EVENTS AND INFORMATION FOR THE TCU COMMUNITY

VOL. 3, NO. 20

JANUARY 26, 1998

TCU celebrates African-American history and heritage in February

TCU STUDENTS, FACULTY AND STAFF will celebrate African-American heritage and history through performances, music and exhibits this February.

The observance, traditionally known as Black History Month, will feature several events involving the campus community.

Feb. 5

TCU Jazz Band to perform

The TCU Jazz Band will give a concert from noon to 1 p.m. in the Student Center lounge.

Feb. 11

Buffalo soldier exhibit on display

Artifacts representing the days of the buffalo soldier will be on display from 7 to 10 p.m. in the Student Center ballroom. (Buffalo soldiers were former slaves who served the nation in the Union army. Often overlooked in discussions of history, these soldiers played a vital role in the post-reconstruction era.)

Feb. 16

Students play "Jeopardy" game show

Students will compete in a "Jeopardy" game show to educate participants about African-American history from noon to 1 p.m. in the Student Center lounge.

Feb. 17

Students hold talent show, host acts

Students will put on a talent show from noon to 1 p.m. in the Student Center lounge. Local artists have been invited to do "coffee house" style lounge acts for the audience before the show.

Feb. 19

Negro League memorabilia on display

Uniforms, photos and baseball cards from famous Negro League baseball teams that flourished in the first half of this century will be displayed, noon to 8 p.m., Student Center lounge. Special appearances by members of the Texas Rangers baseball club, the Fort Worth Fire and the Dallas Cowboys are scheduled.

Feb. 25

One-man show in ballroom

Actor/performer Phillip Walker will put on a one-man show from 7 to 10 p.m. in the Student Center ballroom.

For more information on any of these events, call the Student Center Information Desk at ext. 7927. ♦

Tandy RetroFest '98 brings 1940s to campus

TCU'S COLLEGE OF FINE ARTS AND Communication will join the 40-plus area cultural and educational organizations participating in Tandy RetroFest '98, a community-wide celebration of a decade. This year's event, set for February through April, presents a lineup of events built around the 1940s. The highlights:

• Film Noir, a series of evening lectures and screenings of and about the film genre of the era. From John Huston's The Maltese Falcon to Billy Wilder's Double Indemnity, the decade unfolds on six Thursday nights, beginning Feb. 19. Each is set for 7 p.m. in Rm. 164S of the J.M. Moudy Bldg.

• Classical Excursions Rosemary Solomons will feature music and events from the 1940s on KTCU FM 88.7 from 10 a.m. to noon Fridays, from Feb. 20 through April 10.

• Monday Night Recital/Concert Series Free public performances of 1940s work by TCU faculty and musical groups at 7:30 p.m. Mondays throughout the spring.

• Romeo and Juliet State Theatre Koleso of Togliatti, Russia returns to TCU for a RetroFest production of Shakespeare's Romeo and Juliet, set against the background of the Cold War. TCU students will play the Montagues while the Russians portray the Capulets...each in their own language. Play dates Feb. 25 - March 1.

• Forward to the Past The Department of Ballet and Modern Dance will premiere original works that evoke the 1940s, from "story ballets" to jazz. 8 p.m. Feb. 27-28, 2 p.m. March 1

• Salute to the Big Bands TCU's annual Jazz Festival pays tribute to the sounds of the 1940s at 8 p.m. April 4, Ed Landreth Auditorium. Featured soloist with the TCU Jazz Ensemble is Las Vegas jazz trombonist Carl Fontana. Tickets are $8 for adults, $6 for students.

• 1940s Radio Hour TCU Theatre presents a musical trip down memory lane with this toe-tapping production, set at a Manhattan radio station just before Christmas 1942.

This TCU Guild production is set to run at 8 p.m. April 15-18 and at 2 p.m. April 18 and 19 in the Spencer and Marlene Hays Theatre of the Mary D. and F. Howard Walsh Center for Performing Arts.

Tandy RetroFest '98 brochures, containing the entire schedule of countywide events, will be available in the Student Center lobby and at the Kelly Center ♦

Participating artists include Gladys Pinkerton, Don Punchatz, Melba Northum, Luther Smith, Terri Cummings, Chris Powell, Ron Watson, Roby McEuen, Jim Woodson, Thad Duhigg, David Conn, Michael Niblett, Dick Lane, Susan Harrington, Lewis Glaser, Sally Packard and Linda D. Guy.

Hours are 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. Mondays, 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Tuesdays through Fridays, 1 to 4 p.m. Saturdays and Sundays. ♦

Starpoint School taking applications

STARPOINT SCHOOL, THE ON-CAMPUS laboratory school for elementary-age children with learning differences, is presently accepting applications for the '98-'99 academic year.

Starpoint serves as a training site for School of Education students preparing to become teachers. Children who attend are ages six to 11 (first through fourth grade), with learning differences and/or attention deficits that interfere with academic progress in the traditional classroom.

If you are interested in learning more about Starpoint School, call ext. 7141. Testing for entry must be completed by Feb. 20.

Starpoint School is located across Stadium Drive from the Kelly Center. Observation visits are welcomed. ♦

"First Lady of Percussion" performs here tomorrow

SCOTTISH PERCUSSIONIST EVELYN Glennie will give a single recital of unaccompanied percussion music at 8 p.m. Tuesday in Ed Landreth

Auditorium. Part of the Cliburn Concerts series, the recital will include unusual instruments playing music from Japan, Iceland, South Africa and the Scottish Highlands.

Glennie, diagnosed as profoundly deaf at age 12, is able to perceive sound through vibrations that she picks up through her body and by performing barefoot, a process she has spent years refining.

Tickets, priced at $36, $24 and $12, are on sale through Central Ticket Office at 335-9000. ♦

Neeley School to host M.B.A. open house Feb. 7

THE NEELEY SCHOOL MBA PROGRAM will hold an open house from 10 a.m. to noon on Feb. 7 in the Tandy Hall atrium. All prospective MBA students are encouraged to attend this event and gather information about the program's entrance requirements and deadlines.

Details on the graduate business program and its admissions process will be discussed, and a student panel will be on-hand to answer questions and provide a students' perspective about the program.

The Neeley School has been identified by the Princeton Review as one of the leading business schools in the United States for building communication skills, and offers both full and part-time evening graduate studies. Students complete a full-time program in two years, while a three-year study plan is available for evening students. ♦

First lighting minors will graduate in May

A NEW PROGRAM AIMED AT RETAIL lighting will see its first two minors graduate at spring commencement. Fred Oberkircher (design, merchandising and fashion) is in charge of the interdisciplinary course on the art of lighting.

"The minor is geared toward interior design, promotion and theater majors and trains students to create the very powerfully-themed environments possessed by restaurants, retailers, hospitals and TV/movie/theater sets," Fred explains. "The lighting of a store, restaurant or display can conjure a feeling simply by the way it's lit." ♦

45 Honors students recognized at ceremony

CHANCELLOR BILL TUCKER WAS featured speaker at yesterday's third annual Associate Honors Scholars Recognition Ceremony in the Faculty Center. The event cited 45 members of the Honors Program for timely completion of their lower division requirements. ♦

Corrections to Spring Fine Arts Calendar

PLAY DATES FOR THE TCU GUILD production of 1940s Radio Hour have been changed so as not to conflict with the TCU Latin American Music Festival.

Performances are set for 8 p.m. April 15-18 and at 2 p.m. April 18-19 in the Spencer and Marlene Hays Theatre of the Mary D. and F. Howard Walsh Center for Performing Arts.

1940s Radio Hour is part of the Tandy RetroFest '98 schedule this spring. Staged by the TCU Theatre Department, it is a music romp down memory lane with the student cast singing great hits from the era of World War II.

Tickets will be $10.

Also, in calendar listings for The TCU Performance Series at The Contemporary Art Center downtown, the Feb. 5 entry was incorrect. Tenor Scott Ferrell of the TCU voice faculty will perform with guest artist Aimee Hurst on piano. ♦
