Banquet at 6:30 P. M.

Mac West to Send Congratulations to Most Popular TCU Girl.

The 1935 Horned Frog will be officially dedicated at 10 o'clock Monday morning in the Auditorium, reports Mrs. Anna Byrd Wallace, editor.

The eight girls who were voted a page in the book, by the student body, will be presented with copies of the publication at that time, Mrs. Wallace said. Members of the staff will also be given their copies of the book at that time. All popularity candidates are requested by Mrs. Wallace to be present.

The most popular girl in T. C. U. will receive a wire of congratulations from Mac West at the beginning of the program, according to Charles Carden, publicity director of the Worth Theater.

Students will be given their copies of the book immediately following the dedication. Staff members will be stationed in the hall to give the students their cards, which must be signed and presented at the Horned Frog office in Room 104, Brite College, in order for them to obtain their editions of the book, Jones Bacus, manager, said.

Three clubs have not made the last payment on their pages in the book and the payments must be made today or Saturday if the members of these clubs are to receive their books Monday, Bacus said. Bacus requests that secretaries of these clubs get in touch with him at once.

The annual Horned Frog banquet will be held at 6:30 p. m. Monday at the Blackstone Hotel.

The first bound copy of the Horned Frog was issued at 11 a. m. Tuesday.

Poetry Society Issues Volume

"First Leaves," Anthology of Verse, Is Released.

Twenty poems, representing 10 of T. C. U.'s poets, are contained in this year's volume of "First Leaves," which appeared Wednesday morning. The book is bound in green and is divided into two sections, the first devoted to serious and the second to light verse.

One copy of "First Leaves" is to be given to President E. M. Waits, another to Dean Colby D. Hall, and two to the library, Miss Nina Whittington, president of the Poetry Society has announced.

This section of serious verse contains "House of Stones," and "Quiet," by William Barney; "Prejudice" and "Music Fest," by George Cherrymores; "Woman Coming Out of the Movies," by Nuel Davis; "Brief Recession," "Saturday Night in a Mining Town," and "Rest," by Marie Hamlett; "Drouth" and "Cloistered," by Genevieve Papineau; "Land Lover," by Frances Parker; "The Unemployed Waits for His Train," by Fred Vasquez; "Silent Song," "Wall Answering Wall," and "They Never Knew," by Nina Whittington; and "His Night to Howl," by A. L. Crouch.

In the light verse are included "Bible Heroes," by Frances Parker; "Moonlight in the Jungle" and "The Song of the Shrimp," by A. L. Crouch; and "The Green-Eyed Ghost" and "The Fraction Dragon," by Everett Gillis.

Crouch 'n Gillis Printer's Devils For Single Night

A couple of poets turned printer's devils for a night last Tuesday. A. L. Crouch and Everett Gillis were in a great hurry for that Poetry Anthology to get out. They had looked for it Monday, thought sure it would appear Tuesday, but afternoon came and still no book from the printer. That night they proceeded to help themselves to a job and worked like bees until 2:30 Wednesday morning to have "First Leaves" ready in time to read in Chapel.

It seems Miss Nina Whittington was to read senior poems from it. One minute after Miss Whittington had read her poems Everett Gillis rushed madly into Chapel to announce that the book was ready. Those poet printers had gone to work again at 7 a. m. Wednesday in order to finish the book. They bound the book and printed the title and cover pages between 7 and 10 o'clock—Wednesday morning.

C. U. students. It was directed by Mrs. Helen Murphy and written by members of her class in "Pageantry."

More than 200 persons took part in the colorful production, all but a few of them girls. A student orchestra, under the direction of Prof. Claude Sammis furnished the musical background.

Leading roles were taken by Misses Mary Ellen McDaniels, Martha Cell Graves, Judy Roberson and Florence Fallis and Bill Rodier. The dancing ensembles were made up of members of the girls' physical education classes. Two special dances were presented by a group of 24 boys and girls from the Alice E. ## 1934 Graduates Find That World Is Not So Cruel

Is there a place in today's world for the college graduate?

A statistically-minded member of the staff of The Skiff recently decided to investigate the facts instead of accepting the oft-repeated answer of "No."

He discovered that 121 of the 144 graduates of 1934 of T. C. U. could be definitely classified as having found a place for themselves. Of the 23 unaccounted for, there were a number of girls who were staying at home from choice.

Teaching led all the other occupations in which the 1934 T. C. U. graduate is located, 34 being engaged in this profession. Thirty-two of the graduates of last year are still attending school, 19 doing graduate work in various fields, nine attending law school and four medical school.

Ten are married, "and so can be said to have found a place for themselves," the investigator reported.

Eight who received degrees from T. C. U. in 1934 are preaching, three are coaching, three are doing newspaper work, and two are in social service work.

Twenty-nine who found positions are classified as miscellaneous because each worker would have to be listed in a separate field.

Among the Texas schools in which last year's graduates are teaching are: Burleson, Pecos, Midland, Azle, Olney, Frisco, Mason, Dublin, Haskell, Abbott, McKinney, Tyler, Stanton, Burkburnett, Blue Ridge, Grandbury, Grandview, Texarkana and, of course, a number in Fort Worth.

Seniors Present Impressive Chapel Program

The program given by the members of the senior class in chapel Wednesday was one of the most impressive ceremonies that the present student body has had the opportunity to witness.

Those who participated, including class members who sat in a body, should be commended for the manner in which they delivered their part of the valedictory. Each marked himself as a leader equipped with the characteristics necessary to go forward into a disturbed world.

To the undergraduates the Wednesday-morning program meant little. They perhaps enjoyed the rapid-fire delivery of Granville Walker, the clever readings by Nina Whittington and Judy Truelson's inimitable style of introduction.

The administration and the faculty had reason enough to feel proud of the demonstration last Wednesday morning for both groups have helped mold and shape the ideals and ambitions of those whom they saw perform so creditably.

"Loyalty"—The Word Covers A Multitude of Sins

Throughout his college days a student has inculcated into his mind the fact that it is his undying duty to be loyal—to athletic teams, to debating teams and to a thousand and one other enterprises of the college.

It is little wonder, then, that students get tired of this continual solicitation of loyalty. A student is not always interested in all of the school's functions; and, for that reason, considers it a little unfair if he gets the malediction of pseudo-supporters of the school when he fails to lend his support to every enterprise.

Why should he be asked to support a lecture series, so he reasons, when he hasn't the slightest interest in the lecturers' topics? Or why should he be asked to attend a band concert when he loathes bands?

In the same vein, why should he be coerced into attending a pep meeting if he doesn't think yelling his lungs out is synonymous with loyalty?

Yet loyalty has been the keynote throughout his college days. The word is unqualified and covers a multitude of sins.

Still who can deny that loyalty of the right sort is a fine thing. Without it a university or any other like institution could not possibly exist. What is more inspiring than a graduate's love for his Alma Mater or more logical than his wish that the University of his choice go forward.

Students have worked for years endeavoring to get dancing established as a permanent institution in T. C. U. student administration after student administration has worked tirelessly to see the goal realized, each getting a little nearer that goal.

Dances have been given throughout the year with varying degrees of success—financially speaking. This school year will be climaxed tomorrow night with a gala farewell dance honoring students—past, present and future.

If you want dancing to continue as a permanent institution in T. C. U., come out tomorrow night, and if you know a prospective student, bring him with you.

What Can the Poor Professor Profess?

In a recent editorial John W. Studebaker, United States commissioner of education, was quoted as follows: "Academic freedom should be the freedom of the learner to learn and not the freedom of the professor to profess." This raises the question: What can a professor profess?

There are three possible answers. He may refrain from saying anything that he believes, in which case he is worthless. He may honestly and frankly state his conclusions on the problems he has studied, and win the disapproval of the pseudo-patriots. Thirdly, he may state only part of his conclusions (those which will offend none of the controlling interests in society) which is misrepresentation and dishonesty.

This places the poor professor in a terrible predicament. The first alternative is not only unworthy but impossible; even when an instructor selects a textbook he is stating his belief that the book is worth reading and he must give his opinion of it. The second position is the most desirable but apparently the least practical. The only thing left for him is to tactfully present only part of his views.

Students especially should be aware of this and co-operate with their instructors. It seems pitiful that after a man has studied a problem for many years he should not be allowed to state his conclusions openly and honestly. When a professor does have the courage to do this we should be careful not to misinterpret or misquote him. We need also to determine which of the three possible positions the instructor is taking and evaluate his teachings accordingly.—Exchange.

Superstitious? 'Bear' Wolf Tries To Find 'Lucky Spot' on Bench

By ROSEMARY COLYER

Are you superstitious? Most of us are but just won't admit it. Superstitions may be found in very queer places, and one of the most amusing is in athletics. They even stalk the baseball diamond. If you are a T. C. U. baseball fan you may have wondered just why it is that Coach "Bear" Wolf usually sits on every square inch of the bench before the game is over.

His reason for this was rather reluctantly given. It seems that the coach is trying to find a "lucky" spot. When the team scores, nothing short of an earthquake will move him from the particular spot he is occupying when it happens. When asked what some of his other superstitions are Wolf replied, "Can't think of any just at the moment. Guess I do them unconsciously."

After some snooping I uncovered the fact that "Bear" changed his white baseball uniform to a gray one for good luck. I also learned that when "Bear" was playing baseball at Texas in 1926 he put a nickel under first base, a penny under third and gave Pete Wright a rabbit's foot to hold. It was during infield work-out and "Bear," after all his efforts, had his knee knocked out of place.

Speaking of rabbit's feet, Sam Baugh always carries a rabbit's foot in a game. Jimmy "Square-head" Lawrence, always rubs a negro's head before a game, providing one is available. Says that it usually works. Jimmy Jacks does the same thing. He is also superstitious about his baseball socks. It seems that it is customary, when the socks become soiled, to turn them wrong side out and wear them a while that way. Not for Jimmy. He says that this is bad luck for him.

Jimmy also won't put on a clean sweat-shirt for the next game if the previous game has been won, but wears the same one for good luck. Darrell Lester says that if he pitches a good game he always wears the same sweat shirt the next time he pitches. He grinned and added, "However, I haven't had much reason to do that this year, but there'll come a day!"

Coach "Dutch" Meyer is said to be the most superstitious of the T. C. U. coaches but is a bit reticent about disclosing his superstitions. From Carsky Makarovich I found that, for some unknown reason, "Dutch" thought that Carsky was the team jinx and was continually trying to lose him in some way.

The team never crosses the bats because that is certain to bring bad luck. Coaches seem to have some pet piece of clothing that brings them good luck. Coach Francis Schmidt always wore the same hat. When he was the coach at Arkansas he always carried the same suit in a little satchel because it brought him good luck but was too threadbare to wear. Coach Wolf wore a brown suit so long to games for good luck that a small boy who lives near him made the remark to his mother one day to the effect that that must be the only suit he possessed. Bear didn't wear the suit any more.

1935 Horned Frog Destined to Cause Riot Monday Morn

BY KATHRYN EDWARDS.

Did you ever see anything so lovely that it took your breath away... made you gasp and utter all the adjectives you could think of as being synonymous with beauty? Well, if you've never experienced that thrilling sensation, you've a treat in store for you next Monday morning when you hold for the first time your copy of the beautiful 1935 Horned Frog. You'll soon run out of adjectives as soon as you turn its 270 pages.

Your correspondent, although a member of the staff in a small capacity, saw the finished product as it came from the printers Wednesday afternoon. I'm just dying to tell you all about the surprises which await you, but confidence is confidence and must not be betrayed, so we'll just tell you enough, sorta as a teaser, to make you more anxious for 10 o'clock Monday coming to come. Suppose you can wait that long without asking questions?

There's nothing like a good appearance when attempting to make a good impression. The 1935 Horned Frog makes her debut clad in a royal blue gown of moire-finished leather and crested with a beautiful silver seal. We defy you to think of a prettier color scheme for effectiveness. The entire book features a simplicity theme done in these two shades. The engraving is the best job that has been given an editor of the Horned Frog. The beautiful half-tones of the buildings stand out as works of art, as do the line drawings used as illustrations of the different sections of the books.

Anna Byrd is to be congratulated not only on the outside of the book, but for the representative picture she presents throughout this "book of books." The use of white space in the makeup of the annual is exceptionally well done and proves extremely effective as one turns through the book not only for the first time, but for the innumerable times you will turn through it. For those of you who go in for autographed annuals, the white space will be more than attractive.

Another unique feature in the make-up of Volume XXXI of the Horned Frog is the use of the circular designs. Most of the book is built on the half-circle scale using the blue and silver note to accentuate each part of the circle. Class sections, which are composed of exceptionally good pictures this year, athletic shots, and the scores of good snapshots all carry out the circle idea and make for the book an interesting, as well as practical, feature. You can easily locate yourself once you find the beginning of the circle.

The new social activities and program instituted on the campus this year embodies itself as the theme of the annual this year. The book is divided into three books, "University," "Frogland," and "Athletics." Each of these sections contain many surprises for you and we wouldn't want to spoil them for you by telling too much. Each social function especially the larger dances, proms and president's reception, etc., is given particular attention in the book. Informal pictures add to unusualness of the book as do the personal sketches of individuals found in the Who's Who section.

Three cheers for the editor again. She got more than 60 per cent of the faculty administration to have NEW pictures made. Dean Hall and President smile at you from a different angle this year. The English department is represented 100 per cent in the picture gallery. Everybody's picture is good, although there's going to be some who think they look "terrible."

The couples page is another double spread at which you'll linger, for the turtle doves and cupid arrows are mounted in the center of a large heart. And if you didn't know, T. C. U. has a big heart.

We've saved the best for the last. The beauty section of the book which comes in Book II "Frogland" is beyond comparison. We've never seen such a pretty arrangement. Each of the eight girls who won in the Revue last December have two full pages given to them. And what pages! This section of the book marks the volume far above the average. A full length pose and a bust size picture are used and are done in the blue half-tones which are flanked with the silver to fill out the page. Really, folks, I'm not capable of telling just how lovely this part of the book is. I ran out of adjective Wednesday afternoon and haven't been able to find more adequate ones. A personal sketch of each girl is something new this year. These little informal "tidbits" will make the picture mean more to you and to the lucky girls who grace the pages.

Consensus of opinion did a nice job in selecting the most popular girl. The recipient of this honor will probably be as surprised as every one else. A better chance couldn't have been made, and I'm sure you'll all agree when you see her. Those who didn't receive full pages follow those who did, and are presented in an attractive layout. Anna Byrd didn't overlook anybody throughout the book, so all the girls who were nominated for candidates will be found on a special page following the winners. Others who appear in the "Frogland" section include the presidents, outstanding students and the representatives to the four collegiate affairs of the campus this year.

The beauty of the book can't be told in words, as you have probably realized by now. I can't do it justice. I have tried to give a synopsis of only a few of the outstanding characteristics with the hope that when you get your book Monday that you'll realize that your Horned Frog this year is a product of both hard work and competent leadership. Anna Byrd, Jones Bacus, and the staff hope that you'll appreciate their efforts. If you shouldn't like the book, you may consider the last page of it officially dedicated to you.

ATHLETES SAY:
"THEY DON'T GET YOUR WIND!"

Read below what leading sports champions say about Camels

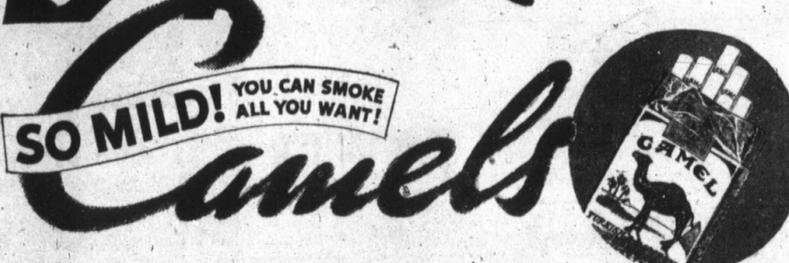

With the preference of star athletes overwhelmingly for one cigarette, that cigarette has to be exceptionally mild! Its name is well known to you—Camel. Here's what an Olympic champion diver, Harold ("Dutch") Smith, says about Camels: "I've found a great deal of pleasure in Camels. They never interfere with my mind." Rip Collins, of the St. Louis Cardinals, says: "Here's the best proof I know that Camels are mild: I can smoke them steadily, and they never get my wind."

Rowland Dufton, of the New York A. C., says: "Squash is a game that requires A1 condition for tournament play. I've found that Camels are so mild I can smoke all I want, and they never upset my nerves or get my wind. That's what I call real mildness!"

Dick Shelton, world-champion steer dogger, says: "I must be sure the cigarettes I smoke are mild. Camels are very mild—don't get my wind." And those two brilliant golfers, Denny Shute and Helen Hicks, have come to the same conclusion—"Camels do not get my wind."

How this mildness is important to you too!

Camel smokers can smoke more—and enjoy smoking more, knowing that sports champions have found Camels so mild that they never jangle their nerves or get their wind.

COSTLIER TOBACCOS!

Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCOS—Turkish and Domestic—than any other popular brand.

Twelve Jackets In Class Sports To Be Awarded

Jones, Bryan, Hudson To Get Manager Sweaters.

Roberson High Man Prouse Satisfied With Showing of Intramurals for Year.

Twelve winners of intramural jackets for this season were announced this week by Prof. Tom Prouse. Nine of the jackets were awarded for participation in intramural events, and three were awarded to intramural managers. Olin Jones, Edgar Bryan and Bill Hudson won the manager awards.

Buck Roberson finished the season with the greatest number of participation points, leading the field with 470. Other winners of participation jackets were Lawrence King, Orville Patty, Bruce Scrafford, John Knowles, Ray Wester, Don McLeland and Woodrow Lipscomb.

A review of the past season shows the Sophomores to be the leaders in intramural team sports, having annexed the title in tag football, the "A" League in basketball, baseball and swimming. Led by Captain Olin Jones, the Sophs were well up in the race in every intramural tournament.

The Outlaws, winners of the "B" League championship in basketball, won the campus basketball tournament by defeating the Sophs in the play-off. Don McLeland, Freshman, was crowned champion in the tennis tournament. Herman Pittman, a Junior, won the singles championship in handball and teamed with Jimmy Walkup, a Senior, to annex the doubles championship. Walkup was the winner of the horseshoe tournament. Jim Winton, Soph, defeated Jim Winton, Fresh, one up in the golf play-off to win that championship.

Prof. Prouse expressed a great satisfaction in the results and the interest shown in the past intramural season. He was especially elated over the success of the first intramural open house, which was held March 13. It is estimated that more than 400 persons attended the open house and witnessed the contests of the evening. Dancing was enjoyed in the Gymnasium after the contests were completed.

Intramural athletics boasted the largest number of participants this season that has ever taken part in inter-class sports on the T. C. U. campus. In most cases the teams were fairly evenly matched, tending toward closer competition in all events.

Donovan's DOPE

By PAUL DONOVAN
The curtain dropped with a bang on all conference sports last weekend, leaving the athletes time to catch up on their studying, their resting and their courting in the final weeks of school. To some the dropping of the curtain was a welcome relief after the months of training, but to others, seniors in particular, it brought sadness.

It's tough for a senior to realize that never again will he be able to take part in the sports that he has been playing for four years. The keen rivalry, the spirit of comradeship that have meant to much these college years are just memories now. The closing of an athletic career is enough to make anyone feel low for a time.

A number of T. C. U. athletes played their final game last weekend. To them this column is dedicated, in appreciation of their efforts of the past and wishing them continued success.

In baseball Capt. Jimmy Jacks, Dan Harston, Frank Lozo and Boaz Hoskins are the outgoing seniors. All four are lettermen and have been stars on the Frog nine for three years. All were members of the 1933 team which brought T. C. U. its first conference baseball championship.

Harston has been picked as left fielder on the all-conference team this year. He was one of the leading hitters of the conference, as well as a dependable fielder. Jacks was also one of the outstanding players in the conference. The fact that he divided time between pitching and first-basing kept him from making the all-star team. Lozo was one of the most consistent hitters on the squad, always hard to get out when a hit was needed. Hoskins turned in several fine pitching performances during the year.

Another senior member of the baseball team who deserves special recognition is Bull Hudson. There is one of the hardest workers that ever put on a uniform. For three years he has played the role of a reserve on the varsity and has done it better than anyone else could have. When he took the mound Friday in the last game of the season the whole school was pulling for him. He pitched a splendid game, allowing three runs in eight innings. It was a hard one to lose, but his mates just couldn't give him the needed runs to win.

Three members of the tennis team played their final match for the Frogs this year. Judy Truelson, Mark Hart and Atys Gardener have been on the net team for three years, and have kept the Frogs in the running, although they have never been able to win a title. Truelson has been one of the outstanding athletes of the University for the past three years, starring in football, basketball, track and tennis.

It looked for a while like Jimmy Walkup, senior golfer, would close his career with a victory in the conference tournament. It would have been a fitting finish for the player who has kept the sport alive in T. C. U. for the past three years. He has played an outstanding game on all occasions, but has just fallen short of reaching the top each year.

In the conference tournament last week in Houston, Walkup led the field easily for 36 holes. It looked like he would breeze in with a low score, but Ed White, the Texas star, began to play sub-par golf and finished just ahead of Walkup.

It would have been a happier bunch of seniors if they could have brought more championships to the University in this their final year. However, the student body is grateful to them for the way they played the game, and not for the victories they have won. They have done their share and done it nobly, and for that we salute them.

B. B. A. Picnic Postponed

The B. B. A. spring picnic, which was postponed from yesterday will be held at Forest Park at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. The baseball competition and other games will be part of the afternoon's fun, as arranged last week. The barbecued chicken still holds good, too, those in charge say.

Boeck Is Speaker

Dr. A. L. Boeck was guest speaker at a dinner given by the Business Girls' Club of the Y.W.C.A. at 6:30 Wednesday evening. His subject was "Personal Relations in Business."

Baseballers End Season in Cellar

Bruins Hand Wolfmen Pair of 4-to-2 Defeats.

Team	W.	L.	Pct.
Texas	9	3	.750
A. & M.	6	6	.455
Baylor	5	7	.417
T. C. U.	4	7	.364

The hustling Baylor nine took both games of the season's final series Thursday and Friday from the Horned Frogs by the same score, 4 to 2. The two defeats left the Frogs in last place in the conference standings, one-half game behind the Bears who played one more game than the Wolfmen.

Both games were hard fought with the outcome in doubt until the final inning. The first went ten innings while in the second the Bears scored in the eighth and ninth to win. Jelly Sorrelle pitched both contests for the Bruins, allowing four hits in the opener and five in the final.

Darrell Lester worked for the Wolfmen in the opening contest and pitched fine ball all the way. With his mates playing errorless ball behind him, the star right-hander had little trouble with the Baylor hitters until the ninth.

The Frogs had jumped into the lead in the first frame by counting one run. After the Bears had tied it up in the third on two hits and a fielder's choice the Wolfmen regained the lead in the fifth when Lester scored on a sacrifice fly.

In the ninth Hensley led off for Baylor with a triple and scored on Bolger's single to knot the count again. Two runs in the tenth decided the game in favor of the Bruins. Lester hit Sorrelle, the first man up. A sacrifice and infield out placed him on third, and he scored on an infield hit for the winning run.

The second game of the series was the same story, with the two teams on even terms until the eighth when the Bears counted the winning marker. Bill Hudson, pitching his first conference game for the Purple, held the Bruins in check until the eighth. He was given great support by his

Walkup Is Runner-Up In Golf Tournament

Frog Star Loses to Texas Ace After Setting Pace for 54 Holes.

After setting the pace for 54 holes in the conference golf tournament in Houston Saturday, Capt. Jimmy Walkup, Frog star, dropped behind on the final round and was noed out by Ed White, Texas ace.

The conference title was decided by medal play this year, in place of the customary match play. Low score over 72 holes won the championship. Walkup was off to a good start on the Brae Burn Country Club course, and at the halfway mark held a two-stroke advantage over White. These two were far ahead of the rest of the field all the way. The Purple leader picked up another stroke on the next 8 and went into the home stretch 3 shots ahead of White.

On the last round the Longhorn star closed the gap steadily by shooting sub par golf while Walkup was having difficulty with his shots. White carded a 71 while the best Walkup could do was a 78. White's total for the 72 holes was 293, four strokes better than Walkup.

Team honors also went to Texas. The team matches were played over the same course.

Graduate Gets Scholarship

News has been received from Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Yarborough that Yarborough has been awarded a scholarship to Yale next year. He received his A. B. from T. C. U. in 1931, when Mrs. Yarborough received her M. A.

Will Teach at E. T. S. T. C.

Dr. Allen True will teach history at the East Texas State Teachers College at Commerce the first summer semester. He will teach at T. C. U. the second semester, and Dr. W. J. Hammond will teach at Commerce.

especially the infield which turned in five double plays.

Batting honors for the day went to Lee, Baylor third baseman, whose home run in the eighth decided the game. He also hammered out a triple and single. Sam Baugh led the Frogs with two singles.

Steers and Owls Divide Net Honors

Conference tennis honors were divided between Texas and Rice in the final matches played Saturday in Austin. Hess of Rice cropped the singles championship while the doubles crown went to Weltens and Pease of Texas.

Judy Truelson, Frog star, won his first match in the singles event, beating Brown of Rice 6-2, 3-6, 6-1. The doubles team of Truelson and Mark Hart scored a victory in their first match by beating the Baylor team 6-1, 6-4.

Truelson was eliminated in the singles by Weltens, runner-up in that event. The Texas doubles team of Brady and Smalley downed Truelson and Hart in the second round in straight sets, 6-3, 6-1.

Seven Are Initiated Into "T" Association

McGraw, Harrell, Durrett, Roberson, Saam, Brown, McLeland Are New Members.

Seven new members were initiated into the "T" Association Wednesday night. Track, tennis, and basketball were the sports that contributed the new men. Every man that lettered on the baseball team had lettered in that or some other sport before.

Four members of the track team received their first letters. They were Mitchel McGraw, Bob Harrell, John Durrett and Buck Roberson. Basketball had two new lettermen, Byrum Saam and Vernon Brown. Tennis contributed one man to the group, Don McLeland.

Out of the four-man golf team, two received letters, Jimmy Walkup and Jack Panter, but both are already in the association.

Play Will Be Given In Auditorium Today

A one-act play will be presented today at 2 o'clock in the auditorium. Admission will be 5 cents. The play is directed by Miss Helen Adams, and members of the cast are: Miss Ruth Connor, Miss Mary Agnes Rowland, Charles Wilson and Louis Pitchford.

Louis Pitchford was elected stage manager for the coming year at the regular meeting of the Dramatic Club last Friday night.

Five Records Fall At Conference Meet

Christians Annex But One Point as Texas Wins Track and Field Tourney.

Five records were broken and one tied in the annual Southwest Conference track and field meet last weekend in College Station. Texas walked off with the championship by piling up 73½ points. Rice finished second with 48½. The best the Horned Frogs could do was a fourth in the sprint relay which netted them one point.

Two Texas sprinters fought it out for high point honors. Grunleson won out by amassing 13, while his teammate Wallender made 12½.

Wallender, Steer speed merchant, equalled the 100-yard dash record of 9.6 seconds and lowered the record in the 220 to 20.5 seconds. Cy Leland, former Frog star, was the former holder of the record. Wallender was also a member of the Texas 440-yard relay team which lowered the record in that event with the time of 1:41.8.

Skripka of A. & M. shattered the javelin record with a toss of 206 feet 3¼ inches. Petty of Rice bettered his own record in the discus by throwing it 157 feet 7¾ inches. The other new record was made in the pole vault when Weichert of Rice cleared the bar at 13 feet 5½ inches.
