games after the season was under way and especially since the games were with a team that SEEMS TO BE (for Burton's benefit) the weakest in the loop.

I AM determined that none of the boys will get the laugh on me over baseball because I'm not going to let myself get excited over it; however, I will say that Coach Meyer has a formidable outfit, and I'd like to see him win a title with it. Personally, I don't think that he will, but I also admit that I hesitate at even picking a winner because I don't believe Rice has the stuff and the Aggies and Longhorns don't seem to be particularly dangerous. At any rate it will be a good race.

Coach Clark also has an outside chance to cop the conference track meet, but I can't get excited over that either because I feel that the better balanced teams of Rice or Texas will take it. The dope points toward a Rice victory, but of course one can't tell. Anyway, regardless of who gets the most points, the Horned Frogs will be in front in the sprints, hurdles, broadjump, sprint relay and probably the distance races — but that's not enough to win unless the points are well distributed in the events where the Frogs are weak.

Track is as hard to dope as any other sport because too much depends on how each man is feeling. If Red Oliver or Casper were to have an off day, our chances would be null and void. The same is true of Rice if Harbour, Jamerson and Holloway were to be ill. The loss of Irwin and Akin would ruin A. & M. as would losing Schiller and Blakeney of Texas.

Frosh Capture Intramural Meet

Freshmen Win Events With 27 Points—Sophs Second.

By CHARLIE CASPER.

The freshman intramural track team repeated as champions of the intramural track meet Wednesday afternoon by amassing 27 points. The juniors were second with 22 points, the sophs third 13 points. The seniors didn't place in anything. Kirk Palmer and Rex Clark were the stars for the winning team while Buster Brannon, amassed most of the junior points. Lee Bassinger scored most of the soph's points. Brannon scored the upset of the meet in winning the pentathlon with a low score of 21 points. Bassinger was second and Palmer was close behind in third place.

Summary of events:
100-yard dash—Clark, frosh, first. Mings, frosh, second. Duval, sophs, third; Brannon, juniors, fourth. Time 10.6.

120-yard low hurdles — Palmer, frosh, first; Alexander, sophs, second; Bassinger, sophs, third; Dyess, frosh, fourth. Time, 16.5.

Shot put—Pruitt, juniors, first; Evans, juniors, second; Bassinger, sophs, third; Vaught, juniors, fourth. Distance, 44 feet. (12 lb.)

Broad jump—Brannon, juniors, first; Clark, frosh, second; Taylor, frosh, third; Palmer, frosh, fourth.

Aggies Score 90 Points to Take Triangular Meet

Frogs Are Second With 70½—Red Oliver Outstanding.

PONIES, BEARS ARE NEXT

Athletes From Baylor, T. C. U. and S. M. U. to Vie in Waco Saturday.

The well-balanced Texas Aggie track team took first place honors in the T. C. U.-A. & M.-Baylor triangular meet held on Clark Field Saturday. The Aggies' total was 90 points compared to 70½ for the Horned Frogs and 8½ for Baylor. The Clarkmen led in first places with eight compared to seven for the Aggies. The other first place was a tie between T. C. U. and A. & M.

Oliver Scores High.

Red Oliver was 'high point man with 16½ points earned by first places in the 100, 220 and low hurdles and running the anchor position on the sprint relay team. Charlie Casper was second. He ran the high hurdles in the remarkable time of 14.9 seconds and placed second in the low hurdles and broad jump, was third in the century dash and was a member of the winning sprint relay team. In addition to his remarkable time in the high hurdles, Casper broad jumped 23 feet, 4 inches, and would have won a first place in competition with anybody else in the conference except Spearman, who leaped 23 feet, 9 inches.

Another outstanding feature of the meet was Chappell's performance in the distance races. His timing in the mile and two-mile proved that he will be an outstanding bidder for first place in those events at the conference meet.

Frogs to Journey to Waco.

The team will journey to Waco tomorrow to meet Baylor and Southern Methodist in a triangular meet. Coach Clark can count on his usual point gainers and the weakness of Baylor will probably add a few more points to the Frogs' total.

It is certain that the Frogs will be superior in the sprint dashes and relay, the distance races, hurdles, broad jump and probably the mile relay. It is also just as certain that the Mustangs will take most of the honors in the weights and pole vault. With Strickland in uniform the Bruins should take first in the high jump and a few other points scattered throughout the 16 events.

Distance, 20 feet, 10½ inches.

High jump—Brannon, juniors, first; Duval, sophs, second; Palmer, frosh, third; Bassinger, sophs, fourth. Height 5 feet, 8 inches.

880-yard relay—Freshmen (Palmer, Clark, Taylor, Mings), first; juniors, second, sophs, third; seniors, fourth. Time, 2 minutes flat.

Coach Dutch Meyer's baseball nine moved into top place with a 4-to-1 victory over the Southern Methodist Mustangs in Dallas Saturday.

Again, it was the superb hurling of "Slim" Kinzy that was the difference between victory and defeat for the Frogs. The second man up for the Ponies in the first inning rapped out a long triple and later scored on a wild pitch, but from then on the Dallas boys were helpless. That was the only hit they were able to get from the Frogs' big right-hander. Donovan Leads Batters.

Paul Donovan led the Frogs at the bat with three singles out of five trips to the plate. Donovan scored

Coach Schmidt Opens Spring Grid Practice

Fundamentals of Game Will Be Stressed—Pruitt Goes to Backfield.

Thirteen prospects for the 1932 Horned Frog eleven reported to Coach Schmidt Monday afternoon for several weeks of spring training. With freshman track and baseball coming to a close this week, several promising gridgers are due to report, according to the Purple mentor. The practices will be based on the fundamentals of blocking, passing, tackling and handling the ball. The last week of drilling the squad will be divided into two teams for a game.

two of the runs produced by the Meyermen. It is not unlikely that this youngster will be an all-conference choice at the end of the chase. Hubert Dennis collected a double and a single and scored one run.

While Coach Meyer's men were trouncing the Ponies, the Aggies were giving the Rice Owls a sound drubbing, which put the Fort Worth men at the top of the conference calendar.

Play Aggies Monday.
The Frogs will remain idle this week as far as the conference schedule is concerned, but will meet the 1931 champion Texas Aggies here Monday. Alf Roark had the Aggies guessing the entire route in the first game, but Slim Kinzy, side-arm artist is due to face them Monday.

INTRAMURAL SPORTS

By CHARLIE CASPER.

Doc Sumner and Buster Brannon showed real intentions last week laying the pre-season favorites, Harrison and Oliver Harrison, aside in the great intramural tennis tournament. Harrison and Wright eked out a victory over Brown and Casper to gain the right to meet Brannon and Sumner but were stopped in the tracks with the great volley game presented by the winners. Vance Woodwine and Pete Snow showed real promise Wednesday in downing Hirtine and Randle. They play Vaught and Spearman to determine who will enter the final round against Sumner and Brannon.

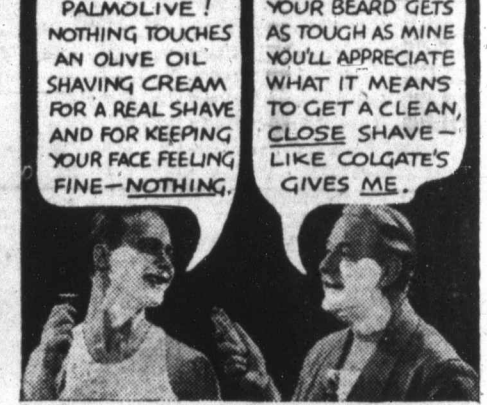

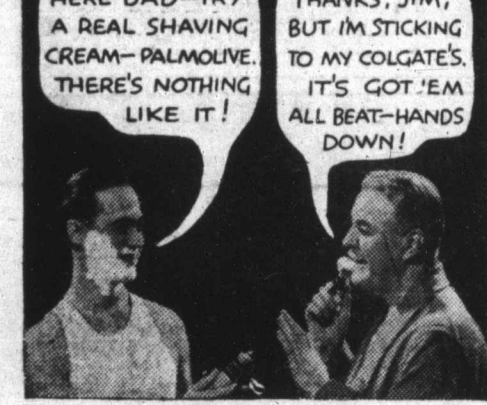

The juniors are now leading the baseball league with 3 wins and no losses. Thursday they won over the strong soph nine to gain possession of first place. The seniors jumped into second place by defeating the lowly frosh. The sophs are occupying third place and the frosh are in their usual place, the cellar. This week the seniors tangle with the sophs and the frosh meet the juniors.

Entries for intramural golf are pouring in with Ralph Sanders leading the list. Ten men are expected to enter.
