Summer School For '34 to Have 12-Week Term

Students May Make 12 Semester Hours in Session.

June 7 Opening Date

Tuition Is Same As in Former Years—Class Periods to Be 1 1/2 Hours.

Plans are being made for a summer school that will last 12 weeks next summer instead of the regular nine weeks, according to Dean Colby D. Hall.

The 12 weeks will be divided into two terms of six weeks each. This will enable students to make a maximum of 12 semester hours during the summer. Six hours may be made each term. The new plan will also allow the administration to offer a wider variety of courses. If as many as five students enroll in a course that course will be guaranteed, according to Dean Hall.

Courses that will be offered during the summer have not been worked out. Practically every department in the University will be represented. The session will open June 7 and last for 12 weeks. The closing date has not been set. Class periods will be for one and one-half hours each day instead of the usual one-hour period.

According to Dean Hall, the change from the nine weeks' summer session was made because of the need of a great number of students for the additional work. Also, practically all colleges have summer terms of this length.

Tuition rates will be the same as in former years. For three hours the tuition will be $20; for six hours $35, for nine hours $50, and for 12 hours $65.

At one time T. C. U. had a summer session of 12 weeks. Five years ago the term was changed to nine weeks.

9 Complete Work In Fall Semester

Nine Texas Christian University students will have completed the requirements for their A.B. degree at the close of the fall semester, according to Registrar S. W. Hutton.

Students are: Misses Mary Elizabeth Kellet, history major, and La Verne Brunson, public speaking major, and Spenser Hallberg, commerce major, of Fort Worth; Keith Pickett, commerce major, and Albert Jones, Bible major, of Dallas; James Young Smith, geology major, Weatherford; Jewel Wallace, physical training major, Texarkana; Mary Seidel, English major, Houston; and John Fritz Hill, history major, Springtown.

T. C. U. One of 4 Schools Listing Course in Southwest Literature

Texas Christian University is one of four Texas institutions that offer a course in Southwest Literature. There is such a course offered at the University of Texas, at Southern Methodist University and at the College of Industrial Arts at Denton. The territory that is recognized as the Southwest includes Texas, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Arizona and New Mexico.

The course, had its beginning at T.C.U. in the spring of 1933 under the direction of Dr. Rebecca Smith and Miss Mabel Major. Prior to their presentation of this course they had edited an anthology known as "The Southwest in Literature."

The primary purpose of this course of study is to gather quaint folk songs, games and customs. Old poems and diaries are edited for the first time. It is historical somewhat in nature, beginning with the earliest of Southwest writers and bringing the study up to the present day. In the teaching of the course Dr.

'New Meaning of Bible' To Be Gresham's Topic

Sammis to Play, Fallis to Read at Morning Service of University Church.

"The New Meaning of the Bible" will be the sermon topic at the University Christian Church Sunday morning, the Rev. Perry Gresham, pastor, has announced.

Prof. Claude Sammis will give a special violin selection, "Poeme," and Prof. L. D. Fallis will give the scripture reading.

An illustrated lecture, "Pictures of the Master," will be presented at the vesper service at 5 o'clock.

At the Student Fellowship at 8:15 p. m. Bruce Hamer, soloist at Harverson and Cole, Inc., will tell of his experiences as a hobo.

Negro Pastor to Speak

Race Problem To Be Discussed on Youth Forum Tonight.

"Co-operation between the Races" will be the subject of a talk by T. S. Boone, pastor of the Mt. Gilead Negro Baptist Church, who will speak tonight over station KFJZ on the youth's forum program sponsored by the International Relations Club. The program will be broadcast at 8:45 o'clock.

Boone, who is a college graduate, having attended Des Moines University and Iowa State, is also an author. He has written "Feed Like Polished Brass," a book on negro superstitions, and now has in manuscript form "A History of the Texas Negro Baptists."

In addition to writing, Boone has reproduced important documents dealing with negro history in Texas. One of these reproductions, recently presented to T. C. U., is entitled, "Proceedings of the First Session Freedmen's Baptist Convention of Texas."

T. C. U. One of 4 Schools Listing Course in Southwest Literature

Smith and Miss Major divide the time. The former teaches the sections of the course that have to do with travel, fiction and biography. Miss Major supervises the sections that deal with folk lore and poetry.

It is the policy of the instructors to have numerous guest speakers who are interested in some phase of the literature of the Southwest. In the past Dr. Newton Gaines has presented his collection of cowboy songs to the class. Miss Alma Ray has presented the Texas Version of British Ballads.

Christmas games among the Mexicans was the title of an address given by Miss Eula Lee Carter recently.

In the present course two of the students have been working on a collection of folk songs and games among the school children. Another has made a survey of the early German literature in Texas. Others are working on old diaries and some are collecting heretofore unpublished poems.

Dr. Elliott Becomes 'Learner' as He Begins N.R.A. Work

Dr. Edwin A. Elliott, now assistant deputy administrator of retail and wholesale codes in the fourth division of the National Recovery Administration, has "started back to school," according to a letter received from him by Dr. W. J. Hammond last week.

Dr. Elliott's letter reads, "My first two weeks with the N. R. A. finds me distinctly a learner. There is a maze of detail and administrative problems which is almost overwhelming as one sets about the task of making codes, and interpreting and administering them. The responsibilities of this work are large, for the interests of the trade, the well-being of the workers, and the purchasing power of the consuming public must be struck to a happy balance or as nearly so as possible."

Dr. Elliott points out that the persons assisting the president divide themselves into three groups: The lesser officials who do routine work, high officials who do not have the point of view of the president, and a number of men and women who agree fundamentally with his principles.

"In the latter group," the letter continues, "are many young men. It seems to be the young man's day at court. One is struck by this fact on every hand. The New Deal requires a new mind and it is in the building of this new mind that our beloved T. C. U. will have its role."

The letter concludes, "The threat against the N. R. A. comes from the groups and the minds that made the depression inevitable. But the intrigue of this group cannot overwhelm American thinking groups nor its youthful groups as they join hands with the president in taking the first step in the direction of building an America of security, plenty and spiritual realization."

Dr. Elliott, who has been in Washington a month, plans to return to T. C. U. in April.

Roark Elected To Legislature

Former Student Body President Is State Representative.

Alf Roark, ex-student and former president of the student body, was elected to the Texas House of Representatives at a special election during the latter part of December.

Roark, who is principal of the Cleveland schools, will represent the 14th district, which is composed of Liberty and Hardin Counties. He will be 23 years old in March.

Roark received a Bachelor of Science degree in 1931 and returned the following year to study government and economics. While an undergraduate he was prominent in school activities. He was a member of the "Y" Association, a member of the Bryson Club, and a member of the Houston club. He was on the Student Council two years and was a monitor in Goode Hall.

Dr. Combs Elected To Fraternity Office

Is Made Vice-President of Alpha Zeta Pi at Biennial Convention Here.

Dr. Josiah Combs was elected vice-president of Alpha Zeta Pi, national honorary romance language fraternity, which held a one-day biennial convention at the Blackstone Hotel Jan. 1.

Other officers were elected from the delegates of the nine chapters represented at the meeting.

A business meeting in the morning and afternoon, a sight-seeing tour and a banquet in the evening, at which time a musical program was presented, completed the day's events.

Schools represented were: University of Colorado, University of Denver, University of New Mexico, University of Wyoming, Colorado State Teachers College, Arizona State Teachers College, Oklahoma A. & M., University of Missouri, Washington University, S. M. U. and T. C. U.

Miss Louise Cauker is president of the T. C. U. chapter, which was host to the group. Assisting in preparations for the affair were Misses Martha Laura Rowland, Maurine Justin, Dorothy Conkling, Louise Ott and Clotilda Houle, and Lee Gonzales.

Glee Club Plans Concert Season

"The Men's Glee Club is getting down to work in earnest on the music for its spring concert season," according to David Scouler, director of the club.

"We still need a few more good voices. If there are any men in the University interested in singing in the Glee Club, but who have not joined the club, I would like for them to see me immediately," Scouler said. The Glee Club has three rehearsals a week, Monday and Friday afternoons at 1:15 o'clock and Wednesday night at 7 o'clock.

The club is planning a concert season much on the order of last year's, to last 12 days and to extend into Oklahoma and Kansas.

A number of concerts will be given in Fort Worth, Dallas and surrounding towns.

Snake Swallows Rabbit and Fails To Bite Preacher

What would your immediate reaction be if you unexpectedly stepped on a coiled, seven-foot rattlesnake, 13 inches in diameter, and with 16 rattles?

Chester Crow, graduate ministerial student, actually stepped on such a reptile—and is back in school, alive and well. When Crow encountered the snake, he jumped and shot from the hip. Luckily the bullet went through the rattler's head.

"The snake was slow," he said, "because he had just swallowed a good-sized cottontail."

Crow was hunting for quail at the time of the incident, in company with Billy Toland and Will Wetzel, freshmen in the University. The trio, in Mission for the Christmas holidays, had crossed the Rio Grande and were walking through thick brush which allowed only one person to pass at a time, when they came upon the snake.

Crow contends that his Christmas vacations have always been unlucky. Last year he injured his neck in an automobile accident, and this year, in addition to stepping on the snake, he fell out of a tree while hunting deer. Toland missed him a "steenth of an inch in endeavoring to shoot quail out of a thicket."

Texas Professor Talks

Dr. Montgomery Speaks to Hal Wright's Economics Class.

Dr. R. H. Montgomery, professor of economics at the University of Texas, was a visitor on the T. C. U. campus Saturday morning.

He spoke on "Philosophy of the New Deal" before Hal Wright's "Elementary Economics" class and later a discussion of world affairs.

Dr. Montgomery, representing the State Department of Agriculture, stopped at the University on his way to a meeting in Lubbock. He attended the T. C. U.-Texas basketball game Saturday night.

Class Rings May Be Ordered Now

All Seniors Are Asked to Turn in Sizes Immediately.

Seniors may order class rings now, according to Bryant Collins, class president, who has obtained order blanks and price lists from the Star Engraving Company of Houston.

According to Collins, the 15-penny-weight rings are $16.57, the 13-penny-weight rings are $14.78, and the 11-penny-weight rings are $10.95.

"The increase in the price of the rings is due to the increase in the price of gold," Collins said. All students who desire to have rings are requested to turn in their sizes immediately, as a large order makes it possible to get the rings quicker. No less than three rings will be ordered at one time, Collins said.

Miller Reports on Washington Meeting

Tells of Federal Government's Plans for College Students.

The appropriation by the Federal Advisory Board of Education of $25,000,000 as a national student emergency loan fund was one of the major results of the annual meeting of the National Student Federation of America, according to Fred Miller, T. C. U. representative who attended the meeting in Washington, D. C., during the Christmas holidays.

Details of the plan have not been worked out as yet, but students throughout the United States will be eligible and will be selected through the colleges and universities. Miller was an observer delegate, lacking voting power because T. C. U. is not a member of the federation. Other students who made the trip with Miller were Ben Boswell and Jack Langdon.

One other result of the 1933 meeting loomed as important in the mind of Miller. That was the tentative plans of the federation to organize a training school in Washington for possible future leaders of the nation. The plan was suggested by Secretary of Commerce Daniel Roper and further discussed with the aid of Assistant Secretary of Commerce Chester McCull.

The training school, or laboratory of public affairs, would be held annually in Washington during January, February and March. One hundred and fifty or two hundred and fifty students from colleges all over the nation would attend. There would be lectures from each of the ten cabinet members. Each department of the cabinet would be studied and also independent agencies and commissions of the government.

The school would furnish opportunities to meet the government's leaders in Washington to study the machinery of politics and the government in action. Collateral reading would be required of the students. According to Miller, the details of the training school plan were not worked out, but a committee was appointed for that purpose.

Students attending the public affairs laboratory would be selected for their all-around ability and for their knowledge of courses connected with public leadership.

Band Sweetheart

Above is the first published picture of Miss Helen Moody, sweetheart of the T. C. U. Horned Frog Band, in uniform. Miss Moody was chosen sweetheart of the band when Mrs. Christian Ackers Cagle, who formerly held the position withdrew from the University.

Dr. Waits to Open New Radio Series

Will Discuss T. C. U. on First of Sunday Afternoon Broadcasts Over KTAT.

The first of a series of radio talks on T. C. U. will be given Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock over radio station KTAT, when President E. M. Waits will speak on "The Contribution of T. C. U. to the City and State."

The general theme of the series of six talks will be "Christian Education."

Violin selections by Prof. Claude Sammis will also be a feature of the program. He will play "The Rosary," "Waltz in A Major," "Swan," and "Andantino."

This is the third series of programs being sponsored by T. C. U. at the present time over local radio stations.

The International Relations Club is presenting a series of talks over KTAT every Friday night at 8:45 o'clock. On Thursday nights at 8:15 o'clock the T. C. U. Dramatic Club is presenting a series of one-act plays over station KFJZ.

Annual Pictures Due Wednesday

As the Horned Frog staff has been unable to arrange the class sections of the yearbook, Reid's Studio has continued to make pictures of those who failed to be photographed during the regularly scheduled time, reports Roy Bacus, editor of the annual.

"Students who still desire to be photographed should see a member of the staff and make an appointment before Wednesday," said Bacus.

Examination Schedule—Fall Semester 1933-1934

Questions will be prepared as for a two hour examination. All papers are to be taken up at the end of two hours and thirty minutes. Classes not scheduled may have examination at any time the teacher desires, within the examination period, January 24-30. By cabinet action, no examinations are to be given out of schedule time.

The College Student

A college student is a human being apart from the human race. He is made up of a small measure of brilliance, a large portion of crazy clothes, a dash of wisecracks and a touch of rah rah. He is seen most often at football games and in comic sections of magazines. He may be identified by the alphabetical sweater, the no-color corduroy pants, the soup-strainer skull cap, or by what is accompanying him. He may also be known by the vehicle in which he rides. If it resembles an automobile there is something wrong.

He is also a she, a she than whom there is no "she-er." She is made up (no punning allowed) of a tam over one ear, a boy over one arm and a craze over one radio or movie star. She can dance, she can play and she can be in love with three boys at the same time. She is a home-loving girl when in the classroom and a clothes-loving girl when at home. She has tact and poise. She can smile through her tears, bluff through her troubles and blow smoke through her nose.

The "he" plus the "she" equals the "it." It is devoted to many noble causes, including bigger and better football games, fatter allowances and better facilities for courting its favorite. It spends the day studying triangles, starfish and Shakespeare, and spends the night studying moonlight, moonshine and Ballyhoo.

Are You?

Are you a "griper"?

Grippers have been numerous on the University campus this year. They have found fault with everything from the work of the janitors to the conduct of University affairs by the administration. But they have not voiced their criticisms to the proper authorities.

This week the Student Council, through The Skiff, is offering both to the grippers and to other students who have suggestions or criticisms to make regarding student-body social functions, student government or any other campus problem, a chance to express themselves.

A blank to be filled out is being printed in The Skiff this week. The council has requested that every student fill out one of these blanks, giving his suggestions as to what social functions the student body should sponsor or his suggestions regarding any campus problem. The coupons, when properly filled out, should be handed to a member of the council or dropped in a box which has been placed in the hall of the Administration Building.

Every student, whether he is a griper or not, should express himself in this poll.

The New Year and the Old

1934! A stranger now, but soon to become a fixture. It is always hard to become acquainted with a new year and leave the old one behind. Especially is it hard to leave a year that has brought happiness and success. For that reason the students of T. C. U. should have a lasting regard for 1933, though it is gone forever.

The past year saw T. C. U. rise in scholarship, in athletics and in the eyes of the outside world. There were no outstanding achievements, it is true, but there were many and better chapters added to the story of T. C. U. The economic situation made the year a most difficult one for most, but at the same time it provided a test of character and spirit for all concerned. And, now, summing up the results of the test, we find that the high ideals and spirit of the University have carried it through the fight to this point where brighter days are in sight.

Even greater than the advances made by T. C. U. in 1933 is the foundation that has been laid for future progress. There is much in store for the future.

1934 should be an eventful one for T. C. U. The ideology of the school is ever keeping pace with the changing times, and progress is the keynote of scholastic life at the present.

Let's Join the N. S. F. A.

During the Christmas holidays delegates from about one hundred colleges and universities over the United States met in Washington, D. C. for the annual National Student Federation of America. T. C. U. was one of two Texas colleges represented. This University's official representative, Fred Miller, was only an observer delegate, lacking voting power, because, though eligible, T. C. U. is not a member of the organization.

The federation is a kind of clearing house for student-body problems of national import, as well as a means of exchanging ideas about domestic and international affairs of the nation. Prominent national leaders appear as speakers during the meet. The federation is tentatively planning now a several months' training school in Washington for students with qualifications for future national leadership.

Not just to spend some more money, but having in mind the benefits to be derived, why doesn't the Student Council take the necessary steps toward becoming a member of the N. S. F. A., the national center of student thought and activity?

The Division Plan

The recent organization of departments of the University into divisions is a progressive move on the part of the administration. Under the new plan, related departments are grouped into divisions, with a faculty member at the head of each division.

Subjects likely to be related as a student's major and minors are grouped together by the new plan. More integration is developed between majors and minors, and their scope is broadened.

New divisions are: Division of Philosophy and Religion, including the departments of Bible, philosophy, psychology and education; Division of Letters, including the departments of English, French, German, Spanish, Latin and Greek; Division of Social Sciences and History, including the departments of economics, government, history, journalism and business administration; Division of Natural Sciences and Mathematics, including the departments of biology and geology, chemistry, physics and mathematics, and the Division of Fine Arts.

Under the division plan, departments retain the powers they have always held, and related departments are brought into closer contact.

RAMBLING in Skiff Files
By ELNA EVANS

One Year Ago:

Announcement was made that reduction would be made in the teaching staff of the University for 1933-34.

Marion Hicks and Roy O'Brien attended the congress of the National Student Federation in New Orleans. According to a report from the Mary Couts Burnett Library, "Last year was one of the busiest that the library has had this year."

Five Years Ago:

Matty Bell resigned as coach at T. C. U. to take a similar position at Texas A. & M.

A Preachers' Kids Club was organized for students whose fathers were ministers. Miss Elizabeth McKissick, sister of Miss Helen McKissick, who now is a freshman in the University, was elected president of the organization.

A freshman theater party was postponed because of a failure to sell 200 tickets.

Jarvis Hall received a radio for Christmas. It was given by the Uppersettes and the Frogettes.

Fifteen Years Ago:

The Mary Couts Burnett Library received a copy of the "American Daily Mail," published in France, which gave a detailed account of the arrival of President Wilson and his party at Brest, France. The paper was sent by James A. Crain, formerly professor in the history department.

Plans were being made for four special issues of The Skiff. These were to be class issues and edited by members of the different classes.

With Apologies to O. McIntyre, "Thingumbobs"

Apologies to Odd McIntyre and other rambling columnists, but should any of them set foot on the T. C. U. campus and endeavor to write a column it would read about like this:

There are 13 buildings on the campus . . . Dr. John Lord paces the floor as he reads . . . the flag pole is 65 feet high . . . the band stand is never used by the band . . . The T. C. U. drug store is 95 miles from here . . . the favorite food served in the cafeteria is veal steak . . . there are 16 lamp posts on the campus, but they are not in a straight line . . . one freshman wears red corduroys . . . most students like to go to town on Saturday . . . Jimmy Lawrence is a tough guy . . . the stadium cost $350,000 . . . Mr. Deeds feeds one cat and four kittens daily . . . the basketball gym is referred to by some as the T. C. U. barn . . . three courses in journalism will drive one nuts . . . the best time for enjoyable rainy days is after the football season . . . 12 o'clock classes are hard on the stomach . . . the 1933 catalog is 190 pages smaller than the 1932 catalog . . . most students are publicity hounds . . . 30 to 0 recalls happy memories . . . chapel cutting is tough on the semester hours . . . Frances La Rue looks a little like May West; she knows it . . . Judy Witherspoon is a jolly good fellow . . . cars pass the campus on the average of about one a minute during the day . . . they say Prof. Ridings is hard-boiled . . . Dr. Elliott says, "don't you see?" . . . Lee Bassinger has a lusty laugh . . . there are 60-350 books in the library . . . there's always a bull session in Goode Hall . . . T. C. U. was once involved in a several-million-dollar law suit . . . the sun dial is not able to tell time . . . Brite College was built in 1914 . . . according to the catalog, loitering on the campus or in the halls from 8 a. m. to 3 p. m. is strictly forbidden . . . Tiny Godwin weighs 214 pounds . . . eating is an important subject on the schedule of most students . . . It's that time now.

The Rev. Patrick Henry will lead a discussion of "A Dormitory for Married Students" at a meeting of the Homeatic Guild next Tuesday noon in the University Cafeteria.

"Make 'A' While The Sun Shines," Say T. C. U.'s Brighter Students

Some students may be born smart and some may be made smart by smart prodding parents, but most of them get that way by hard, concentrated studying. They don't study all the time, but when they do study, they really study.

Last year's sophomores ranking highest on the Pre-Junior Achievement Tests were: Albert Williams, first; Miss Elizabeth Howard, second, and Miss Elizabeth Hardy, third. Last year's sophomores with the highest T. C. U. rating were: Gaines Sparks, first; Newton Bell, second, and Miss Hardy, third. The combined ratings placed Miss Hardy at the head of the 1935 class; but on the transfer of the latter to the University of Texas, Gaines Sparks received the highest standing with his first T. C. U. ranking and his sixth national ranking. Williams transferred to Rice Institute.

When asked, "How he got that way," Sparks thought it might be attributed to the fact that he studies an average of five or six hours each day. And he finds a place for social life, too. He doesn't think much, however, of this "budget-your-time" idea. He says, "Study a lesson till you know it, if it takes one hour or five."

Sparks, who was a valedictorian of the Marlin High School, is majoring in mathematics, with a minor in physics. He modestly declared that he doesn't expect to make straight "A's" all the time, and that "B" is a good grade.

"My conscience hurts me when I don't make a good grade. I'm dumb, if anybody's interested; I have to study and some fellows can get a thing by just reading it once."

Miss Howard, a 17-year-old chemistry major with a minor in biology, usually does most of her studying at night. She doesn't study every minute she can, either; during the day she just "fools around." Radio music doesn't disturb Miss Howard during the three or four hours each day that she studies. She studies one thing a while, and then turns to something else to freshen her mind. She doesn't attach any special importance to grades, maintaining that what you get out of a course is what counts.

Miss Howard, who was graduated from Central High School with honors, says she studies very hard for a week or two, then "let's up" and does what she wants to for awhile. "That system works all right," she added, "if you don't forget to go back to studying." She intends to be a laboratory technician when she graduates, and finally to get an M. D.

Bell, mathematics major, studies "as little as possible," which in his estimation is about six hours a day outside of classes. He can't study with a radio going or with people talking, and gets the best results when there is perfect silence. He is of the opinion that the person who gets the most out of a college education is the one who formed good studying habits in high school. He thinks education as it is has the fault of being too crowded, causing a student to get a smattering of too many things; his solution would be more time than four years.

Bell, who was graduated from Central High School magna cum laude, tries to make "A" grades for three reasons: They look good; they make a good record in case of reference later in life and they stand for what you learn in a course. Bell agrees with Sparks on one point; he, too, feels that when he makes straight "A's" he's got to keep on doing it. He intends to do engineering work on leaving college, and will probably get a higher degree some time.

New Courses

Schools," and "Europe Since 1870," are to be given by the history department.

New home economics courses are "Meal Preparation and Table Service," "Experimental Cookery," "Introduction to the Study of Clothing," "Clothing: Economics and Appreciation," "Costume Design," and "Teaching of Home Economics in Secondary Schools."

Two Journalism Courses Added.

Amusement ABOUT TOWN
By ROY BACUS

The Skiff returns after a month's absence—and just the usual tough luck. In that time three pictures supreme in their class have shown here: namely, "Footlight Parade" with the "42nd Street" stars, "The Masquerader" with Ronald Colman, and the "Invisible Man." The latter story was written by H. G. Wells.

Wonder what a horse thinks about? And on top of that wonder how a horse act is handled on an ordinary stage—like the Worth's. Evidently Tom Mix, appearing here in person tomorrow at the Worth has the problem solved. He's bringing several horses including the famous Tony. The picture will be Joe E. Brown in "Son of a Sailor."

Good news! Palace announces change in policy . . . change will be accompanied with reduction in prices . . . reduction goes in effect tomorrow.

Pictures opening today and tomorrow include: "Dinner at Eight" with the Barrymores, Marie Dressler, Jean Harlow, Lee Tracy, Edmund Lowe and other stars . . . opens today at the Hollywood.

"Bureau of Missing Persons" opens tomorrow at the Palace . . . with Glenda Farrell, Bette Davis, Lewis Stone, Pat O'Brien. "Lady for a Day" opens today at the Majestic. The cast includes Warren William, May Robson, Glenda Farrell, Guy Kibbee, Ned Sparks.

Monday the Majestic offers "Only Yesterday" with John Boles, Margaret Sullivan. Wednesday the Palace offers Dorothea Wieck (star of "Maedchen in Uniform") in "Cradle Song." Wednesday the Worth will offer "Counselor at Law" with John Barrymore, Doris Kenyon (staging a comeback) and Bebe Daniels. If you like to see John Barrymore shout to three telephones, two secretaries and a half dozen clients at the same time you'll enjoy the picture. Although the plot is a little weak the writer liked it—because John Barrymore is a swell actor!

Josie of Jarvis Is Death to Goal of Newspaper Editor

By LUCILE HATHEWAY

One of the goals an editor of a newspaper strives toward is to get as many names as possible in his paper. Why? Because people are more interested in seeing their own name in print than anything else.

The editor of The Skiff would have to change his policy if the students in T. C. U. were like Josephine Clark. Her name never has been in the paper, and, what's more, she doesn't want it there. She reads The Skiff thoroughly every week, but wants to read about other people—not herself.

Before I go any further let me explain that Josephine Clark is the maid in Jarvis Hall and, incidentally, the most friendly person on the campus. Josie's sincere smiles and eager greetings are known and welcomed by everyone.

"Josie, I want to interview you for The Skiff," I said.

"I've never had one," says she, bending over with laughter, "and I would feel downright silly answering all those questions. Can't you get somebody else?"

"Now, if it were my sister, she likes publicity. In my neighborhood we have a paper that comes out twice a week and she likes to get her name in there as many times as she can. I don't know why, but I'd just feel funny with my name in the paper."

And that's all the interview I could get out of Josie the first time I went to see her.

The next time I approached the subject I was met with the same reluctance, plus the modest reply of "Ah, nobody wants to read about me."

After begging and pleading I finally dug out of Josie that she has been working here 14 years, is somewhere between 30 and 36 years old, and has other interests besides T. C. U.

She loves to bake pies, and especially does she like to make them for a certain man out at Swift's. Said man has been Josie's husband for 15 years. To use Josie's own words about her married life:

"I've been married 15 years, and to the same man, too, and I'm still happy. What I mean, I've been married every minute of that time, too."

Josie knows and remembers every Jarvisite since 1919, the year she came to T. C. U., to say nothing of who, when they were married and how many children they have. In return, every dormitory girl has a place in her heart reserved for Josie.

Dramatic Club to Hold Party Next Friday

Miss Merry Montrief, Miss Helen Adams and Waller Moody will be in charge of arrangements for a party to be given by the Dramatic Club next Friday evening at the home of Miss Montrief, 2312 Edwin Avenue.

More than thirty members attended a business meeting of the club last Friday evening in Room 304 of the Administration Building. A committee, composed of Miss Montrief, Miss Bernice Armstrong, Clarence Crotty and Moody, was appointed to revise the club constitution. Misses Frances Talbot and Elizabeth Cuthrell presented a short program.

Crotty announced that three plays would be presented in a preliminary contest the latter part of February. The play selected as the best will be presented at a state contest at Texas Tech in Lubbock April 5 and 6.

Sigma Tau Delta Honors Sponsor

Honoring Dr. Rebecca Smith, sponsor, Sigma Tau Delta held an informal dinner at the Elks Club Wednesday evening.

Wayne Stokes acted as toastmaster. Mrs. Irma Bell, president, extended a welcome to Dr. Smith; Miss Margaret Clements gave a toast to the president; and Mrs. Alma Bailey gave a toast to the entire chapter.

Two musical numbers, a vocal solo by Miss Evelyn Franklin and a piano solo by Miss Olive Wofford were given.

The table was decorated with pastel shades of yellow, lavender and pink. More than 25 members and ex-members attended the dinner.

Brite Students Hear Missionary Report

A report was made by the committee to investigate missionary work in Fort Worth, at a meeting of the B. C. B. Association last night. This investigation is in relation to the project of the year, "Missionary Education."

The club members are attempting to find a way in which they may contribute to the local missionary need through their own work, according to Granville Walker, president.

T. C. U. Mothers' Club Holds Luncheon

The monthly luncheon of the T. C. U. Mothers' Club was held Wednesday afternoon in Jarvis Hall. The club is studying a plan for the development of a "Y" room for the use of men who live in town.

The next luncheon of the club will be held on the second Wednesday in February.

Those who made reservation for the luncheon Wednesday were: Mesdames V. S. Brunson, H. H. Gregory, J. P. Millican, Henry Bowden, W. K. Rose, S. T. Beckham, X. R. Campbell, O. Fredrick, B. G. Frogs Will Play Porkers Tonight At Fayetteville

Reports Say Arkansas Has Outstanding Sophomores.

10 Men Make Trip

Purple Mentor Will Probably Start Same Combination That Beat Steers.

By CHARLIE CASPER

Coach Francis A. Schmidt and his band of Horned Frog cage warriors left here early yesterday morning for Fayetteville, Ark., where they will meet the Arkansas Razorbacks in their second and third conference basketball games tonight and tomorrow night. The outcome of these two tilts is expected to have a strong bearing on the championship prospects this year.

Both teams boast of tall and lanky lads, and a battle of height and skill is scheduled to burst forth in the O'arks tonight. Although the Porkers are supposed to have a veteran team this season, recent reports show that a group of sophs are about to beat the vets out of their positions.

Porkers Have Tall Team.

Coach Schmidt set to work Monday, using the freshmen as Arkansas players and warning his cohorts what to expect when they tangle with the Hogs. Led by Capt. Travis Brasfield, the Porkers can place a team on the floor that will average better than 6 feet 2 inches in height.

Capt. Brasfield will be remembered here for the brilliant work against the Frogs last season, as will Taft Moody and H. L. Poole. Coach Glen Rose, a former pupil of Coach Schmidt's, will more than likely start Capt. Brasfield and Moody at the forward positions, Jack Newby at center, and Howell and Rucker at the guard posts.

Fresh from their excellent victory over the Texas Longhorns last week, the Frogs have by no means put in an easy week. They have worked overtime perfecting their own offensive plays and at the same time mapping out a defense which they hope will stop the Porker attack.

Frogs Work Out on Hog Court.

The Frogs arrived in Fayetteville early last night and took a light work-out on the Arkansas court. The Porker playing court is smaller than any other floor in the conference and Coach Schmidt used the time last night in getting his men accustomed to the small court.

The Purple mentor will probably start the same combination tonight that started against Texas—Walker and Allison at the forward posts, Lester at center, and Capt. Myers and Kinzy at the guard positions.

Football Schedule For '34 Is Complete

Austin College and Daniel Baker Are Added to List of Frog Foes.

The Austin College Kangaroos and the Daniel Baker Hill Billies have been added to the Frog football schedule for 1934, according to announcement by L. C. "Pete" Wright.

The booking of these two games completes the T. C. U. schedule for 1934. Austin College will be met at Sherran in a night game Sept. 14, the first tilt in which both schools will engage. Daniel Baker will be met under the lights in Brownwood the following Friday night, Sept. 21.

The Frogs have 12 games on their 1934 schedule, with eight of them road engagements. Three of the six conference games will be played in Fort Worth. The fourth home game is with the Denton Teachers.

Student Council Poll

The Student Council is seeking students' views on student-body social functions and other campus questions, according to Roy O'Brien, president. O'Brien has requested that all students fill out the following blank and hand it to a councilman or drop it in a box which has been placed in the hall of the Administration Building: I wish to suggest as a student-body social function (or, I wish to call to the Council's attention this student-body question).....

Burr-Head's SPORT GOSSIP

By CHARLIE CASPER

OTSA's things have happened since the last time I sat down here at ole Betsy and pecked off the weekly gossip; so I'll just briefly run over some of the important happenings.

Joe Coleman was elected to lead the Frogs next season and I'm glad for you, Joe, and salute you with all the hopes for a successful season. You deserved the honor, Joe, and all the kids will fight to the last minute for you and Rex. Too, it was a highlight for Rex Clark to be elected sub-captain and I think it was a wise move on the part of the men. Rex is one of the best, if not the best, halfback in the conference and when he settles down there's no telling what he won't do. Rex has messed around for two seasons, but at the same time has come through when needed.

Watch that No. 7 next year, folks, for it's going places. Congratulations to you, Joe Coleman and Rex Clark.

Thanks to the people of Saratoga and Cleveland for electing a smart man to the legislature—Alf Roark, a former Frog and one of the best students ever to step on the campus. Pour it on 'em, Prexy.

The surprise of the New Year is Richard "Speed-Demon" Allison. Boy, has the Demon come out of it these days? Not only on the basketball floor but in everything in general. Speedy is headed for a record, and watch the papers in the morning for that boy's name in the headlines.

I'm still thanking Dan Rogers and the man responsible for that watch which I received at the football banquet. I feel that Myers, Graves, Kitch, Perk and lots of the other boys deserved it more than I did and I only hope that I live up to what that watch stands for. May I never make you sorry of the award, Mr. Rogers. I'll never forget the speeches Jack Langdon, Lee Bassinger, Lynn Brown and several of the other boys made that night. They were true and sincere.

Darrell Lester has made good a threat he made Slim Kinzy. He beat Slim out of the pivot job (oh yeah, says Slim) and is going to be a valuable man to the Frogs. Keep the ole chest in, Darrell, and keep up the good hustle. He's just a soph, but watch that boy go. . . Slim Kinzy, Flash Walker and Myers are truly playing that basketball this year. I fully agree with Coach Schmidt that Kinzy is the most valuable member of the club. . . That was a wonderful talk you made in chapel, Coach Schmidt, and it changed the minds of many people about coaches. . . Capt. Graves and the senior "intramurals" are going to Winnsboro today to take on Paul Snow's high school boys. . . Carl Sain, another ole ex, failed to get The Skiff last week, and did he cuss.

McDiarmid 16th Among Net Men

John McDiarmid was ranked 16th in men's singles in the 1933 ranking made by the U. S. Lawn Tennis Association. McDiarmid was captain of the T. C. U. varsity tennis team in 1931. McDiarmid and Robert-Byran were ranked fifth in men's doubles.

T. C. U. Defeats Texas 59 to 31

Richard Allison Makes 23 Points for High-Scoring Honors.

Flashing an offense the like of which has seldom been displayed on polished floors of the Southwest Conference, the Horned Frog cagers swept through the Texas University defense Saturday night to defeat the Longhorns 59 to 31.

Led by Richard Allison on the offense and Capt. Wallace Myers on the defense, the Schmidtmens served advance notice that they will be in the thick of the conference cage race this year.

Allison was at his best all evening and rang up a total of 23 points before retiring in favor of a substitute. He scored nine field goals and made good five gift shots.

The guarding of Capt. Myers was probably the outstanding feature of the game. Capt. Myers had the task of guarding Jack Gray, star Texas forward who led the league in scoring last season. During the time that Myers was in the game Gray failed to score a field goal.

Displaying the same form which earned him a berth on the varsity five his sophomore year, Flash Walker was in the thick of the battle all the way through, feeding the ball to Allison and Slim Kinzy.

Darrell Lester and Kinzy also stood out for the Christians. Lester, a new-comer from the frosh ranks, was playing his first varsity basketball game. From his play Saturday night, it seems probable that he will get the starting call at the pivot position the rest of the season.

Too much can't be said of Kinzy's brilliant play. The tall East Texan was hustling all the way. More than once he sacrificed personal glory so that some other player might score.

Judy Truelson, Robert Chappell, Dan Harston and Cy Perkins also sparkled on the offense and defense, proving to Coach Schmidt that he has plenty of reserve strength.

Francis stood out for the Steers on the offense, while Rundell and Capt. Fagan did some great work for the Orange five on defense. Francis carried off scoring honors for his team with 11 points.

T. C. U. Frosh Take Seven Cage Battles

Wogs Win From Chico, Cleburne, Methodists, Oilers, Arlington, Morgans.

Exhibiting a powerful offense, the T. C. U. Freshmen have won seven games from Dec. 14 up to the present. On Dec. 14 the Wogs defeated Chico 45 to 31. The next night they downed the strong T. P. Oilers, 28 to 24.

Dec. 16 the Frosh defeated the Methodists, a strong contender in the church league of the city. Dec. 18, Cleburne was the victim of the Freshmen by a score of 26 to 15.

Starting the new year right, the Wogs downed Arlington High, 28 to 16. Next in line were the strong Morgan Independents, who were defeated 31 to 22. Wednesday, Arlington High was the victim by 31 to 17.

Frogs Defeat Eagles, 39 to 13

The T. C. U. Horned Frogs defeated the Denton Eagles Jan. 3 at Denton by a score of 39 to 13. Captain Wallace Myers turned in a brilliant game, making 10 points for high scoring honors.

Handball Pairings Are Made

Single and double pairings have been made in intramural handball, according to W. S. Knox. First-round matches must be played at once or the matches will be forfeited, Knox says.

'34 Grid Leaders

Joe Coleman of Waco, and Rex Clark of Longview will be captain and sub-captain, respectively, of the 1934 Horned Frog football team. Coleman, who plays quarterback, and Clark, halfback, were elected to the positions by their team-mates at the annual football banquet Dec. 19.

Coleman and Clark To Lead 1934 Frogs

Casper Wins Roster Trophy For Most Valuable Grid Player.

Joe Coleman, star quarterback for the past two years, was elected captain of the 1934 Purple and White football team at the annual freshman-varsity football banquet, held at the Fort Worth Club Dec. 19. Coleman is a junior and was a pupil of Paul Tyson at Waco during his high school days. Rex Clark, also a junior, was elected sub-captain. Clark hails from Longview and has been an outstanding halfback for the past two years.

The Dan D. Rogers trophy was awarded to Charlie Casper, Rogers, an ex-student of T. C. U., gives a Hamilton 19-jewel watch to the most valuable Frosh football player each year. A secret committee selects the winner. Casper also won the Lions Club award, which was voted to him by his team mates.

The official announcement of the letters and awards for both freshman and varsity grid men was made at the banquet. Prof. E. W. McDiarmid acted as toastmaster. The guest list included Dr. Webb Walker, Boyd Keith, Milton E. Daniel, Amon G. Carter, Trainer Albert Smith, and local sport writers. The senior members of the football team presented Trainer Smith with a smoking stand and a box of cigars.

4 Cage Games Played In Intramural League

Senior A, Junior A, Soph B and "Outlaw" Teams Win Initial Tilts.

Jack Graves was high point man for the winners when the Senior A basketball team turned back the highly-touted Sophomore team 48 to 25 in a fast game Tuesday night. For the losers the scoring honors went to Wilson Groseclose.

The Junior A team defeated the Frosh A squad 30 to 19 the same night. Joe Coleman was high scorer for the Juniors with 12 points and Joe Phillips was high point man for the losers with 8 points.

Wednesday afternoon the Sophomore B team downed the Senior B team 28 to 13. Paul Ornelas was high scorer for the Sophs, and Nat Wells took the scoring honors for the losers.

Taking a decisive victory, the Outlaws downed the Frosh B team 34 to 13 the same afternoon. Charlie Needham scored 11 points for the Outlaw honors. Mac Johnson was high for the Frosh with 4 points.

Intramural basketball has been divided into two leagues this year, known as the A and B leagues. Each class has entered two teams with the exception of the juniors, who have entered but one. Another team, known as the "Outlaws" has also been formed.

Wolf Starred in College Athletics Before Becoming Frog Line Coach

Not all great football players make great coaches but some stars do make great ones. "Bear" Wolf, Frog assistant, falls into the latter group. His lines have been known for their aggressive type of play. He has worked his indomitable fighting spirit into his lines.

He earned his nickname while playing with North Side High School of Fort Worth and took the moniker with him to T. C. U. While in high school athletics, Wolf was given 10 athletic awards.

Was Member of 1924 Team

"Bear" was a member of the 1924 Wog team and was the most outstanding man of the outfit and his play earned him a place on the varsity his first year. He was a member of the 1925 Horned Frog team that whipped the champion Aggies, 3 to 0. Wolf played three quarters of that game with a chipped bone in his elbow. At the end of his varsity year, Wolf was picked on the mythical all-conference team, an honor that he deserved.

Scored in 1926 Season

The 1926 season brought him more fame. He starred in every game that the Purple and White played, and his 40-yard field goal against Arkansas won for T. C. U. But his greatest game of the year and of his career was played against S. M. U. in Dallas, the Ponies defeating the Frogs by the narrow margin of 14 to 13.

On the opening kickoff that day, Wolf received a blow on the knee that deadened it. Fearing that he would be removed from the game, he said nothing about the injury and with this handicap, held the powerful Mustangs away from the Purple goal almost single-handed. But in the fourth quarter, the strain became too great and his knee collapsed. "Bear" was carried from the field with the ligaments torn badly. Matty Bell remarked that Wolf got 75 per cent of the tackles for T. C. U. that day.

Plays Professional Baseball

Wolf did not know it but that was the last game of his career. He ball team and was signed by the Cincinnati Reds in the spring of 1927. He reported to the Reds in the summer of 1927 and was farmed out to Columbus where he finished the season. He came back to T. C. U. and finished the work on his A. B. degree in February of 1928. He reported to the Red training camp but was farmed out to Columbus again. From the latter place, he was sent to Waterbury, Conn., where he stayed the rest of the season.

His knee had begun to give him trouble and he was about ready to give up baseball when the job of line-coach under "Dutch" Meyer was offered him. He accepted and the next year, 1929, he was made varsity line-coach under Coach Schmidt. His line, captained by "Mike" Brumelow, was instrumental in winning T. C. U. her first football championship in the summer of 1931. "Bear" had another round of baseball, playing during the summer with Peoria. But he says that the summer there was the last baseball for him.

Has Coached All-Americans

Wolf has proved himself to be a great line coach. First of all, his boys like him. He has coached many outstanding football players, many of them winning all-conference honors and some being honored with all-American recognition. Brumelow was picked on the third all-American team in 1929 and took part in the East-West game that year. In 1931 the same honor came to Noble Atkins. Ben Boswell, named for all-American honors by Grantland Rice, took part in the East-West game in Chicago the past summer. Johnnie Vaught, captain of the 1932 Horned Frog eleven, was placed on the first all-American team in 1932. Foster Howell, Lon Evans, J. W. Townsend and Madison Pruitt were given all-conference honors. Pruitt and Howell being given national recognition.

He would name no "best" linesman. "I have coached a lot of good men and it would not be fair to some of them for me to name one as being better than any of the others," he said. As for backs, he named Blarard Spearman and Jimmie Lawrence as the two hardest runners that he has had anything to do with.

Chesterfield—
I enjoy them a lot

...to me they're Milder
...to me they TASTE BETTER

They Satisfy
