Pageant May 12 To Be Based on Biblical Story

"Ruth and Naomi" Tale Will Furnish Plot For Affair.

Miss Bradford Wins

"Event Will Be One of Most Colorful Ever Given," Says Mrs. Murphy.

The Biblical story of Ruth and Naomi will be the theme of the annual T. C. U. pageant in the stadium May 12, according to Mrs. Helen Walker Murphy, who is directing the production.

Miss Virginia Bradford was selected by the student body in Wednesday's chapel to depict the symbolic figure which will open the pageant. Hers is the leading part in the presentation. She will be the symbol of "Famine" and then of "Plenty." She was selected from eight girls from the different gym classes. The girls nominated included Misses Margaret Hall, Frances Shear, Janet Jones, Forrest Rosenfield, Kathryn Swiley and Blossom Frederick.

Cantata "Ruth" to Be Sung The cantata "Ruth," by Alfred Gaul, will be sung during the presentation by a small chorus made up largely of town people. The music for the pageant will be played by a ten-piece orchestra. Neither the singers nor the orchestra have been selected.

The singers and the orchestra will be placed in the press box above the stadium and the music amplified over the audience.

More than 150 girls from the physical education classes will make up the dancing groups for the pageant. They will represent reapers and gleaners.

Oriental Theme to Be Used The pageant will be one of the most colorful that has ever been presented at T. C. U., Mrs. Murphy said.

The principal scene of the presentation will be laid in the market place at Bethlehem. The first scene will show the return of Ruth and Naomi to Bethlehem; the second scene will portray the reapers and gleaners in the fields of Moab; the third scene will show the marriage of Ruth and Boaz in the market place at Bethlehem.

The Social Problem—What Is It?

A lot of people have a lot of theories for solving the T. C. U. social problem. Everybody goes around with a thoughtful or a humorous answer on the end of his tongue. But just exactly what is "the T. C. U. social problem?"

Certainly there is on the surface plenty of social activity. Clubs, clubs, clubs. One or more groups meet each night. There is, however, a scarcity of student body functions, and that is partly what is meant by "the social problem." But here is the important thing right now: The library and the front hall in the Main Building are the social gathering places for students. This is a maladjustment which needs immediate correction if library committee suggestions as to quietness in the main reading room, etc. are to be carried out effectively.

There is a hesitancy on the part of some members of the administration to admit the existence of this problem. The library should not be a social gathering place, they say, and that's that. But facing facts acquaints us with the knowledge, however sad, that the library is a social center; and if that situation is to be changed, a substitute must be provided.

A game, reading and music room for both men and women would be an excellent substitute for and an improvement over the library as a social center. Open day and evening, it would take care of hours when the student wants and needs social contacts and has no place to make them other than the front hall, the library or the drug store. One can think of better places of social contact for young people than a drug store; but if library rules are enforced and no substitute provided, the drug store would certainly be justified in enlarging its seating capacity.

Students and National Affairs

For various unexplainable reasons the editorial columns of a college newspaper are filled with comment on strictly campus affairs. It is questionable if this is doing justice to the students, discussing only local and familiar subjects. Taking for granted that the students do read the editorials, it is saying that the readers are interested only in what is going on under their noses, which statement is untrue.

When there is so much of interest and importance going on in America and elsewhere today, it is only natural that the college students should be concerned about it, since they are citizens preparing for the future. It is true that the interest becomes passive at times in the face of studies, socials, etc., but there is no disputing the fact that the students are just as interested in national and international affairs as are other citizens. That is putting it conservatively, too.

The purpose of this is to show that college papers are often mistaken in not emphasizing more discussions of affairs outside the University campus. By doing so the papers have an opportunity to increase the interest of the students in subjects that are likely to have an important bearing on their lives after college.

News Reel

Do college students read on world affairs as much as they should? Are college students up on the news of the hour? Do college students draw themselves away from the world when they start their higher education? Test yourself:

Identify Frances Perkins, Italo Balbo, William C. Bullitt, Johnny Goodman, David Hutton, Helen Jacobs, P. G. Wodehouse, James Alfred, Walt Disney, Hugh Johnson, Ferdinand Pecora and Lawrence Tibbett. When does congress meet, who is the youngest college president in the United States, and what does home rule mean? Is the NRA a trend for more state rights or stricter federal government?

Probably you can answer every one of the questions. It is just a simple examination. But are you keeping your contact with the world at large as you receive your higher education? That is a most important thing. Many a student has become so engrossed that he failed to observe the world about.

Being observant is about the best way one can achieve a self-education, and the alert person is always the one that gets ahead. If your education along that line is lacking, correct it now. Read the opinions and discussions of the world leaders. Then form your own. Now is the time to create the habit of an active mind!

The Roundup Representative

Every student in the University will be given the opportunity Wednesday of having a part in the nomination of a T. C. U. representative to the Texas Round-Up, all-collegiate affair held at the University of Texas each spring.

Sponsors of the Round-Up have requested that the girl chosen be truly representative of the entire T. C. U. student body. So students should bear in mind when they vote that a true representative of the University would have poise and dancing ability as well as attractiveness.

Balloting will take place in chapel Wednesday. From the five girls who receive the most votes in chapel the Student Council will select one to represent the University at the Round-Up. In the past both the nomination and selection of the representative have been done by the council. Students should show their appreciation of being given a part in the nomination by casting their votes wisely.

Congratulations, Miss Cuthrell

By winning Texas Christian University's first annual Poetry Reading Contest on March 9, Miss Elizabeth Cuthrell will be honored by having her name engraved on a plaque which will rest in the trophy case. The name of the poem used will also be engraved along with her name. Every year the winner of the festival and the poem used by the winner will be added to the plaque.

This contest is a new one for T. C. U. students who are interested and talented in dramatics. The honor won by Miss Cuthrell, a senior in the public speaking department, is indeed a distinctive one, in that her name will head the list of all future winners of the contest.

Miss Cuthrell's reading of "Their God," by Harriet Munro, won over the other eight contestants.

Congratulations, Miss Cuthrell!

Horses, Peanuts, Love Mentioned In Thingumbobs

Bobbie Sue Whitten wants to know if riding a horse makes your neck tired. Ruth Justin weighs 120 pounds. Lucille Snyder is good looking. Fred Smith has succeeded in growing a mustache. Grace Maloney went to the dentist 25 days in succession. Leonard Wallace plays a pretty fair game of tennis. "L. O. Dallas, you know better than that," said Louise Briscoe the other evening on the Jarvis porch. Bryant Collins and Mary Jarvis are now looking at each other with those sweet looks. By the way, Ga Ga is a nickname for R. Michero. Jack Panter reads the Whis Bang. Iris Hays likes peanuts. We're glad to see Judy Roberson around. In the spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love—and so it does the other three seasons also. The only thing wrong with the quotation is that the young woman's thoughts do the same thing during the same four seasons. Squeech is one of Wimpy's best words. Clyde Alexander is the only male member of the Brushes. Helen McKissick and Katherine Swiley were trotting around rather aimlessly Tuesday afternoon. Speedy wasn't anywhere in sight either. Helen Woods had a couple of dates with an Arkansan last week. John O. Tucker is not quite sure whether Andrew Jackson was president of the United States in the seventeenth century or the eighteenth century. Dear Miss Moody: Will you please take the stand? Wonder if Dutch Meyer's baseball team will repeat as conference champions? Ronald Wheeler thinks the young Falls co-ed is quite attractive. Joe Coleman recently had his tonsils removed. Miss Bonner's shoes were hurting her feet the other day. The Girls' Glee Club was photographed in the library the other day right in the midst of the studying.

"Come On, Marine" at the Worth tomorrow. The picture is about what the title implies. Richard Arlen and Ida Lupino play the leads. On the Worth stage are Val and Ernie Stanton. Also Worth orchestra.

Palace ending tomorrow: "Guilty Parents." Beginning Sunday: "The Big Shakedown." Ricardo Cortez forced Charles Farrell into a cut-rate drug racket but when a fake drug kills Charlie and Bette Davis' babe, Charlie retaliates.

Majestic today and tomorrow: "Invisible Man." This H. G. Wells story concerns a man who made himself invisible and then went murder-crazy. It is a shivery picture, and camera effects are very good. "Dinner at Eight" comes to the Majestic Sunday. Cast includes Jean Harlow, Edmond Lowe, Wallace Beery, Lionel Barrymore, John Barrymore and others. April 9 Eva Le Gallienne in "Hedda Gabler" will play at the Majestic.

Hollywood Tuesday: Kay Francis in "Mandalay." The picture reeks of rangers and Mandalay. Kay Francis is a shady lady whom Ricardo Cortez deserts. He reappears when she falls for Lyle Talbot. She exterminates him with poison, but that's telling. They're having amateur vaudeville at the Majestic tonight.

Items Escape Censors and "Spill Beans" for Readers

By LOUISE CAUKER

This is just a little private information column which actually succeeded in slipping by editors and censors. So get an earful for this is one opportunity that doesn't repeat itself in a lifetime. We're "spilling the beans" into the laps of a lot of people.

To begin with, Miss Lorraine Sherley of the English department has a "past." It's deep and dark and involves a number of gentlemen. That's as far as we'll go, because we might want Miss Sherley to do something for us some time. Listen to this: Clyde Johnson really doesn't care a snap of her finger for Frank Miller; he's just handy. We know because she told Maupin Yates. Maupin Yates told Florence Ackers who told—well, that's where it leaked out.

Another item of supreme interest is the knowledge that the Student Council is maneuvering for a dance in the library before the Easter holidays. They probably won't get it now that this is being published. Roy O'Brien has announced to a few confederates that there will be official dancing at the Freshman from next year, too.

Dean Beckham's favorite color is red. She has a new red chiffon evening dress made in the latest style, with high neckline in front and low-draped back. Prexy Waits (the elder) has a secret passion for grape-nuts. Feed him grape-nuts and you can wrap him around your finger. The most modernistic fashion from Paris right now is a long, form-fitting black cotton bathing suit with long sleeves and all. It's very striking on a blonde, they say. . . The March edition of one of the popular men's fashion magazines names leather sandals as the last word in smartness and cool comfort for the younger gentleman about town. There are evening sandals and also rough leather models for sport wear.

Dr. W. J. Hammond never was really in the World War! Some local skeptic wrote to the War Department for verification of the doctor's war service, and received the information that he never got across to France at all.

Yesterday Janelle Bush was enumerating the people she doesn't like. We grabbed a pencil and jotted down the names. Here they are: Joe Carpenter (just too clever), Rebecca Graves (too quiet), Ruth Cowan (too much like Gracie Allen), and John O. Tucker (too, too brilliant for ordinary association).

We almost forgot to mention that you really shouldn't believe this stuff, since a week from Sunday is April 1.

Frogs Will Meet O. U. Baseballers In 2-Game Series

Tilts Are Scheduled for Tuesday and Wednesday.

Meyermers Down Wilmer-Hutchins Once, Devaney's All-Stars Twice.

By BEN SARGENT
Having won three games out of as many starts, Coach Dutch Meyer's Horned Frog baseballers will meet their strongest opposition of the pre-conference season Tuesday and Wednesday afternoons when they play the Oklahoma University Sooners on the Christian diamond.

In their first game of the season, a 7-inning affair played against Wilmer-Hutchins High School of Dallas County Saturday afternoon, the Meyermers won 10 to 4. Dan Harston pitched the first four innings and Boaz Hoskins finished the fray.

Jacks Leading Hitter

Jimmy Jacks led the Frogs at the plate, driving out a triple and two singles. Hersel Kinzy got two hits.

The Christians annexed their second victory Tuesday afternoon by beating Vincent Devaney's all-stars 6 to 1. Jacks twirled the first seven innings for the Frogs, allowing but two runs. Hoskins finished the game, holding the all-stars hitless the last two innings. Besides his work on the mound, Jacks got a home run off Devaney in the third inning.

Harston hurled the Frogs to a 12 to 1 victory over the all-stars Wednesday afternoon. The junior southpaw allowed the Devaneymen only eight hits. Manton, third baseman, got a home run, a double and a single.

Other Games Announced

Several pre-season games were announced this week by the Frog mentor. On March 30 and 31 the Christians will journey to Abilene to play Mose Sims' Oilers. The Frogs will play Henrietta April 2 and meet the Sooners in a return engagement April 3 and 4.

The Christians will return in time to meet the Texas University Longhorns in their first conference game April 6.

Coach Meyer expressed satisfaction this week at the way the team was rounding into shape.

Pitching Department Strengthened

"With Darrell Lester coming into form as a pitcher, we are strengthened considerably in that department. The big sophomore will probably see service at Abilene," Meyer said.

Jimmy Lawrence succeeded Jack Graves as right fielder this week after the latter dropped out to accept a job at Arlington Downs.

The Christians went through a light practice this afternoon. They will meet the all-stars in another game at 3 o'clock this afternoon on the Frog Field.

To Sing in Kansas City

Mrs. Cahoon Leaves to Participate in Easter Services.

Mrs. Helen Fouts Cahoon left yesterday afternoon for Kansas City, where she will spend 10 days appearing in a series of special pre-Easter and Easter programs.

Her appearances will include special services at the Second Presbyterian Church on Palm Sunday and Good Friday and a special program before the Kansas City Woman's Club Wednesday afternoon. During the week she will appear on three programs with a Kansas City quartet, and Easter Sunday she will sing at three special services.

Mrs. Cahoon will return to the campus April 2.

Burr-Head's SPORT GOSSIP

By CHARLIE CASPER

Well, from what I can gather Dutch Meyer and his baseball team are headed for another conference championship. They proved this much to me Tuesday by knocking off a strong local independent club headed by Vincent Devaney. Jimmy Jacks got the first four-sacker in this tilt when he bumped one far out into the left corner of the Frog Park.

Something tells me that this wrong-hander is going places this season. Besides having a good day with the old hickory stick, he tossed slow balls, curve balls and what-have-you for seven innings during the same game, to allow but two hits. Jimmy's back is just about all healed up so, all in all, the former Poly star should be in for a big season this year.

Boaz Hoskins, the midget of the Frog nine's pitching staff, finished the game for the Christians Tuesday and set the boys back in the last two innings without a single safe hit. Hoskins has been a scrub for the past two seasons, but it looks as though he's bound for the big time this year along with Jacks.

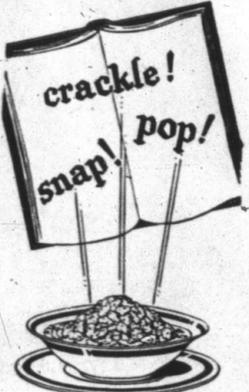

Then, to go with the hurling of these two boys, is that of Slim Kinzy, Dan Harston and Darrell Lester. All three of these Frogs are capable of stepping in and holding their own when needed. Kinzy is rounding out his third year this season and as usual is expected to be the best in the loop.

Dutch has a better balanced club this year, than ever before. Only one letter man is missing from last season. Here's just about what the Frog starting nine will look like when they face Texas here in their conference opener: Jacks on first base, Caple, Flash Walker at second, Warren Logan, shortstop, and either Taldon Manton or Frank Lono at third. In the outer garden Dutch will have Dan Harston, Paul Donovan and Jimmy Lawrence.

Wallace Myers and Slim Kinzy will more than likely open as batteries, with Lester, Hoskins, Jacks and Harston waiting in the bull pen. The relief material is exceptionally strong this year, with such men as Jimmy Stanton, Bill Hudson, Aubrey Linnie and several others available for the different positions.

First-Year Men Are Favored to Win Dual Contest.

Helbing Places Frosh Second-Place Winners in Exposition Affair—Frogs Are Fourth.

The varsity and freshman track teams hold a dual meet on Clark Field tomorrow afternoon in preparation for the coming meets in which both will take part before the Easter holidays. Because of the outstanding material listed on the Wog squad, this season, they will reign as favorites over their varsity teammates.

Monday the members of the varsity squad will meet the Denton Eagles on the Frog oval in the two teams' annual entanglement. The Christians will disband for the holidays, but will return to work the following Monday.

Frogs Fourth in Show Meet

At the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show Meet wearers of the Purple and White finished in fourth position, with six points. The Purple first-year men were second in their division. Helbing set two new meet records in the academy division.

Charlie Casper scored the lone six points for the Frogs by placing second, third and fourth in the broad jump, 100-yard dash and high jump, respectively. Casper did not take part in the hurdle events because of a leg injury. While broad jumping, the Christian athlete pulled a tendon loose in his leg and may not be available for a month or more. Casper has won both hurdle events for the past three years.

Texas Wins University Class

Track and field athletes from Texas University, Abilene Christian College, Abilene Christian freshmen, Cameron Junior College and Port Arthur won for their institutions in the various divisions of the meet.

Coach Ernie Hjertberg of Rice Institute was referee and Coach Clyde Littlefield of Texas University was head starter. Members of the T.C.U. physical education classes aided in running the meet.

—about Cigarettes
Practically untouched by human hands
WE'D like you to see Chesterfields made. We know you'd be impressed by the absolute cleanliness of our factories.
The tobaccos are the best that money can buy.
Expert chemists test for cleanliness and purity all materials used in any way in the manufacture of Chesterfield cigarettes.
The factories are modern throughout. Even the air is changed every 4½ minutes.
When you smoke a Chesterfield you can be sure that there isn't a purer cigarette made.
In a letter to us an eminent scientist says: "Chesterfields are just as pure as the water you drink."
Inspectors examine Chesterfields as they come from the cigarette making machines and throw out any imperfect cigarettes.
