Alumni Luncheon Will Inaugurate Senior Activities

Cafeteria Dinner-Dance Is Second Event on Program.

Annual Out Monday

Tea, Banquet, Picnic, Bicycle,
Lawn Parties Included in Entertainments.

Senior week activities will be inaugurated at 12:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, when the Alumni and Ex-Students' Association honors the senior girls with a luncheon at the University Club.

A dinner-dance in the Cafeteria at 8 o'clock tomorrow evening will be the next event on the program.

Dean Sadie T. Beckham and Miss Lide Spragins will have a tea for the seniors at the home of Mrs. Beckham, 2916 Princeton Street, at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Beckham, Colby D. Hall, Sally Wright, Gayle Scott and J. B. Harmon and Misses Spragins and Elizabeth Shelburne will be in the receiving line at the tea. Women faculty members of the University will assist at the affair. Misses Mary Jarvis, Hannah Ann House and Mary Helen Sims will preside at the punch bowl.

Breakfast 9 a. m. Monday

The seniors will have breakfast in the Cafeteria at 9 o'clock Monday morning. Senior Day exercises will be held at 6:30 p. m. that evening. Seniors will receive their annuals at 8 p. m. in the hall of the Administration Building.

Annuals will be distributed to others at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning. "One-seaters and tandems" will be the order of the day when the seniors join for a bicycle party at 7 p. m. Tuesday in Forest Park.

"All seniors are requested to meet at the Arch, where transportation to the park will be furnished," Bryant Collins said.

President E. M. Waits will honor the members of both the June and August graduating classes with a lawn party at his home, 2929 Princeton Street, between 7:30 and 9 o'clock Wednesday evening.

Mrs. Gayle Scott is in charge of the arrangements for the affair. She is being assisted by Misses Kathryn Morro, Marian Smith, Bita May Hall and Virginia Bryson. Garden flowers will constitute the decorations for the party, Mrs. Scott said.

Question: Who Is the Mystery Girl?

Writer Sees 1934 Horned Frog And Knows Who Mystery Girl Is

By LOUISE CAUKER

I saw the Horned Frog, and I know who the Mystery Girl is!

I didn't sneak into the Horned Frog office or bribe the printers, either. Roy Bacus walked up the other day and said, "I'll let you see the Horned Frog if you'll write a review of it."

So now I'm supposed to tell you all about how good the annual is without telling you anything about it. 'Cause this Bacus has a "mystery" complex. He's got more secrets than Truelson has feet.

I mustn't reveal the theme of the book, nor to whom or what it's dedicated, nor let you know who the winning popularity girls are, nor who is the Mystery Girl.

You'd Never Guess.

To begin with, you'll be surprised at the theme, and then after a minute you'll think, "I might have guessed it." The winning popularity candidates are all darling girls or they wouldn't have won in the first place. But the Mystery Girl! You'd never guess her identity, and yet nothing in the world could be more appropriate. I'd love to tell you; it's certainly a temptation, because she's so—but there: it's a secret.

Have you ever seen beautiful simplicity? For that describes the Horned Frog cover. It's black and hexagon-grained—reminds you of a black honeycomb. The only decoration is the Texas Christian University seal, with a natural-colored Horned Frog superimposed upon it. The horned frog was cast from a real mounted frog. The name of the book doesn't appear on the cover at all.

5 Graduate Students To Receive Degrees

Five students will receive master's degrees in June, Dr. John Lord, dean of the graduate school, has announced.

Tom Q. Williams, Hal Wright, Percy Cardwell, and Miss Pauline Hall will receive the degree of Master of Arts and LeRoy Clardy will receive a Master of Science.

Brite Chapel Hears Waits

President E. M. Waits preached on "Shadows That We Cast" at the last Brite College chapel of the spring session today. Prof. F. E. Billington presided, Granville Walker gave the invocation and James Parrott led the prayer.

B. C. B. Officers Meet

The new and retiring officers of the B. C. B. met last night at the home of Dr. W. C. Morro, 2710 Greene, and discussed plans for the coming year. "We expect to continue the present policies as well as add some new worth-while programs," Arle Brooks, the new president said.

Gavel to Pass From '34 to '35 On Senior Day

Class Gift to Be Presented at Ceremony,
6:30 P. M. Monday.

O'Brien to Preside

Class Prophecy Will Be Read—
Sherer to Install Student Body Officers.

The traditional gavel of authority will be handed down to another set of officers at 6:30 o'clock Monday evening when Senior Day exercises are held in the sunken garden.

The program will open with a band concert by the Horned Frog Band, after which President E. M. Waits will pronounce the invocation.

Roy O'Brien will preside and make the introductory remarks. Bryant Collins, president of the graduating class will present the class gift.

The installation of officers for the 1934-35 session will be executed by Prof. C. R. Sherer. Prof. J. W. Ballard will install the permanent senior class officers.

The senior class prophecy, written by Roy Bacus and Miss Janelle Bush, will be read as a radio report by Byron Saam, radio announcer for a local station.

The junior-senior ritual, which was made a permanent part of the service by last year's class, will be held next with Bryant Collins officiating for the seniors.

The last number on the program will be the dedication of the yearbook; the announcement of the theme of the book and the disclosing of the "mystery" girl.

Both classes will sing the Alma Mater, after which the seniors will go to the Administration Building where they will sign for their yearbooks and receive them in the basement of the Horned Frog office.

Plans Are Made For Assemblies

Programs This Summer to Include Music, Lectures.

Twilight assemblies, inaugurated at T. C. U. during the 1933 summer session, are again being arranged as a feature of the 1934 summer program. Lectures, musical programs and programs of varied types are to be included in the series. Dr. Newton Gaines, chairman of the committee in charge, announces.

Other members of the committee are Mrs. Artemisia Bryson, Mrs. Bertie Mothershead, Prof. Claude Sammis and Prof. J. Willard Ridings.

Because of the increase in the summer session from nine to 12 weeks, nine assembly programs will be presented this year instead of the six of last year. The dates for the programs, as announced by the committee, are June 15, 19, 29; July 6, 20, 27; Aug. 3, 10, 17.

The assemblies will be held in the open air on the campus, unless the weather necessitates the use of the Auditorium, and all of them will be open to students and the general public without charge.

"The committee does not have plans definitely enough arranged to announce the various programs at this time," Dr. Gaines said. "But we hope to have a series that will compare favorably with the high standard set by the committee headed by Dr. Rebecca Smith last year."

Dr. Gaines did announce that one program has been definitely arranged and the date set. It is one to be given by the Mosiah Temple Shrine Chanters, under the direction of Sam Losh, on the evening of Tuesday, June 19.

"The regular date for the Twilight Assembly, however, is Friday," Dr. Gaines pointed out. "All programs will begin at 7:30 p. m."

Villa, Nero, Goon Other Notables Get the Works

Pancho Villa shook hands with the Goon. Nero fiddled and it isn't known whether anything burned or not, but 14 pledges initiated into the "T" Association recently said it was pretty hot.

The T. C. U. "Pancho Villa" was none other than Tony Vargas, Frog trackster, who with Louie Trainer, Horace McDowell and Russell McConnell received their initial awards in track.

Willis Cannon was dressed as the Goon, and R. J. Duckworth looked so much like Nero that he was called "Nero." "Where's the fiddle?"

Others who were initiated are Ronald Wheeler, Atys Gardner, Jimmy Walkup, Jack Panter, J. W. Thompson, Taldon Manton, Jimmy Stanton and Boaz Hoskins.

The group held a "Tea" in Jarvis Hall last Thursday afternoon. "Political" speeches were heard and various members of the group acknowledged how good they are. President Waits and a gathering of curious students looked on.

Dinner Dance Begins At 8 P. M. Tomorrow

Eddie Fifer's Orchestra to Furnish Music—Tickets
Are 85 Cents.

Final preparations are being made today for the first annual senior dinner-dance, to be held tomorrow night in the University Cafeteria, Bryant Collins, president of the graduating group, has announced.

"The affair will begin at 8 o'clock," Collins said, "and at a recent class meeting it was decided that, due to the warm weather, tuxedos will be waved aside and linen suits and combination dark coat and light trousers will be considered formal for the occasion."

"Tickets are 85 cents each and may be obtained from Nat Wells, Miss Lollie Botts, Miss Janelle Bush, Bud Taylor, Miss Louise Cauker, Roy O'Brien, Keith Pickett and Miss Mary Jarvis."

Eddie Fifer and his orchestra will furnish music.

The committee in charge of arrangements includes Collins, Wells, O'Brien and Miss Jarvis.

"All seniors are requested to get their tickets at once so that we will know how many to expect," Collins said. "Only seniors and members of the Student Council and their dates are invited."

Exes to Have Banquet

Hammond to Tell of 'Progress of Echo' at Affair June 4.

Dr. W. J. Hammond will report on "The Progress of The Echo" and Dr. Gayle Scott will report on the Student Loan Fund at the annual Commencement Day luncheon of the State Alumni and Ex-Students' Association in the University Cafeteria June 4.

Dan Rogers of Dallas will give the principal address on "New Units of the Student Loan Fund." Harvey Redford, vice-president, will introduce the presidents of the alumni clubs throughout the state.

Mrs. Frank Ogilvie will be in charge of registering the guests. The musical program is in charge of Prof. Claude Sammis, Earl Gough and Mrs. Wade Cameron.

The annual election of officers will be held.

Prof. Smith to Preach In Place of Gresham

Substituting for the Rev. Perry Gresham, who is to deliver the baccalaureate address before the graduating class of Central High School, Prof. Raymond Smith will preach at the University Christian Church at the Sunday morning service.

At the evening service, beginning at 8 o'clock, the Rev. Mr. Gresham will speak on "Motives of Man." The men's chorus will give a special selection.

Will Study at Yale

David Scouler, director of the T. C. U. Men's and Women's Glee Clubs, has been granted a year's leave of absence from the University to study during the 1934-35 session and the summer following at the Yale University School of Music, on a scholarship he has received from that school.

'Foster' Program To Be Presented

Students to Sing, Enact Southern Songs
This Evening.

"Melodies and Memories," a program of Stephen Foster's songs will be presented at 8 o'clock tonight in the University Auditorium, according to Mrs. Helen Fouts Cahoon, who is in charge of the program.

The songs, in a Southern setting, will be sung and enacted by students in the music departments. As the songs are being sung, a narrator, Miss Corinne Lewis, will read the story being told in the songs. The music will be sung to a piano and banjo accompaniment, played by Miss Helen Miellmier and Jo Brice Wilmet.

Singers in Costume

The singers, in costumes of the Foster period, will be Weldon Allen, X. R. Campbell, Bill Smith, G. L. Messenger, Raymond Steward, S. A. Wall and Misses Louise Roper, Evelyn Franklin, Elizabeth Hudson and Maurine Justin.

A group of little "pikaninnies" will be portrayed by Helen, Dickie and Samye Lois Ziegler.

The narrative part of the program was arranged by Dr. Rebecca Smith. The music was arranged by Mrs. Cahoon.

The story is depicted in three scenes. The first, which includes a group of Civil War tunes, is entitled "On the March." It is composed of "Oh, Susannah," "Willie, We Have Missed You," "We Are Coming, Father Abraham," and "Camptown Races."

Negro Songs on Program. The second group, a group of negro songs, is called "Ethiopian Days." It is composed of "Old Folks at Home," "Old Black Joe," "Nelly Was a Lady," "Old Dog Tray" and "Old Uncle Ned."

The last scene, which consists of a group of love songs, is entitled "Romance." The songs in this group are "Open Thy Lattice, Love," "Come Where My Love Lies Dreaming," "Jeanie With the Light Brown Hair," "The Voice of Bygone Days" and a medley of Foster melodies.

Admission for the program will be 25 cents per couple for students and 25 cents each for outsiders. Proceeds from the presentation will be used to buy equipment for the music department.

Gantz to Address Guild

The Rev. Halley Gantz, pastor of the Chestnut Avenue Christian Church, will speak next Wednesday noon on "Pastoral Ministry" at the weekly meeting of the Homiletic Guild in the T. C. U. Cafeteria. Otto Neilson talked last Wednesday on "Personalization."

Sammis to Play at Church

Prof. Claude Sammis will appear on a request program at 8 o'clock Sunday night at First Presbyterian Church. He will play "Berceuse" from "Jocelyn," by Godard.

Scouler Granted Leave of Absence To Study at Yale

Receives Degree Here in August—Will Be Assistant There.

To Return in 1935

W. J. Marsh to Fill Scouler's
Place as Director of Glee Clubs.

David Scouler, director of the Men's and Women's Glee Clubs and instructor in the music department, has been granted a year's leave of absence, according to an announcement made at the Men's Glee Club banquet Saturday night by Dean Colby D. Hall.

Scouler has received a scholarship from the Yale University School of Music and will study there during the 1934-35 session and the following summer. He will return to T. C. U. in the fall of 1935.

W. J. Marsh, prominent Fort Worth musician and composer of the state anthem "Texas, Our Texas," will fill Scouler's place as director of the glee clubs.

Scouler's study will be under Marshall Bartholomew, eminent American composer and conductor. He will be assistant to Bartholomew in glee club work and will sing in the university chapel choir.

Scouler came to T. C. U. in September, 1930, from Laurence College at Appleton, Wis., where he had received his Bachelor of Music degree the preceding spring. He will receive his Bachelor of Arts degree from T. C. U. this summer.

In 1931 he reorganized the Men's Glee Club, which had been inactive for several years. Last year he took charge of the Women's Glee Club, which had also been inactive for some time. He placed these organizations before the public through annual concert tours and has received special recognition for the work done with them.

Besides studying and instructing in the University, Scouler has been soloist in the St. Patrick's Catholic Church choir for two years and a member of the quartet at the First Presbyterian Church of this city for three years.

Ex-Students' Banquet To Be Held Tonight

Coaches to Be Honor Guests—
Sidney Latham Will Be Toastmaster.

The T. C. U. coaching staff—Leo "Dutch" Meyer, Raymond Wolf, Mack Clark and Howard Grubbs—will be entertained with a banquet in the Venetian Room of the Blackstone Hotel at 7:30 o'clock tonight as honor guests of the T. C. U. Ex-students' Association. Coach Francis Schmidt, former Frog mentor who is now at the helm of athletics at Ohio State University, will also be honored at the banquet.

Sidney Latham, former student who is now representative from Longview in the legislature, will act as toastmaster. Latham was head yell leader in 1929, the year T. C. U. won its first Southwest Conference football championship.

Prof. John W. Ballard will speak on "The Value of an Ex-Students' Organization to the University." Immediately following the banquet, a dance will be held in the Venetian Ballroom. Music will be furnished by Vernon Fenley's orchestra. The dance will be open to all ex-students and students for 25 cents per person. Tickets may be obtained at the Book Store.

Miss Carter Is Honored

Miss Eula Lee Carter was elected president of Delta Kappa Gamma, honorary organization for women teachers, at the state convention in San Antonio recently.

On Student Leaders

Recently there has been some discussion concerning the fact that the various offices on the campus are not being distributed evenly. In other words, some students are accepting nominations and votes for several important offices in both the student body and campus organizations.

The Skiff feels that this practice is not making for the betterment of the University's social and academic life. Without casting any reflections on the ability of any students, it is easy to see that one cannot do justice to several important offices during the same term. It has been tried before, and has always proved unsatisfactory. It is too much to expect one person to fill three or four offices, each requiring work and planning if they are to achieve their purpose.

For several years this situation was prevented by the faculty Student Societies Committee's limiting the number of offices one student could hold by enforcing a point system, but the committee, for some reason, is no longer enforcing the system. It is now left to the students themselves to do only as much work as they feel they can do successfully. The individuals are hurting themselves and the organizations they represent if they attempt to do the work of two or three men.

For Seniors Only

This spring, as in every spring, colleges and universities throughout the country will confer degrees on thousands of young people and bid them farewell and good fortune. A large percentage of these graduates are filled with hope and ambition, and they will demand a place in the business world in order to display their intellectual "wares."

College graduates of the past four years have had the extreme misfortune to step from the campus to an unresponsive and unfriendly world. Some of these are even yet seeking work of any kind, others are depending upon charity for subsistence. It is a horrible picture of disillusioned youth, which is a dangerous situation in any country.

It speaks well for the class of '34 that they have had the courage and determination to go on with their training in the face of such conditions. Now it appears that their patience and hard work will be rewarded. Reports from many sources indicate that conditions are changing for the better, business is increasing and men are being put to work. However, there is a long, hard road to travel yet, and the class of '34 is facing a struggle.

President Roosevelt has given us a start on the road back, but he is depending on the citizens to keep the movement going. In particular, it is necessary that the younger generation co-operate; much depends on them. Will they accept the challenge?

Picnics and Picnics

A picnic is a form of outdoor entertainment originated by our pleasure-seeking forefathers and perfected by the college students of today. More and more the trend in the University social life is toward picnics, large and small.

Give a boy or a girl a warm, starlit night with a full moon and all the trimmings, and what does he or she think of? A picnic. And just why are the outings so popular? The dictionary defines a picnic as "an outdoor pleasure-party, unusually held in the woods, provided with its own means of entertainment." That answers the question.

In reality there are two types of picnics recognized today, the family outing and the young couples' picnic, each of which is conducted according to its own rules and program. We are interested in the latter type at the present time. The necessary equipment for such a picnic is at least one boy and one girl, one automobile, one secluded spot, one basket of food, one moon and an ample supply of time. It is often desirable to have a fire, a stream of water and some form of music.

In London during the nineteenth century there was a Picnic Society, devoted to the giving of picnics. It looks very much like history might repeat itself.

Building T. C. U.

Growth and progress have ever been the aims of this University, and may they ever be.

There can be little growth, though, without the support and co-operation of the student body in certain measures. One way in which the present students can work for the betterment of T. C. U. is to resolve to encourage other young people to attend T. C. U.

Not that anyone is expected to go along the highways and byways proclaiming the name of T. C. U. to young people of college age. Nothing of the sort, but often during the summer months we have the opportunity to meet persons who have not as yet chosen their colleges. In this case it is only fair to them and to ourselves to tell them of T. C. U., and leave it up to them to make their choice.

First Leaves

A definite contribution to the literary and scholastic record of the University was made last week by the Poetry Club. This contribution was in the form of an anthology of verse, "First Leaves," published by members of the organization.

It is an event that cannot be passed by without mention and compliments. So, congratulations to the following students whose poems appear in the book: Misses Marie Hamlet, Nina Whittington, Ruth Ratliff, Olive Wofford, Loraine O'Gorman, George Cherrymones and Everett Gillis.

Examinations

T. C. U. is not the same place it was two weeks ago. Everything was perfectly normal then, but now things have changed. Students are walking about with a worried look on their faces and a stack of books under their arms. The attendance at the library is increasing nightly, and the conversation at the tables has changed from trivialities to serious discussions. The social life is coming to a full stop, and even courting is not receiving its usual attention.

What's the reason for all this? Examinations are just around the corner.

Amusement ABOUT TOWN

By ROY BACUS

Murder! That's part of the title of the picture which is opening today at the Hollywood. The full title is "Murder at the Vanities." If you want to see a murder where there's so many wise-cracks that you can't quit laughing and blushing just take this comedy in. Carl Brisson, a Harlem jazz band, Jack Oakie and some elegant girls with swell "underpinnings" are all present.

Lee Tracy, THE Lee Tracy is back and the picture is "I'll Tell the World." Tracy is a news-schooper-upper and Mr. Tracy has the honor (I'd consider it that) to play opposite Gloria Stuart. It's a tale about a princess, and of course Tracy saves her and she is his. It's at the Worth tomorrow, and they're braggin' about their stage show this week, so the bill ought to be good.

The Palace is offering "Tarzan and His Mate" tomorrow. Johnny Weissmuller and Maureen O'Sullivan. Another Tarzan picture but a bit more exciting than the usual.

Today at the Majestic is "You Can't Buy Everything" with Mae Robson, who plays a scheming rich woman who finds gold and no happiness. Also "The Private Life of King Henry VIII" will be exposed again.

Tuesday at the Worth comes "Twenty Million Sweethearts." Photoplay says this picture is one of the best of the month. The cast includes Pat O'Brien, Dick Powell and Ginger Rogers. Also in the picture is Ted Fiorito and his orchestra and the Mills Brothers.

Early Escapades in T. C. U. Revealed in History Thesis

T. C. U. catalogs, bulletins and students' theses are excellent sources of amusing bits of history concerning the activities of former students.

One morning, according to Mrs. Frank Miller Mason's history thesis of 1930, it was reported to the president that a boy living in the dormitory had walked home from a concert with a town co-ed. Mr. Addison, who was the president, announced in chapel that the young man must leave school at once and to consider himself expelled.

Within an hour a petition was brought from the boys of the school begging the faculty to reconsider their decision, stating that most of the students had stolen privileges during the year. An excuse for the offenders was offered in the fact that they were to be married within two weeks.

The president then called an assembly and announced that all students who had stolen privileges were expelled and to leave at once. Finally, Mrs. Ida Jarvis put a white handkerchief on the handle of her umbrella as a flag of truce and went to the home of the president and asked him to reconsider because the students were all packing to leave. Mr. Addison then saw the humor in the situation and recalled his decision. From then on a social was held once a month.

Often the boys would steal away from their studies, go into the woods, "take" a few chickens from their tree roost and roast them. One night the boys went out to hold a roast and they immediately began preparations for a fire. One boy gathered sticks and another went to the tree to get the chickens and hand them down to boys on the ground. All of a sudden the boys on the ground "deserted" the lad in the tree. But he didn't know it. He began feeling around and found a big fat hen. He handed it down to the person (whom he didn't recognize) on the ground.

"Do you think it'll be fat enough?" he asked. "I think so," said the president, who had just arrived on the scene. The boy was so startled to find that his "ground companion" was the president that he fell out of the tree and was in bed several days.

One day Van Zandt Jarvis, now Board of Trustees chairman, and a group of boy friends were going hunting. On their way to the woods they passed a widow chopping wood. One boy suggested that they help her. The whole group went back to the school, got several axes and chopped enough wood to last the whole all winter.

Mr. Jarvis says that that day is one of the happiest he can remember. One of the early T. C. U. catalogs reveals the following requirements: Only those students are desired who never dream of matrimony until their education is finished and those who have neither time nor the desire for miscellaneous gallantry and letter writing.

X. R. Campbell to Head Men's Glee Club

X. R. Campbell was elected president of the Men's Glee Club for next year at the annual banquet of the club held Saturday night at the Fort Worth Club.

Groups Travel Long Distances

Glee Clubs Sing to Large Audiences in Five States.

The Men's and Women's Glee Clubs have traveled more than 2,400 miles during this year's concert season, words of the bus company which has furnished transportation for the clubs show.

The Men's Glee Club covered 270 miles on its three-day trip to Mineral Wells, Wichita Falls and Henrietta in March. It covered 1,850 miles on its long concert tour, which lasted twelve days and carried it into five states other than Texas. The women's organization covered 200 miles on its tour of East and South Texas.

More Than 10,000 Hear Singers
The two clubs sang to more than 10,000 persons in their concert appearances. The largest single audience to hear either of the clubs was at the Independence Boulevard Christian Church of Kansas City, Mo., April 15, when more than 1,000 persons heard the Men's Glee Club in concert.

This year marks the third successful season for this organization. After several years of inactivity, it was reorganized two years ago by David Scouler, its present director. During that year it made a six-day concert tour of East Texas, with a concert in Shreveport, La. Last year the club made a ten-day tour of South and East Texas, in which it traveled more than 1,200 miles. This year it made the tour to Kansas City, the route of which extended through Oklahoma and Kansas to Missouri and back through Arkansas and Louisiana to Texas.

Women Become Active
The Women's Glee Club has been comparatively inactive until this year. It was organized last year, and this year, seeing the opportunities being presented to the men's club and realizing what they were missing by not having an active organization, a group of co-eds resolved to get down to business and take a little trip of their own.

This group of girls organized the club, under the direction of Scouler, and rehearsed diligently for several months. When Scouler left with the men's club, they kept up their rehearsals under the direction of Mrs. Helen Fouts Cahoon. During this time they arranged the short trip which they have just finished. At present prospects are bright for longer and more extensive trips with added success for this organization.

Ability Is Praised
As far as singing ability is concerned, both organizations are rated far above the average. Critics in practically all of the cities visited by the Men's Glee Club on this season's tour rated it one of the best college glee clubs they had ever heard. Its record on this and past tours has won it much publicity and rated it among the best.

Faculty Men Are Guests at Picnic

The T. C. U. Faculty Woman's Club entertained the men of the faculty with a picnic in Trinity Park Tuesday evening. Box lunches were served.

Mrs. L. R. Meyer was chairman of the committee in charge. Hostesses were Mrs. J. W. Ballard, Miss Margarettha Ascher, Mrs. C. R. Sherer, Mrs. Cephas Shelburne and Mrs. Willis Hewatt.

Gail Walley to Head Cosmopolitans

Officers were elected and plans discussed for the coming year at the meeting of the International Relations Club, Unit II, last Wednesday night.

Those elected to offices were: Gail Walley, president; Lemore Hill, vice-president; Ann Stuckert, secretary, and Johnnie Hughes, treasurer. Mrs. Charles R. Sherer was re-elected sponsor of the club.

Burr-Head's SPORT GOSSIP

By CHARLIE C. SPER

CONGRATULATIONS are now in order around here to two wrong-handed athletes who have been chosen by their team-mates to lead their athletic teams for the coming year — Dan Harston, Jr., and Jimmy Jacks. The boys are room-mates and have proven to be a winning passing combination in football and effective hurlers on the baseball team.

They used to compete against each other in high school with Jacks out at Poly here in Fort Worth and Dan out at Highland Park in Dallas. I know of no better athletes in this conference than those wrong-handers and something tells me that they're bound for the big time in the sporting world next season. Harston was elected sub-captain of the grid team and Jacks was chosen to head the Frog baseball nine.

It is also interesting to note along this line that Judy Truelson has accomplished something around these parts this year that hasn't been done recently. Big Judy has earned letters in four major sports this season. He is the first Frog athlete to accomplish this feat during the four-year period that I have been here.

I am still full of food . . . and that's something which I am seldom full of, too. Lou Cauker, Elna Evins, Ben Boswell, Roy Bacus, Joe Sargent, Paul Donovan and yours truly were "out-to-dinner" with Prof. and Mrs. Ridings Wednesday night, and never in all my life did I have food stick to me so long. I don't know who did the cooking, but I do have a faint idea that she is the wife of my journalism prof. I did my best to invite myself back for a birthday dinner Monday night, but nothing doing. Peter Donovan was on me right and Lou Cauker on me left and I did have one terrible time trying to get the "vitamins" all the way up to my mouth without losing part of them before they could get to the taste buds of me tongue. I disposed of what I had in front of me in a hurry trying to get more, but no soap. Boswell had disposed of more than his share and not even the scraps were left over. Ben and Bacus were responsible for that.

Soon after the dinner got under way it was learned that our beloved society editor hadn't heard about Clyde and Bonnie. Well, while Bacus and Evins informed the sob sister about Clyde and Bonnie and Donovan got rid of more food and started hollering for more. Gosh but that Donovan can eat more to be so little than any guy I know of.

Parlor oddities were in order at the conclusion of the dinner and I was surprised to learn that Mr. Ridings is a Missouri grad of 1926 as of 1916. If you don't understand that phrase then get Boswell to tell you what he is "as of." I hope it's not 1922 as of 1933.

Prof. Ridings offered the cigars around, and to his surprise about four or five guys took him up. Good cigars, too.

It was a grand climax to three years in the best department in this school. We all have a happy little family down there and get what we want done without any fussin' (exceptions). These three years have been well spent and I think I'd be willing to go through them once more just for that dinner, if nothing else. Watch that department grow, for we've got ideas down there and if they come through . . . watch Missouri and some of the rest of 'em go back into the second division.

Kinzy Signs With Chicago White Sox

Slim Kinzy, ace hurler of the Horned Frog nine for the past three years, has signed an agreement with the Chicago White Sox team of the American League, and will probably report to them next week.

Kinzy was the outstanding pitcher of the Southwest Conference three seasons, and last years as captain pitched the Frogs to their first conference baseball championship. At the first of this spring he was bothered with a sore arm, but rounded into shape in time to defeat both Texas and the champion Aggies.

Roy Largent, scout for the White Sox, signed Kinzy immediately after the close of the 1934 season.

Jacks to Captain Next Year's Nine

Hurler Elected Baseball Leader at Barbecue.

Jimmy Jacks, wrong-sided hurler for the Frog baseball nine during the past two seasons, was elected by his team-mates to lead the Frog baseball forces next season, at a barbecue given by Dutch Meyer Monday evening. The barbecue served as the final get-together for eight Frog seniors who closed their athletic careers this season.

For the past two seasons Capt-elect Jacks has been alternating between first base and the mound. When he was not assigned to mound duty, he patrolled the territory around first base. During his initial season in Southwest Conference baseball he was chosen on the mythical Conference nine as a first-sacker. He has been consistent at the bat, on the mound and on the initial sack. He succeeds Capt. Flash Walker, brilliant leader of the '34 Purple nine.

Stroud and Rhodes Enter Golf Finals

Waller Moody, Glen Roberts, Freshmen, Win Intramural Tennis Meet.

By defeating Walter Roach 5 to 3 Wednesday afternoon Loftis Stroud advanced to the finals in the intramural golf tournament. He was scheduled to meet John Knox Rhodes in the finals yesterday afternoon at the Worth Hills Golf Course.

Waller Moody and Glen Roberts, freshmen, by defeating each of the three teams entered in the finals, won the intramural tennis doubles championship.

Other teams that reached the finals were: Oliver Harrison and Bryant Collins, senior, Leonard Wallace and William Morro, junior, and J. B. Donnally and Bobby Stowe, sophomore.

With two out of three matches won, Donnally and Stowe finished second in the tourney.

Schmidt Is Satisfied With Ohio Prospects

Is Presented Gold Set by Ex-Lettermen as "Going-Away" Present.

Coach Francis Schmidt returned to Fort Worth last week to make final arrangements locally before departing for Ohio State the latter part of the month.

Schmidt has just completed his initial spring practice session at his new location and upon his return here expressed satisfaction with the results.

"I have a new bunch up there for the coming year but I do believe I am going to have a good ball club," Coach Schmidt said when asked about his prospects. "I have one letterman back in the line and much work must be done there. I have several guys up there that remind me of some of the boys I had here. If they come through as well as the boys they remind me of, I know I'll have a good club the coming season."

18 Honorary Degrees Have Been Conferred in History of T. C. U.

Graduation! Seniors begin to think of the degrees which they will receive. In many cases the degree will be the only one ever conferred upon the student. But they will not be the only ones which T. C. U. can confer.

Students at T. C. U. may receive any of eight degrees. The Add-Ran College of Arts and Sciences confers the Bachelor of Arts, Bachelor of Science and the Bachelor of Business Administration, from the Graduate School one may receive the degrees of Master of Arts and Master of Science; the School of Education confers the degree of Bachelor of Education; the Bible College of the Bible confers the degrees of Bachelor of Divinity and Master of Religious Education. T. C. U. has never made a practice of conferring honorary degrees, though in the history of the school 16 men have received L.L. D.'s, and two Doctor of Science degrees have been conferred.

Dr. Lockhart Gets L.L.D.

The last honorary degree which T. C. U. conferred was in 1931, when Dr. Clinton Lockhart was given the title of Doctor of Laws. In 1924, T. C. U. jubilee year, nine L.L.D.'s were conferred and two Doctor of Science degrees. Seven honorary titles of Doctor of Laws were conferred before 1897. These were the last honorary titles until 1924.

Men upon whom the title of Doctor of Laws was conferred in 1924 were Dr. Guy Inman, executive secretary of the Committee on Co-operation in Latin-America; Randolph Clark, one of the founders of T. C. U., the Rev. R. H. Miller, who is now pastor of the National City Christian Church at Washington, D. C.; H. O. Prichard, general secretary of the Board of Education of the Disciples of Christ; the Rev. L. D. Anderson, pastor of the First Christian Church at Fort Worth; President A. D. Harmon, who, in 1924, was president of Transylvania University; the Rev. Hugh McLellan, pastor of the First Christian Church of Winchester, Ky.; Col. Lewis Wortham, who in 1924 was head of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram; and Major K. M. Van Zandt, at that time president of the Fort Worth National Bank.

Two Receive D.S. Degrees

In 1924, Dr. Bacon Saunders, who was the president and founder of the old Fort Worth Medical College, and chairman of the Board of Trustees of Brite College of the Bible, and Dr. J. A. Udden, then head of the Bureau of Economic Geology of the University of Texas and the State of Texas, received honorary titles of Doctors of Science.

Before 1897, T. C. U. conferred L.L.D.'s upon Addison Clark, R. C. Scourrah, J. S. Henderson, J. M. Lindsey, Samuel Naish, G. A. Lewellen and J. B. Sweeney.
