THE SKIFF

Official Student Body Publication of Texas Christian University
FORT WORTH, TEXAS, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 2, 1934.

Beat the Bears,
Frogs!

Special Train Will Bring Baylor Students to T. C. U.

Bears Will Get Warm Welcome To Campus

Clark, Goode, Jarvis Halls to Serve as Headquarters.

Cars Are Arranged

Make Bears Feel at Home," Urged by Jack Langdon, Student President.

A giant parade, a barbecue and an all-student dance will be the order of the day tomorrow as the T. C. U. student body concentrates on welcoming the 600 Baylor supporters, who are coming to Fort Worth on their official student body trip to witness the Frog-Bear football game.

The Baylorites will arrive at the P. & P. station on a special train at 10:30 a. m. tomorrow. A unit of the Horned Frog band will be at the station to greet the visitors.

Downtown Pep Rally

Forming at the railroad station, the Baylor supporters, led by the Golden Wave band, will conduct a parade up Main Street to the Blackstone Hotel, where the pep rally will be held. The Baylor cheer, "Joe College," will be at the head of the procession. From the Blackstone, the Baylorites will advance to the Texas Hotel, where another pep rally will be held. A large portion of the T. C. U. student body will also join in the parade.

Automobiles, bearing "Hop in Bears" stickers, will be provided at the Texas Hotel to transport the visitors to the T. C. U. campus. The Fort Worth Chamber of Commerce, the Junior Chamber of Commerce, the Fort Worth Branch of the Baylor Ex-students' Association, and members of the T. C. U. student body are co-operating in furnishing the transportation for the visitors.

Barbecue at Noon

The Bruin supporters will be served a free barbecue in the University Cafeteria at 12 o'clock. Only the T. C. U. students who attend regularly in the cafeteria will be allowed to participate in the barbecue.

Clark, Good and Jarvis Halls have been designated as official campus headquarters for the visitors. Dormitory students will turn the halls over to the Baylorites for the day.

"Make those Bears feel at home on the campus," Jack Langdon, president of the student body, said in urging students to join in welcoming the guests.

Frog Leaders

Coach Dutch Meyer, (above) and Line Coach Raymond (Bear) Wolf have taken the Frog gridsters through a strenuous series of practice sessions the past week to avoid a repetition of last year's T. C. U.-Baylor contest. A defeat at the hands of the Bears tomorrow will virtually eliminate the Christians from the conference chase, so the Frog coaches are on guard.

Y's to Raise $225 In Cash, Pledges

$400 Is Goal of Drive Now in Second Week

Two hundred and twenty-five dollars in cash and pledges had been collected Wednesday by the "Y's" in their drive to raise $400 to cover expenses for this year, according to Gene Cox, chairman of the finance committee.

The fund will be used to bring several noted speakers to the campus, to improve the "Y" rooms, to send representatives to the conferences, and for several miscellaneous items.

Channing Tobias, nationally known negro Y. M. C. A. worker, has been secured for the Dec. 7 "Y" meeting.

This is the second week of the drive.

Rally to Be Held At 7:30 O'clock

A pep rally in preparation for the Frog-Baylor game will be held at 7:30 o'clock tonight in the University Auditorium, Tom Pickett, head yell leader, has announced. "Those Bears are out to beat us and they're really keyed up for tomorrow's game. T. C. U. students, on the other hand, are prone to take the game too lightly. We'll generate some real pep tonight and take those Bruins tomorrow," Pickett said.

Sophomores to Make Dance Plans Monday

Plans for the sophomore Class Dance will be discussed at a meeting of the class at 10 a. m. Monday in the auditorium. George Wilhelm, president of the class, urges all members to be present.

Women Hear Dr. Ascher

Dr. Margarita Ascher lectured on "The Spanish Regional Novel" at a meeting of the Book Review Department of the Woman's Club yesterday morning.

Chapel Program Will Feature Armistice Day

Dr. Elliott, Walker, and Durrett to Participate.

Addresses Group

Dr. McConley Talks to Student Body on Prison Reform.

A special Armistice Day program will be held Wednesday at the regular chapel hour. Dr. Edwin A. Elliott will be the principal speaker, the devotional services will be conducted by Granville Walker, and John Durrett will discuss "The Peace Pact of Paris." Opening his address with a story of a boy who had had hereditary influence, bad parents, and an unfortunate start in life, Dr. E. C. McConley, pastor of the Morning-side Christian Church and chapel speaker Wednesday morning, gave a brief survey of juvenile penal administration in the world today. His subject was "The Cry of the Pack."

"This boy when he was 12 years old was accused of stealing and was condemned to die," he continued. "He must be hanged" was the cry of the pack then. He said that times have not changed so much today because when a youth commits a crime, the public says that he should be locked up. They say once a criminal, always a criminal. Dr. McConley gave examples of boys who had started out as criminals but who had been taught to be better without being sent to prison.

Rodier Will Play At Woman's Club

To Be Presented in Recital With Miss Clayton at 4 p. m. Sunday.

Bill Rodier, assistant director of the University Orchestra, will be presented in recital at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon in Anna Shelton Hall of the Woman's Club. The concert is the second of a series which will be presented throughout the winter by artists of the Fort Worth Conservatory of Music. Rodier is an instructor of violin at the conservatory.

The recital will be presented jointly with that of Miss Eleanor Clanton, pianist and teacher at the conservatory.

Rodier's program will include the prelude to "Sonata No. 6 in E Minor," by Bach; Grieg's "Sonata No. 3 in C Minor," and "Zigeunerweisen," by Sarasate.

Prof. Keith Mixson will be the accompanist.

Crouch Makes Shrimps Sing, Raven Return

Do shrimps sing? Did anyone ever hear a song of a shrimp?

A. L. Crouch seems to know all about fishy fiestas and just what sort of merry music shrimps and lobsters love. He can tell you all about the exquisite skill with which the shrimp strummed on his hair, got hot-cha cha and patted his foot on his knee.

Why, the shrimp was worse than the Pied Piper of Hamelin (or Mae West.) He lured all the denizens of the deep to his music until Father Neptune censured his song.

Fish aren't the only things A. L. knows about, though. To him ancient history is just a snap. You must admit that Shakespeare didn't handle Caesar half so skillfully as did Mr. Crouch.

He writes something about when Caesar sees his mare running away, after Caesar saw her, Caesar seized her—Oh, what's the use? You'll never understand it 'til you read it, anyway.

This is what the T. C. U. Poetry Society puts up with and likes it. He haunts the place with "Blood," dripping, oozy blood, and graveyards. Poor old Gray and that old country churchyard are positively passe now with Crouch's "Elegy in a Modern Graveyard."

No wonder Poe's raven came back and haunted him; the old bird had to have some more publicity. And he got it labelled "The Return of the Raven." But Crouch kicked him out the door.

Will Make Trip To New Orleans

Band May Have Chartered Bus, Says Sammis.

The Horned Frog Band will go to New Orleans next week to attend the Loyola game, according to an announcement made this week by Prof. Claudis Sammis.

Definite arrangements have not been completed, but the trip will probably be made in a chartered bus.

Church Building to Be Sermon Topic Sunday

"The Meaning of the Church Building" will be the topic of the Rev. Perry E. Gresham's sermon at the morning hour of worship Sunday at the University Christian Church. At that time the Rev. Mr. Gresham will explain the symbolism of the different parts of the church building.

At the evening hour he will speak on the "Religion of Judas Maccabees." This will be the sixth in a series of sermons on the religions of famous men.

Jarvis to Have Recreation Room On First Floor

Hardwood Floor to Be Secured by Donations.

Will Allow Dancing

Dean Beckham to Permit Dances from 5 to 7:30 p. m. on Week Nights.

A recreation room, in which the dormitory students of the University may dance in the evening, will be made from the two rooms just north of the parlor of Jarvis Hall. Dean Sadie T. Beckham has announced. The recreation room will open into the parlor.

Dancing in this room will be permitted from 5 until 7:30 o'clock every evening except Sunday, Mrs. Beckham said.

The girls of Jarvis Hall and others who are interested are asked to donate one plank for the hardwood floor of the room. L. L. Dees, who will supervise the work, has estimated that the entire floor will cost $47.12 and that one plank can be bought for 75 cents. Work on the room will begin Monday.

Those who plan to make contributions are requested to hand them to Misses Grace Maloney, Kathryn Swiley or Phyllis Burnam as soon as possible, but before Christmas at the latest, according to Dean Beckham.

Editor Asks Juniors To Make Pictures

Dramatic Club First to Make Initial Payment on Annual Page.

Juniors may begin having their pictures made for the 1935 Horned Frog today, said Miss Anna Byrd Harness, editor.

Sophomores are freshmen who have not had their pictures made are urged to do so at once, because class pictures are essential to a good yearbook, Miss Harness stated. At the present time only 35 per cent of the members of the freshman class have had their pictures made.

The Dramatic Club was the first club to make the initial payment on its club page, the business manager of the annual reports. Miss Harness also added that every freshman girl in Jarvis Hall has had her picture made for the Frogette page in the yearbook.

Dr. Smith to Speak To Dallas Alumnae

Dr. Rebecca Smith will give a book review a week from today for the Dallas T. C. U. Alumnae group at the Lake View Country Club in Dallas. She will review "Foolscap Rose," by Joseph Hergeheimer. The proceeds of the affair will go to the scholarship fund. Mrs. Flake Z. Williams, the former Miss Bes Douthite, is sponsoring the review.

Bruin Mentors

Coach Morley Jennings (above), Baylor mentor, and Line Coach Barton (Botchey) Koch will bring a determined Bruin team to Fort Worth tomorrow. Koch was rated as an All-American while playing guard for the green and gold in 1931.

Poll to Speak on Radio Program

Concluding his series of four lectures on religion, Dr. W. C. Morro will speak on "Religion and Life" at 4 p. m. Sunday over KTAT, the regular T. C. U. program hour.

Elton Beene will play a trumpet solo and the Girls' Violin Trio will play a group of selections.

The Youth's Forum will present as guest speaker Richard Poll who will talk on "Munitions" on the regular weekly program sponsored by the International Relations Club of the University Monday night at 9 o'clock over station KFJZ.

Last Monday night Joe Findley spoke on the "College Student's Attitude Toward Religion."

Lions' Club Hears Trio

The T. C. U. Girls' Trio, a violin trio, composed of Misses Ruth Duncan, Dorothy Lynn Taylor and Mildred Rice, played for the weekly luncheon of the Lions' Club Wednesday. Miss Lucille Snyder is accompanist.

600 Golden Bear Supporters Are Expected to Attend Game At Frog Stadium Tomorrow

Band and Bear Mascot to Lead Parade From Station to Blackstone and Texas Hotels For Pep Meetings.

By HARRY PROVENCE

Special to The Skiff
WACO, Texas, Nov. 2. — A special train will carry about six hundred Baylor students and Waco fans to Fort Worth Saturday to witness the clash between the Baylor University Golden Bears and the T. C. U. Horned Frogs. The event will be carried off in the most colorful pageantry that the fertile minds of the Baylor pep leaders and the bandmaster can devise. The University authorities have designated this trip as the official trip this year, and all forces of the school will be bent toward making the show a complete success.

"T" Men Meet To Plan Dance

Jimmy Jacks Names Groups to Make Preparations.

Plans for the Homecoming Dance—Nov. 17 were discussed at the regular meeting of the "T" Association Tuesday night. The following committees were appointed by Jimmy Jacks, president: "T" Association Committee: General chairman, Mark Hart; assistant general chairman, Fred Miller.

The Golden Wave Band put on a colorful show last Saturday between halves. But the leaders and the drum major have announced that the convolutions which the 70-piece, golden suited band will go through this week-end will make their past efforts look weak, indeed. In departure from the style followed last year, the band only has one drum major leading the van. The baton-twirler is Flavy Davis, from Marlin. He has the art of stick-tossing down to a fine point. The band sweetheart, Miss Josephine May, will probably walk with Davis most of the time.

Golden Wave Band One of Best
The Golden Wave is one of the best and flashiest college bands in Texas. It swings through its formations of letters and signs with never a break in the music. Seventy pieces will be carried to Fort Worth.

Leading the way for the band will be the big Baylor bear. He is known about the campus as Joe College. He stays in comparative seclusion most of the year until football season opens, but when the beat of drums is heard from the band hall, Joe shakes himself out of his lethargy and makes ready to go. Led by his caretaker, Bill Boyd, the big black animal swings along in front of the parade with the ease and grace of a circus bear.

The students who make the trip will form in line behind the band and the bear when the Union Station is reached, and parade to the Blackstone Hotel. After a short yell practice there, the procession will move on to the Texas Hotel. (Continued on Page 3)

Hutton Attends Meet Registrars of Texas Convene at San Antonio.

Registrar S. Hutton attended the fourteenth annual state convention of the Texas Branch of the American Association of Collegiate Registrars held last Friday and Saturday in San Antonio.

Headquarters for the meeting were at the St. Anthony Hotel. Registrars from all the colleges and universities in Texas attended the assembly.

Dr. J. R. Robinson from George Peabody College of Teachers in Nashville, Tenn., was the guest speaker at the Saturday morning session. Saturday afternoon the delegates were taken on a sight-seeing tour of the historic missions and colorful spots in and around San Antonio, including a visit to Randolph Field.

Hutton is chairman of the resolutions committee of the group. Special music was offered during the convention by students from Incarnate Word, Westmoreland and Our Lady of the Lake schools in San Antonio.

D. A. Sherley, registrar at West Texas State Teachers' College and Durwood Pruden, registrar at Kidd-Key College, both alumni of T. C. U. attended the meeting, Hutton said.

Hammond to Address Meliorists on Peace

Dr. W. J. Hammond will address members of the Meliorist Club at 8:45 o'clock Sunday evening. His subject will be "Heroic Endeavors for Peace."

A social hour following Dr. Hammond's speech will be in charge of Miss Kathryn Swiley. John Morphis talked on the "Tennessee Valley Project" at the last meeting of the club.

Welcome, Baylor!

WELCOME BAYLOR

The President, the faculty, and the Board of Trustees and the entire student body extend a hearty welcome to you today. As our guests we turn over to you the keys of the campus and our hearts. Make yourselves very much at home in our halls, our library, and our dormitories. Enjoy with us an old-fashioned barbecue in the dining room at the noon luncheon hour. What an opportunity for comradeship this will afford!

Welcome especially to that classic clash at the stadium in the afternoon. This will be the glorious event of the whole day. We admire the red blooded heroic qualities of your squad. For nearly forty years T. C. U. and Baylor have met in these great annual classics. Through the years the honors have been pretty evenly divided. The contestants have always carried on these frays with honor. Today bids fair to be one of the most colorful clashes of all the years. T. C. U. feels honored that you have chosen this as your official student body trip and that we have not only the team but the entire student body as our guests today.

We hope every hour in Frogland will bring joy and happiness to you and whether the gods send victory or defeat, educationally these two great institutions will move on to the mighty task of building truth, honor, and great ideals in the hearts and lives of the youth of this and oncoming generations. In our work as well as in our play we welcome you not as enemies but as friendly rivals and colleagues. In this heroic struggle we feel the contagion of a glowing enthusiasm, the thrill of a mighty dramatic struggle and the joy of a great adventure.

We welcome you as friends and colleagues in this comradeship today.—President E. M. Waits.

Frogland Greet You!

To the Baylor University supporters, the Student Council, on behalf of the entire student body of T. C. U., wishes to express its sincere greetings. We feel justly proud that the Baylor student body has chosen to visit T. C. U. on its official trip this year, and we are doing everything in our power to make the day a memorable one for you. Make yourselves at home on the campus—it is yours. All the dormitories have been designated as your official headquarters and are at your disposal.

Tomorrow afternoon on the grid-iron a friendly rivalry of more than 30 years' duration will be renewed when the Horned Frogs meet the Golden Bears. Baylor holds a slight edge in the all-time record between the two institutions and both teams will be fighting for all they are worth.

Whatever the final outcome of the game may be, the same spirit of sportsmanship that has always exemplified the relationship between the two schools, will be in evidence tomorrow. May the best team win.

In recalling the fine spirit Baylor showed in welcoming the Frog supporters to Waco last year, the student body has spared no effort in preparing a great day for you.—Jack Langdon, Student Body President.

WHAT'S WHERE

The grand old man of the screen, George Arliss, fresh from his triumph in the "House of Rothschild," returns to the Hollywood screen today in "The Last Gentleman." In this, his latest starring vehicle, Arliss turns from the field of drama to comedy. He plays the part of Cabot Barr, a tyrannical, but good-hearted old widower who first drives family from his household and then brings them back in the hope of finding one he deems worthy of being his heir.

The Worth will offer "The Merry Widow" tomorrow. This Ernst Lubitsch production stars Maurice Chevalier and Jennette McDonald. Edward Everett Horton and Una Merkel will lend comedy to the picture. The singing of several songs, including "The Merry Widow Waltz," will be the main feature of the show.

Continuing its policy of bringing back some of the biggest hits, the Palace will offer "Now and Forever" tomorrow. The winsome Shirley Temple steals the show, which stars Gary Cooper and Carole Lombard. Short subjects on the program will include an Our Gang Comedy and a Willie Whopper cartoon. Wednesday's offering will be "I'll Sell Anything," with Pat O'Brien.

The screen version of Robert Louis Stevenson's immortal classic, "Treasure Island," will be shown on the Majestic screen tomorrow. Principals are Jackie Cooper, Wallace Beery, Lionel Barrymore and Lewis Stone. Edward Everett Horton in "Uncertain Lady," is the other half of the double bill.

What do you Think?

Each week several students, chosen at random, will be asked to express their views on questions pertaining to campus life and current events. Students are asked to submit questions on which they want the expression of student opinion to members of the Skiff staff.

Should Horned Frog popularity queens be elected more than once?

Hubert Stem—Yes, it is a popularity contest and if they are popular enough to get elected more than once, they should be allowed to have the honor.

Jimmie Jacks—I think that they ought to be allowed to run if they are still popular the second, third, and fourth years because if they weren't there would be six girls excluded from the contest by the time each class reached its senior year.

Patsy Miller—I don't think the queens of former years should be elected again because it doesn't seem fair. I think other girls should be given a chance.

Betty Threlkeld—"No. Once should be enough."

Judith Witherspoon—"No. The honor is a lasting one and should be passed around to different girls."

Lon Beavers—"I think a girl should be ineligible for a popularity page after she has won it once. The winning of a page is just an honor, anyway, and I think it should be passed around."

John Knowles—"The number of beautiful girls in T. C. U. is limited. If a girl has the qualifications to win a beauty page and deserves it she should have it."

Pen Slips

A pickrel sang as he swam through the sea
And strummed on the strings of his hair;
He accompanied himself with a reckless glee,
Yet warbled each note with care,
He rhythmically patted his foot on his knee,
To a tune that was lucious and limp,
For he played and he sang
With a tremulous twang
The delicate song of the Shrimp.

And a lobster that slept in the oozy slime
That covered the ocean bed,
Awoke to the strains of the musical rhyme,
That tenderly slid through her head;
And beginning to waver her whiskers in time,
(And entirely forgetting to primp)
She decided to run
And join in the fun
Of singing the Song of the Shrimp.

By hundreds and thousands the multitudes came
From the furthest depths of the deep,
For the melody set all their spirits aflame,
And its tenderness moved them to weep;
And when they had gathered their thoughts were the same,
Which moves men to croon
To the innocent moon.

The Future of Dancing

T. C. U. students have worked long and arduously for the privilege of dancing on the campus.

Though it took years to have the right granted, it would take but a few minutes and a few false moves on the part of the students to have the privilege taken away. Following the Freshman Prom, first official dance under the broadened social policy at T. C. U., criticism was received.

It is up to the student body to show those outside forces that T. C. U. knows how to conduct a dance in the right way. It stands to reason that T. C. U. students will be allowed to continue the dancing privilege as long as the right spirit is demonstrated at the affairs.

The first official Saturday-night dance, sponsored by the student council, will be held in the Basketball Gymnasium tomorrow night. It is imperative that this dance go off smoothly, because on its outcome hinges the fate of subsequent dances on the campus. The dance tomorrow night must be entirely free from any display of rowdiness.

Each student in the University is allowed to bring one outside guest to the affair tomorrow night and is to be personally responsible for the guest's conduct.

The future of dancing on the campus is in your hands, students.

Hero vs. Enemy

Webster defines an enemy as "one who cherishes resentment or malicious purpose toward another; an adversary, and a foe." A hero he identifies as "a man of valor, fortitude, and bold enterprise."

Can a man be both at the same time? The definitions in themselves show the difference, but the words that are implied in these definitions are still a stronger line of demarcation. The word hero implies praise, exaltation, sometimes worship. The word enemy implies hatred, fear, condemnation and ridicule.

Of course the newspaper in its desire to give to its readers accurate news account of the outstanding happenings throughout the world prints stories of both kinds—in an unbiased manner in their news columns. But recently when the story of the killing of "Pretty Boy" Floyd broke, thousands of lines of copy went through the various departments of the papers and with the result of a front page containing approximately 60 per cent Floyd news.

Such a display would not have been given a national hero. But a Public enemy No. 1 such as Floyd proved himself to be broke into banner heads, long columns and art of various kinds throughout the nation. The conservative make-up of the Kansas City Times came out with boldface type headlines on the story.

People have always desired to see themselves in the news, and some even go as far as to create some freak way of "crashing" the papers everyday. To become an hated foe seems to be a sure way of accomplishing this desire.

Perhaps it might be well for the public to change in its craving for crime news and thereby influence the papers in their ideas of heroes and enemies and praise and condemnation.

Out of The Past

By MARGARET BERRY

One Year Ago Today—
The agony of that special form of torture known as mid-semester exams was almost over and the students were preparing to use the all-powerful ballot in selecting 16 beauty candidates for pages in the Horned Frog.

Baylor held the spotlight at this time but the scene of the battle was in the Bears' own territory with a special round-trip rate of one dollar being offered to those students desiring to make the trek. But—

Five Years Ago—
A really big event was about to take place—the powers that be decided to keep the library open at night! Imagine if you can the thrill that such an announcement must have sent over every student. However, it was just an experiment and if it was found that the students didn't really want it for study purposes it would be closed again. They must have proved their studious intentions, at least during the experimental period, since we still enjoy the privilege of night study. Detecting—

Ten Years Ago—
We find that the Junior class was playing host to the rest of the campus by entertaining with a variety circus. According to the society editor, the purpose was to provide social life for those students who were still irate over the abolishing of literary societies.

The first band uniforms were secured by contributions of students and the band was assured of getting them by Nov. 11. The campaign started in chapel with a fiery speech by Irwin Montgomery after which he pledged $5 to the cause and the entire student body followed suit with various amounts. Still detecting—

Fifteen Years Ago—
Our eye is caught by a front-page boxed editorial on school spirit which was evidently lacking that year.

Also, we notice that T. C. U. had a bar association and initiated prominent members of the law department. It was one of the largest campus organizations at this time.

In headlines big and black we see the announcement that the Christian Churches of the state started a drive to raise money for the construction of a University Christian Church.

TWITTERS
By A. J. BYRD

Greetings, howdy, and a couple of hellos to all you boys and gals that have read this far. The editor of this sheet (Mr. Editor to you) has agreed to let me use about one sixty-fourth of his paper to talk to you all each week. The purpose, if any, of this column is to give the general opinion prevalent on the campus on student questions, to observe a little, to gossip a little, and to give half of it to contributions from you on any subject of campus importance in the form of putrid poetry, pithy puns, or plain English. So if any of you doesn't like it you can write at least half of it yourself. Fair enough?

It wouldn't be natural for any commentor on this campus to overlook the fact of the new social regime. The W. Hey Hey gals really did themselves proud the other night with all the moon-glow n' everything and the music of our varsity orchestra, the Varsityites, yah suh. And the bids to the Halcyon club dance! Weren't they somepin'!

We hear that Joe Sargent has not as yet found a job on any of the local newspapers. Maybe he's waiting for Brother Ben to get that sheepskin and then they can start a publishing company or red hot news sheet of Sargent and Sargent incorporated (with apologies to Amos n' Andy). Not a bad idea at that boys!

Wonder why everyone just seems to want to talk in the library. Could it be because of those "Silence" signs stuck all around. Saw one poor student driven to the steps with his books the other day. Looks like the more work you have to do the more people that seem to want to "bull" and it's all interesting too. That's the trouble.

All in a day's scrambling: Special compensations; Dr. Morro's class lecture-sermons, Tiny Godwin's drawl, Dot Luyster's friendly "What can I do for you," Jones Bacus's grin, Katherine Edwards' walk.

Pet peeves; Campus Don Juans in general and Lon Beavers in particular, pop tests, managing people, football players who get to cut class once a week usually, Gaines Sparks' continual A plus on tests.

And with those parting shots, the pride and joy of the Byrd family, Abner Jeremiah, signs off for this time and don't forget those contributions, my fr-i-e-n-d-s, Didja h-e-a-r me?

Beat the Bears!

A smouldering rivalry—one that has existed since T. C. U. was located in Waco—will burst into flames tomorrow afternoon when the Frogs meet the Baylor Bears.

The Baylor student body, 700 or 800 strong, will be on the campus tomorrow to cheer the Bruin team to a victory over the Frogs. At least, that is what they hope to do.

The Bruins would rather beat the Frogs than any other team in the conference, and have the habit of doing just that thing when the Christians least expect it. Still stinging from the 7-to-0 defeat handed them by the Bears last year in Waco, the Frogs are out for revenge.

The Baylor student body, as well as the team, is keyed up for tomorrow's game, and the green and gold supporters have their eyes set on a Bruin victory.

The visitors will arrive in Fort Worth at 10:30 o'clock in the morning and will remain on the campus all day. They will be honored with a special T. C. U.-Baylor dance in the Basketball gymnasium tomorrow night. Treat them royally while they are here, students—give them free rein of the campus—do everything you can to make their defeat easier for them to bear.

Spare the Decorations

Students may not realize it but it costs quite a bit of money to decorate the Basketball Gymnasium for a dance.

The decorations, though they are not permanent fixtures, can be made to last for several dances if the students will co-operate in preserving them. Each time a dance is held there are a few thoughtless students who pull the colored streamers off the walls.

Remember, your money was spent in purchasing those decorations.

Langland to Be Host To Baylor Boosters

By KATHRYN EDWARDS
This time tomorrow morning there'll be a lot of strange faces among us. There'll probably be a lot of foreign cries "Beat those Frogs," "Trounce the Toads," and numerous other concocted slogans typifying Baylor's enthusiasm for victory on the gridiron tomorrow afternoon about 2:30 o'clock.

Green and Gold will be mingled with our own Purple and White. The combination is due to clash in usual warfare down in the field as well as on the field. Just keep that big Brown Bear in mind, just so the result is not as last year at Carroll Field. "We won't care how hot the sun is, nor what the color scheme is as long as purple and white is dominating color. We are pre-determined that our colors will shine in the stands, but which will glitter on the gridiron is yet to be answered.

Whatever the result, we want to make the Bruin supporters feel at home while they're here and we're glad that they selected Langland for their official student trip. With the arrival of the train at 10:45 o'clock tomorrow morning, everyone who can possibly get away should be on hand to welcome the fans in fine style. Of course an official welcoming committee will be there, the more the merrier, etc. You can't get away without your students with cars, remember dormitory students when you get out for the station. We must operate in order to represent true spirit for which this school is widely known. We'll be waiting for you in the morning—don't forget—10:45 at the Union Station.

We hear that our friends from the city are having the same kind of special that we had for so many years. We are ready to extend "most heartfelt sympathies" to those who are sorry that our new social facilities cannot be enjoyed tomorrow night in an official capacity. Maybe some of the following will ask and come unofficially after the fact. Seems to us what's good for a "Bruin" is good for a "Baylor," but then... we may be wrong.

Since we didn't get to "look in" at the Halcyon Club dance Halloween night, we can't spread the news very far, and what's worse, we can't give you the choicest bits of gossip that is said to have leaked around in the form of asked dancers and Hallowe'en goblins.

The guest list included many of the campus notables and seemed to be representative of a particular group. A certain stag was asked for a disappointed co-ed sought a second choice. She couldn't be done!

Glancing around out at Arlington Downs Tuesday afternoon we saw Helen Ruth Umbenhout looking smart in a sporty orange and brown plaid... Jinks Powell eyes the fillies and the studs as they came from the paddocks... Smith concentrating over the race sheets and the official odds being posted... Ex-student Francis La Rue with a group of friends... Jack Langdon behind one of the mutual windows ready to do business... and Slim Kinzy planning to place a last minute bet... and best of all, we saw our own come in... in the money... for a change!

Baylor Trip

Fort Worth citizens will see the famous "Bear-Prance" marching step used by the Baylor students in all their parades. This step is beautiful to watch.

Train to Arrive at 10:30 A. M.
The special train will leave Waco at 8:15 o'clock Saturday morning where more yells will be given and arrive in Fort Worth at 10:30 o'clock. The return journey will start from Fort Worth at 7:30 p. m., and the crowd will arrive in Waco at 10 o'clock that evening.

The spirit and preparation of the students has not outdone that of the football team. The coaches and trainers have driven the players hard all week with the effort to upset the dope and bring home a victory over the Frogs. A pleasing amount of improvement has been evidenced in the play of the team in practice sessions, and Baylor fans are hoping that the Bears will outdo all their past efforts this season and trim the T. C. U. eleven in decisive fashion.

Saturday will indeed be a gala day, and the University is looking forward to it with much anticipation.

Ziegler Sees Nature in Many Moods During Stay in Ozarks

"Nature is like a man in many respects. She has her moods just as we do."

Thus observed Prof. S. P. Ziegler this week in reviewing his experiences on a week's sketching trip in August to the Ozark hills. The observation on nature was made in regard to his experiences on the last day of his stay in the hills.

"The summer had been unusually dry, but on this particular day it was cloudy and there were frequent hard showers," the professor said.

Ziegler, with his son, Vincent, as his chauffeur, had gone out early in the morning to spend a final day of sketching. Food and water had been put in the automobile and the back seat of the car made into a sort of studio. The artists had gone out to study nature. Man and civilization were forgotten for the time being.

"On this day I saw nature in several of her moods," the artist-instructor said. "I saw her pouting. Then she started to cry. After while she stopped crying and her face started to brighten up. The sun shone through the clouds and the dreary period was over."

These different moods are vividly portrayed in the series of six sketches made by Ziegler that day. Twenty sketches were made during the week's stay in this territory. The entire week was spent driving through the mountains and stopping at various points in order that the artist might sketch scenes of interest.

The finished sketches present vivid illustrations of the works of nature in the Ozarks. They also give glimpses into the fast-fading traditional life of the Arkansas hillbilly, who is being pushed into oblivion by the innovation of new ideas and scientific developments.

"Until a short time ago the Ozark country was said to be the one place in America which was untouched by modern civilization," Ziegler said. "This condition is steadily changing. New roads are being built. Automobiles are coming into use. Trucks are replacing the old horse-drawn wagons."

One sketch illustrating this point shows a general store with

'Strange as It Seems' Cartoon Features Tiner

Otha Tiner, former Frog football player, is featured in one of John Hix's "Strange as It Seems" cartoons, to be released tomorrow.

Tiner's record in a game against the Texas Aggies in 1932 is featured in the cartoon. The blond Frog back was in the contest for three plays and scored on every play without ever touching the ball. The Christians beat the Cadets, 17 to 0, and Tiner annexed five of the points. He made all of these from placement, making one field goal and converting twice after touchdowns.

Prof. J. Willard Ridings sent the photograph and information about Tiner to Hix last December.

Tells Causes For Failures By Students

Article Gives Reasons Why Only One-third Finish College.

Written by Small

Financial Difficulties Cause 50 Per Cent to Drop Out of School.

Every fall thousands of high school graduates find their way to the various college campuses scattered over the nation. When they start out on their mission, the great majority at least, have but one purpose in mind—that of getting an education. Presumably, by the very nature of the educational system, their mission will take at least four years of their life. Statistics show, however, that fewer than one-third of those who enter college in the fall stay with the task long enough to complete the job.

Prof. George D. Small of the Kansas State Teachers' College, Pittsburg, Kan., discusses the reasons for this condition in the Sept. 16 issue of the Front Rank in an article entitled, "Why Make a Failure of Your College Career?" "This article is written upon the assumption that if students knew before entering college, or early in their college career, the reasons why so many make a failure of the adventure, many of these errors could be avoided," Prof. Small stated. The article continues:

It is natural that we should pause here and ask what happens to the other two-thirds? What caused them to abandon their plans to give up the idea of getting a college education? One suspects at the very outset that many of those who "failed" in their undertaking did so because it could not be avoided. Young people are not in the habit of giving up easily especially when such an important problem as a college education is involved. "Going to college" has been one of their dreams for so long that nothing short of a major crisis in their life could force them to give it up without dire after effects.

Reason Listed

Experts in the field of education who have investigated the causes of student failures attribute the high mortality rate to the following causes:

1. Lack of understanding on the part of the new student of what college life will be like.—Because of preconceived notions obtained from such sources as (1) picture shows, (2) books about college life, (3) talks made at high school assemblies by returning college students, (4) stories of college alumni, (5) occasional visits to the campus in which only the "best" is seen, and (6) one's own imagination, high school students often conjure pictures about college life which are utterly false and which call for adjustment problems which they are not prepared to make.

2. Lack of ability on the part of the student to do satisfactory college work.—This in turn is due to (1) mental inadequacy, (2) failure to learn how to study before entering college, and (3) poor foundation work in such subjects as mathematics, English, and the various physical sciences.

3. Financial handicaps.

4. A sudden loss of interest for college education due to (1) selection of the wrong college, (2) loss of incentive because of selecting the wrong course, (3) desire for early marriage, (4) failure to make real friends, (5) a job presents itself which promises much for the immediate future—"college" can come later, although it seldom does, (6) lack of patience. The first two years usually bring courses of a general nature which the student feels contribute little to his major interests. Consequently, he often does not have the patience to stick it out until he gets to more satisfying courses, (7) failure to see where college is making any real contribution to one's life, (8) disappointment in finding that college is not what one expected it to be.

5. Emotional immaturity or emotional instability due to (1) homesickness, (2) fear of failure and disgrace, (3) fear of not getting a job after graduation, (4) being thwarted in love, (5) disappointment in not making a fraternity, (6) encompassing personal problems, such as worry over financial problems, family problems, etc.

6. Distracting outside influences such as (1) athletics, fraternity or sorority affairs, excessive dating, etc., (2) a student of office which takes too much time from studies, (3) being forced to spend too much time earning one's way through college.

7. Ill health.

8. Lack of ability to make satisfactory adjustment to college life through, (1) inability to "settle one's time properly and otherwise regulate one's own life.

9. Unsympathetic attitude of parents and relatives due to (1) a failure on the part of the parents to appreciate the value of a college education, (2) need at home to help support the family, (3) fear for moral and spiritual welfare of their offspring.

10. Moral delinquency which brings (1) confusion and worry distracts from studies and, in extreme cases, causes (2) expulsion and disgrace.

The author has been presented, during the past six years, with an opportunity to study at first hand one hundred and thirty-seven cases of students leaving school before the semester was completed and, while each of the causes listed above was represented, in these cases the majority of them fell under four general divisions as follows:

Finances Cause More Trouble

1. Financial reasons.—This comprises at least 50 per cent of all the cases, and yet it is extremely difficult to know in each instance whether finances was a reason or an excuse. Other problems enter into all cases with such regularity that no single factor can be called the only contributing factor. For instance, three boys who left school during the first semester because of finances spent the entire amount which they had set aside for their first year in school before the first semester of the year was over. Students must learn to discipline themselves in the spending of money if they are to avoid embarrassing personal problems. The college campus is a center of many fads and fancies which no other group would tolerate; consequently it is necessary to distinguish between the essential and non-essential. If students are on their own resources and forced to make decisions which they are not used to making, they are likely to run into financial difficulty at the very first. Here are a few suggestions.

Suggestions Offered

a) Budget your allowance. The following items should be allowed for: tuition; books and needed equipment; laboratory fees; class dues; (These items will all come at the beginning of each semester or quarter). Other items are: clothes; room rent; meals; laundry; entertainment; miscellaneous (magazines, fountain drinks, dates); illness; school paper; and year book.

b) At the end of each day make a note in a small ledger of every cent that you have spent during the day. Go over these frequently.

c) Compare your expenditures with those of other students.

d) Be frank with your parents about finances. Enclose your expense account in your letters at the end of each month. This will offer a check on excessive spending.

e) Keep your pride under control. Do not buy "things" just because other students have them. Do not be taken up by fads which have no lasting value just to appear collegiate.

f) Talk over your finances with a member of the faculty the minute you find yourself getting into difficulty.

g) Do not live beyond your means. It encourages bad habits and undermines your character by making you act a part that you cannot live up to.

2) Do not join a fraternity or sorority unless you can afford it. Homesickness 'Mental Hazard.'

2. Emotional instability and emotional immaturity due mainly to homesickness.—Surprising as it may seem this factor catches one of the largest groups of students. The author is convinced that a goodly percentage of the students who said "finances" was their reason for leaving college used this factor purely as an excuse. The real reason was homesickness. It is not something to be sneered at for it represents a "mental hazard" which all students who are away from home for the first time must combat. It usually reaches a crisis period over the first weekend. But there is this consolation also, it usually runs its course even in the most extreme cases within a period of three weeks. It is aggravated tremendously by oversympathetic parents. They should not give the least encouragement to the student to return home. In at least half of the cases

Has Two Articles Published

Prof. J. Willard Ridings is the author of an article in the October issue of The American Press, published in New York City, entitled, "About 'Throwaways.'" "Throwaways" is the newspaperman's term for any type of publication that is distributed free. The article discusses the various uses to which they are put. Prof. Ridings also had an article on "Building Circulation" in the July issue of the same magazine.

coming under the author's observation parents went so far as to drive to the campus to take their offspring home. There is no absolute antidote, but these suggestions will help if followed.

a) Think of yourself as a mature person capable and controlling your emotions without the help of outsiders. Force feelings of homesickness out of your mind when they arise. Refuse to give way to self-pity.

b) Keep busy with your studies. Spend your time at the library.

c) Spend much time in the company of other people.

d) Avoid going to bed before you are "dead tired."

e) Eat regularly and get lots of exercise—always in the company of other people.

Some Are Disappointed

3. Disappointment as to what college would be like.—The author asked a group of freshman students who had been on a college campus two full months this suggestion: How many of you found college to be extremely different from what you expected it to be—so much so that it has created a special problem for you? All but two students in a group of sixty-three held up their hands. In the discussion which followed, it was disclosed that few students in the group had realized that class work would be so difficult. From moving pictures which pictured glamorous fraternity and sorority affairs, from stories told by parents and relatives of their college experiences, from novels which portrayed the social life of the campus almost exclusively, and from occasional visits for the purpose of viewing an athletic contest or attending a debate tournament or probably a week-end at a fraternity house where "all the fellows were on their good behavior, they had gathered the impression that college was going to be one grand round of social events after another. They were disappointed in discovering that these week-end interludes made up only a small part of the average student's life. This called for an adjustment which many failed to make before the first semester was almost over—with the result that many failed before, as one youth put it: "They got next to themselves." Probably the only thing that could save them was a new beginning. Many drop out without giving themselves this second chance. Here again let me make a few suggestions.

a) Enter college with a definite purpose as to your vocation and as to what goals you want to achieve in life. Do not let anything interfere with your accomplishing your purpose and your goals.

b) Form the habit of thinking of the "week-end part" of college life as the extra something tossed in for recreation and diversion. Remember that when the movies, writers and old grads picture college life to you they are portraying only the high lights—events that stand out in their college career.

c) Form the habit of preparing for your classroom and laboratory periods each day. Do not get behind. It is a well known psychological fact that students who get a "kick" out of college prepare for each lesson each day before anything else interferes. When they appear at class they are always poised and confident. Students who hate college are those who never prepare. Instead of being poised and confident they are fearful and ill at ease. Try it—it makes a difference.

Hard for Some to Adjust

4. Lack of ability to make a satisfactory adjustment to college life.—For convenience three problems listed under other divisions in the outline will be cited here.

a) The pull of outside activities. As soon as a new student hits the campus, he is beset by a multitude of problems all of which involve making decisions which have a tremendously important bearing on the rest of his college career. These decisions in most instances must be made quickly, the student is given little time to find advice. Past experiences avail him little or nothing. Fraternities and sororities, for instance, will want you to join. Then there will be other student organizations and clubs seeking your membership. It is estimated that every campus has on the average of eighty different extracurricular activities which are

Old-Time foe, Baylor, Defeated Before Crowd of 950 In 1904

Students of T. C. U. really had something to be thankful for way back in 1904 on Nov. 26, Thanksgiving Day. They defeated their old-time foe, Baylor University, in a hotly contested football game before a crowd of 950 spectators.

Being the only victory during the season and the first time T. C. U. had even won from Baylor, the 5 to 0 game created much spirit among the student body, as revealed from excerpts taken from The Skiff files of 1904:

The following paragraphs concerning the game itself are noted: "T. C. U. kicked off at exactly 3:39 o'clock. Several times during the first half Baylor's goal was in danger and twice the ball was inside of the Baylor-3-yard line, and only one time after the kick-off was the ball out of Baylor's territory. The half ended 0 to 0.

"The Baylor team held T. C. U. on the 2-foot line near the end of the second half when Baylor was forced to kick. Frizzel blocked the attempt while Martin fell on the ball behind the goal post. The contest ended 5 to 0.

"You may wonder at the count, but remember that back in those days a touchdown only totaled five points.

Our own "Mr. Pete" Wright, who played right guard was the outstanding player during the afternoon and received much praise from the Skiff reporter.

"Loy C. Wright showed up well with his spectacular punting and deserves special mention for his fine play during the game," the scribe says.

"Sympathy was pretty evenly divided among the spectators from the city," is one of the sidelights noted from the game. You see, both Baylor and T. C. U. were both located at Waco then.

T. C. U. played Baylor three times during 1904 and on the two previous occasions tied one and lost one. In the opening game of the season, Oct. 1, the score was a 0 to 0 tie played at Carroll Field. On Nov. 12, two weeks before the Thanksgiving Day game,

Visitors Will Be Honored at Luncheon, Open House, and Dance.

Key men and representatives from every T. C. U. graduating class are being appointed to help in preparations for the Homecoming Day celebration Nov. 17, Mrs. Charles Stephens, state president of the Alumni and Ex-Students' Association, has announced.

Local chairmen are also being appointed in each of 25 or 30 Texas towns to direct plans and promote interest among exes in the towns, Mrs. Stephens said. The class having the largest attendance at the rally will be officially recognized.

The program for the day will be in charge of the University administration, the State Alumni and Ex-Students' Association and the student body.

The central committee on arrangements met Tuesday afternoon to make plans for the celebration. The committee is composed of President E. M. Waits, Dean Colby D. Hall, L. C. Wright, Jack Langdon and Mrs. Stephens.

Roy G. Tomlinson, a member of the class of 1912, is chairman of the official welcoming committee. The tentative program will open with a pep meeting on Friday evening, Nov. 16. Saturday morning an informal gathering of ex-students and alumni will be held in the Administration Building. The exes will be divided into three groups: Ex-Students of Add-Ran College, ex-students of the old T. C. U. at Waco, and the ex-students of the present T. C. U. in Fort Worth.

A luncheon will be served in the University Cafeteria at noon. An informal program will be presented. There will be no speeches. Admission will be 50 cents. The highlight of the day will be the football game between T. C. U. and the University of Texas. An informal open house will be held in Jarvis Hall preceding the basketball gymnasium on day evening. The dance, sponsored by the "T" Association, will complete the festivities.

Plans Started For Homecoming Day Activities

Tomlinson to Head Welcoming Committee.

Game Is Highlight

Visitors Will Be Honored at Luncheon, Open House, and Dance.

Key men and representatives from every T. C. U. graduating class are being appointed to help in preparations for the Homecoming Day celebration Nov. 17, Mrs. Charles Stephens, state president of the Alumni and Ex-Students' Association, has announced.

Local chairmen are also being appointed in each of 25 or 30 Texas towns to direct plans and promote interest among exes in the towns, Mrs. Stephens said. The class having the largest attendance at the rally will be officially recognized.

The program for the day will be in charge of the University administration, the State Alumni and Ex-Students' Association and the student body.

The central committee on arrangements met Tuesday afternoon to make plans for the celebration. The committee is composed of President E. M. Waits, Dean Colby D. Hall, L. C. Wright, Jack Langdon and Mrs. Stephens.

Roy G. Tomlinson, a member of the class of 1912, is chairman of the official welcoming committee. The tentative program will open with a pep meeting on Friday evening, Nov. 16. Saturday morning an informal gathering of ex-students and alumni will be held in the Administration Building. The exes will be divided into three groups: Ex-Students of Add-Ran College, ex-students of the old T. C. U. at Waco, and the ex-students of the present T. C. U. in Fort Worth.

A luncheon will be served in the University Cafeteria at noon. An informal program will be presented. There will be no speeches. Admission will be 50 cents. The highlight of the day will be the football game between T. C. U. and the University of Texas. An informal open house will be held in Jarvis Hall preceding the basketball gymnasium on day evening. The dance, sponsored by the "T" Association, will complete the festivities.

Baylor Game Promises to Be Crucial Affair

Team Must Win to Keep in Conference Race. Tough at Halfback

Attack Duel Will Feature Tomorrow's Contest.

By PAUL DONOVAN

JUST about the whole Baylor student body is coming up here tomorrow to help those Bears take the Frogs again. It is doubtful if there is anything that gives the Wacoans more pleasure than seeing their team come out ahead of T. C. U. They have had that pleasure quite a few times in the last few years, too. Too often if you ask any of the Frogs.

One thing is certain, the Frogs are not taking the game lightly. T. C. U. teams in the past have been guilty of that very thing, and always they have paid dearly for it. This year Coach Meyer and all his lads have been concentrating on the Baylor game; they know they are in for a battle and they are prepared to return the fight. We will be more than glad to entertain the Baylorites on the campus, but at the stadium we hope the situation will be reversed. We might let them gain a few yards and do a little sidestepping, but only at the dance, not in the game.

Just what does one want or look for in a sport column such as this is supposed to be? That's a question that's hard to answer. There are several different styles employed by sport writers today, showing that readers' tastes vary. Let's see now, if I try them all, it's bound to please somebody.

One type of sport writing is the purely personal style: I think that I will pick the Frogs tomorrow because I feel that they are due to hit their stride. I know that I am safe in saying that the Frogs have a flashy and dangerous offense, and I know that a good offense wins more games than a correspondingly good defense. I also feel that the Frogs have a line that can stop most of the Baylor rushes.

Just what does one want or look for in a sport column such as this is supposed to be? That's a question that's hard to answer. There are several different styles employed by sport writers today, showing that readers' tastes vary. Let's see now, if I try them all, it's bound to please somebody.

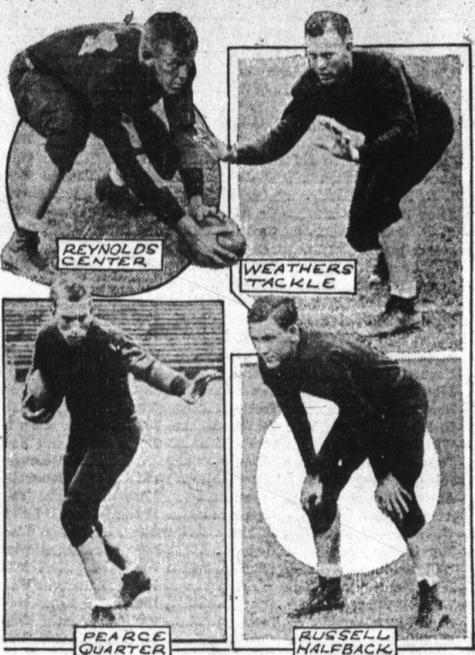

One type of sport writing is the purely personal style: I think that I will pick the Frogs tomorrow because I feel that they are due to hit their stride. I know that I am safe in saying that the Frogs have a flashy and dangerous offense, and I know that a good offense wins more games than a correspondingly good defense. I also feel that the Frogs have a line that can stop most of the Baylor rushes.

That's hard on the "I" key, so it can't go on very long at a time. Some writers use the strictly impersonal, newsy style; such as:

If the Frogs come through with a win tomorrow, they will be in a position to challenge the leadership of the Rice Owls, who have created such a furor in the Conference this year. Rice and Arkansas meet one week from tomorrow to decide the undisputed leader, and thereby clear up the situation. Most authorities agreed at the first of the season that no team would go through the year with a clean slate. It may be up to the Frogs to make the prediction true when they meet the Owls in Houston Nov. 24. First of all though the Frogs have a pack of Bears to grapple before they start hunting Owls.

Still another way to write sports is to condense it all into a few short sentences phrases. For example: Did you realize: That the Frogs are playing Baylor tomorrow? . . . That this conference is more respected now than ever before? . . . That the S. M. U. band played over the Columbia Broadcasting System Saturday? . . . That Peruna, the Mustang mascot, was killed Tuesday? . . . That football players are popular with the girls? . . . That Dan Harston is left-handed, and proud of it? . . . That Slim Kinsy pitches in big leagues? . . . That Darrell Lester admits he's good? . . . That Tracy Kellow has an ardent admirer? . . . That Coach Meyer eats only three meals a day? . . . That Jimmy Lawrence will eat a bug for little or nothing? . . . That that's all.

They'll Give Frogs Trouble

This aggregation of Bruins is due to give the Christians plenty of trouble tomorrow afternoon. John D. Reynolds, 190 pounder from Waco, has been playing a bang-up game at the pivot position for the Bears this season. Co-captain Warren (Red) Weathers, 200 pounder, also from Waco, will start at one of the tackle berths for the Bears. The fans will expect plenty of passes tomorrow with both Sam Baugh and Joe Jack Pearce in the fray. Co-captain Pearce, Bruin signal barker, who hails from Greenville, unleashed an aerial attack in the closing minutes of the Aggie encounter last Saturday that almost spelled victory for the Bears. Lloyd Russell, 150 pound product of Dallas is one of the most finished pigskin toters on the Baylor squad. An injured shoulder kept the diminutive back out of the Farmer fracas, but he will probably be ready for the Frogs tomorrow.

Sophs Defeat Junior Gridders In Intramurals

Final Score of Wednesday's Game is 32 to 13.

Tied for 1st Place

Saam, McDowell, Scrafford, Wester are Stars of Contest.

The tables were turned in the intramural tag football tournament Wednesday afternoon when the Sophomores pulled the Juniors down from their perch at the top of the race with a smashing 32-to-13 victory.

The victory for the Sophs put them into a tie for first place with the Juniors and gave the position which original dope on the race said they should hold.

The Seniors tightened their hold on the cellar position in the race by losing to the Freshmen, 13 to 12.

Juniors are First Scorers
The Juniors started their game with a bang by running the kick-off to the Sophs' 13-yard line. On the next play Charlie Needham passed to Horace McDowell, who crossed the goal line, giving the Juniors the first score of the game. The try for the point after touchdown failed.

The lead was not held long for in the same quarter Byrum Saam, Sophomore quarterback, passed to Ray Wester for a touchdown making the score 7 to 6 in favor of the Sophs at the end of the first quarter.

In the second quarter Bruce Scrafford made a touchdown for the Sophs on a pass from Frank Floyd. Wester made another on a 50-yard pass from Saam.

The Sophs annexed two more touchdowns in the third period. Floyd crossed the goal line for the first. Waller Moody made the other on a pass from Saam. A point was added on a pass from Saam to Scrafford.

The Juniors made the final touchdown of the game in the last quarter when McDowell caught another pass from Needham for a score. The point after touchdown was made on a pass, Needham to Tom Pickett.

Needham, Pickett, McDowell and Orville Paty played outstanding games for the Juniors. Saam and Wester flashed for the Sophs.

Freshmen Battle Seniors
Gilbert Bowden made the first touchdown for the Freshmen in the first quarter of their game with the Seniors by intercepting a pass and running 65 yards. Lawrence King added the extra point on a pass from Don McLeland.

John Durrett ran 50 yards through the center of the field in the second period to score a touchdown for the Seniors. The try for extra point failed.

In the third quarter Jim Young added a touchdown for the Frosh on a pass from McLeland. Boaz Hoskins made one for the Seniors on a series of passes.

The Seniors missed an opportunity to score in the last minute of the game when they had the ball on the Frosh one-yard line. Their center fumbled the ball on the pass-back and the Frosh recovered.

Leonard Wallace, Durrett, Frank Lazo and Hoskins played good games for the Seniors. Bowden.

Back in Uniform

Melvin Diggs, stellar Frog wingman, who has been out of the Christian line-up with an injured ankle sustained in the opening game of the season will probably be ready for the Baylor Bears tomorrow. The big junior's return will add a great deal of strength to the Frog line.

40 Games on S. W. Conference Record of Frog-Bear Rivalry

Baylor Bears, 473; T. C. U. Horned Frogs, 373.

No, that isn't a prediction on the score of Saturday's football game between the two schools. It's the all-time score arrived at by totaling the points made by each team in the 40 games that have been played in the past.

The Frogs and the Bears probably have played more football than any two teams in the Southwest Conference. They have not been playing through as many years, but they played each other twice in 1901, 1902 and 1910, and three times in 1904, 1905, 1907, 1908 and 1909!

Of the 40 games played Baylor has won 19, T. C. U. 16, and five contests have been tied. Since both schools have been members of the Southwest Conference, T. C. U. has won four, Baylor three, and two have been ties.

The Bears ran up the big score advantage back in the early days of the rivalry. They started off by sweeping the Frogs 42 to 0 back in 1901. For seven straight games the Frogs failed to score, while the Bears ran their total points up to 112.

The greatest margin of victory for either school is held by Baylor, with a 52 to 0 victory over T. C. U. back in 1910. The Frogs' greatest score against Baylor was made in 1917 when they won 34 to 0. Two contests have resulted in scoreless ties—in 1902 and 1904.

The complete record for the teams is as follows:

Year	T. C. U.	Baylor
1901	0	42
1901	0	36
1902	0	0
1902	0	12
1903	0	5
1904	0	17

Causes of Failure

open to most students. It is entirely possible for a student to so thoroughly load himself down with these extra activities that he actually has no time for his school work. There is only one rule that will help students who are beset by so many decisions. "Keep your feet on the ground," do not get panicky, and do not carry more of a burden than you can do satisfactorily.

b) Personal problems such as those arising from dating, finances, finding a satisfactory boarding place, finding a satisfactory room-mate, finding a job—all these may be distracting problems at the start of the school year and prevent a student from getting off to a good start. Nearly every college has personal counselors whose duty it is to advise students on problems of this nature. Look up one of these counselors or the dean of men or dean of women and have a frank talk with them. They should be able to solve some of your problems at least.

c) How to study. It is estimated that 90 per cent of the students who enter college—any college—do not know how to study. This no doubt accounts for many failures during the freshman year. Go to your high school library or one of your high school teachers and get a book on how to study and make a system of your own. It will give you a tremendous advantage.

No doubt many who read this article will deplore the fact that I have not stressed two other problems. (1) Mental inadequacy and (2) moral delinquency. They no doubt deserve to be mentioned, but they do not deserve to be rated as major problems. Few students have to give up a college career because of mental inadequacy, unless they impose complexes of various sorts on themselves. This factor has been overemphasized in modern education because of excessive emphasis upon intelligence tests.

As to moral delinquency, this factor also has been overemphasized. In a student body of several thousand students there will always be some misfits who cannot adjust themselves to the group to which they belong, but they are a comparatively small group. It will be surprising to many to know that sex and drunkenness comprise very few of these cases, newspaper head lines to the contrary. Petty thievery comprises by far the largest number.

In conclusion: Be aware of all these problems. Do not let yourself be sucked into the current of indifference and sophistication which pervades every campus. College has much to offer each of us if we are interested and aggressive—and much to extract from us if we are passive and indifferent. But, it is probably this very mixture of certainties and uncertainties which makes the adventure of going to college so thrilling and so entertaining to the average American youth.

Failure, then, is a matter of whether or not we are qualified to look life squarely in the face and determine that we are going to rule the forces about us rather than be ruled by them.

Rev. A. K. Scott Plans to Build Fifty Churches

Already Has 44 Completed—Hopes for 6 More.

Works in Texas

Missionary Has Had One or More Children in T. C. U. For Last 14 Years.

He has been instrumental in constructing 44 church buildings and hopes to build 50 before he retires—that's the Rev. A. K. Scott, missionary for the United Christian Missionary Society. But he's much rather tell you about his five children, who are all ex-students of T. C. U.

Until last June, the Rev. Mr. Scott had had children enrolled in T. C. U. for 14 consecutive years. Miss Anna Lee Scott, who is now Mr. J. Eddie Weems was the first of the Scott clan to enter T. C. U. She received both her A. B. and B. M. degrees in 1923. Her husband who holds an A. B. and M. A. degree from the university is head of the English department and track coach at Abilene Christian College.

A. K. Scott, Jr., attended the University from 1927 to 1930, but did not receive a degree. His wife, the former Miss Peggy Kipping, attended T. C. U. at the same time.

Randolph Scott, another son, received his A. B. degree from the university in 1927 and his M. A. the past summer.

Daughter Graduates With Honor.

On the roll of the T. C. U. Alumni and Ex-Student's Association will also be found the names of Mrs. Jerome Moore and Miss Mary Louise Scott. Mrs. Moore is the former Miss Ruby Pearl Scott. She was awarded an A. B. degree by the university in 1928, graduating magna cum laude. Her husband who holds both an A. B. and M. A. degree from T. C. U., is Spanish and French teacher at the College of Industrial Arts at Denton.

The 14-year cycle was broken last June when Miss Mary Louise Scott, youngest of Mr. Scott's children was graduated from the university with an A. B. degree.

The Rev. Mr. Scott has been connected with the United Christian Missionary Society for the past 28 years. His specialties are building churches, building parsonages and raising money for the society. During his association with the missionary society Mr.

Scott has built churches and parsonages at a cost of more than a quarter of a million dollars. The buildings are now valued at approximately $300,000.

One cost $65,000. Although his chief interest has been in the construction of churches in small communities, the Rev. Mr. Scott has been instrumental in building several pretentious edifices. He built a church at Corpus Christi at a cost of $65,000, and one at Mexia that cost $38,000.

He has built church buildings in all sections of Texas, including George, Kleburg, Dallas, Riley, Pleasant Grove, Richardson, Ferris, Grand Prairie, Edward's Chapel, Vickery, Rose Hill, Wilmer, Rock Hill, Tulsa, Eagle Ford, Corinth, Denison, Guber, Hall, Gordon, Grand Saine, Lufkin, Handley, Healy, Strawn, Tioga, Tatum, Canton, Mont Alva, Alvarado, Corpus Christi, Raymondville, Brownsville and Georgetown.

Doing Practice Teaching

Mis Margaret Combest is practicing teaching at Central High School in the French class of Miss Mary Gillespie.

Miss Elizabeth Hendrick of Jarvis Hall spent the week-end in town with her aunt, Mrs. Harry Hendrick.

Florence and Dale Ackers spent the week-end at their home in Abilene.

In each case Mr. Scott was instrumental in having the churches rebuilt.

Parsonages have been built by the Rev. Mr. Scott at Olney, Kerrville and Corpus Christi at an approximate cost of $12,000.

Besides being actively engaged as a missionary for the United Christian Missionary Society, Mr. Scott still finds time to preach at the Port Stockton Christian Church each Sunday. And—he still intends to build those other six churches.

Frogs Defeated

Ball in midfield. Baugh was sent into the game, but their chance was lost when Webb grabbed one of Baugh's passes and raced for a touchdown.

Following the kick-off, the Purple offense again worked the ball into Centenary territory. The drive was stopped on the 35-yard marker when a fourth-down pass was incomplete. The two teams then rocked back and forth close to the middle of the field until the half ended.

Centenary Scores on Kick-off

Centenary returned the kick-off for a touchdown to open the second half. The Frogs then fumbled the next kick-off. They recovered it but were deep in their own end of the field. They punted out and Centenary brought the ball back fast to register a first down on the four-yard line. Four plunges left them still a yard from the goal line and the Frogs took the ball.

The latter part of the game found the Meyermens launching repeated drives into Centenary territory, but always they were stopped before getting into scoring position.

For the Frogs Walter Roach, Bob Jordan, Taldon Manton, Vic Montgomery and Clovis Green stood out.

Let's find out why Turkish tobacco is so important to a good cigarette

On the sunny slopes of Smyrna... in the fertile fields of Macedonia... along the shores of the Black Sea... grows a kind of tobacco that is different from any other tobacco in the world.

THESE Turkish tobaccos are the only tobaccos of foreign cultivation that are used to any great extent in making American cigarettes. Turkish tobaccos are famous for their spicy aroma, and a blend of the right kinds of Turkish tobacco with our own home-grown tobaccos is better than any one kind used alone.

In Chesterfield we balance mild, ripe tobaccos grown in this country with just the right amounts of the right kinds of Turkish.

It is by blending and cross-blending these different tobaccos that we make Chesterfield the cigarette that's milder, the cigarette that tastes better.

Miss Florence Fallis, student assistant in the physical education department, is giving a demonstration of the use of the bow and arrow.

What do you Think?

Each week several students, chosen at random, will be asked to express their views on questions pertaining to campus life and current events. Students are asked to submit questions on which they want the expression of student opinion, to members of the Skiff staff.

Do you favor the collection of a 50-cent Student Body fee by the University?

Carsky Markawich—"No. It's the student council's job to collect the money. Let them do it."

Esther Marner—"Yes. Then it won't be any trouble for any one."

Robbie Joe Whitener—"Yes. I think the student body would come nearer getting it."

Ann Caulker—"I think it is better to pay it with the tuition and save the bother of having it collected during the year."

Gaines Sparks—"It hasn't proved successful for the Student Council to collect this fee. Probably the main reason is because not enough of the students know what it is or what it is used for. If it were given more publicity the Student Council might be able to collect it more easily."

Mary Kate Keller—"I think it is all right for the business office to collect it. It seems the collection would be rather difficult if it were done any other way."

Meliorist Club To Present Play

Fallis, Jones, Wall, Wilson, and Crotty to Have Leads.

Members of the Meliorist Club will present a play, "He Came Seeing," by Miss Mary Hamlin at 8:45 o'clock Sunday evening in the recreation room of the University Christian Church, according to Miss Opal Gooden, club director.

Prof. Lew D. Fallis is directing the play and the principal roles will be taken by Misses Dorothy Jones and Florence Fallis, and Clarence Crotty, S. A. Wall and Charles Wilson. Others who will take part include: Misses Ruth Campbell, Clarence Clark and Dorothy Lynn Taylor and Morton Kline.

Charles Harness has been appointed stage manager; properties are in charge of Miss Elizabeth Henry; costumes and make-up, Mrs. Ann Boswell, and programs and ushers, Arle Brooks. Special properties have been made by Leonard Kirkegaard.

The play will be given after a brief dedication of the stage, Miss Gooden said.

There will be no admission charge and the public is cordially invited, she announced.

Woodson Armes of Slaton, ex-student of T. C. U., has been elected president of the Texas Baptist Student Union. He is now attending Baylor.

No School Work After 10 O'clock Homecoming Day

Full Holiday Granted Nov. 24 Because of Official Trip.

Students to Houston

Saturday Classes Will Meet Friday Morning, Nov. 23, Says Announcement.

A holiday, beginning at 10 a. m., has been granted by the Administration Saturday, Nov. 17, for the Homecoming Day activities.

All 8 and 9 o'clock classes will meet Saturday morning as usual, but no classes after 10 o'clock will be held.

On Nov. 24, a complete holiday has been granted for the official student body trip to Houston for the Rice-T. C. U. game.

Students will meet their regular Saturday classes on Friday mornings between 8 and 1 o'clock. No Friday morning classes will be held, although Friday afternoon classes and laboratories will meet as usual on Friday afternoon.

The shift has been made in order that the T. S. classes may not suffer unduly from the holidays at this time, the announcement read.

World Fellowship Club Has Election

Lee Pierce, Miss Candlin, Miss Evans Made Mission Group Officers.

Lee Pierce, Miss Dorothy Candlin, and Miss Lou Ella Evans were elected president, secretary, and vice-president of the World Fellowship Club Friday night. The meeting was under the leadership of Mrs. C. C. McGuire, director, and Lemore Hill, ex-president.

The club is a young people's missionary organization whose object is to study foreign missionary problems and to sponsor fellowship between the young people of other nations.

Plans are under way for the work to be done this year and will be discussed at the next meeting of the club, Dec. 7. The club meets the

Lanham to Speak At Next Chapel

Congressman Fritz Lanham will be the chapel speaker next Wednesday. Lanham made a trip to Hawaii last summer and is going to speak to the students on "My Impressions of Hawaii."

Dr. W. J. Hammond addressed the chapel group Wednesday at the annual Armistice Day program. He gave his opinion of war, saying it is a needless waste of human life.

"We should do all in our power to prevent war," he said, "so that the saying of the great Master may be fulfilled—'That we may have life more abundantly.'"

Dr. Edwin A. Elliott, scheduled to speak at this time, was not able to be present.

Hutton Has Message From David Scouler

"School Is Going Fine" Former Teacher Now Attending Yale, Reports.

Word has been received by Registrar S. W. Hutton from David Scouler, who is on a leave of absence from the University and is attending Yale this year.

"School is going fine. I have some excellent classes and am very comfortably situated. The Yale Glee Club is really a chorus," he said.

Scouler, who was director of both the Men's and Women's Glee Club in the University, is a member of the Yale Glee Club.

First Armistice Is Happy but Solemn Occasion at T. C. U.

The first Armistice Day at T.C.U.—how different it must have been from the seemingly endless preceding days when those boys who were enlisted in the Students' Army Training Corps were waiting their call and those whose friends and loved ones were already overseas or in service in the United States were anxiously awaiting any word of them.

On that first Armistice Day, T. C. U. had a holiday, one which outshone even the holiday following the Baylor game the Thanksgiving before—a holiday outstanding for its thanksgiving, activity and enthusiasm.

Word of the holiday, which had been announced by President E. M. Waits, came to a large group of students who had gathered to bid "good-by and good luck" to the 15 boys who had just left the campus en route to the Infantry Officers' Training Camp at MacArthur.

The entire student body gathered in the University Auditorium for a "serious meeting of thanksgiving." The boys stopped their drilling and all saluted during the rendition of "The Star Spangled Banner." Dr. Clinton Lockhart, Dr. E. R. Cockrell and Dean Colby D. Hall gave speeches which were "both thoughtful and inspiring in their sentiments."

It was amid rousing cheers that the group left the chapel to prepare for the parade that afternoon—a group happy with the realization that the "kaiser now has a brilliant career behind him."

After lunch final preparations were made for the parade and by 3:30 o'clock scarcely a person remained on the Hill. That evening after the parade special tribute was paid to the T. C. U. students who were enlisted in the service of the United States.

Miss Nell Andrews, librarian, prepared a list of those who were in service either in the United States or over seas. (It is probable that some of the names were omitted from the list, but on account of the difficulty of obtaining the official records it was impossible to make an absolute check.)

The list was as follows: Avis Alexander, Fred Adams, Douglas Allen, Karl T. Broadley, Victor Bonelli, Hugh Brewster, Raymond Buck, Harry Bradford, Herbert Bozeman, John L. Cassell, Aubrey Cooper, B. R. Cockrell, Horace Cagle, James Carey, Loraine Dutton, Giles Day, Sam Easley, Chris Elliott, Edwin A. Elliott, J. B. Frizzell, Earl X. Gough, David Holdberg, Clarence Gunter, O. D. Grisso, Jack Hammond, John B. Hawley, W. B. Higgins, Pierre Nash, Fred Horn, Will S. Horn, Hal Hunter, Hendon Hardwick, M. M. Knight, Lonnie L. Livey, Dean LeMaster, Gordon McFarland, Jim McFarland, Willis McGregor, Atwood McDonald, Jesse Martin, Joe J. Murray, J. C. McKean, J. T. Montgomery, John Nelson, George Nash, Joe Oliver, J. J. O'Reilly, Jeff Roberts, Gayle Scott, W. R. Scott, A. C. Stevens, Guy Shirey, Tom P. Sweeney, Scott Stanfield, J. O. Shelburne, Eugene Sewell, W. S. Tyson, W. E. Umbarger, Ed White, Nathap White and Karl Young.

Fifty to Attend Relations Forum

Denton Meeting Sunday to Be Conducted by Internationals.

The open forum in Denton, to be held Sunday by the International Relations Club, will begin at 3:30 o'clock in the afternoon and will terminate with a buffet supper at 5:30 o'clock.

The meeting, which will be attended by all persons of both units of the club wishing to go, will be held at Mary Arden Lodge and will be sponsored by the Students' Christian Association of North Texas State Teachers' College.

About 50 students are expected to attend, according to Miss Ann Stuckert, secretary of Unit 2. Students will furnish their own transportation.

"Subsequent open forums will be postponed until some time in the spring term," Dr. W. J. Hammond stated recently.

"It should be clearly understood," he said, "that the International Relations Club on the T. C. U. campus, although it may be sponsored by faculty members, is primarily a student organization."

"The administration of all the offices and the various functions is carried on by students, the sponsors acting only in an advisory capacity."

"The fact that Unit 2 was not organized until last year has to some extent caused it to suffer as far as publicity is concerned. Its sponsor, Mrs. Mirth W. Sherer, has been doing a great deal of work that she has received insufficient credit for."

"The status of the two clubs is identical, the only difference being that Unit 1 is for juniors and seniors and Unit 2 is for freshmen and sophomores. Both units are to participate as one in the open forums to be held in the spring."

A yearbook, including the best of the speeches made by students at these forums, with other items regarding the activities of the club for the year, will be printed in the spring forums by writing the International Relations Club over station KFJZ at 9 o'clock on Monday nights.

Frosh Will Meet Monday

There will be a freshman class meeting at 10 o'clock Monday morning in the Auditorium to set the date for the Theater Party that has been added to the social calendar of the class.

New Church Rooms Will Be Dedicated

Service to Be Held Wednesday For Nursery, Parlor, Pastor's Study.

Dedication of several rooms of the University Christian Church and a housewarming will follow the monthly fellowship dinner at 6:30 o'clock Wednesday evening.

A brief program will follow the dinner, after which the banquet room and kitchen will be dedicated. The dedication of the pastor's study, nursery room and church parlor will come next on the program, and will be followed by the dedication of the University room. All of these rooms were completed recently.

Mrs. W. D. Ambrose, mezzo-soprano of the church, will sing several selections at the housewarming and dedication services.

The completion of these rooms was made possible through the gift of a friend of the church, who started the program with a donation of $250 to the Rev. Perry E. Gresham for his study. Next the benefactor gave $1500 to be used for the church parlor and University room.

He also gave $1000 for the completion of the remainder of the first floor of the church and later an additional $800 to be used on the banquet room and kitchen.

The benefactor made only one condition—that his name should not be revealed.

44 Have Names In The Skiff for First 4 Issues

Forty-four students in the University started this year's college activities by "breaking into print" in the first four issues of The Skiff, according to a survey made by the journalism department.

The survey was made in an effort to determine who the participants in campus activities are and who "get into the papers" the most.

Prof. J. Willard Ridings and Ben Sargent, Skiff editor, are making a special effort to see that every student in the University has his name appear in The Skiff at least one time during the year.

A total of 502 names broke into the four editions. The names of 196 on the student list during this period did not appear in any of the issues. A number of these are special students or members of night classes.

The largest number of names appeared in the first edition, which contained a total of 347. The second issue carried 222 names.

The number breaking into the third issue was smaller than any of the four, a total of 143 names appearing that week. One hundred and thirty-five broke into the fourth issue.

The 44 students whose names appeared in all four issues are: Misses Florence Ackers, Helen Adams, Frances Ballenger, Ruth Bozeman, Maurine Bush, Ruth Duncan, Kathryn Edwards, Florence Fallis, Anna Byrd Harness, Mary Beth Holmes, Marion Hones, Elizabeth Hudson, Mary Jarvis, Sara King, Dorothy Luyster, Grace Maloney, Flora Marshall, Helen Mielmier, Helen Moody, Loraine O'Gorman, Harriett Reed, Marjorie Sewalt, Dorothy Lynn Taylor and Imogene Townsley.

Rev. A. K. Scott Plans to Build Fifty Churches

Already Has 44 Completed—Hopes for 6 More.

Works in Texas

Missionary Has Had One or More Children in T. C. U. For Last 14 Years.

He has been instrumental in constructing 44 church buildings and hopes to build 50 before he retires—that's the Rev. A. K. Scott, missionary for the United Christian Missionary Society. But he's much rather tell you about his five children, who are all ex-students of T. C. U.

Until last June, the Rev. Mr. Scott had had children enrolled in T. C. U. for 14 consecutive years. Miss Anna Lee Scott, who is now Mr. J. Eddie Weems was the first of the Scott clan to enter T. C. U. She received both her A. B. and B. M. degrees in 1923. Her husband who holds an A. B. and M. A. degree from the university is head of the English department and track coach at Abilene Christian College.

A. K. Scott, Jr., attended the University from 1927 to 1930, but did not receive a degree. His wife, the former Miss Peggy Kipping, attended T. C. U. at the same time.

Randolph Scott, another son, received his A. B. degree from the university in 1927 and his M. A. the past summer.

Daughter Graduates With Honor. On the roll of the T. C. U. Alumni and Ex-Student's Association will also be found the names of Mrs. Jerome Moore and Miss Mary Louise Scott. Mrs. Moore is the former Miss Ruby Pearl Scott.

She was awarded an A. B. degree by the university in 1928, graduating magna cum laude. Her husband who holds both an A. B. and M. A. degree from T. C. U., is Spanish and French teacher at the College of Industrial Arts at Denton.

The 14-year cycle was broken last June when Miss Mary Louise Scott, youngest of Mr. Scott's children was graduated from the university with an A. B. degree.

The Rev. Mr. Scott has been connected with the United Christian Missionary Society for the past 28 years. His specialties are building churches, building parsonages and raising money for the society. During his association with the missionary society Mr.

Scott has built churches and parsonages at a cost of more than a quarter of a million dollars. The buildings are now valued at approximately $300,000.

One Cost $65,000. Although his chief interest has been in the construction of churches in small communities, the Rev. Mr. Scott has been instrumental in building several pretentious edifices. He built a church at Corpus Christi at a cost of $65,000 and one at Mexia that cost $38,000.

He has built church buildings in all sections of Texas, including George, Kleburg, Dallas, Riley, Pleasant Grove, Richardson, Ferris, Grand Prairie, Edward's Chapel, Vickery, Rose Hill, Wilmer, Rock Hill, Tulia, Eagle Ford, Corinth, Denison, Gober, Hail, Gordon, Grand Saline, Lufkin, Handley, Healy, Strawn, Tioga, Tatum, Canton, Mont Alna, Alvarado, Corpus Christi, Raymondville, Brownsville and Georgetown.

storm: In each case Mr. Scott was instrumental in having the churches rebuilt.

Parsonages have been built by the Rev. Mr. Scott at Olney, Kerrville and Corpus Christi at an approximate cost of $12,000.

Besides being actively engaged as a missionary for the United Christian Missionary Society, Mr. Scott still finds time to preach at the Fort Stockton Christian Church each Sunday. And—he still intends to build those other six churches.

Following the kick-off, the Purple offense again worked the ball into Centenary territory. The drive was stopped on the 35-yard marker when a fourth-down pass was incomplete. The two teams then rocked back and forth close to the middle of the field until the half ended.

Centenary Scores on Kick-off: Centenary returned the kick-off for a touchdown to open the second half. The Frogs then fumbled the next kick-off. They recovered it but were deep in their own end of the field. They punted out and Centenary brought the ball back fast to register a first down on the four-yard line. Four plunges left them still a yard from the goal line and the Frogs took the ball.

The latter part of the game found the Meyerers launching repeated drives into Centenary territory, but always they were stopped before getting into scoring position.

For the Frogs Walter Roach, Ed Jordan, Taldon Manton, Vic Montgomery and Clovis Green stood out.

open to most students. It is entirely possible for a student to so thoroughly load himself down with these extra activities that he actually has no time for his school work. There is only one rule that will help students who are beset by so many decisions. "Keep your feet on the ground," do not get panicky, and do not carry more of a burden than you can do satisfactorily.

b) Personal problems such as those arising from dating, finances, finding a satisfactory boarding place, finding a satisfactory room-mate, finding a job—all these may be distracting problems at the start of the school year and prevent a student from getting off to a good start. Nearly every college has personal counselors whose duty it is to advise students on problems of this nature. Look up one of these counselors or the dean of men or dean of women and have a frank talk with them. They should be able to solve some of your problems at least.

Few Know How to Study

c) How to study. It is estimated that 90 per cent of the students who enter college—any college—do not know how to study. This no doubt accounts for many failures during the freshman year. Go to your high school library or one of your high school teachers and get a book on how to study and make a system of your own. It will give you a tremendous advantage.

No doubt many who read this article will deplore the fact that I have not stressed two other problems. (1) Mental inadequacy and, (2) moral delinquency. They no doubt deserve to be mentioned, but they do not deserve to be rated as major problems. Few students have to give up a college career because of mental inadequacy, unless they impose complexes of various sorts on themselves. This factor has been overemphasized in modern education because of excessive emphasis upon intelligence tests.

As to moral delinquency, this factor also has been overemphasized. In a student body of several thousand students there will always be some misfits who cannot adjust themselves to the group to which they belong, but they are a comparatively small group. It will be surprising to many to know that sex and drunkenness comprise very few of these cases, newspaper head lines to the contrary. Petty thievery comprises by far the largest number.

In conclusion: Be aware of all these problems. Do not let yourself be sucked into the current of indifference and sophistication which pervades every campus. College has much to offer each of us if we are interested and aggressive—and much to extract from us if we are passive and indifferent. But, it is probably this very mixture of certainties and uncertainties which makes the adventure of going to college so thrilling and so entertaining to the average American youth.

Failure, then, is a matter of whether or not we are qualified to look life squarely in the face and determine that we are going to rattle the forces about us rather than be ruled by them.

New Round Added In Tag Football

Tennis Tournament Swings Into Last Lap of Competition.

An additional three-game series has been added to the schedule of the intramural tag football tournament, Prof. Thomas Prouse has announced.

The addition was made by popular request of the team managers, Prouse said. Each team will have an opportunity to play three more games.

The intramural tennis singles tournament has swung into the last round. Don McLeland has been the outstanding player in the tournament so far, taking both of his matches with 6-0, 6-0 sets.

Other players who are still in the race are Morton Klein, Jimmie Jacks, Waller Moody, Oliver Harrison and Buck Roberson.

The finals in the tournament will be decided by the best three out of five sets. All others are decided by the best two out of three.

Prouse has asked that players in the golf tournament who have drawn "byes" in the first round play off their matches with opponents who have drawn passes.

Native tobacco grower telling American tourists how Turkish tobacco is cured.

Let's find out why Turkish tobacco is so important to a good cigarette

On the sunny slopes of Smyrna... in the fertile fields of Macedonia... along the shores of the Black Sea... grows a kind of tobacco that is different from any other tobacco in the world.

THESE Turkish tobaccos are the only tobaccos of foreign cultivation that are used to any great extent in making American cigarettes. Turkish tobaccos are famous for their spicy aroma, and a blend of the right kinds of Turkish tobacco with our own home-grown tobaccos is better than any one kind used alone.

In Chesterfield we balance mild, ripe tobaccos grown in this country with just the right amounts of the right kinds of Turkish.

It is by blending and cross-blending these different tobaccos that we make Chesterfield the cigarette that's milder, the cigarette that tastes better.
