CNN's Dr. Sanjay Gupta will speak at Fogelson Honors Forum on Oct. 10

CNN SENIOR MEDICAL CORRESPONDENT AND pop culture icon Dr. Sanjay Gupta will be the featured speaker at this year's Fogelson Honors Forum at 8 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 10 in Ed Landreth Auditorium. Dr. Gupta, whose on-air reports have included coverage of Hurricane Katrina, the South Asian tsunami, battlefield medicine breakthroughs and the threat of bird flu, will discuss the impact of today's near instant access to on-scene media.

The lecture, sponsored by the TCU Honors Program, is free and open to the public although seat reservations are necessary. For more information and reservations, call Joshua Long at ext. 6488 or visit the Fogelson Honors Forum Web site at <http://www.fogelson.tcu.edu/>.

Dr. Gupta, a practicing neurosurgeon in Atlanta hospitals and an assistant professor of neurosurgery at Emory University School of Medicine there, plays an integral role in CNN's medical coverage which includes daily packages, a half-hour weekend show and live reports of breaking medical news. He joined CNN in 2001 and became part of the network team covering the Sept. 11 attacks and the anthrax scare that followed.

He continued to raise his on-air profile with coverage of battlefield medicine in Iraq and Kuwait, the AIDS pandemic and the December 2004 tsunami that took more than 155,000 lives in South Asia.

In 2003, he was named one of People magazine's

Dr. Sanjay Gupta

"sexiest men alive," and a "pop culture icon" by USA Today.

The Fogelson Honors Forum, now in its ninth year, is made possible by a $1 million gift from the estates of Buddy Fogelson and his wife, the actress Greer Garson. A successful Texas oilman and rancher, Buddy Fogelson attended TCU in 1919 and 1920. Previous lecturers in this series have included economist/actor Ben Stein, political insiders James Carville and Mary Matalin, statesman George Mitchell, historians David McCullough and Doris Kearns Goodwin. ♦

June 17-29, 2007 (TCU). The workshops will be held on campus.

Stevenson stated, "It is a great honor to be associated with Texas Christian University. I look forward to working with the talented faculty, instructors, staff and students at TCU."

"We are delighted to have Ben Stevenson, a world-class choreographer and artistic director, affiliated with our dance program," said Scott Sullivan, dean of the College of Fine Arts. "Our students, faculty and the entire university community will benefit immensely from his rich talent and experience."

A native of Portsmouth, England, Stevenson received dance training in London and has danced there with the Sadler's Wells Royal Ballet and with London Festival Ballet. In 1976, he became artistic director of Houston Ballet which he built into one of America's leading ballet companies. He is currently in his fourth season with Texas Ballet Theater which performs in both Fort Worth and Dallas. ♦
