Classes to Be Suspended For Homecoming Day

A. & M. Student Body to Be on Campus Full Strength.

Cadets Will Parade

Nat Wells in Charge of Committee to Transport Aggies.

A holiday has been granted the students by the University Administration for Homecoming Day, Saturday, Oct. 21.

According to an announcement from President E. M. Waits yesterday, all classes will be suspended for the day in honor of the A. & M. student body, which will be on the campus full strength, and the ex-students and alumni here for Homecoming.

"We have promised to furnish 100 automobiles," Roy O'Brien, student-body president said, "to help transport the 2000 cadets to and from the campus. The cars will bear 'Aggie, Hop In' signs and will pick up the cadets after a parade through the downtown streets."

Nat Wells heads the committee in charge of transportation, and students having automobiles that they can use to transport the Cadets have been asked to report to him.

O'Brien has appointed Miss Christine Ackers chairman of a committee to assist in serving the Aggies at a barbecue that is to be given them in the Frog Field House.

Committees Are Named

Wells, Miss Botts, Miss Ackers, Crotty to Head Groups.

The Student Council at its Tuesday meeting named chairmen of various campus committees to assist in Homecoming activities.

Nat Wells will head the committee to furnish transportation for the A. & M. invaders from the station to the stadium. Miss Lollie Botts is in charge of arrangements to furnish refreshments to the exes when they meet at 10 o'clock in the Main Building.

Miss Christine Ackers will head a committee to assist in serving barbecue to the Aggies after the game. Campus organizations desiring to erect booths in the Main Building should see Clarence Crotty for arrangements. He will also assist at the information booth for the home-comers.

Miss Johnson to Be Honor Guest Today

Will Read from "Agarita Berry" at Meeting of English Department.

Miss Siddle Jo Johnson will be the guest of honor at the first English departmental meeting this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in Jarvis Hall. The meeting will be in the form of a tea at which Miss Johnson will read from her volume of poems, "Agarita Berry," just off the press. She will also autograph volumes of her book at the tea. English majors are required to attend the meeting, and English minors are urged to come. The faculty is invited to all meetings.

Miss Johnson will be honored at a dinner sponsored by the T. C. U. Poetry Group tonight at 6:30 o'clock, in the University Cafeteria. Tomorrow evening she will read for the Texas Poetry Society at the Y.W.C.A. in Dallas at 8 o'clock.

Miss Johnson is teacher of English in Refugio High School in Refugio. Her home is in Corpus Christi. She graduated from T. C. U. in 1932. Her poems have received state and national recognition and have been published in newspapers and magazines over the nation and state. Copies of "Agarita Berry" are on advance sale at the English office for $1.

Dean Hall to Preside

President Waits, Sherer to Go to Dallas Meeting.

Dean Colby D. Hall will preside at the Friday afternoon session of the Southwest Conference of the Association of American Colleges and the Council of Church Boards of Education, which is holding a meeting in Dallas next Friday and Saturday.

Dr. Robert L. Kelly, executive secretary of the association, will be the chief speaker. His subject will be "Critical Problems of College Administration Today."

The theme of the meeting will be "Contributions of the Southwest to Higher Education in America."

President E. M. Waits and Prof. C. R. Sherer are the other faculty members who plan to attend.

Call the Profs "Doctor" if They Have Ph. D.'s

When is a doctor not a doctor? Well, here on the campus he's not a doctor unless he has his Ph. D. degree. Few students on the campus know that some members of the faculty generally referred to as "Doctor" do not have their doctor's degrees. Or maybe the students want a little "pull" with the professor in question. But you aren't fooling anybody but yourself, brother.

These dear old profs around here aren't so dumb. When you address one of them as "Doctor So and So" when he isn't "Doctor So and So" then you, in his opinion, are either ignorant of his correct status or want a good grade on the course.

Giant Pep Rally Will Be Staged On Friday Night

Bonfire to Be Burned After Meeting, Says Pickett.

Band Will Perform

Boys to Hold Shirt-Tail Parade Through Downtown District.

As a part of the Homecoming activities, a giant pep rally, consisting of yells, songs, talks by ex-students, and music by the Horned Frog Band, will be held in the gymnasium next Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock, according to Tom Pickett, head yell leader.

After the meeting in the gymnasium, the scene of the activities will turn to the bonfire back of Jarvis Hall, which will be lighted as soon as the pep rally is over.

"Work has begun on the bonfire in earnest," Pickett stated, "and if we have the co-operation of every freshman boy we can make this fire the largest ever held at T. C. U." The fire will be set off by boys of the freshman class, who will run with torches from the stadium. After a snake dance around the pile, they will throw the lighted torches on the heap and start the fire.

When the conflagration is over, boys of the University will journey to the business district of the city, where they will hold a shirt-tail parade through the downtown streets, headed by the University Band.

Pickett is endeavoring to get all former yell leaders of T. C. U. to lead yells at a meeting of students and ex-students in the Auditorium at 10:30 o'clock Saturday morning.

Frosh-Soph Play Contest Tuesday

Miss Armstrong, Sidney Lightfoot will Be Directors.

The annual Freshman-Sophomore Play Contest will be held Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock in the Auditorium. The freshman play, directed by Miss Bernice Armstrong, will be "The Wonder Hat." The sophomores will present "And There Was Light," directed by Sidney Lightfoot. Elmer Seybold will be stage manager.

The freshman cast will include Waller, Moody, Olin Jones, Frank Aguirre, and Misses Mary Corzine and Marjorie Sewalt.

George Cherrymones, and Misses Mary Elizabeth Gregory, Merry Montrief and Virginia Morris will be the sophomore actors.

Special sections of the auditorium will be reserved for each of the two classes participating. Tickets will be 15 cents for individuals and 25 cents for couples.

To Address Exes

EDWIN A. ELLIOTT
Dr. Edwin A. Elliott, head of the University department of economics and past president of the T. C. U. Alumni and Ex-Students' Association, will address a gathering of the exes in the University Auditorium Homecoming Day at 10:30 a. m.

Band Will Play for Homecoming Activities

Organization to Furnish Music for Pep Rally, Parade and Grid Game.

"The Horned Frog Band will be Johnny-on-the-spot during Homecoming" according to its director, Prof. Claude Sammis and will be right in the middle of everything. The war song will officially begin the festivities at the pep rally in the basketball gymnasium and the Alma Mater hymn will officially close the Homecoming after the Frog-Aggie contest.

The 48 members of the band in their full-dress uniforms will greet the Aggies at the railroad station and lead them in a parade up Main Street to the various hotels where they will be quartered.

A field drill for the spectators at the game is being planned by Roy Bacus, drum major, and the officers of the band.

Other entertainment by the band will be the leading of the snake dance around the bonfire and a concert on the campus sometime during the day.

Rehearsals are being held daily by Sammis and the assistant directors and such pep songs as "Hail, Hail The Gang's All Here," "There'll Be a Hot Time in the Old Town Tonight" and "W. & L. Swing" are being worked over with the "hot men" in the band making the numbers even peppier.

Sentences Suspended

FRIDAY, Oct. 13.—Twenty University boys who last night admitted having participated in the shearing of freshmen's heads at the scene of the bonfire Tuesday night were sentenced by the Discipline Committee at 1:30 o'clock this morning to suspension from T. C. U., with the sentence suspended for the duration of their good behavior.

Celebration Program Includes Frog-Farmer Game, Pep Rally, Bonfire, Luncheon and Reunions

Sidney Latham Will Be Speaker—President Waits, Dean Hall, Prof. McDiarmid, Jarvis, O'Brien to Greet.

By LOUISE COZZENS

With the Frog-Aggie game, a giant pep rally and the annual bonfire, a downtown shirt-tail parade, an ex-students' luncheon and general get-together meeting on the Homecoming program, hundreds of exes will begin the annual trek toward Frogland next week.

Sketch of T. C. U. To Be Broadcast

Program Will Be Given Over WSM Oct. 20 at 7:30 P. M.

A sketch depicting the history of T. C. U. and life on the campus will be given over radio station WSM of Nashville, Tenn., at 7:30 o'clock Friday evening, Oct. 20. This is one of a series of sketches of university life that are being sponsored by the National Life and Accident Insurance Company.

Events included in the sketch will be the coming of Addison and Randolph Clark to Texas after the Civil War, their first school, the fire in Waco, the establishment of the school in Fort Worth, the singing of the Alma Mater Hymn, the playing of the Frog March, a few words written by President E. M. Waits, a freshman prom, a Skiff interview with Coach Schmidt upon his arrival at T. C. U., the pep rally before the A. & M. game and Homecoming day. Addison and Randolph Clark, President Waits, Coach Schmidt, and past and present students of the University will be included in the program.

Activities Begin Anew. Activities will begin anew Saturday morning at 10 o'clock. An information booth in the Main Building will direct the homecomers to rooms on second and third floors which have been provided for classes of four-year intervals and which at 10 o'clock will be buzzing with excitement when ex-students as far back as 1905 get together for a "remember-when?" reunion. Refreshments will be served from 10 to 10:30 o'clock in the rooms. Dean of Women Sadie Beckham will also serve coffee and sandwiches to the new arrivals from 10 to 12 o'clock in Jarvis Hall.

10:30 o'clock will find a mass gathering in the University Auditorium where a "spontaneous combustion" meeting has been scheduled. John Bateman, 1911 graduate, Harvey Redford, vice-president of the Alumni and Ex-Students' Association, and Dr. Edwin A. Elliott will be the main speakers.

Extemporaneous "pep" speeches from the floor and yells led by ex-cheer leaders will also be the order of the day. Music for the occasion will be furnished by the Horned Frog Band under the direction of Prof. Claude Sammis.

Sidney Latham to Speak. At 12 o'clock an ex-students' luncheon in the University Cafeteria will be held. Sidney Latham, state representative and ex-cheer leader, will be the principal speaker. Greetings from the administration will be given by Dean Colby Hall and President E. M. Waits. Prof. E. W. McDiarmid will represent the faculty, and Van Zandt Jarvis, the Board of Trustees. Roy O'Brien, president of the student body, will extend greetings from the 1933-34 students. Presidents of the various alumni and ex-students clubs over the state will also be introduced at the luncheon. Plates will be 50 cents each.

At 3 o'clock the scene will shift to the T. C. U. Stadium, where the Horned Frogs meet the Aggies in the annual grid classic of the season.

The burning of the bonfire took place shortly after 8 p. m. Tuesday, and firemen had to be called to extinguish the blaze. About 11 p. m. freshmen working to rebuild the bonfire were seized by rough and unknown hands, seated unceremoniously on boxes and shorn of their locks with scissors and barber's shears.

The University's first hair-shearing took place last year after the freshman prom.

Ghost Barbers Clip Hair When Bonfire Blazes

The University's second episode of the shearing of freshmen's heads took place at the hands of persons—or things—unknown Tuesday night. The hair-clipping came after the frosh had left the bonfire material they are collecting for next week's Homecoming celebration unguarded, and thereby allowed someone to set fire to the pile.

History of T. C. U. Homecomings Dates From 1927, Last Time S. M. U. Beat Frogs

The history of T. C. U. Homecomings goes back to Nov. 24, 1927. The date in itself means little but to the old timer it means the last time that S. M. U. defeated the Frogs. Gigantic pep rallies, speeches, music, bonfires, shirt-tail parades, "T" Association banquets, football dances, ex-student chapel programs, alumni luncheons—these have been the making of Homecoming days for T. C. U. alumni and exes.

Formerly Homecoming had been held in connection with commencement but in 1927 there was an appeal to that "old fighting spirit that for forty or fifty years has been Frogland's," and T. C. U. students gave the alumni their first real welcome. The event of the day, outside of the game, was the parade of officials, exes, board members, alumni, students, and townspeople through downtown streets. The "Flaring Fifty" Horned Frog Band and the T. C. U. girls pep squad added splendor to the occasion.

One of T. C. U.'s greatest Homecoming days was in 1930. That day 23,000 alumni and students packed the new stadium to watch the thirteenth clash of the Frogs and Longhorns. The class of 1927 and the football team of 1910 held reunions, and alumni and ex-students gathered from all over Texas to encourage the Frogs to repeat the work of 1929 and shatter the too-often-quoted phrase that "Southwest champions never repeat."

The peak of Homecoming day in 1931 was the Homecoming luncheon in the cafeteria. That day students honored the exes with the first student strike. "Every student on the campus but not a one in classes" was the cry. Five thousand gathered in Frog Fieldhouse for the pep rally on Friday night and stood in drizzling rain to watch the largest bonfire that ever burned the red and blue of S. M. U.

Last year every building on the T. C. U. campus was decorated for the Homecoming. Signs welcoming the exes were present on every building, and signs urging the Frogs to commit questionable deeds on the Steers were displayed. On Clark Hall a sign blinked intermittently, "Dehorn the Longhorns."

The homecoming celebration began with the T. C. U. Ex-lettermen's Association banquet in the University cafeteria, and followed through the mammoth pep rally in the Frog Fieldhouse and the burning of the bonfire whose dancing flames consumed the material that had been collected by University boys, and symbolized the downfall of the Longhorns' hopes of winning the Southwest Conference Championship. More than two thousand exes participated in the Homecoming activities—the luncheon for exes in the cafeteria, impromptu pep rallies, and a chapel program for past and present students, and cried "on to the championship," after the 14-0 victory of the Fighting Frogs over the Texas Longhorns.

The mammoth pep rally at 7:30 o'clock Friday night will send the Homecoming activities off to a vigorous start. Speeches by prominent ex-students, music by the Horned Frog Band, stunts by freshmen and roof-raising yells led by Tom Pickett, Bill Hudson and Vic Montgomery will feature the pep program. After the meeting the huge bonfire, the material for which the freshman boys have been weeks in collecting, will be touched off with torches. Yells and band music will accompany the burning of the bonfire. A shirt-tail parade through the downtown section after the bonfire will bring Friday's program to a close.

Pep Meeting to Be Held Tonight

A pep meeting will be held in the basketball gym this evening at 7:15 o'clock, with Tom Pickett, head yell leader, and Vic Montgomery and Bill Hudson, assistants, in charge.

As the game with Simmons University tomorrow is the first home game, a large attendance is expected at the rally. Pickett urges everyone, especially town students, to attend the meeting tonight in order to learn all the yells in time for the big rally next Friday night.

Introduction of the football team and music by the Horned Frog Band will be the main features of the meeting.

Welcome Home, Exes!

Plans are under way for making this year's Homecoming day, Saturday, Oct. 21, the biggest in the history of the University. The entire student body, the Student Council, the student-body officers, the University faculty and administration and officers of the Alumni and Ex-Sudents' Association all are making preparations for a royal welcome and plenty of entertainment for the gala occasion.

The Frog-aggie game will be the feature of the day, and it promises to be the hardest-fought battle ever to be staged between the two teams. Dope has it that the Farmers may win the conference crown, but the Frogs will be battling for their reputation.

A. & M. is making its corps trip to Fort Worth for the game—the first official trip to this city by the cadets since 1929—and they will be here two thousand strong.

Events on the Homecoming program include a monster pep rally, burning of a bonfire which freshmen are now engaged in building, a barbecue for the Cadets, a banquet for the exes, get-together meetings of alumni, the Aggie game and a number of unofficial functions.

Come on home, exes! See your former classmates and see the game. We'll be looking for you.

Empty the Auditorium

When T. C. U. had a large enrollment and the chapel was full on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays, the greatest problem of the chapel hour was getting the students out quickly. In the last few years, since the decrease in enrollment, this problem has been lessened, but this year, with the whole student body crowded into the Wednesday chapel the problem returns full force.

It would probably be expensive to widen the doors to the auditorium or to make additional openings, so the administration has suggested another plan. Students have been asked to follow the faculty out of the auditorium in a double column—beginning at the front, seniors first, juniors, then sophomores. By the use of this plan the chapel may be emptied in as little as three minutes.

The situation as regards the balcony is not so bad, since the number of students is not so large. However, the situation on the first floor could be helped by the co-operation of those who sit in the balcony. Most of them use the center stairway to come to the first floor. If they used the stairs at the ends of the hall it would help relieve the congestion.

Here is a problem that everyone must help solve.

Fair Weather Friends—Are You One?

The severest test that could have been put on the student body's loyalty has come with the losing of their first conference football game by the Horned Frogs.

The gridiron defeat will show who among the students are real, loyal supporters of the team and who are merely fair-weather friends. Time and again it has been said at pep rallies that anyone can pat a winner on the back and tell him that he's behind him, but it takes a real friend to pat a loser on the back and tell him he's still behind him.

This test doesn't come often in T. C. U. The Horned Frogs have lost few games in the past several years. Now that the test has come, what will you show yourself to be—a real or a fair-weather friend?

If you are really behind the Frogs, let them know it. Tell the members of the team you're still behind them. Attend the pep meetings in the gym tonight and next Friday night. Sit in the T. C. U. section at the games tomorrow and the following Saturday, and show the wearers of the Purple on the field that you're with them, win or lose.

Preserve the Bound Volumes

"Whoever wilfully injures or defaces any book, newspaper, magazine, pamphlet, manuscript, or other property belonging to any public library, reading room, museum, or other educational institution by writing, marking, tearing, breaking, or otherwise mutilating, shall be fined not exceeding $25."—Library Laws of Texas.

Last year, either through thoughtlessness or ignorance, several bound volumes of the Mary Couts Burnett Library were clipped. The library has only one record of the facts that these volumes contain. If this record is destroyed students of the future will not have access to certain valuable facts. Some of the volumes clipped last year will be hard to replace; some of the older ones cannot be found again. These volumes have been bound for the use of the student of the future as well as of the present, and only through the co-operation of each student can they be preserved.

Strike Up the Band!

Get out the flags! Hang up the banners! Unfurl the welcome signs and let's show these Exes and Aggies that when a T. C. U. student body says "welcome" it means WELCOME.

It is the duty of every present student in the University to make himself a welcoming committee of one. Let's show these former Frogs that their efforts to create a greater T. C. U. and a finer school spirit were not in vain and that we appreciate every little thing that they did back in their days.

United and individually, let's say "welcome" and let's say it in such a way that even the most doubtful ex will feel his heart swelling with pride that the old school spirit is still here.

Believe it or not—Coach Schmidt's teams with such goal kickers as Otho Tiner and Ben Boswell began way back in the decades when the Frog Mentor was a high school player. As the story goes, Schmidt in his senior year at high school kicked seventeen field goals and tries for the extra point and never missed a one! And those were the days when the extra point was kicked from the point along the goal line where the ball went over.

Page Ripley, but wait. While Schmidt was head man at Tulsa there was a young lad named Tom Wallin who made history and also added weight to the old saying that the third time's a charm. One autumn afternoon the Tulsa team was playing a much weaker aggregation and Schmidt was vexed because the first two goal kickers had failed to register; so he sent young Wallin into the game. Wallin kicked the goal and on top of that kicked eighteen others that afternoon and never missed a one!

And, by the way, if you still aren't surprised listen to this one. For the past seven years the Frog Coach's record has never included a team which finished below third place!

And on top of all that, Schmidt is a lawyer, and has a law degree! When asked why he turned to coaching, the Mentor said that he got awful hungry and he just couldn't eat those law books.

Schmidt was a three-year letterman in football at the University of Nebraska and also participated in the other major sports. He is pretty well known for those lanky basketball teams he has coached at Arkansas, but his record at T. C. U. well—why go into recent history when everyone knows that the Frogs are frequently upsetting the supposed-to-be champs and carrying off the big end of the score.

YOUR FORGETTING

It isn't more than I can bear, That we must go our separate way; For we will share, as memory's gift, The things we knew today.

It isn't that I cannot go With you, that makes this hurt I feel; It's just that your forgetting me Will make me, so unreal. —Marie Hamlett.

RESPIRE

The river beckons to us with cool fingers. Come! Let it seal across our bodies, Parched with city heat, depressed and sore With the complexities of our existence.

Sharp-edged rocks bruise our tender feet By the water's edge, but slowly we slip from them Down . . . down into the rich earth-colored balm; A sleepy peacefulness courses through our veins.

Out in the stony arms of the river The sun coats our drowsy nudeness With a honeyed-tan, while the indolent Breath of the afternoon loosens our bonds . . . —Lorraine O'Gorman.

Amusement ABOUT TOWN

By ROY BACUS

All I know is what I read in the papers . . . says Will Rogers. And all I know is what I read in the press books . . . which say that the great comedy philosopher is coming to the Palace tomorrow in Dr. Bull . . . a picture which is compared to "State Fair," and Will did a good job in that picture.

The Worth tomorrow is presenting another one of those pictures which try to make extras out of actors by making the whole cast a stellar one and "Night Flight" includes the two Barrymores, Helen Hayes, Clark Gable, Robert Montgomery and Myrna Loy and many less prominent stars. "Night Flight" really touches the heart by dealing with the wife whom the aviator leaves at home. And how that Helen Hayes can make the lumps rise in your throat.

A different type of drama is beginning at the Hollywood tomorrow in "The World Gone Mad." The picture deals with money and the bank holiday. According to Croy who writes stories for Will Rogers to dramatize, money is the second thing in which people are really interested. (The first thing is sex as illustrated in motherhood and love of parent for child.) Pat O'Brien, Evelyn Brent, Neil Hamilton, and Mary Brian play in the Hollywood picture.

Wednesday Katherine Hepburn, another one of those people, who go to Hollywood and start at the top is being presented by RKO-Radio in "Morning Glory." It is hard to describe the personality of Miss Hepburn but such words as unique, distinctive, and unusual are most effective. Douglas Fairbanks Jr. plays the male lead.

Social activities for the week-end will probably center around one of several "struggles." Clyde Alexander, Frank Miller, and Bryant Collins are promoting the dance at the Woman's Club, and as usual there will be dances at the Blackstone and Texas.

Duke Ellington made quite an impression it seems. And he should . . . for when seven brass horns coordinate as Ellington's three trombones and four trumpets there is entertainment!

Ancient Bell, as Old as School, Rings no More

The bell that once rang in Jarvis Hall each morning and each evening to awaken the girls, rings no more. The bell, which now rests on Mrs. Sadie T. Beckham's desk, is as old as the school itself. It was taken to Waco from Thorp Springs when the school was moved and was brought to Fort Worth from Waco when the school was moved again.

"I never use the bell, now," said Mrs. Beckham "except for unexpected parlor meetings and pep meetings. I have not used it this year to call the girls in from the campus.

"Once, several years ago, the bell was stolen and taken to the boy's dormitory, where the handle was cut and it was otherwise mutilated. The tone has never been the same. The girls grumbled so because they were not awakened by the bell that some boy found it and returned it."

One Fat Lady on Bicycle Wanted By Photographer

One fat lady on a bicycle. One baby buggy with a fresh pushing it. One pooching paddle two inches thick.

One pickaninny, one mouse, and a piece of watermelon. Boy, that sounds like the back end of one of those prairie schooners which skirted these plains several score years ago carrying the family, the furniture and stock, but it isn't. It's just one of the numerous assignments handed out from the Horned Frog office for the feature section of the 1934 yearbook.

Thus far the members of the staff have been very successful in their search for certain pictures which will serve a purpose that the editor will not dare announce. But the first mentioned in the above list has stamped everyone that has been helping with the pictures. Where is there a fat lady who rides a bicycle and doesn't object to being photographed?

According to staff members most of the students on the campus delight in being photographed, but the fat lady assignment has not been filled. And it looks as though the search will end in failure, for all the photographers have declared that they are not mention to their "pleasing-plum" friends the wish of the yearbook editor.

So here is a want ad: Should there be any fat lady in Tarrant County who makes her living modeling for ice cream advertisements, or who happens to be desirous of having her picture on a page all by itself in the 1934 Horned Frog, will she please get in touch with a member of the staff and receive a reward. She will be furnished with a nice new bicycle, will be asked to smile and then it will be all over, and the yearbook staff will go right on writing copy and making pictures.

1927 Styles Recalled as Worn at First Homecoming

By LOUISE CAUKER

Remember them? Those knee-length, long-waisted dresses; the round-toed spike-heeled slippers with ankle straps; the bobbed hair, and the things they called hats—high-cornered atrocities that covered both eyebrows instead of the modern bit of millinery which hides one? Ah, but they were Style then.

That was back in 1927, six years ago, when the first official Homecoming celebration was held. The day was Thanksgiving, and the occasion the T. C. U. -S. M. U. game. There was a big automobile parade downtown, with Mrs. Ernest Allen as parade chairman. Classes for 35 years back were represented.

Mrs. Mary Hefner Barker of Nashville, Tenn., 1919 graduate, came the longest distance to the 1927 celebration. Mrs. Barker was quite active in her college days. She was vice-president of the student body and the first girl to edit the Horned Frog. And she and all the other women grads and exes probably appeared in 1927 in those short dresses and funny hats.

By 1930, when the next official Homecoming celebration was held, clothes were so nearly modern as to seem possible anyhow. And of course men have looked fairly decent ever since they doffed those trousers they used to wear that fitted tight clear down to the ankles. In 1930, though, women were still wearing evening dresses with the uneven hem-line.

That 1930 celebration was the time when the big pep rally was broadcast over KTAT, and Rags Matthews and John Esteman were in charge of Homecoming plans, AND Texas beat us 7 to 0.

The 1931 homecoming celebration was the year Alf Roark was student prexy and Laurence Coulter was Skiff editor. The students called a strike when the administration refused an official holiday. But the students got stung, too; cuts were counted that day, strike or no. In 1932, after we beat State 14 to 0—before a big Homecoming crowd, President Waits handed students a holiday from the top steps of the Administration Building.

And now the 1933 Homecoming celebration is next week-end. Aggie galore will swarm the campus; grads and exes will shake hand and laugh and cry, and all will yell themselves hoarse at the game. Six years from now some one on The Skiff staff will probably look through the files and laugh at our styles—the big sleeves, fussy and balloony, and the tiny hats that sit on top of the head and tilt over one eyebrow. Maybe we'll laugh too.

Tell me something.

what makes a cigarette taste better

WHAT makes anything taste better? It's what is in it that makes a thing taste better.

CHESTERFIELDS taste better because we buy ripe tobaccos. These ripe tobaccos are aged two and a half years—thirty months. During this time the tobaccos improve—just like wine improves by ageing.

CHESTERFIELDS taste better because they have the right kind of home-grown tobaccos and Turkish Tobaccos "welded together."

We hope this answers your question.

Honors Are Given T. C. U. Professors

Ten of Faculty Have Received Recognition for Work.

The election of Dr. Newton Gaines to membership in the American Association for the Advancement of Science makes the third member of the T. C. U. science faculty to be given that honor. Prof. W. M. Winton has been a member for fifteen years and Dr. Gayle Scott was elected in 1926.

The A. A. A. E. includes all scientific societies except the Medical group and corresponds to the British Royal Society, though the A. A. A. S. is not an official government organization as is the British Society.

Prof. Winton was elected a fellow of the A. A. A. S. because of the outstanding work that he did in the field of Cretaceous Paleontology. That was in 1918 and 1919.

Dr. Scott Does Geology Work
Dr. Scott was elected on the basis of his work in the study of Cretaceous geology in 1926. The honor came shortly after his return from study in France.

Dr. Gaines, the latest to be elected to the association, made the most outstanding contribution to the advancement of science of any in this section. The fellows are elected on the basis of publication of significant research. Dr. Gaines did his work in the use of supersonic sound waves in the destruction of bacteria.

Prof. Ballard Honored
Prof. John W. Ballard of the B. B. A. Department, has recently been given an honor in his field that compares to that to which the members of the science faculty belong. He was elected to membership in American Institute of Accountants.

There are less than 2,000 members of this organization and the election to this group comes only by invitation. The requirements for membership are rigid. The person considered must have had his C. P. A. for at least five years. The other requirements are that the individual must have a spotless record of service. The organization picks its members from all over the world.

Dr. Combs Well Known
Dr. Josiah Combs of the modern language department is also well known in his particular field. He is a member of the Modern Language Association of America and the American Dialect Society. He is also on the general committee of the American Folk Song Society. Dr. Combs has written several books on lan-

Welcome Exes!

The president and the faculty of Texas Christian University extend their greetings and warmest good wishes to the alumni and ex-students of T. C. U. We also extend, in advance, a hearty welcome to our campus on Homecoming day, Saturday, Oct. 21. Many forms of entertainment are being provided for your enjoyment. We bid you welcome to the joys and fellowships of your old Alma Mater. Come and make the campus your home on that day. Renew your youth, as you live over those days of the long ago with their half-forgotten romance and youthful adventure.

The chief attraction for the day will be the battle royal at the T. C. U. stadium between the Frogs and their formidable but friendly rivals of the gridiron from Aggieland. The colorful cadet corps with many members of the A. & M. faculty will be our guests. Help us give them a friendly welcome.

Let us make this one of the most memorable Homecomings in the history of T. C. U.

PRESIDENT E. M. WAITS.

University Bands Began in 1905; Sammis Figures in Late History

The Texas Christian University Horned Frog Band first came into existence in 1905. This is the first record of any wind-blown musical organization in the institution. This band was called the Texas Christian University Military Band and was under the direction of Charles V. Kirkpatrick. It was composed of 32 members, only about half of them who sported uniforms. This all happened during the days when T. C. U. possessed a military unit within the curriculum.

In 1907 and '08 the band was under the tutelage of Willie C. Hunter and was composed of 21 members. Dan Rogers was a drummer then and later was elected as one of the honorary directors for life. Mr. Rogers resides in Dallas now and still thinks there's no band like the Frog Band.

In February, 1908, the band gave its first public concert. Professor Wimberly was the director and the concert was such a success that the Skiff headlined its appearance in the next edition. This band was known as the first successful and permanent band of the university.

Coming on down the years, the next band we find is in 1914, which was composed of 17 pieces. In 1915 the band and orchestra was combined and 13 men and women answered the roll call.

1917 Was Depression Year.
In 1917 the band had only 13 members. These were the depression years for the Frog Band and students were begged to join. The school owned no instruments and it was up to the members to buy their own musical instruments. Right at this time the organization came within an inch of disbanding.

In 1919 the university boasted a band which was composed of 28 pieces. This was a military band and was very successful.

For a period of about five years, from 1919 until 1924, the institution was without a band. In 1924 James E. King organized a Frog band. About 45 members responded to his call. This band gave concerts on the campus every Monday night and was financed by various alumni organizations. Great credit here goes to Dan Rogers, who bore the brunt of the financing the band. Mr. Rogers saw his dream come true when the school started furnishing some of the instruments. The appearance of the band was more or less poor because their uniforms were composed of purple and white sweaters with a skull cap of any color or variety.

Amon G. Carter Aids Band.
In 1925, through subscription of the students and faculty, Amon G. Carter and Washer Brothers, the band sported new purple uniforms with white trimmings. After securing the new uniforms the band made guage and dialect and has traveled and lectured throughout Europe and America.

Five men connected with T. C. U. have been given national recognition in Who's Who. They were given the rating because of the service that they have rendered in the field of education. They are President E. M. Waits, Dr. John Lord, Prof. E. W. McDiarmid, Dr. Clinton Lockhart and Dean Colby D. Hall.

several out of town trips, playing concerts at the small neighboring towns.

In 1926 T. C. U. again possessed a successful musical organization. This year 35 members were chosen, by a competitive method, from the music playing students of the university. This band was dressed in snappy purple and white uniforms with special insignia for its conductor, drum major and other executives. For the first and only time, in the history of the band, the band was placed on a military discipline basis and drilled in the military band parade technique.

Sammis Becomes Director.

The Horned Frog band was fortunate in securing the services of a highly trained conductor in Claude Sammis. Under the leadership of the business managers and others, some Frogland Follies were staged for the purpose of financing the band. These were successful and new equipment was purchased, thus placing the T. C. U. band on a level with the rest of the musical organizations in the Southwest.

In 1926 the band adopted the band sweetheart plan. Misses Sarah Hal Williams and Mary Harrison were honored by being chosen to fill that capacity.

During the '26, '27, '28 and '29 school years the band made several trips for the Fort Worth Chamber of Commerce. The band also played for the stock show festivities during that period of time and gained for themselves a regular berth for some time to come.

Rogers Creates Scholarships.

Through the efforts of Dan Rogers, band scholarships have been given to band members during the past few years. Through this medium many outstanding musicians have entered T. C. U. and have helped the Horned Frog band to a level with the country's best.

In 1923 Prof. Sammis decided to place the membership limit at 50. If one of these fifty couldn't stand the pace, then he would be dropped and some one of the students on the waiting list would take the vacant place.

The T. C. U. band had added strength to the school spirit at the football games and makes many of the out-of-town trips with the Purple and White grid team.

At the present time Bob Mitchell is president of the organization and Miss Christine Ackers is the band sweetheart. The band will be out in full stride for the T. C. U.-Simmons football game tomorrow and will play a big part in the Homecoming activities next week.

Jack Graves Chosen Store's Representative

Jack Graves, captain of the 1933 Horned Frog football team, has recently been chosen T. C. U. representative of Victory Wilson, Inc., 804 1/2 Main Street.

Graves came to T. C. U. from Beaumont, and is a senior this year.

Miss Clara Edith Huxford, student in the University last year, is attending Alabama College at Monte Vallo.

Jarvis Hall, Brite College and Goode Hall Bear Names of Benefactors.

Amid a college setting of songs, band music, yells and pennants, the cornerstone of the Administration Building of Texas Christian University was laid. The services were held Tuesday afternoon, April 9, 1911, after the University had been moved from Waco.

It was a historic day for T. C. U. The beginning of this building campaign was the beginning of two prosperous decades for the Purple institution. The Ad building was completed by midsummer and Goode and Jarvis halls were ready for the opening of school on Sept. 10.

The Medical School, now discarded, was dedicated Wednesday morning, Oct. 4, 1911, and many noted authorities were at the services. The school was located at Fifth and Calhoun Streets. Clark Hall was begun May 25, 1912, and completed the same year.

Two years later, Brite College of the Bible was added to the University. In 1919 a successful campaign was carried through and the gymnasium was built. The library was constructed in 1924 at a cost of $150,000. The funds were provided by Mrs. Mary Couts Burnett and it was fitting that the magnificent building be given her name. In the same year, Dan Rogers was active in the building of Clark, now discarded also. During the Christmas holidays of 1926, the Field House was erected.

Work Started on Stadium
Next came the largest building project in the history of the institution. The move was started at the close of the 1929 football season.

The first championship in football had been won and it was obvious that the Christians were to be feared and respected in football after this. The move gained momentum and by the opening of the 1930 grid season, a giant new stadium had been erected at the cost of $350,000.

But let us turn the pages of history back to Tuesday afternoon, April 9, 1911, nearly twenty-three years ago.

Randolph Clark was on the temporary platform. His brother, Addison Clark, was unable to attend, due to a severe illness. Seated on the platform also was Mr. T. E. Tomlinson, chairman of the board, and Mr. T. E. Shirley, long-time friend of Texas Christian. Major J. J. Jarvis occupied a prominent place.

Dr. Clinton S. Lockhart, then president of the University, was there. Dr. Waits, then pastor of the Magnolia Avenue Christian Church and secretary of the board, sat near Dean Hall, who was pastor of the University Christian Church at Waco at the time of the fire. There were many other notables present, including Mayor Davis of Fort Worth and Judge Anson Rainey of Dallas.

Building Dedicated to Christ
After preliminary songs and yells, secretary Waits called upon the presiding judge to have the rites performed. Accordingly, Mr. Shirley placed a metal box containing relics

Miss Ackers Is Eighteenth Of Family to Attend T. C. U.

Miss Florence Ackers, freshman in T. C. U. this year, is the eighteenth member of her family to attend the University. Her sister, Miss Christine Ackers, seventeenth member of the family to attend, is a junior this year.

Members of the family began attending the institution as early as 1884, two cousins, Walter Black and John Black, were members of the class of 1888. Two years later, three cousins were members of the same class, that of 1890. They were Will Black, brother of Walter Black; Miss Lula Black, sister of John Black, and Henry Black, another cousin.

In the next five years, three more members of the immediate family of John and Miss Lula Black attended the college in rapid succession. They were William Black, 1892, Jack Black, 1894, and Miss Minnie Black, 1895. No other members of the family attended the school for thirteen years. Then Lewis Ackers, father of Misses Florence and Christine Ackers, and R. E. McFalls enrolled as members of the class of 1909.

Two daughters of the former Miss Lula Black, Misses Sara Ada Veale of the class of 1912 and Frances Veale of the class of 1931 are graduates of the University.

Miss Sybil Black, 1915, and Miss Katherine Black, 1928, daughters of William Black, are graduates of their father's alma mater. Miss Mildred Black, daughter of Jack Black, was a member of the class of 1921.

Miss Ruby Stokes, a member of the family, graduated from the University in 1925.

The present representatives of the family in T. C. U. are daughters of Lewis Ackers. Miss Christine Ackers, honorary sweetheart of the Horned Frog Band this year, is a member of the class of 1935, and Miss Florence Ackers is a member of the class of 1937.

Following this, the only address of the afternoon was given by Dr. Lockhart. He pointed out that T. C. U. was just beginning to win her place in the world of education and predicted many prosperous years for the school. The years since that day have proved his prophecy true. After the address, a prayer was offered and the meeting adjourned.

This was the signal for a wild burst of applause from the two-thousand or more present. The students held a spirited pep meeting and nearly all present took part.

Within a few days after the announcement that everything would be ready for the opening of the fall term letters from prospective students poured in, and by the opening of the fall term, more than four hundred persons had sent in their credentials.

Jarvis Hall Finished in 1911
Jarvis Hall was completed that summer and dedicated to Major Jarvis and Mrs. Ida V. Jarvis. Dr. G. A. Lewellen, who died shortly after the campaign, was the kingpin in the building of Goode. He, almost alone, raised the $50,000 that was needed. Mrs. M. A. Goode of Bartlett gave the largest subscription. The hall was originally meant to house the ministerial student and his family. And it was run on this plan for a good many years. Clark Hall was built, largely through the efforts of Mr. W. M. Williams, now deceased, and Dean Hall. The hall is dedicated to Addison and Randolph Clark.

In 1914, L. C. Brite wrote a check for $34,000 and Brite College of the Bible was added to the University. Through a cooperative campaign in 1919, the money for the gym was erected by the close of the same year.

In 1924 the library and Clark Field were built and followed two years later by the Field House. The building of the new stadium and its magnificence is known to everyone.

So in looking back, we see many things. Few know that part of the Ad building was used as a men's dormitory for a few months. There are other such facts but all are unimportant as compared to the story of the new era of Texas Christian University.

First Orchestra Organized in 1907

Prof. Sammis Has Directed Organization Since 1926.

The first active orchestra to represent the University was organized in 1907 under the direction of Prof. Willis C. Hunter, according to records of The Skiff and The Horned Frog of that year.

At that time the orchestra was in two divisions, one being the regular instrumentation of brass and reeds with stringed instruments, and the other being entirely of stringed instruments.

The 1908 orchestra seems to have been less successful than the first one, as records name only eighteen musicians joining that year and do not mention the organization again until 1911, when a stringed quartet seems to have captivated the chapel audiences.

Brite College Exes Work for Better School

Aim Is to Make Institution Best Possible of Its Kind.

Resolutions Listed

Campaign Is Launched to Raise $1500 as Gift of Appreciation by Alumni.

By HARVEY REDFORD

An increasing desire is being manifested among Brite College alumni and ex-students to render more effective service in helping to make of Brite College the best possible institution of its kind.

The following recommendations were read at the annual Brite College Alumni and Ex-Students' banquet during the State Convention last June. The members of the Board of Trustees who were present assured the alumni and ex-students that they may count upon them for the fullest cooperation:

"Believing that Brite College of the Bible should become a seminary of the very highest rank and believing that it can only become so through the cooperation and assistance of the alumni association we the undersigned members of the association pledge ourselves to cooperate with the present dean and Board of Trustees for the realization of the following goals:

First, An adequate endowment to insure the permanence of the college and ultimately an expansion of both curriculum and faculty, and, while this is being done, we pledge ourselves to assist in the present financial emergency.

Second, If those goals are to be realized, we are convinced that a separate dean for Brite College is absolutely essential. The existing emergency in Brite College demands the full time and attention of one man if the college is to be put on a sound financial academic basis.

Third, If the fullest cooperation between the alumni association and the Board of Trustees is to be achieved, we believe it necessary for the alumni association to have definite representation on the Board of Trustees. When this privilege is granted, the officers and executive board of the association are empowered to recommend to the Board of Trustees one or more of the members of the association. (This privilege was granted by the chairman of the Board of Trustees and the above-mentioned recommendations of names of alumni to serve on the board have been made.)

Fourth, We desire to secure the support of the church constituency in Texas and the Southwest for Brite College. We hope to see the time come when Texas trained men are given due consideration by the churches.

Fifth, We pledge ourselves to endeavor to secure scholarships and fellowships to offer worthy students proposing to do and capable of doing graduate work."

As a further indication of the desire of the alumni and ex-students to have a larger and more effective participation in the work of Brite College, the executive committee of the association launched during the State Convention a campaign for the raising of $1500 as a gift of appreciation to Brite College. Last month your secretary initiated that campaign through the pages of the alumni and ex-student paper, which has since been given the name, "T. C. U. Echo." In that article on Brite College the statement was made that if every alumnus and ex-student of Brite College would contribute $5 we would have the $1500. Thus far we have done nothing but talk and pass recommendations with regard to the raising of this amount. We have come to the time when we must back up our statements with action. Send in your contribution to your secretary, H. M. Redford, 204 E. Arnold Street, Arlington, Texas.

In practically every community there are alumni and ex-students of Brite College who appreciate and love the College. If some interested person in each community would approach his fellow alumni and ex-student about this matter, this amount would be raised. This campaign is to be promoted among alumni and ex-students and not by and through the churches. We have many alumni and ex-students who are members of other churches who love Brite College sufficiently to make a personal con-

The Add-Ran Exes

MRS. FRANKLIN G. JONES.

The Add-Ran Exes were organized as a group May 20, 1932, at a meeting held in Fort Worth on the anniversary of Mrs. Ida V. Jarvis' 88th birthday.

Mrs. S. H. Jenkins is president. Mrs. R. T. Lee is first vice-president.

Mrs. Mary L. Wiggins is second vice-president.

Mrs. Franklin G. Jones is secretary.

Last June a most interesting meeting was held at T. C. U. during the State Convention of the Disciples of Christ. Three hours following lunch were spent in reminiscences, and each member was called upon to name some important event in his school life. Some of these stories dated as far back as the first days of old Add-Ran.

The common theme was the inspirational memories which cluster around the mentioning of Old Thorpe Spring, a place which is to us significant. Out of its pastoral setting we brought a vocabulary all our own in which the words "Bluebonnets, water-cress, wild violets, Sulphur Spring, Comanche Peak, Stoney Lonesome, and Paluxy," were often found.

These common interests, with the figure of dear Mr. Randolph Clark, now in his 89th year, standing before us in one of his significant talks made this a day long to be remembered by all of us.

Lou Ella Clark Holloway struck the keynote when she told us that although we enjoyed these reminiscences, that it was of the present generation that we must think now. That we should make through our lives a real contribution toward the fulfillment of the program of our own T. C. U.

We have Add-Ran Exes as leaders in the churches throughout our brotherhood, and it is our purpose to keep them informed about, and interested in the workings of this great institution. I know of no better way to reach them than through our new tribution. Let the vitally interested person approach them, tell them of the need of the College, and solicit their contributions.

In addition to the above-mentioned campaign it is, of course, expected that every alumnus or ex-student who is pastor of some church will see to it that a contribution for Brite College is written into the budget of the church.

Come on! alumni and ex-students! We must lead in this important work.

All funds submitted to your secretary for Brite College will in turn be submitted to the Administration of Brite College to be used according to their best judgment.

Send in your dollar for your subscription to our paper; send in your contribution and the contributions of others for Brite College! come to the Homecoming Oct. 21. Let us go to our State Convention next year at Palestine, with something more than talk and recommendations. We must demonstrate by sacrificial giving and living our earnestness in this matter.

publication of the T. C. U. Exes, "The T. C. U. Echo."

We have long boasted of our background, and spoken of the ideals of Addison and Randolph Clark, but unless we can bring these sentiments of the past down to the realities of the present, we have failed in the very purpose for which the school was established. The founders of T. C. U. finished their work and flung the torch to us. Their contribution to the educational world was given in times of stress and seemingly unsurmountable difficulties, but they were able to match the hour with their Christian faith and courage. We cannot do less.

One of Addison Clark's mottoes was: "To my Maker and to my fellowman, I will give my best."

This is also a day of stress. The principles for which we have always stood are often challenged, and we feel like we are pioneering again. But we must meet the requirements of our generation as they did in their day. For the sake of the youth of our land who stand before us with characters ready to be moulded by the environment which is set before them. We cannot do less than match the hour with our faith and courage, as our founders have done.

"God give us men,
A time like this demands,
Strong minds, great hearts,
True faith and ready hands."

Those attending the Add-Ran Reunion held at T. C. U. June 14, 1933, from out of town were: Randolph Clark, R. F. Holloway, Lou Ella Clark Holloway, all of Ranger; Mr. and Mrs. Lee Clark, Cisco; Annie Clark Chandler and Mary Clark Hassler, Stephenville; Mrs. Frank Clark and Thomas Marshall Clark, Iowa Park; Mrs. Mollie Wylie Aber-

You will be informed as to the time. But get ready to come.

Aggie Game Now Chief Topic of T. C. U. Interest

Student Body and Exes Planning for Big Day Oct. 21.

Activities Arranged

Chapel Meeting, Luncheon and Football Are High Spots for 1933 Homecoming.

October is here again, and T. C. U. is the setting for many activities. Just now T. C. U.-A. & M. game are the most popular topics of conversation on the campus. The student body faculty, local alumni, and ex-students are planning for a great day. Dean Beckam says, "Why not serve coffee from 10 to 12?" Roy O'Brien suggests that we have different groups who were associated so closely for three or four years to have separate meetings at 10 o'clock—so be on time and meet with your group.

When you meet Mr. O'Brien, you will know why the student body chose him for president. At 10:30 a. m. our vice-president, Harvey Redford, will call a meeting in the chapel. He plans to have manifested here an advanced stage of enthusiasm, which will have been started at the bon-fire the night before.

Following this meeting the program calls for a luncheon in our cafeteria at 12 o'clock.

AND THEN THE BIG GAME AT 3 O'CLOCK.

We anxiously await a reply from you. Will you help to make it a perfect day by being present?

We are grateful to Miss Catherine Morro, Mrs. R. H. Gough, and David Leavall for the name of the publication. How do you like it?

The same Memorial Arch welcomes your return; the same old spirit is here.

The spirit of T. C. U. has thrilled us through the years.

And led us on to victory 'mid ringing shouts and cheers;

And whether it be at Thorpe Springs where wild Blue bonnets grow,

Where birds their sweetest matins sing,

Or in the loved Waco,

Or on the street, East Weatherford,

'Mid walls begrimed and bare;

'Mid hardships, trials, and distress

The same old spirit's there.

It rises at high tide today

When breaks upon our view

In lovely majesty sublime

The present T. C. U.

We love each bit of brick and stone

Within her ornate walls;

We love the dear old campus green

With all that it recalls.

Living monuments portray the spirit of each class

Which speaks in tender echoes

sweet

To those who chance to pass.

We feel we are treading holy ground

As we her past review,

And witness all the tragic scenes

She moved triumphant thru.

The fiery furnace has been here

The fat years and the lean

Thru drouth and famine, death and want

She has emerged serene.

All honor then to T. C. U., our

Alma Mater dear,

'Till Time shall fold his mighty

wings

Thy name shall we revere.

Her poetry has appeared in such periodicals as Poetry, the New York Times, Kaleidograph, Dallas News, Houston Post-Dispatch and American Poetry Magazine.

The Dallas alumni group, who were so impressed by Siddie Joe's ability that they gave her a scholarship in her sophomore year, are sponsoring the sale of the book in Dallas.

The Texas Poetry Society will present Siddie Joe at their first meeting of the year in Dallas, Oct. 14.

All alumni of T. C. U. are invited to the departmental meeting Oct. 13 at 3:30 p. m. in Jarvis Hall.

O'Brien Presents Student Views on "The New Deal"

"New Seriousness" on Part of All in T.C.U., He Says

Campus Spirit Fine

"Chief Aim Is to Fulfill Responsibilities," President of Body Says.

By ROY O'BRIEN,
President Student Body.

Probably the foremost concept in the minds of the people today is "The New Deal." This concept or passion—for it has become a passion—is not only harbored by those of you who are participating in the affairs of your communities daily; it is held and studied with equal seriousness by those of us who are still in school.

A new seriousness may, I think, be said to be characteristic of our student body this year as never before. We are still "just college students," so to speak, and we continue to indulge in all of the typical collegiate pastimes. But in spite of our having fun, we are not unaware of the processes at work in our country and throughout the world.

In the light of the changes that are taking place in our social order, and because of an earnest interest in the developments, we are profoundly conscious of two facts: First, that the ordinary college or university of today is entirely inadequate in its program for preparing students for active and intelligent participation in social living; and secondly, that the student phases of the college experience need to be passed through a refining fire.

The present students of T. C. U. are appreciatively conscious of the distinctive and unique contribution with which T. C. U. is meeting the demands of the present era. Speakers of note from various points in the country, men who have visited campuses all over the nation, say without reservation that the interest in and the mental awareness of present conditions on the part of students nowhere excels that found in T. C. U.

In regard to the second of these facts, namely, the awareness that the students' phase of college experience needs to pass through a refining fire, the student government body and the student body at large is painfully conscious of this need. We agree with Dr. Ernest H. Wilkins, president of Oberlin College, when he says, "In any case, the college cannot qualify you for social living unless you yourselves join heartily in the endeavor. The student phases of the college experience need the refining fire as much as any other; in respect to personal and group conduct, in respect to campus politics . . . interclass relations and organizational management and ideals, in respect to co-operation with the college in its central endeavor, in respect to the development of a co-operative attitude toward that surrounding society by whose hope and desire the college itself exists."

We have supreme confidence in the motives and good works of our administrators and faculty, and our chief hope and aim this year is to fulfill the responsibilities of students as suggested by Dr. Wilkins, and thus join in a mutual task of providing an active and intelligent citizenry. We invite the alumni of our Alma Mater to assist us and augment our efforts.

continue regularly. T. C. U. teachers and students delight to honor this reverent scholar who has the honor of having taught for 54 years. He began with T. C. U. in 1910, the first year in Fort Worth, as principal of the academy.

Hewatt Joins Faculty.

Willis Hewatt has been brought into the T. C. U. faculty to take the place left by Dr. Alexander's change. Mr. Hewatt made quite a reputation for himself as a teacher by his first year of work after graduation. That was in the Tyler Junior College. Since then, he has completed his work for the doctor's degree at Stanford University, and will receive it next June. His special field is biology and his coming strengthens that department.

THE T. C. U. ECHO

By W. J. Hammond

"The T. C. U. Echo" is now presenting its second issue, which is being mailed to more than three thousand alumni and ex-students. A group of ex-students has been working since August almost night and day so that T. C. U. exes might have an agency of expression and a method of keeping in touch with old friends throughout the nation. That this effort has been appreciated is evidenced by dozens of letters which are being received at the alumni office, and the many encouraging statements made to workers. The alumni association, the administration of the University, and various individuals have made these first two issues possible; it is now up to the exes to keep the paper going. This can be done in two ways; first, by sending in your subscriptions; second, by sending in news about yourself and all other ex-students or graduates of T. C. U.

This is the first time that the Alumni Association of T. C. U. has launched a paper under the management of editors chosen by its officials. This action places T. C. U. alumni in line with the alumni of other universities and colleges in that the paper will serve to unite a group which will have for its purpose the perpetuation of the ideals and traditions of the university. Friendships have been formed on our campus, acquaintances have been made, ideas have been absorbed, and many experiences have come to us that we are unwilling to admit as mere passing fads. "The T. C. U. Echo" dedicates itself to the permanency of these friendships and to the perpetuation of these ideals.

EXES, YOU ARE WELCOME

By Edwin A. Elliott

T. C. U. Exes, you will be welcome on your old campus when you return Oct. 21. Mrs. Vera Allison Stephens, the alert president of the T. C. U. Ex-Students' Association, together with Harvey Radford, vice-president and Roy O'Brien, president of the student body, are working night and day to make this the best Homecoming in T. C. U. history.

T. C. U. will be here for you to see, and the old haunts that you liked so well, but most of all, the faces of your friends will be here to greet you. Come and see them; they and we are eager to greet you.

Though times have dealt heavily with T. C. U., as they have with other educational institutions, our exes and friends must know that T. C. U. carries on, opportunities still lie ahead, and the accomplishments of the past are to be embellished by still greater accomplishments in the future. Our leadership warrants that achievement and merits our fullest cooperation. T. C. U.'s day is not done. T. C. U.'s day but dawn!

Dr. L. D. Anderson recently said to the writer, "T. C. U.'s growth is not ended, it has really just begun." This statement gives one heart in a time like this.

It is the writer's belief that T. C. U. has a unique place to fill in the education of the youth of the Southwest. It is now making and will continue to make a contribution unlike any other educational institution. This is properly expected of our institution, and is becoming more and more the role of the church college. Hartsborne and Stearns in their recent book "Standards and Trends in Religious Education," emphasizes this unique contribution of the Christian College when they suggest, "If the church college is to serve its purpose, it may need to formulate its function more precisely in accordance with the best known principles of Christian education, that the campus may need to become a unique demonstration of Christian living, and that it may need to exercise the liberty to criticize our civilization and dare to experiment at ethical and spiritual frontiers other institutions are not able or inclined to approach." This is the spirit of the T. C. U. we know and love; this is the ideal of its administration; this is the spirit of the times and the spirit of the New Deal. May our exes everywhere join us in this ideal and may we greet one another Oct. 21.

"I have asked Anna Ruth Denton May, 1004B West 10th St., Amarillo, to solicit subscriptions there. I personally am working here and will see what I can do in Canyon."

Jarvis Hall Pictures Show Past, Present and Future of T. C. U.

By MARY LOUISE WITHERSPOON.

The past, the present, and the future of T. C. U. meet in the picture gallery of Jarvis Hall. Here are professors from the old Add-Ran days, friends of the institution, and children of alumni. Addison and Randolph Clark, founders of the school, and Miss Bettie Parker, the almost legendary teacher of English in Thorp Springs, clasp hands—figuratively speaking—with such members of the very young generation as Mary Gayle Scott, Shirley Hammond and Nina-John Elliott.

The idea of the gallery first came to Mrs. Beckham, the dean of women, last year, when Mrs. J. J. Jarvis presented the institution with two portraits, one of herself and one of her husband, the late Major Jarvis. The interest shown these paintings led Dean Beckham to begin a search for other pictures of historical value.

From a storage closet in Mary Couts Burnett Library came a considerable number of pictures which had been saved by Miss Nell Andrew, a graduate and former librarian of the school. In this collection, we find members of the Horned Frog staff of 1914-15, with Walter Bentley as editor and C. B. Reeder as business manager. Members of the staff bear names famous in annals of the university: Cantrell, Tyson, Griffing. Another panel carries the likenesses of The Skiff staff of the same year. Horace Jones was editor, and James McBride and A. M. Hill were managers. There is a picture of the 1915 Glee Club, with Gayle Scott and Aubrey Cooper among the membership; one of the Girls' Glee Club of the same period; one of the Styx Club with the young ladies of the group bearing such coy titles as Big Stick, Drum Stick, and Walking Stick, a poster of T. C. U.

while it was situated in Waco; a group of mothers at the first annual Mothers' Day Celebration.

One of the most interesting items in the campus Louvre is the panel upon which Dean Beckham has arranged pictures of the "grandchildren" of T. C. U. In the center of the panel is two-year-old Mary Gayle Scott, the granddaughter of President E. M. Waits, and the daughter of two alumni, Gayle Scott, class of '17, and Mary Elizabeth Waits, class of '21. Shirley Margaret Hammond, clad informally in overalls, looks soberly out of a snapshot. She is the daughter of William Jack Hammond, '19, and Margaret Forsythe, '22. Another faculty child is Nina-John Elliott, whose father is Edwin Elliott and whose mother is Ora Leveridge Elliott, '17. Other children with faculty affiliations are Mary Kathryn Caton, daughter of McKee Caton, '20, and niece of Miss Katherine McKee Bailey, and James Wesley Boynton, the grandson of Prof. Franklin Jones, whose parents are Louise Jones Boynton, '20, and M. H. Boynton, also of the class of '20.

Represented in the group are Jacqueline Casler, daughter of Helen Shands Casler, '28, and Fred Casler; Adele Ashley, daughter of Carlos Ashley, '23; Patricia Ann Palmer, daughter of William Palmer, '28, and Maxine Russell, '30; and Rae Sowell, son of Addie Coates, '30, and Rae Sowell.

Dean Beckham is eager to add to this collection. "I want unmounted pictures," she says. "They may be either studio photographs or snapshots. With the picture include the name of the child, the date of birth, and the names and class-dates of the parents. Please consider this an official request of the Alumni Association!"

Miss Kathryn Prather became the bride of Blainard Spearman, prominent member of the Southwest Conference championship team of '32, in September, just before time for the opening of school at Olney, where he is coaching this year.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Hutton are now living in Longview, where Glenn is teaching voice and instrumental music. They have five children, four boys and one girl. Mrs. Hutton was Miss Bernice Holmes before her marriage.

C. Allen True is now assisting in the Bancroft Library at the University of California, where he took his Ph.D. in 1932.

Al B. Nelson, 32 A. B., M. A., is now doing work on his Ph.D. in history at the University of California.

Jesse Martin, '18, is serving his second term as district attorney in Fort Worth.

Miss Provita Cardona, '32, who returned to her home in Cuba, has recently been employed to teach French in Ponce, Porto Rico.

Miss Elizabeth Harris, now Mrs. Willis Hewatt, is happy to be back on the T. C. U. campus, and so is their little daughter, who are told. Of course, Mrs. Georgia Harris, the stewardess of the cafeteria, is happy also as the grandmother in the case.

Frank Council, who took a degree in medicine at Vanderbilt after graduating at T. C. U., has been for some time in the Army School of Medicine at Washington, D. C. He has recently been promoted to the rank of captain and the head of a department of the school.

During a recent trip to Austin, Dean Hall took occasion to visit the law school of the University, where he found many T. C. U. students continuing the good reputation which others like them have made for T. C. U. in the past. The dean of the Law School, Ira P. Hildebrandt of the Class of 1897, is a loyal T. C. U. alumnus and watches the growth of the old school with interest. Dean Hall was a guest in the beautiful home of Dean Hildebrandt. Ira P. Jr., is a first year law student and the daughter is a first year student in liberal arts.

Mrs. Edward Randall Hudson, formerly Josephine Smith, '32, now lives at 2500 University Drive, Fort Worth. Mrs. Cecil Garrard (Cecil Welford, '08) and daughter, Elizabeth, '29, visited in Chicago and Detroit this past summer. While in the latter city, they were guests of Gordon Hall, '08, and family. Elizabeth received her A. B. from S. M. U. in 1931.

Elva Jane Flicker, '32, received her M. S. from the School of Social Work of William and Mary College, Richmond division, in June, 1933. She is now employed by the St. Louis Provident Association.

T. C. U. Alumnus Plays Part in Kelly Capture

John M. Keith, '16, now head of the Federal Investigation Bureau in Chicago, participated in the capture of "Machine Gun" Kelly, desperado, who was apprehended in Memphis recently. Keith almost captured Kelly in Chicago, but the gunman escaped from the trap and headed for Memphis, where he was captured.

Keith was student body president at T. C. U. in his senior year. His record also shows that he was vice-president of the freshman class, president of the Sherley Literary Society, and represented the Sherleys in debates with their rivals, the Add-Ran Literary Society. He represented T. C. U. in the State Oratorical Contest in 1916.

Mrs. Keith will be remembered by the students of T. C. U. in 1916 as Pansy Bozeman, secretary-treasurer of the student body.

100 Attend Dinner For T. C. U. Alumni

Jesse Martin Speaks on Importance of New Publication for School's Exes.

By MRS. LOUISE COPE.

More than 100 members attended a dinner given Friday night, Sept. 22, for T. C. U. ex-students and alumni at the First Christian Church.

District Attorney Jesse Martin, the principal speaker of the evening, discussed the importance of the new T. C. U. alumni publication, which was named the "T. C. U. Echo" at the dinner. Two-minute talks were made by Miss Eula Lee Carter, representing the "T" Association; Dr. Edwin Elliott, advisory to the Alumni Association; Dr. W. J. Hammond of the T. C. U. faculty; Dean Colby D. Hall, Mrs. Franklin Jones of the Add-Ran group; Carroll McConnell of Palo Pinto; Mrs. Gayle Scott of the Faculty Woman's Club, and Mrs. George T. Cope, associate editor from the Woman's Branch of the T. C. U. Ex-Students' Association, President E. M. Waits delivered the invocation.

While the new publication was the subject of the evening, it was brought out that the big task for the year is the building up of the loan fund sponsored by the alumni to help worthy students to finish college.

The "football" game played for subscriptions to the new paper by Bill Rogers and Dr. Gough was announced a tie, and will be continued until the Homecoming, Oct. 21.

Mrs. Charles Stephens, state president of the Alumni Association, presided at the meeting. Out-of-town guests were Miss Eileen Timmerman of Dallas, state secretary of the association, and Bonner Frizzell of Palestine.

E. S. CAMPBELL.

"I've been waiting to try to get more subscriptions for the paper. I have several promises, but will send these three in now. They are for Rev. Chas. R. Mohle, 2309 Robinson, Houston; Mrs. S. H. Jenkins, San Jacinto Apts., San Jacinto at McIlhenny, Houston; Sarah Beth Boggess, Y. W. C. A. Rusk and Austin, Houston.

"I plan to subscribe for the paper and I pledge my co-operation to the one who does the work in Weatherford. Please know that I love T. C. U. and boost whenever I get a chance."

ELIZABETH VIVRETT, Weatherford, Texas.

"As to your alumni publication—I do not know what to say. If you think it is the time to do it, I am for it."

J. C. WELCH, Pastor First Christian Church, Palestine, Texas.

"However, I have worked hard and fast since I've been here. I called on all on the list that you sent me. Several have promised to send me their money this week. I have collected $4, which I am enclosing. I hope to have more soon."

JAUNITA KINSEY, Wichita Falls Junior College, Wichita Falls, Texas.

"Seems like I'm not getting subscriptions very fast, but an enclosing my check for $3.00 for Rege McFall, South Twelfth, Abilene; Chas. Coombes Jr., W. T. U. Ballinger, and BETH COOMBS, 466 Clinton, Abilene, Texas.

Trustees and Wives Are Guests of Exes

Mrs. John F. Lyons Is Speaker at Opening Meeting of Fort Worth Group.

MRS. LOUISE COPE. Members of the board of trustees and their wives were special guests at the opening meeting and luncheon Saturday, Sept. 30, of the Fort Worth branch of the T. C. U. Ex-Students' Association at the Westbrook Hotel. Red sashes decorated the tables. Cotton bolls with purple streamers, reflecting Autumn and the football season, were used as favors.

The meeting opened with an invocation by President E. M. Waits, followed by the singing of "Alma Mater."

Mrs. Helen Fouts Cahoon sang "Cara Nome" from Rigoletto, and Miss Grace Bucher played the Blue Danube Waltz.

Mrs. John F. Lyons was the principal speaker. "We have been through much," she said, "during the past four years. We have learned to do without much we thought was necessary, but we have also learned there are two things we cannot get along without. Faith in God and great art as expressed in music and other forms." She said that T. C. U. was Fort Worth's greatest cultural asset.

Mrs. Chas. Stephens, president of the State Alumni Association gave a brief talk on "Glimpses of T. C. U. Clubs Over the State." A new club was recently organized in Houston with a membership of 25. She emphasized the importance of the new alumni publication, the T. C. U. Echo, as a unifying factor of the alumni into a co-operative working group, and urged the support of all members. This talk was followed by the Echo song, "In the Valley," with appropriate words, sung by Mrs. H. Gordon Hargett.

Mrs. Scott Hart, president, presided at the meeting, and Miss Mamie Welch, Miss Jessie Lloyd and Mrs. J. P. Berry were the program committee. About 75 members attended the meeting.

'Catastrophe Was Blessing,' Avers Dr. C. S. Lockhart

Fire in 1910 Destroyed $150,000 Worth of T. C. U. Property

Fort Worth Selected

Main, Jarvis, Goode, Clark and Britte Erected by 1914; Gym in 1921.

"What appeared to be a catastrophe might be a blessing to this school." That was the statement made by Dr. Clinton S. Lockhart, present professor of Old Testament, not long after the fire which destroyed $150,000 worth of T. C. U. property when the University was located in Waco twenty-three years ago. And sure enough the prediction of Dr. Lockhart, who was at that time president of T. C. U., came true.

The fire, which destroyed the main building and part of the heating plant, came Tuesday, March 22, 1910, at 6:30 o'clock in the evening when the 350 students of the University were seeking diversion from the routine of lessons. The blaze was discovered on the roof of the brick and stone main building; and as the fire protection implements at hand were inadequate, students decided to rescue their own belongings.

At that time T. C. U. consisted of the destroyed main building, the girls' hall, the gymnasium, the president's home, the damaged heating plant and the music hall with the dining room below. Waco assured the University of $30,000 if the school remained there. Bids were also received from Gainesville, Dallas and Ft. Worth. The highest offer ($200,000 and a 56-acre site) came from the latter, and was accepted.

So in Sept., 1910, T. C. U. moved back to its original home and rented two floors in a building one block from the courthouse. Fort Worth is the original home of the University because T. C. U. was founded here by Randolph and Addison Clark and then moved to Thorpe Springs.

One year after the move to Fort Worth, the present Main Building and Jarvis Hall were completed; and the University began its second Fort Worth career with 250 students. Other buildings on the campus followed in steady procession. Goode Hall was completed in 1912, and Clark, erected on the same plans as Jarvis, in 1913. One year later Britte College of the Bible was constructed. The latter was named for L. C. Britte of Marfa who endowed the school in 1911.

In 1921 the gymnasium came into use. In 1923 Mrs. Mary Couts Burnett created a trust fund of $4,000,000 for the University and at the same time provided $150,000 cash for a library. The Mary Couts Burnett Library was opened in 1925. Clark Field, the old stadium, was in use in 1924. The basketball gymnasium appeared in 1926. And finally the new Horned Frog stadium was formally dedicated in 1930.

So if Dr. Lockhart was optimistic in his prediction, at least he wasn't too optimistic.

First Orchestra

tra was organized but during depression periods, the war period, and times when the student enrollment did not include sufficient talent for orchestras, stringed quartets and octets were the vogue.

A new period was introduced into the orchestral history of T. C. U. in 1924 when a student named Dick Gaines organized a jazz orchestra known as the "Slimy Seven," which made quite a hit in Fort Worth and vicinity. It seems that there were several of the "hot men" in the group who could really "take" a chorus. This organization was one of the most popular unofficial organizations ever to represent T.C.U.

The real period of organization of musical talent came in 1926 when Prof. Sammis arrived to take over the University orchestra. That year was most successful for the organization, with several concerts played locally and in nearby towns.

Since 1926 the history of the band and orchestra has been somewhat linked, due to the fact that Prof. Sammis has been in active charge of both organizations and scholarships have been awarded by the University to musicians in return for their services in both the band and the orchestra.

During last year the musicians of the orchestra were of such talent that many of them were members of the Fort Worth Symphony orchestra, the 111th Medical Regiment Band, and numerous dance bands that entertain North Texas people.

Campus Greeting May Be Nod or Grunt or Shout

How do students greet each other? On some of the larger campuses a greeting day is a yearly occurrence. On this day the students relax and speak to each other. Which calls to mind the various greetings which take place daily on our own campus. Just imagine a student walking across the campus and not speaking to at least a half-dozen people! It can't be done.

Probably the most important phrase is the familiar "hello." Some students place the accent on the "hel" while others inflect on the "o." But that doesn't mean that there isn't plenty of originality in other greetings. Lee Glasgow always greets with "top of the morning" when it's a pretty day and Prof. B. A. Crouch of the School of Education does the same when he's in a good humor.

The majority of the students are sheep, however, according to a recent survey. They answer with the greetings tendered them. If student No. 1 says "hello" student No. 2 will also say "hello." If student No. 1 says "how are you?" student No. 2 will say "just fine" or "not so good, how are you?"

A good example of the original greeting is Tiny Godwin's "Razorback salute." Godwin just nods his head and grunts! while Coach Schmidt uses the "hello" greeting in a fff tone, (a musical expression for loudest.)

Other greetings include: "howdy," (with great gusto when coming from

In 1902 Skiff Was 'Dream Boat' To Carry Founder to Diploma

The Skiff received its name because "it was a dream boat," its founder, Ed S. McKinney once wrote, which was to carry him to his goal, a college diploma. McKinney founded the paper in 1902, when T. C. U. was in Waco.

"It won't last three weeks!" people said of the paper when McKinney started it. The school had less than three hundred students at the time, and chances of making a financial success of the weekly were slim. However, McKinney made The Skiff pay, and instead of lasting only three weeks it has lasted 31 years and is still going.

McKinney went to Waco to go to college with $13 in his pockets. Just before T. C. U. opened in the fall of 1902, he presented to the faculty of the University the proposition of starting a weekly paper. Although most of the faculty members were of the opinion that the paper would not last long, they were favorably impressed, and President E. V. Zollers recommended that McKinney be given his tuition, room and board for the advertising the school would receive through the publication.

The first issue of The Skiff appeared Sept. 19, 1902. It had four pages of four columns each, with only a third of the space devoted to news, the rest being taken up with advertising. McKinney's first editorial stated the aims of the paper.

"The Skiff's policy," he said, "will be to do business through merit, not pity; to give honor to whom honor is due and grovel in the dust for none. Its efforts will be to keep the different departments and classes in touch with each other; to keep alive the interest in athletics; to keep the college spirit at a white heat. Especially will The Skiff take interest in the T. C. U. cadets, clubs, societies and news."

The motto of the paper was "Rowing, not Drifting." The subscription price was 25 cents a year.

McKinney was at first sole member of The Skiff's staff, but other members were soon added. Dean Colby D. Hall, then teacher of Greek, and Olive L. McClintic, teacher of oratory, took over most of the editorial work, giving McKinney more time for the business end of the paper.

The Skiff served its purpose in carrying McKinney through T. C. U. until he graduated—and it kept right on sailing.

Miss Marion Pace, former T. C. U. student, spent the past week-end with Misses Margot Shaw and Mary Rowan.

Miss Elta Rose Franklin, T. C. U. student last year, spent the week-end here visiting her sister, Miss Evelyn Franklin.

T. C. U. Erected In Panic of 1873

Horses, Cattle, Vegetables Sold to Provide for School Funds.

When Texas Christian began in 1873 there was a national financial panic in full swing, just as there is today. Largely due to that existing condition, the University had a slow and laborious beginning.

A house and lot in Fort Worth, a house and five acres of land in Bonham, 480 acres of black land in Collin County, two thoroughbred horses, cattle and vegetables were sold to provide part of the funds for the erection of the first new building on the old Add-Ran Campus.

In "The Beginnings of Texas Christian University," by Mrs. Frank Miller Mason, the sacrifices made by the founders of the institution and the first few years of extreme difficulty are related. Many of the anecdotes connected with the founding of T.C.U. and some of the ideals and standards of past student bodies are also revealed. The history, written by Mrs. Mason on her Master's thesis, was presented in 1929 and may be obtained in the Mary Couts Burnett Library at any time.

In reading over the pages of this material, it is interesting to note that Fort Worth was seriously considered as the site of the proposed university. From reading, we see that the present ideas concerning an ideal location for a college are somewhat changed from those of 1870.

In a letter to Mrs. Mason from Randolph Clark, which told of the sacrifice of the family property in 1877 for the sake of the school, it is revealed that when the first railroad came to Fort Worth in 1870, the village was destined to become a city and therefore would be no place to build an academy. On the basis of this, the Clark brothers chose Thorpe Springs as the site for Add-Ran. The thesis is dedicated to Prof. Chas. H. Roberts of the history department, who has been connected with Texas Christian for many years. In writing the paper, Mrs. Mason interviewed many of the graduates, friends and ex-faculty members of the University.

Convincing Testimony That WEBSTER'S COLLEGIATE Is the Best Abridged Dictionary

"I can hardly believe I shall ever apply to it if any text it will not creditably sustain. It is an amazing product of accurate and usable scholarship," said W. L. Sawyer, Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Presidents and Department Heads of leading Universities agree with this opinion. Webster's Collegiate is best because it is based on the "Supreme Authority" Webster's New International Dictionary, 100,000 words including hundreds of new words, with definitions, spellings, and correct use; a dictionary of Biography; a Glossary of abbreviations; use of capitals, abbreviations, etc.; a dictionary of foreign words and phrases. T. C. U. to Meet Simmons Tomorrow in First Home Game of Season

Frog-Cowboy Tilt Is Eleventh of Series of Games

Teams to Meet Here For First Time Since 1926.

Abilene Crew Tough

Bud Taylor and Lee Bassinger to Be Out With Hand, Ankle Injuries.

By CHARLIE CASPER

For the eleventh time the Simmons University Cowboys and the Texas Christian University Horned Frogs grid teams will meet tomorrow afternoon in their annual football classic on the Frog gridiron beginning at 3 p. m. This is the first time since 1926 that the two clubs have played in Fort Worth.

In the eleven games played the Frogs have emerged on the long end of the final score eight times, two of the tilts have ended in draws and the Cowboys won their lone tilt in 1922. Tomorrow's contest will be the initial home showing of the local gridsters this year.

The Simmons crew will present a stronger team this year than in the past. They boast an entire veteran ball club this season. Co-capt. Carl Pee will be eagerly watched in tomorrow's battle, due to the fact that Texas sports scribes have spotted Pee as one of the outstanding backfield men of the state. Almost single handed the Simmons leader defeated the strong Dixie Rebels in Dallas some two weeks ago. The Rebels defeated most of the Southwest Conference teams last season.

Former Frosh is Wingman. Odell Winters, star Cowboy wingman, was a member of the 1929 Frog frosh squad and his deadly tackling and blocking is still remembered by the Christian mentors. Winters is rounding out his eligibility at an end post this season.

Coch Les Cranfill boasts of one of the largest tackles in the grid loop this year in McCleod, 240-pound human giant who to date has dealt misery to the Simmons enemies this year. With Paul Hill out of the game, the Frogs have no one who will come close to matching the giant tackle.

The Schmidtmens will enter the battle minus two of the star guards, Bud Taylor and Lee Bassinger, who received hand and ankle injuries, respectively, in the Arkansas tilt last Saturday. Bassinger was one of the outstanding Frogs on the field against the Hogs and his absence will be sorely missed tomorrow.

Tracy Kellow will fill in at Bassinger's position and Lynn Brown will take care of the other guard post. Darrell Lester was limping around with a cholly-horse during the practices at the early part of the week but is expected to be ready for tomorrow's battle. In the event he is unable to start either Jim Simpson or Heard Floore will get the call.

Lawrence Slated to Start. Jimmy Lawrence is slated to start in the Christian backfield in the place of Joe Coleman, who is limping around with a sore ankle. The Purple mentor plans to test Lawrence out in Saturday's contest. Johnny Kitchen will more than likely start the contest at the signal barker's post. With these few exceptions the Frog line-up will be the same as started against the Razorbacks last week. Rex Clark's ankles are about well and there is a possibility he will see action.

In the event the Frogs pile up an early lead, the Purple mentors will try out some of their new combinations to see how they will act under fire. In case they prove a success, these same combinations may get the call against the Aggies here next week.

Smarting from their 13-to-0 defeat at the hands of the Hogs last week, the Horned Frogs will go out with blood in their eyes tomorrow in an effort to avenge that loss. They have been more than peppy in their workouts this week and promise to display a brilliant attack of football here tomorrow afternoon.

Pres. Waits Is Speaker at Brite

President E. M. Waits was the principal speaker in the Brite College chapel today. His subject was "The Minister as an Interpreter." Dean Colby D. Hall recently issued an invitation to all students and teachers of the University to attend the chapel on Friday.

Frogs' Foes in First Home Game Tomorrow

Head Coach Cranfill and Line Coach Anderson will lead this group of eleven lettermen into Fort Worth tomorrow for a battle with the Horned Frogs. Besides the coaches, men in the picture are: Jim Neely, Huestis, co-capt., Winters, ends; Spraberry, tackle; Bentley and J. B. Neely, guards; Cope, center; Routh, quarter; Creighton and McCollum, halves; Pee, co-capt., full.

T. M. C. Defeated 20 to 14 by Wogs Freshmen to Play John Tarleton College Oct. 28.

The T. C. U. freshmen defeated Texas Military College last Saturday night on La Grave Field to the tune of 20 to 14.

The Cadets are coached by Frank Bridges, former Baylor mentor. While at Baylor he won two championships in football. Bridges is noted for doing the unexpected, and on the kick-off his team punted the ball back to the Wogs.

The Polliwogs scored in the first quarter, with Sam Baugh passing to Bill Walls for large gains, but they failed to convert. Baugh appears to be the best passer that T. C. U. has had in several years. He is an elusive runner and excellent punter also.

The Cadets also scored in the first period by the pass route and converted. They made another counter and extra point in the second quarter. The Frosh then made another touchdown and point, and, after scoring again in the last frame and making the extra marker, held their lead.

The first touchdown for the Wogs was made on a running play by Baugh. The second and third markers were made by passes thrown by Baugh, one to Lennon Blackmon and the other to Walter Roach. Extra points were made after the second and third touchdowns by Scott McCall and Roach, respectively.

The galaxy of stars that were assembled in the Wog backfield proved their value by turning in a nice game at their positions. McCall blocked well and played a good defensive game. He also turned in some of his famous runs. Cotton Harrison showed plenty of power in plowing the line. Doc Merrill and Blackmon looked great also. Sandy Hegler and Jimmie Richards looked fine at the pivot position. Walls, L. D. Meyer, and Tommy Adams played well at the wings. Helt and Green were strong at the tackle posts, while Savage and Makarwich played well at guard.

The Polliwogs will play John Tarleton Oct. 28, at Stephenville. The Plowboys have a strong junior college team.

Ben Baxter, former head yell leader of T. C. U., is now attending S. M. U.

Carol Gillis, T. C. U. student, preached at the University Baptist Church last Sunday.

Four Will Drive 80,496 Miles to Class This Year

In June when school has finished again, four T. C. U. students will have traveled 80,124 miles and still have seen only 43 miles of scenery.

Edyth Black, Tom Pickett, Harley Patterson, and Edgar Bryan are driving back and forth from Dallas to school every day and by driving approximately 86 miles per day, twenty-six days a month, for nine months, the four of them together will have traveled 80,496 miles.

If the Ford sedan that they are driving will average 18 miles to a gallon of gasoline (and it's a mighty good car if it does) they will use 1,089 1-9 gallons of gasoline during the year, and their fare from Dallas to Fort Worth for 468 trips—if they use 15-cent gasoline—will be $163.35.

This is going out of the way for an education, they say, but they will save money anyway.

T Members Form Plans at Meeting

The "T" Association held its initial meeting of the year Wednesday night in the Administration Building and laid out plans for the year's work. Jack Langdon, president, presided at the meeting.

The lettermen have decided to revive the association, which to a large extent has died down in the past two years, and once more make it one of the leading organizations of the campus. They have decided to meet the second and fourth Monday nights of each month. Every man who isn't present will be fined for being absent unless he can make a good excuse, which will have to be accepted by a committee.

Plans were discussed whereby an entertaining club will be organized here on the campus with the "T" men at the helm. The purpose of this club will be to take care of the visiting athletes. Plans were also discussed for T. C. U.'s first Father's Day, which will be held for the fathers of the athletes in conjunction with the North Dakota game here on Armistice Day.

Fred Miller, secretary, read a report on the condition of the club and Sergeant-at-arms Wallace Myers kept things quiet. Lee Bassinger is vice-president of the club.

Prof. Jones Says Students Alike Oldest Alumnus Tells of Football as Played in '90.

"College students of today are not much different from those of 1890." These are the words of Prof. Jones of T. C. U., oldest Fort Worth alumnus of the University. He points out, however, that students of today are much more frank than those of his college days. But he does not condemn the modern student. "The two groups existed then as they do now—the good and the bad. Young people are pretty much the same everywhere," said Prof. Jones.

Graduating from Add-Ran, then at Thorpe Springs, in 1890, Mr. Jones can name off-hand, the seven members of his class. They were Addison Clark, Jr., and his sister, Jesse Clark, Lucretia Bushwah, Clark Votaw, Claudia Miller, A. C. Easley and Prof. Jones.

Prof. Jones paid special tribute to Bill McConnell, a student of the university when he was there. "McConnell was recognized as the best all-around athlete in the University and by many as the best in the state. He was pitcher on the championship baseball team and was a star in soccer, the game that we played instead of football. Bill was also a great boxer, but University officials did not know about that!"

Prof. Jones, who was a champion runner while in the University, has always kept alive an intense interest in sports, but admits that football, as it is played today, is his favorite. "In those days, we were not allowed to touch the ball with our hands and the fellow with the toughest shins usually won out," he said.

"I remember in 1886 that Texas University had only about 200 students, much smaller than the number at Add-Ran, but the intense rivalry between the two schools had not cropped out yet. We had pep meetings then but there were no pep leaders," said Prof. Jones. "But we had plenty of pep."

Prof. Jones was president of Midland College of Midland, Texas, for seven years before joining the faculty of Texas Christian. He likes T. C. U. and is always interested in the welfare of the University.

Miss Floriene Turner will spend the week-end at her home in Madill, Okla.

Miss Kathryn Edwards spent Thursday afternoon attending the State Fair in Dallas.

Frogs Defeated 13 to 0 by Hogs; LaForge Shines

Perker Dash Man Runs 88 Yards for Touchdown on Kick-Off.

T. C. U. Takes to Air

Lee Bassinger and Bud Taylor Go on Injured List After Game.

By REX CLARK.

After nine years the Arkansas Razorbacks have defeated the Frogs at Fayetteville. The Hogs downed the defending champions last Saturday by a score of 13 to 0.

With Ralph La Forge leading the Perkers, they outplayed the visitors and won a hard-earned victory. La Forge counted twice for his team. The first came on the opening kick-off, when he ran 88 yards through the entire Christian team for the counter. Not an enemy touched him as he made his run. The Arkansas team fulfilled their blocking assignments perfectly.

The next counter came in the third quarter, when La Forge went off tackle 34 yards for his second marker for the game. He is the Razorbacks' dash man and runs the century around 10 flat.

Christians Not Impressive. The Schmidtmens showed the fans that they had some power left from the championship team by a stubborn goal-line defense. The Perkers made a first down on the T. C. U. 3-yard line. But the Frogs held and the ball went over on downs. Except for this brilliant stand the Christians were not very impressive.

Before the game had progressed very far the Purple found that La Forge as well as Tom Murphy should have been watched. The T. C. U. offense failed to click and the plays seemed ineffective except for a brief moment in the second period when the Frogs threatened to score.

The Horned Frogs, in a desperate effort to score, used many passes. The passes were reckless and ineffective. The blocking in certain parts of the game was good but at other times it was poor.

Two more Frogs went on the injured list after the Arkansas tilt. Lee Bassinger, right guard, will be on the sidelines this week because of an ankle injury. Bud Taylor, left guard, received a broken finger and will be out several weeks.

Harston Punt 90 Yards. In the second quarter Dan Harston, Frog fullback, stood on his own 5-yard line and punted to the Arkansas 5-yard line, a total of 90 yards. Judy Truelson, Bassinger and Tracy Kellow stood out in the line for the Christians.

More Freshman Caps Here. Freshman caps for those who ordered them recently are now here. Melvin Diggs, president of the sophomore class, has announced. The caps may be obtained from Miss Louise Watson, resident of Jarvis Hall, Diggs said.

Langdon Made Representative. Jack Langdon, sub-captain of the Horned Frog football team, has been appointed campus representative of Washer Brothers, downtown department store, officials of the store have announced.

Knowles Working Out in Dallas For Swim Meet

Johnny Knowles, sophomore from Houston, is at present the Y. M. C. A. state champion diver. In the "Y" meet at Dallas Aug. 6 he chalked up a score of 121, which is an unusually high score in any diving meet. This was Knowles' first year in senior competition. He has held the junior championship of the "Y" in past years.

The week before the meet in Dallas, Johnny won second place in the state A. A. U. meet in Houston. The winner beat Johnny by only a fraction of a point. He has recently gained admittance to the Dallas Athletic Club, and is privileged to use its gymnasium any time now. He is working out weekly there on a ten-foot board in order to be in shape for the conference meet next spring. There is no indoor ten-foot board in Fort Worth.

J. W. Hinton Stops Here on Furlough

Former Baseball Captain and Grid Star En Route to Kelly Field.

J. W. "Grassy" Hinton, former Frog grid star and baseball captain, was a visitor on the campus the early part of the week.

Hinton dropped by while on a furlough, before he reports to Kelly Field Monday for advance training in the United States Air Corps. Hinton just completed an elementary course in flying at Randolph Field and will now be located at Kelly Field, the largest air training school in the world.

Hinton was one of the outstanding members of his class while at Randolph and suffered only one minor accident while in the primary training class. He was named first sergeant of his company soon after he enrolled last February. He was a member of the Randolph Field baseball team this summer, which won the Eighth Corp Area baseball championship.

The former Frog star reports that the recent class transferring to Kelly Field is the largest yet to finish the primary course. Of the 165 who started out last spring 70 received their transfer papers to the advanced school. Hinton is rooming with Vern McDermott, former star pole vaulter at Illinois University who is also a cadet.

Secretary-Treasurer Is Elected by Sophs

Miss Louise Watson of Dallas was elected secretary-treasurer of the sophomore class Monday morning at a special meeting in the Auditorium.

A social committee, consisting of Millie Fearis, Fort Worth; Lois Atkinson, San Antonio; Johnny Knowles, Houston, and Melvin Diggs, Weslaco, was appointed and plans for a Halloween party were formulated.

36 Captains Have Led Purples in Gridiron Frays

Ft. Worth's Contribution Has Included 12 of Leaders.

McClellan Was First

Majority of Heads Have Been Chosen from Famous Frog Lines.

Every grid captain of Texas Christian has been a native of Texas, with Fort Worth contributing more men for the honor than any other city. Although there have been 36 captains, only 32 can be found in the T. C. U. athletic records. The data from 1898 to 1901, inclusively, has been destroyed. From available records, it is shown that Fort Worth has contributed 12 men for the captainship.

They are: Will Massie, 1910; Bryant Ware, 1912; Ralph Martin 1916-17; Will H. Acker, 1919; A. S. Douglass, 1920; Blair Cherry, 1923; Herman Clark, 1925; John Washmon, 1926; Bernard Williams, 1927; Jake Williams, 1928; Harlos Green, 1931, and Johnnie Vaughn, 1932.

C. McClellan of Coleman County was captain of the first Texas Christian grid team in 1897. The Aggies were beaten that year by a score of 30 to 6. The Frogs also were the only team in the state to score against Texas University.

McClellan was an end, as have been seven other captains. They are: (Continued on Page 8)

THIS TIME last week I was somewhere between here and Fayetteville, away from one side to another on one of those slow trains through Arkansas. For some reason or other every time I talk or think about that trip I get sick at me stomach and wish that I had stayed at home. Whatta trip!

We sure did turn Coach Schmidt down Saturday up thar at Fayetteville and I don't mean maybe. The Hogs have been hot to beat Schmitt and his Frogs ever since Coach left there in 1929, and Saturday was the first time such has happened since 1927.

Coach Schmidt took the defeat with a smile but deep down in his own heart it hurt and it hurt the men on the ball club to think that they had let him down.

What was wrong with the ball club is more than I can say. We were chilled from the start and couldn't recover. When LaForge ran for his touch on the opening play of the game, all the hopes of winning died in the Frogs and it never came to life again. Coaches Schmidt and Wolf thought we would score on them as soon as we got the wind, but when we got the wind there was no wind. Oh, well, that's something to put in history books now so all we can do is try to win the rest of 'em. We have our regrets in that we, as members of the Horned Frog grid team, let down our coaches and friends at a time when they counted on us most. We'll try to redeem your confidence against the Aggies here next week. Don't turn us down now just 'cause we lost the first one, for there are lots more of 'em to be played.

Ex-students of Texas Christian University, allow me to take this small space and time to welcome you back to the campus next week, for what we hope is the biggest Homecoming ever celebrated here. We are doing everything in our power to make this year's celebration a success for you. If you don't have the necessary cash to make the trip, hop a freight or use the ole thumb system on the highway. We promise to take care of you after you get here, with the exception of food, and I guarantee you that there'll be somebody that'll be more than willing to bring you a sandwich from the cafeteria. Then if you need a place to sleep there's room for all of you in both of the men's dorm and if you don't like our beds, there are several good divans in the parlor and there's a radio for you to listen to.

Exes, the thing I am trying to impress on your mind, in my impressin' way, is that we are looking forward to seeing all of you here Saturday, Oct. 21, or sooner if possible. Youse guys and galls what have married since leaving us bring the mate along and give us a look at him or her.

Now that I have described to you (or have I?) the many things waiting for you, I'll tell you what I can about us and the Aggies. As you know they are our best friends—off the field. It's been nigh on to ten years since we have been on the short end of the final score with them thar Cotton Choppers—and we aren't expecting to start anything like that this year. 'Tis a true fact that the Razorbacks took us for a cleaning last week but we weren't playing in front of a Homecoming crowd like we are expecting to be here when we tackle those Farmers. I want you all to inspire us like those Arkansas exes did those Hogs there last week. If you do, then there's no tellin' what we won't do before the sun casts shadows on that Frog Stadium next Saturday.

Captain Jack Graves had a long letter from Mrs. Beulah Bogges last week and it was thoroughly enjoyed by every member of the Horned Frog football team. We

Horned Frogs Will Face Farmers in Homecoming Classic

Fierce Tussle Expected From Gridiron Rivals

A. & M. Has Record of 16 Wins to 7 for Christians.

Bell's Team Strong

Aggies Will Be Striving to Upset Jinx T. C. U. Has Held on Them.

By CHARLIE CASPER.

For the twenty-seventh time, Homecoming Day, the Texas Aggies and the Texas Christian University Horned Frogs will line up for the kick-off in what is termed one of the two outstanding Southwest Conference annual football games. It ranks second only to the annual Thanksgiving Day classic between the Aggies and Texas University.

Ever since 1897 the Frogs and Cadets have been serious rivals on the gridiron and the best of friends on the street. An Aggie's second choice is a T. C. U. co-ed and a Frog's second choice is an Aggie. In 1897 the Frogs trounced the Farmers by a 30-to-6 score, but the Fightin' Farmers came back and sent the Frogs home on the short end of the final score for the next 28 years, although games were not played every year.

The tilt in 1924 was the last defeat the Frogs have suffered at the hands of the Aggies, and from all indications they intend to send the Aggies home next Saturday on the short end of the score for the ninth time. For eight years the Frogs have held a so-called jinx over the Farmers. In these years the Frogs have either beaten or tied the invaders from College Station.

Washmon Brings Victory. Back in 1925 Johnnie Washmon gave the Christians their first victory since 1897 with a field goal in the last few minutes of play, and ever since then Frogland has reigned superior to Aggie land. A. & M. has won 16 games and the Frogs have won 7. The Aggies have scored 451 points to T. C. U.'s 150.

The annual game between the Purple and White and the screaming Red and White is noted for being tight and thrilling. Last year T. C. U. had her mighty ball club and A. & M. had nothing special; yet at the end of the first half last year the Frogs led by a score of 3 to 0. The same thing occurred in 1931 when T. C. U. sported a mighty grid machine and the Aggies had just another ball club; yet when the Aggies left Fort Worth they had allowed the Frogs to score but once.

Bell Has Great Team. Coach Mattie Bell, Aggie mentor who deserted Frogland to accept the A. & M. coaching position, thinks that he has the best team this year in the history of the school. Coaches Schmidt and Wolf don't feel that way but they do believe that their charges will outfight and outscore the Bellmen when they invade Fort Worth next week. The Frogs are comparatively green this season but they make up for their greenness in fighting power.

Cocher Bell has a well-balanced backfield this year with Capt. Spencer, Dominique, Fowler and Couser carrying the brunt of the ball carrying duties. Dominique is one of the leading scorers of the conference this year and is well remembered by the senior members of the Ffg team for his outstanding play here in 1931 and down there last year. Fowler is a Fort Worth product and is rated as one of the best passers and punters in the conference this season.

Couser is a scoring bee for the Farmers and will be closely watched here when the Aggies line up on the offense. Spencer is their leader and is noted for his great defensive play. The Aggie line is rated to be the heaviest and best to report to Coach Bell. Bell is noted for his strong defensive type of play, but from all indications he has stressed offense more than defense this year and is all set for a great offensive season.

Here's Squad That Will Bear Purple Against Aggies

From this squad—the smallest T. C. U. has had in years, numbering but 33 men—will come the team which will bear the Purple and White Banner against A. & M. in the Homecoming grid classic Saturday, Oct. 21. From left to right they are:

Back row: Assistant coach Dutch Meyer; James Simpson, San Angelo; Tracy Kellow, Lufkin; Elmer Seybold, Fort Worth; James Stanton, Fort Worth; Melvin Diggs, Weslaco; Taldon Manton, Fort Worth; Jimmy Lawrence, Harlingen; Dutch Kline, Gregory; Howard Pulliam, Fort Worth; Harold Fulewider, Waldo, Ark.; Don Smith, Taylor, student manager; Johnnie Knowles, Houston assistant student manager; Smith, trainer.

Add-Ran College Wins First Football Game in Fall of 1896

It was the fall of 1896. A record crowd of 500 football fans jammed the grandstand at Add-Ran College in Waco. Pink and cream ribbons waved wildly, tied to thin bamboo canes. The crowd went wild when "Big Boy" McClellan, captain of the pink-and-cream eleven, tackled an opponent for a two-point safety. The gun! and the game was over. Add-Ran had won its first football game.

The wearers of pink and cream had defeated the powerful Toby Business College crew 8 to 6. W. F. Wilson, unpaid coach, had come up from Houston to train the boys for football and also help with baseball in the spring—and the forerunners of the Horned Frogs had launched the University's football career.

Regular Coach Hired. By the beginning of the 1897 term a regular coach, Joe Y. Fields, was hired, and the school's first official game was played early in October, 1897. The game was played in Waco with the Dallas professional team, and Add-Ran won, 6 to 0.

According to Dr. M. R. Sharp of Granger, who played in the game, the Add-Ran line-up and substitutes were as follows: left end, Romulus Holt, now a New Mexico rancher; left tackle, Guy Green, a farmer, accidentally shot and killed in Coleman in 1929; left guard, "Big" Carman, a traveling salesman at the present time; center, Sam Rutledge, who, before his death in San Angelo a few years ago, was brand inspector at the Fort Worth stockyards; right guard, C. I. Alexander, deceased, father of Clyde Alexander, senior in T. C. U. this year; right tackle, Captain Claude McClellan, now residing in Dallas; right guard, G. A. Foot, now a north Texas doctor; quarter, Charlie Herring, who died in Miami, Fla., during the Spanish-American War; left half, Dr. Sharp, whose daughter, Miss Eugenia Sharp, attended T. C. U. last year; right half, Early Sparks, who was city marshal at Waco until his death at the hands of a Mexican in 1905 or 1906, and fullback, Dr. Jeff R. Syper of Dallas.

Substitutes were: James McClinic, United States senator from Oklahoma; Frank Prewitt, who now lives in the state of Washington; John Montgomery of Amarillo, and Colby D. Hall, dean of T. C. U.

Baseball Precedes Football. Baseball had preceded football as a sport at Add-Ran. The 1896 catalog said: "The athletic association, organized at the beginning of the present session, has done much to develop an enthusiastic interest in athletic sports. . . . Baseball teams have been organized and trained." And the school had a grandstand.

However, the value of physical culture had been recognized before, for the 1893 catalog gave T. M. Clark, A. M., as being a professor of elocution and physical culture. The following year A. C. Easley and Miss Jessie Clark were the conductors of the school of physical culture.

Across the top of the page of the 1897-98 Horned Frog, school year-book, was printed the following: "Oct. 1—work on football was begun;" and at the bottom of the page, "Coach Field Arrives." This reference was to Joe Y. Fields, the school's first regular coach. He was brought from Dallas. A graduate of Leland Stanford, he had had two years training under Walter Camp of Yale, who selected him as all-American guard one year. A few years ago, Fields had a ranch near Grapevine.

Morrison Hired in 1898. In the fall of 1898 James Morrison, football trainer and "a fine authority on the game," arrived and carried the Add-Ran eleven through a successful year.

Here the records break off. If the school had a coach from 1898 to 1905, nothing is said of it in either year-book, catalog, school magazine or minutes of the trustees' meetings.

A man named C. E. Cronk coached the football team in the season of 1905, but the records do not identify him in any way.

Hyde Coaches in 1906. In the fall of 1906 J. E. Hyde came to coach athletics. He remained through 1908. Then J. R. Langley of the University of Michigan took the helm: "His knowledge of football is thorough, for he is an apt pupil of the mighty Yost," said the year-book.

In 1910 the school buildings at Waco burned, and the University opened the following year in Fort Worth.

Henry W. Lever of Ohio State University coached in 1911 and Willie T. Stewart of Fort Worth in 1912. In 1913 Fred Cahoon was drafted from the music department to direct athletics and coach football.

Team Trains at Venus. In 1914, S. A. Boles, who had trained at Vanderbilt and coached at Poly, came to T. C. U. and opened the first summer training camp. Boles and Cahoon took the boys to Venus, Texas, before school opened and trained them for football and baseball. E. Y. Freeland, who had trained at Vanderbilt and coached at Daniel Baker for three years, came to the University and relieved the professor of violin, Cahoon, of his athletic duties.

For several years T. C. U. had had a "C" Association. In 1914 the athletic letter was changed to "T" and the "T" Association was formed.

During 1916 and 1917 M. E. Daniel was head coach, with Cahoon as assistant. Cahoon again became head coach in 1918, when Daniel went to France during the World War, and Ted Hackney was his assistant.

Two A. & M. College grads coached the T. C. U. team in 1920 and 1921. W. L. Driver was head coach, with John McKnight his assistant.

T. C. U. Enters Conference. Dec. 8, 1922, T. C. U. was admitted to the Southwest Conference. L. C. "Pete" Wright was made director of athletics and McKnight head coach. The next year Matty Bell of Centre College came to train such four-letter men as Blair Cherry, Herman Clark and Bear Wolf.

In 1925 Ed Kubale became line coach, and Bell and Kubale remained

12th Player May Stop Score, But Cost Is 15 Yards

Did you know that a substitute sitting on the bench during a football game can keep his opponents from scoring and only cost his team a fifteen yard penalty? Strange as this may seem, the fact is true.

If, during a grid contest between Texas University and the Texas Christian Horned Frogs, a Frog substitute saw one of the Texas players out in the open, headed for a touchdown and not one Frog in sight to catch him, and suddenly decided to jump up off the bench and tackle the Texas player, it would be okay as far as the referee is concerned, for all the official could do to punish the Frog team, as a whole, would be to penalize them fifteen yards from the spot of the foul.

Throughout the history of football only a few instances of this type have occurred. It is unsportsmanship on the part of the team doing the tackling. The coach could blame the player and tell the officials that the player became excited when he saw an opposing player loose and then on the other hand the coach could swear that there is nothing in the rules that says the touchdown is allowed if the man carrying the ball fails to get himself and the ball across the goal line.

In the Southwest Conference there is no data telling of such a stunt ever having been pulled. In the football history of intercollegiate sports such an incident has happened but a few times. Such an occurrence happens every now and then among the high school players, but college players are supposed to be too refined to pull such a trick.

A few days ago this stunt was pulled out in California and the crowd started a gang fight because the officials penalized the guilty team only fifteen yards for having 12 men on the field during playing time.

Dean Colby D. Hall will preach at both morning and evening services of the Central Christian Church in Dallas Sunday.

Six Professors Total 130 Years In Texas Christian University

The six members of the Texas Christian University faculty who have, in some way, been connected with the University the longest, show a total of 130 years spent in active service at T. C. U. either as student, faculty member, or in some other capacity.

Dr. Clinton Lockhart, professor of Old Testament and Semetic Languages, has been on the staff of the University the longest, with 26 years to his credit; Dean Hall runs him a close second with 25 years spent with T. C. U. in some official capacity, but with only 22 years as a member of the faculty.

Dr. Lockhart, besides being the oldest member of the T. C. U. faculty is one of the living ex-presidents of T. C. U. He came to the University as president in 1906 but resigned in 1911 and left the school for one year. In 1912 he returned to remain until the present time as professor of Old Testament and Semetics. Dr. Lockhart received his B. A. in 1886 and his A. M. in 1888 from Transylvania University in Kentucky. He holds a Ph. D. degree, from Yale, conferred in 1894.

Dean Hall has really spent the greater number of years within the halls of T. C. U. His record shows 29 years in all with the University, three as student, three as field man, one as pastor, and 22 as a faculty member and dean. His first connection with the University was the three years he spent as a student from 1896 to 1899 in Waco. He left, however, to get his A. B. from Bible College at Transylvania in 1902. He became a member of the faculty of T. C. U. as professor of Latin and Greek for the school year of 1902-03 and then went to Columbia for his M. A. degree.

From 1906 to 1909 he was educational secretary and field man at T. C. U. and served as pastor of the University Christian Church for the school year of 1909-1910. After the fire in Waco destroyed the University and the school was moved to Fort Worth, Dean Hall remained in Waco as pastor of the Central Christian Church until 1912, when he returned to T. C. U. as professor of Latin. A year later he was made professor of Bible and dean of Bible College of Bible. In 1920 he became dean of the University, the position that he still holds.

Prof. Roberts Here 22 Years
Prof. Charles H. Roberts, head of the history department, has spent 22 years on the T. C. U. faculty. He first came to the campus in 1911 as principal of the preparatory department, taking some degree work as he went along to receive his A. B. from T. C. U. in 1914 and his M. A. in 1916. Prof. Roberts started teaching history in the college and became head of the department about 1919. He also had taken a B. A. degree from Kansas State Normal in 1895 and has done graduate work at Columbia.

Though Prof. Franklin G. Jones, head of the department of secondary education, has not spent as much time on the T. C. U. faculty as have some other of the faculty members, still his connections with the University stretch out over the greatest period of time and date back further than any other, to his entrance in T. C. U. as a sophomore student in 1887 when he remained for three years to receive his A. B. degree in 1890.

Prof. Jones Taught Languages
Prof. Jones' next appearance at the University was as a teacher of Latin and Greek while the school was in Waco in 1897. The second year he was there he established the School of Education. Then he was absent from T. C. U. for a number of years, during which time he served as principal of McKinney High School, vice-president of Hawthorne College at McKinney, principal and proprietor of Jones Academy, president of Midland College and superintendent of a number of public schools.

Prof. Jones' next return to T. C. U. was as a student in the summer term of 1918, to finish work on his A. M. degree in history. He later took an A. M. degree from Columbia University in the department of education. He again returned to T. C. U. in 1926 when he became professor of secondary education. His history shows three years as a student, nine years as a teacher and five summer terms as both teacher and student, stretching over a period of 46 years.

Prof. W. M. Winton, professor of biology and geology has been with the University for 20 years in this one capacity. He came to T. C. U. from Texas A. & M. the same year that Dr. Gayle Scott, now the other professor of biology and geology in the department, was a freshman in T. C. U.

Equipment Meager
"The only equipment we had then," said Prof. Winton of those early days, "was four kitchen tables and six scorched microscopes rescued from the fire at Waco. A doctor gave us a museum cabinet and that made up our biology and geology department." Prof. Winton holds both his B. A. and M. S. degrees from Vanderbilt University.

To Dr. Edwin A. Elliott goes the credit for having started earliest in his life to become affiliated with T. C. U. Dr. Elliott who since January, 1924, has been first instructor, then teacher, and now professor of economics, began his career in T. C. U. as a pupil in the primary department while the college was still in Waco and offered from primary to university courses. He attended the primary school for the four years from 1901 to 1905 with his sister, who was a student in the college division.

From 1907 to 1909 he again attended the school and after being in business for seven years, he returned again in 1915, after the University was moved to Fort Worth, as a student, working part time in the Y. M. C. A. downtown. He again remained for two years but left to join the army in 1917.

The year 1919 found Elliott once more at T. C. U. as student Y. M. C. A. secretary and monitor in Clark Hall. In November of that year he was made dean of men. He received his A. B. from T. C. U. in 1923, B. A. in 1924, his B. A. from the University of California in 1925, and his Ph. D. from the University of Texas in 1930. The actual time spent by Dr. Elliott with T. C. U. totals 21 years.

Sport Gossip

well remember Mrs. Boggess and her kind words and I'm telling you that we miss them this year. Never was there a pep meeting that she missed and there's a vacant spot there this year with no one to fill it. We miss you, Mrs. Boggess, and sincerely wish that you were back with us.

Had a letter from Red Oliver last week and he is in bed with a sore leg. He and Snap have been married for about two weeks and they report that they both are getting along fine, no fights, no fusses nor nothing. Red says they haven't been playing any bridge lately is the reason for all the "nice getting along." Beware, Mrs. Oliver, and don't "trump" that red head's ace 'cause these red headed people are the devil to deal with at times—and I know.

Well we open the '33 season at home tomorrow and we hope it will be a grand and gala opening. Some of the kids haven't seen the present ball club in action as yet and will have their first chance tomorrow. And tomorrow will be the first chance the Frogs will have to see just how much the students believe in them. They were up in Arkansas last week (in case any of you didn't know it) and they played a ball game before one of the most spirited student bodies that this writer has ever seen. I went out to the A. U. pep meeting Friday night and sat there and wondered if our students are going to treat us the same way at our initial appearance.

We play a comparatively weak ball club here tomorrow, but don't think for a minute that they are push overs. Simmons University isn't rated as the largest university in the world, but it is noted for its football team. The past T. C. U.-Simmons scores will verify that statement. Never has the Simmons crew been a walk-away for the Frogs and this year that goes double. Already the Cowboys have downed the strong Dixie Rebels, who last year defeated most of the teams of the Southwest Conference. To me, tomorrow's game means a lot and a loss would just about ruin us. It's a tough assignment and we are going to have to pour it to them hard and fast to come out on the long end of the score.

I am sorry that you won't be able to be with us tomorrow, Bud Taylor and Lee Bassinger. There's a guard combination that is second only to Lon Evans and Johnny Vaught. They did play one more ball game up in the Ozarks and I hope as soon as their injuries heal they play some more like that one. I hope they are ready for the Aggies but such seems dark right now. Frog foes better watch out when these boys do get well—til then, they'll catch the devil from Lynn Brown and Tracy Kellow, and they can dish it out, too.

Claude Moore, Valentine, 1903; H. C. Knight, Ballinger, 1905; Bonner Frizzell, Athens, 1906; L. C. "Pete" Wright, Rosebud, 1907-09; Blair Cherry of Fort Worth and Manley Thomas, Whitewright, 1908. Bonner played also at end and at guard. Jack Graves, 1933 leader and candidate for all-American honors, is also a wingman.

The majority of the captains have been chosen from the line, while eight have been backfield men.

The tackles have been A. J. Muse, Forrester, 1904; Will H. Acker; Judge Green, Vernon, 1922; Ralph Martin; Jake Williams; Allen Freeman, Santa Anna, 1913, and the guards have been Bryant Ware; Bonner Frizzell; William T. Haire, Granger, 1920; Lindsey Jacks, Bonham, 1924; Lester Brumbelow, Jacksboro, 1925, and Johnnie Vaught, 1932.

Five of the captains have played at center. The first was Will Masie, who has followed by Crawford Reedez of Amarillo in 1914, John Washmon, 1926, A. S. Douglass, 1920 and Noble Atkins, Crystal Falls, 1930.

The backfield has given ten captains to T. C. U. grid machines. They have been Major Wade Shumate, Tioga, 1902; Bonner Frizzell; Manley Thomas; Milton Daniel, Waco, 1911; Jno. P. Clark, Hillsboro, 1915; Bryan Miller, Cleburne, 1918; Chester Fowler, Weatherford, 1921, and Herman Clark, Blackie Williams and Harlos Green of Fort Worth.

Three men were elected to the honor for more than one year. Thomas was the leader in 1908. He was re-elected for the 1909 season but did not return to school. "Pete" Wright, who was captain of the 1907 team, was elected to fill the vacancy. Ralph Miller captained the teams of 1916-17.

Some nicknames found were "Bus" Ware, "Potts" Reeder, "Gish" Martin, "Boob" Fowler, "Spic" Clark and "Scarface" Vaught.

through the years when Clark, Johnny Washmon and Blackie Williams served as captains of the teams.

The Southwest Conference shakeup that brought Coaches Francis A. Schmidt and Bear Wolf to T. C. U. came during the 1928-29 season. "Never before in the history of the Southwest Conference," says the 1929 Horned Frog, "has there been such a shakeup in the coaching staffs of the various schools as was witnessed during the 1928-1929 season, with T. C. U. holding the spotlight."

Bell, after five years at the University, went to A. & M.; Schmidt of Arkansas fame came to T. C. U. and, incidentally, carried off the 1929 championship; Kubale returned to his Alma Mater, Centre College, to take the lead, and Wolf was chosen to assist Schmidt as line coach.

Heard Floore Appointed Representative of Fair

Heard Floore, junior in the University, has been appointed student representative of The Fair.

Floore is a candidate for center on the 1933 football team and is an active member of several organizations on the campus.

Texas melodies played by the Horned Frog Band and a 21-gun salute by an artillery company from Weatherford will greet Vice-President Garner when he pays Fort Worth a visit next Wednesday.

The Horned Frog Band, according to Prof. Claude Sammis, will play at the dedication ceremonies of the new $150,000 building of the American Airways at Municipal Airport, where Garner will appear.

Dr. John Lord to Speak at Chapel

Dr. John Lord will be the chief speaker at the Wednesday morning chapel hour. The general theme of the program will be "disarmament." A violin solo will be played by Albert Luper.
