T. C. U.'s Stock Slides at Sale Of Mule Team

"A horse! My kingdom for a horse." So says King Lear. "T. C. U. hasn't any horse power. Our stock is going down!" laments L. L. Dees, superintendent of buildings and grounds.

In other words T. C. U.'s claim to being even a "one-horse" school was lost this summer when its two mules were sold to Ross Brothers, livestock exchange, in June.

Mr. Dees can remember that in prosperous times when stock was booming everywhere T. C. U. had dairy and farming facilities. The administration found, however, that it was cheaper to buy food than to raise it.

The mule team was a remnant of the old times. For the past several years the team had been used for general work such as building tennis courts and cutting grass.

Mr. Dees says, though, that there was not enough work to pay for having them. "They just ate their heads off."

Political Straw Vote to Be Held

A straw vote on the political situation to determine how T. C. U. students are going in vote is being conducted by Paul Martin and Sam Cotter.

Famous People Find Uses for Telephone Booth in Main Hall

If the Skiff ran a streamer head, this week's issue would carry a banner in red letters reading—"WHAT'S IT IN MAIN HALL CONTAINS PHONE." This new find, the bell of our hall, is the greatest discovery since Lydia Pinkham, the mother of our nation.

Before the reporter revealed this startling disclosure such authorities as Clark Gable, Chic Sales, Einstein and his relative Finklestein, had been in conference for weeks trying to decide the use of this amazing contraption.

Gable immediately vetoed the idea of this peculiar apparatus serving as an adequate courting place. He suggested that the senior class make

Previous to the new requirements in regard to mathematics in the University the placement test decided the classes into which the group was to be divided. ## 17 Equestriennes On Bridle Paths Represent W. A. A.

"Horses, horses! Crazy 'bout horses!"

That's the theme song of 17 T. C. U. equestriennes every Monday and Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

The W. A. A. riding group under the management of Miss Marian Miller has high ambitions this year. According to Miss Miller the group intends to become expert enough to ride in the rodeo here next March. An exhibition in Trinity Park Riding Ring is planned for the spring, and (healthy aspirations!) polo may be attempted.

The social activities include moonlight rides, with T. C. U. horse-minded men invited, and steak fries, with the same invitations extended. Calvary horses will be used for the latter, though the group regularly patronizes the Acme Stables in Trinity Park.

Members of the riding group include besides Miss Miller, Misses Elizabeth Reeves, Lollie Botts, Mary Seidel, Loree Guhl, Ada Assmann, Relda Robbins, Kay Prather, Maurine Parnell, Christine Ackers, Theo Smart, Virginia Bradford, Mary Sue Logan, Kate Farmer, Merle Snodgrass, Winnie Powell and Margaret Trigg.

Prof. Karl E. Ashburn of the economics department is scheduled to make two lectures next month on "Loyalty to the Social Teachings of Jesus," one at the First Christian Church at Denton on Nov. 6 and one at the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, Celeste, Texas, Nov. 27.

Prof. Ashburn had two articles published this summer. The Texas Outlook for June contained his paper on "What of American Marketing, Advertising and Competition."

The July issues of the Southwestern Advocate and of the Christian Advocate published his article on "Modern Youth, the Church and Our Economic Order." The latter was the outgrowth of a paper read by Prof. Ashburn before the men's Bible class of the University last year.

In the last named article Prof. Ashburn compared the part of the church in society today with the part it played in early American history. The article pictured changes in the economic order which affected religious institutions and views. It also pointed out wherein some of the aspects of modern capitalism are anti-Christian.

What's the Matter, A. & M.?

Texas A. & M. has the reputation of having the most sportsmanlike student body of any college or university in the entire Southwest. The praise of this tradition has spread far and wide. In the last six or eight years, Texas Christian and A. & M. have been closely connected by that tie of sportsmanship that makes collegiate competition in athletics a desirable thing.

But last Saturday, in Aggieland, things did not go right. The yell leader, in an effort to get the student body fired up, told them just before the game that "the Frogs are just down here for a practice game." On the face of things, there appears to be no malice in the statement. Here is the rub—

A. & M. knows, or should know, that T. C. U. respects the grid teams of the Farmer institution. Such a statement of the part of the yell leader was entirely out of place. What's the matter, A. & M.?

Fun was made of the manner in which T. C. U. yelled. Perhaps this was justified, because many of the yelling voices are feminine and do not sound deep and resonant. We know, A. & M., that your rooting with 20000 male voices is a spectacular thing to hear. But is it in line with your tradition to make fun of the enemy in the fashion you did?

What's the matter, A. & M.? The "raspberry" that you gave so heartily at the end of the game for T. C. U. was as far from the true spirit of your institution as the moon.

Maybe your conduct was all in fun, but it left a bitter taste in the mouth of your best friend, T. C. U.

Let's Disclose the Names

In Jarvis Hall it is the custom every year for a vigilance committee to be formed from a group of the residents in the Hall. This committee is necessary at times; yet the group is looked upon with disdain by all except those who serve on the committee. Why?

First and most important of all, the committee is secret. All the girls term those on the committee "snitchers," for they pal around with girls only to turn in a girl to the dean of women. The very fact that the names of those on the committee are kept secret has created a hatred toward the group. If their names were disclosed the girls would have far greater regard for the organization. In our civic life we have uniformed policemen who keep order and prevent unlawful acts by their very presence. So with those on this vigilance committee—if the names of the committee members were known, they would be acting in the same manner and would call forth more regard from the other Jarvisites.

Second, those on the committee are human and will not turn in a friend. But if one on the committee "gets it in" for a girl, she will try to sneak around and find something for which to report her. Therefore, partiality often enters into this system.

And third, the girls feel that those on the committee are not above reproach and are no better than the rest of the residents in the dormitory. So what right have they to report others when they may turn right around and do the very same thing themselves? The committee members know they will not be turned in. They are protected by the very secrecy of the system.

Let's have a committee that is not afraid to have the names of its members announced. Then less partiality will be shown. Those on the committee will feel that they must maintain a high standard themselves if they are to have the privilege of reporting the misdemeanors of others.

T. C. U. in 1932-33

This year, the 60th Anniversary of Texas Christian University, should be remembered as a revolutionary year in the history of our school. The advance signs of the year are portentous.

The upperclassmen of T. C. U. as a whole feel that the University has relieved a very distressing situation in the administration during the summer. There is widespread satisfaction among the student body and patrons of T. C. U. at the selection of Pete Wright as our new business manager. We are aware that in the past many prospective patrons have received mal-impressions through the business office. We believe that a consistent reversal of policy will rapidly reverse these mal-impressions.

Every student and alumnus is wishing success to Registrar S. W. Hutton. His courtesy and friendliness are making him a favorite with the student body.

Dean Sadie Beckham believes that the girls of Jarvis Hall can be trusted with more privileges without endangering the standards of T. C. U. This change comes at an opportune time. We believe her efforts are well-founded and that they will contribute to the creation of a stronger, better-disciplined University life.

The freshman class this year is one of the smallest that has entered T. C. U. in recent years. It is also one of the most select, most versatile, most personable appearing group of freshmen in any of our southwestern universities. This infusion of new blood should hearten the pessimists who spend their time in ruminating on T. C. U.'s economic debacle.

There is a new and invigorating atmosphere on the campus. We have been experiencing a period of liquidation, the liquidation of worn-out hypotheses and thread-bare fallacies. We are realizing more liberty, more democracy, more adversity, more opportunity. We face a period of reconstruction in which we must create and prove sound foundations for happy, inspirational, educational living conditions for students of this University.

Two Favorites Appear Together in "Smilin' Through" at Worth Sunday

Two screen favorites, Norma Shearer and Frederic March, take the lead roles in "Smilin' Through," another Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer triumph, which comes to the Worth Theater Saturday for a run of four days. This production marks March's first appearance with Miss Shearer. Ralph Forbes leads the supporting cast composed of such stars as Leslie Howard, G. P. Heggie and David Torrence.

Wednesday, Tallulah Bankhead appears on the Worth screen in the M-G-M production, "Faithless." Robert Montgomery plays opposite her. This picture portrays the life of the daughters of wealth and the sham they live when their money is gone.

AT THE PALACE THEATER Warner Baxter undertakes the most dramatic role of his screen career in "Six Hours to Live," which opens Sunday for a four day program at the Palace Theater.

Miss Miriam Jordan, a beautiful young English actress, makes her screen debut in this production. John Bala is also in the supporting cast. This picture is adapted from the original story "Auf Wiedersehen."

To observe the political philosophy which prompts individuals to endeavor to pick a winner still at large on our campus, is indeed disheartening. Obviously, such an attitude must be the outgrowth of a desire to remain outside the range of fire, to incur no argument, wrath, or controversy.

Unhappily, however, for such a person, the political yes-men, like certain peaceful commodities, exist in surplus quantities, and their unit value is thereby greatly diminished. To state such nonsensical political hazydom with reference to the present situation as "Never change horses in the middle of a stream" is ridiculously poetic. What stream are we crossing? If Balaban's charts and G. Dunn's reports are to be considered authoritative, we are crossing from severe depression into more severe depression. If the die-hard philosophy of has-been politicians continues to carry us in this direction after three years, it is high time that we venture beyond the door of paralyzed conservatism and realize that we are facing a condition, not a theory.

As for the political puppet who is the present Presidential incumbent, after hopelessly bungling the tariff, prohibition, farm relief, and disarmament in rapid succession, it is surprising that he is able to ask an outraged public to even consider him as a candidate.

To blast that things are bound to get better, no matter what is done, is to disclose a state of ignorance verging on idiocy. England thought the same thing right after the war; she is still thinking it, after twelve years. If we don't do something, there are two possibilities. We will either be stabilized at this present low level, or we will move lower, until finally we have revolution, turmoil, chaos, and oblivion. What a famous historian termed the "incomplete suicide of civilization" is becoming less incomplete every day, and the conserva-

Y. W. C. A. to Meet Monday

The Y. W. C. A. will hold its regular meeting in the girls' lounge of the Administration Building at 7:00 Monday night, according to Miss Rebecca Gravel, president. All members are urged to be present.

There is one hope, a social consciousness, an economic order which, in contrast to the present one, embodies at least one little spark of Christianity. Norman Thomas will not be the next president, but if the allegedly intelligent voters support him this year, he will receive a vote large enough to scare the successful party into enacting measures borrowed from his platform, rather than risk losing power in 1936.

Nobody argues against Thomas' platform; the argument is that it can't be achieved. Well, it seems reasonable that any group of men who can get a hundred and twenty million people into the mess that we are in and make them like it—that group can do anything, provided it has the will. By building up a strong socialist party we can impart the will. But by sanctioning the present situation at the polls we won't help ourselves; we will on the contrary put our official O. K. on running machinery and vacant buildings, upon homeless thousands and jobless millions. There is not a great deal most of us can do. But we can vote intelligently—unless we are afraid of adverse criticism, afraid to attempt clear thinking, and afraid of the blind babble of the bungling bores who now control us. —Eugene Cagle.

—and raw tobaccos have no place in cigarettes

They are not present in Luckies ... the mildest cigarette you ever smoked

WE buy the finest, the very finest tobaccos in all the world—but that does not explain why folks everywhere regard Lucky Strike as the mildest cigarette. The fact is, we never overlook the truth that "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—so these fine tobaccos, after proper aging and mellowing, are then given the benefit of that Lucky Strike purifying process, described by the words—"It's toasted". That's why folks in every city, town and hamlet say that Luckies are such mild cigarettes.

"It's toasted" That package of mild Luckies

"If a man write a better book, preach a better sermon, or make a better mouse-trap than his neighbor, the world will make a better path to his door." —RALPH WALDO EMERSON. Does not this explain the world-wide acceptance and approval of Lucky Strike?

Dana Press Club to Feature Social Activities for Year

By LUCILE HATHEWAY.

Laying aside their duties of copy reading and reporting, the newspaper scribes who put out The Skiff each week enjoyed a picnic at Camp Jarvis on Lake Worth Wednesday evening. The affair was sponsored by the Dana Press Club, which is an organization for students in journalism. However, an invitation to the outing was extended to those freshmen who expect to contribute to the school paper next year.

The affair was the first of a series of social activities on the Dana Press Club calendar. This year the organization is featuring social functions with only one business meeting on the entire program. The members of the club have planned a formal banquet, a Christmas dinner, a trip through a newspaper plant in Dallas, a spring picnic and the annual May banquet.

Those attending the picnic were Misses Maudeleen Young, Louise Cozens, Hulda Lea Shumake, Elma Evans, Clyde Johnson, Davis Zweifel, Grace Maloney, Ernestine Scott, Ruth Morgan and Mary Louise Gilliam, and Joe Sargent, Ben Sargent, Hindu Van Zandt, Sam Cotton, Edwin Van Orden, Prof. Joseph B. Miss Polk, whose most striking characteristic is her interpretive art ability, will offer a varied group of selections, including two of Mr. Guion's compositions. Mr. Curtis, instructor in piano at the Texas State College for Women, will give his interpretation of five of Chopin's Preludes as solo numbers.

The selections on the program will be: "Wilmung," Schumann; "Rings ist der Wald," (Gypsy Song), Dvorak; "Stornelata," Cimara, by Miss Polk; "Prelude in C Minor," "Prelude in B Major," "Prelude in G Minor," "Prelude in F Major," "Prelude in D Minor," all Chopin's compositions played by Mr. Curtis; "Aria de Micaela" from Carmen, Bizet, by Miss Polk; "When I bring you colored toys," offered by Mr. Curtis; and a group of Negro spirituals including "Now my H' Soul's Gwine a Shine," Guion; "Standin' in de Need of Prayer," Reddick; "Run, Mary, Run," by Miss Polk.

Mr. Guion will not play on the program. However, those who are planning to attend are hoping that he will play some of his selections, according to Mrs. Helen Foals Cahoon.

Boy! O, Boy! Miss Connell Dances Hula at Banquet

"Yaha hula, dicky dala. Vera danced the hula hula." Yes, sir, folks it's true, but only those at the Dramatic Club banquet at the Worth Hotel Tuesday night got to see it.

It all came about when the guests were each one asked by Clayton McCutcheon, toastmaster, to perform some stunt to show their dramatic ability. Some imitated actors and others imitated faculty members, and then—

"It's your turn, Miss Connell," and Miss Connell rose to her feet. "I'll show you the hula as it is danced in Hawaii," announced Miss Connell.

Slowly and gracefully the performer's hips began to move from side to side. The shoulders quickened their undulations and her arms described beautiful snakelike movements. In a moment the girl's body was but a mass of undulation.

The audience sat spellbound until it was over, and then applauded deafeningly. Vera's dance was the stunt of the evening.

Miss Connell was one of the players in "Good Medicine," the play offered by the sophomore class in the annual freshman-sophomore tournament. Her performance took first honors among the girls for individual acting, having played the role of Hetty Sage.

Miss Connell is a transfer student, having attended the University of Hawaii in Honolulu last year.

She has promised to entertain the students with another performance of the dance of Hawaii.

J. W. Sprinkle, T. C. U. sophomore last year, is now attending Southern Methodist University in Dallas.

Miss Faye Woodall spent Saturday and Sunday visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Woodall, in Mineral Wells.

Frogs to Meet Austin College Here Tomorrow

Oliver and Howell Out of Lineup Because of Injuries.

Reserves to Be Used

Sophomores and Junior Squadmen Likely to See Strenuous Service in Game.

By BEN BOSWELL.

Texas Christian, fresh from a decisive victory over the Texas Aggies, will meet the Austin College Kangaroos tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock on Frog Field. The team that started against the Farmers will probably start the game tomorrow, with the exception of Red Oliver and Foster Howell, who are on the injured list.

The Frog players and coaches are not taking the Sherman boys too lightly, remembering in the past that strong T. C. U. teams have been defeated by the fast and hard-fighting Kangaroos. The last game to be played on old Clark Field was the Austin College game in 1930, in which the Horned Frogs whipped the Kangaroos.

Score Should Be Large.

Last year the two teams met in the new stadium and the Schmidtmann white-washed them 38 to 0. This year finds the Purple and White with the strongest array of football talent in the history of the institution, and the difference in the score should be even greater.

Before the game is very old, the Horned Frog coaches are likely to start a stream of substitutions into the fray. In the backfield Dan Harston, Otho Tiner, S. L. Phelps, Joe Coleman, Wesley Green, Charlie Casper, Elbert Walker and Jewell Wallace will probably see action.

The passing and especially the punting of Harston will bear watching. The left-footer can kick a football as good as any man in a Christian uniform. He is also a dependable ground-gainer, being able to follow his interference.

Taylor and Brown Will Play.

Replacing the regulars in the line will be Bud Taylor and Lynn Brown at guards. It will be on the shoulders of these two huskies, plus the veteran Lee Bassinger, to fill the holes to be left vacant by the graduation of Johnny Vaught and Lon Evans. At the tackle positions will be seen Judy Truelson and "Speedy" Allison, both of whom hail from Dallas. Truelson will replace Jack Shackelford at right tackle and Allison will replace Ben Boswell and Cy Perkins at left.

The center position will be filled by Woodson Arnes most of the time, and after Arnes will come Herd Floore, a battling pivot man. He was the fellow that put big Erwin of Arkansas out of commission in the closing minutes of the game three weeks ago. Jimmie Jacks will see action at end. Wallace Meyers, wing letterman, will also see much service.

Primarily, the Horned Frogs are getting ready for the Baylor game here Saturday week. No T. C. U. student or athlete will forget the miserable defeat that the Bears handed them here in 1930. The Frogs avenged that defeat to some degree in 1931, but they are striving once more to pay back the Bear damages done here in 1930.

If no injuries crop out in tomorrow's game, the following Saturday will find the Purple team ready, physically, for the remaining games on the conference slate.

BEN'S BARQUE

By BEN BOSWELL.

Dedications are in order for columnists and would-be columnists at this time of the year, and I wish to dedicate this week's column to Otha "Sheriff," "Golden Toe," "Mop Top," "Hydraulic," etc. Tiner.

The Waco lad has been waiting for the opportunity a long time. Against the Aggies last year, he tried a field goal which was wide, though only by a few inches. Coach Schmidt, correctly believing that Tiner would come through, sent him into the game at College Station for the same purpose this year. The rest of the story need not be re-told. He was rushed into the game after each of the two Frog touchdowns and, on both occasions, his kicks were straight to the mark.

Those who hope that Rice will beat Texas might do well to prepare for a disappointment. The Longhorns have not forgotten the two victories that the Birds have scored over them in as many years. Rice may win. I hope so, for I think that our chances are better for a victory over the Owls than over Texas. Texas is weak at the end positions, and the Owls are strong against weak ends.

The plight of Frank Carideo as coach of the University of Missouri is a common one. Some students and school officials and followers think that all a college needs for a winning team is to have some all-American as a coach. To date, the Tigers have not scored. Carideo was a strong offensive threat when he was playing quarter for Notre Dame. No doubt he was hired with the belief that he would run up large scores against Missouri enemies.

A coach must have time in which to "get in line." Carideo has changed the football system at Missouri; he does not have the best material in the world. On top of this, he is young in the coaching game. So don't say, for while anyway, that Carideo is a failure.

Red Oliver has scored the first touchdown in every game that the Frogs have played so far.

The yell leader at A. & M. announced to the student body before the game there that "T.C.U. is down here for a practice game." Such a statement was out of place entirely. A. & M. knows that we do not feel that way about her athletic teams.

The critics who pick all-conference teams this year will be in for a lot of "boos." Have a look at the backs who are to be considered. How will all of these be put on the mythical team? Spearman, Oliver, Koy, Stafford, Hillard, Wallace and the other Owl stars, plus Murphy of Arkansas and Domingue of A. & M.

How about an all-conference line? Erwin of Arkansas, Hinman of Rice, Jordan of A. & M., Cook of Texas and Vaught, Evans, Howell, Boswell, Townsend, Pruitt and Salkeld of Texas Christian!

Texas Christian Downs Farmers

Frogs Lead Conference Flag Race by One Full Game.

T. C. U. took the lead in the Southwest Conference race Saturday when the Frogs soundly trounced A. & M. 17 to 0 on the Aggies own celebrated Kyle Field. The victory gave the Frogs a full game lead over their nearest conference rivals and marked the eighth consecutive game in which the Aggies have been unable to win over the Purple and White team.

Playing heads-up football throughout the entire game, the Christians took advantage of the breaks they received and twice converted Aggie errors into scores.

The first break came in the middle of the first quarter when Kitchen recovered Domingue's fumble on the Farmer's 42-yard line. A series of running plays took the ball to the 10-yard line where, on the fourth down with seven yards to go, Otho Tiner was sent into the game, and kicked a field goal. Standing on the 18-yard line the little Waco product booted a perfect field goal to put the Frogs ahead 3 to 0. This ended the scoring for the first half, although the Aggies threatened seriously in the second quarter to duplicate the scoring method of the Christians by recovering a fumble on the T. C. U. 43-yard line, advancing it to the 13-yard stripe and attempting a field goal when the T. C. U. defense tightened. But Domingue's kick was wide and ended the only scoring threat of the Aggies.

In the third quarter Salkeld recovered a lateral pass from Spencer, intended for Domingue, on the A. & M. 14-yard stripe. Four tries at the line netted a first down three yards from the goal line. On the second play from this point Red Oliver plunged across for a touchdown. Tiner was again sent into the game to try for point after touchdown. His kick was squarely between the uprights to send the Frogs ahead 10 to 0.

The final seven points came in the fourth period on two long passes by Hubert Dennis, the first to Jack Graves for 24 yards and the second to Salkeld for 22 yards and a touchdown. Tiner again converted to give him a perfect record for the day.

The feature of the game was the manner in which the Aggies' star quarterback, "Frenchy" Domingue, was bottled up by the staunch Christian defense. Never once was the flashy ball-carrier able to get away for a long gain and was thrown for losses several times by the hard-charging forward wall of the Christians. Ted Spencer and Capt. Aston both outshone the highly-touted Domingue in the Farmer backfield.

For T. C. U. there were no outstanding stars. Every member of the team shared in the glory of the decisive victory over the Fighting Farmers.

Perry Sandifer, formerly assistant director of the Horned Frog Band, is studying at the University of Southern California this year. Cogy Sandifer, former T. C. U. student, is enrolled at North Texas State Teachers' College in Denton.

Flashy Frog End

Hinton Stars on New York Team

J. W. "Grassy" Hinton, former Frog football and baseball star, is now playing professional football with the Staten Island grid squad in New York City. The Islanders have won one game and lost one for a .500 per cent average. In both contests Hinton has been one of the outstanding stars.

Last year Hinton was captain of Dutch Meyer's Frog baseball team and was chosen by many sports scribes on the all-conference nine. He was an outstanding quarterback on the Purple and White eleven for the past three years, being placed on the all-conference second team his senior year.

At the close of the present grid-iron season Hinton will report to Randolph Field in San Antonio, where he will begin the preliminary duties of becoming an aviator. Last spring he was one of the few men of the nation to pass the examination to enter the flying school.

Miss Evelyn Golightly spent the week-end at her home in De Leon.

Seniors First in Intramural Race

Upperclassmen Defeat Juniors 31 to 7—Frosh Win Over Sophs.

The seniors are in undisputed possession of first place, one game ahead of the juniors and freshmen, in the intramural football race as a result of Tuesday's games. The seniors defeated the juniors 31 to 7 while the frosh whipped the sophs 33 to 7.

In the first game of the day the freshmen displayed a smooth-working offense that easily bowled over the weak sophomore team. At the half the two teams were tied with seven points each but the sophs, forced to play without substitutes, weakened and offered little opposition during the last half. John Crews, Ronald Wheeler and John Knowles were the outstanding players on the winning team.

The second and feature game of the afternoon was a surprise to all. A bitter battle was expected between the juniors and seniors for the league lead, but the experienced fourth-year men jumped into the lead at the beginning and were never headed. The juniors were outclassed in every department of the game. Their offense failed to function and their defense was powerless to stop the passes of the seniors.

For the victors Marion Hicks was the star, scoring 25 points and making several brilliant catches of both senior and junior passes. He was ably supported by Alf Roark and Malcolm Shackelford in the backfield and Norman Welsh in the line.

More men have entered the tennis singles tournament than in any previous year, the total reaching 50 at the close of entries Oct. 14. Of this number twenty are juniors, eleven are sophomores, ten freshmen and eight seniors. First matches are being played this week.

Frosh Win Over Weatherford 33-0

Coach Dutch Myers' Pollywogs show punch to win over the Weatherford College Coyotes 33-0.

The most consistent ground gainer for the Wogs was Jimmie Lawrence, freshman from Harlingen. Lawrence proved himself to be a triple threat man. Other stars were Simpson, Gammon and Hickey.

Godwin, Hill and Grosclouse performed best on the line. The Pollywogs' next game will be played Nov. 10, at which time they meet John Tarleton College.

Mrs. L. H. Burnam of Loveland, Okla., visited her daughter, Miss Phyllis Burnam, last week-end in Jarvis Hall.

Koy Now Leading in Scoring Race

Ripping through the University of Missouri defense for four touchdowns, Ernest Koy, hard plunging Texas University fullback, replaced Red Oliver and Blanford Spearman as the leader in the Southwest Conference scoring race.

Koy has plunged through the line twice for extra points and scored six touchdowns to bring his total to 38 points. Clifford Domingue, star Aggie signal caller, is in second place with 34 points. Oliver is tied for third place with Harrison Stafford of Texas University.

Spearman and Hubert Dennis are possessors of fifth and seventh places respectively. Dennis holds the distinction of having missed only one try-for-point in nine attempts. He has scored one touchdown and eight extra points.

The ten leading scorers of the conference are:

Player	T.D.	P.	A.T.D.	TOT.
Koy, Texas	6	2		38
Domingue, A&M	5	4		34
Oliver, TCU	5	0		30
Stafford, Texas	5	0		30
Spearman, TCU	4	0		24
Wallace, Rice	3	0		18
Dennis, TCU	1	8		14
Aston, A&M	2	1		13
Pearce, Baylor	2	0		12
Biddle, Ark	2	0		12
