EVENTS AND INFORMATION FOR THE TCU COMMUNITY

VOL. 12 NO. 11

OCTOBER 30, 2006

TCU hosts annual Health Fair

THE TCU DEPARTMENTS OF HEALTH promotions and campus recreation are co-sponsoring the 2006 TCU Health Fair, Friday, Nov. 10 in the University Recreation Center from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

The first 400 TCU faculty and staff who attend will receive free flu shots. After the first 400 people, flu shots will be offered for $25 per person. In addition, free cholesterol and body composition testing will be available at the event. In order to get the most accurate cholesterol results, fasting for 12 hours prior to the test is recommended.

Flu shots are available for students at the Brown-Lupton Health Center for $20 per person.

"The TCU Health Fair is an attempt to broaden the scope of health beyond fitness and exercise," said Steve Kintigh. "We will have booths ranging from vegetarian interests to bone marrow donations, tai chi to yoga, as well as standard physical measurements like blood pressure, body composition and cholesterol checks."

The TCU Health Fair is offering free health screenings, organ donation sign up, volunteer opportunities and information and literature on a variety of organizations including health care providers, wellness businesses, volunteer organizations and spas.

For more information, contact Steve at ext. 7529. ♦

Insights Magazine announces a call for articles, due Nov. 15

INSIGHTS MAGAZINE, PUBLISHED BY TCU'S Center for Teaching Excellence, is an exclusive magazine featuring articles written by TCU faculty on the subject of teaching, learning and new technologies.

The publication is currently accepting articles until Nov. 15 (1,000-1,500 words). Topic for this volume is "Successful Strategies for Student Learning." Subtopics include: accommodating diverse learning styles; incorporating active learning strategies; integrating community-based learning (service learning, experiential learning, fieldwork, internships); using effective teaching techniques (classroom discussions, lectures); and developing student's critical learning thinking/problem-solving skills.

According to CTE consultant Keith Whitworth (sociology), the magazine also welcomes submissions regarding incorporating technology in any of the above topics. Direct questions and submissions to Keith at k.whitworth@tcu.edu or ext. 5941. The first volume of Insights is archived at <http://www.cte.tcu.edu/ctemagazine2006.pdf>. ♦

Fall Dance Concert takes the Landreth stage this weekend

BALLET & MODERN DANCE STUDENTS WILL perform four concerts during the upcoming weekend. Shows are at 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday, and at 2 p.m. Saturday and Sunday in Ed Landreth Auditorium.

General admission is $10 at the door, non-TCU students with ID $5 and TCU faculty, staff and students free with ID. Call ext. 7615 for more information.

The program, titled Live@DanceTCU, will feature premieres by Ballet & Modern Dance faculty. Li-Chou Cheng, professor of professional practice, is restaging Act II of the classic ballet Giselle. Giselle, first produced in 1842, is still considered the very essence of the romantic ballet.

In addition, guest choreographer Michelle Dexter will restage her high-energy work Chula. The concert features lighting design by Roma Flowers.

Pessoa is the title of this modern dance choreographed by Susan Douglas Roberts. Pessoa also refers to the poet's name, and is the Portuguese word for "person." Ode: Killer Bees, Y2K, and the right to a fully-automated kitchen, created by Andrea Harris and the dancers in the work, takes a tongue-in-cheek look at fear in the American media. ♦

Schieffer School announces four new Hall of Excellence honorees during Homecoming

THE ANNUAL JOURNALISM EXES BREAKFAST Saturday included the induction of four new members into the Schieffer School's Hall of Excellence.

They are Skip Hollandsworth '79, an executive editor at Texas Monthly and one of the state's best-known writers; Russell Hurst '52, executive director of the Society of Professional Journalists for a record 19 years; Camille Keith '67, an original employee of Southwest Airlines who has risen through the ranks to become vice president of special marketing; and Jerre Todd '57, a former Fort Worth Press sportswriter and area public relations executive for four decades. ♦

KUDOS

Harriet Cohen (social work) is one of 12 geriatric social work professionals nationally to be named a 2006 Hartford Faculty Scholar by the Gerontological Society of America. The distinction provides Dr. Cohen with benefits and guidance aimed to foster her professional development and $100,000 in funding over the next two years, which she will use to conduct research and for professional development.

Her selection as a Hartford Scholar recipient directly reflects her expertise as a social work educator, researcher and practitioner with older adults and the value of her research project titled "The Phenomenology of Forgiveness in Older Holocaust Survivors."

John Miller (RTVF) has been appointed to serve on the nine-member jury for the Alfred I. duPont Columbia University Awards. The nationally televised ceremony to present the honors will be Jan. 17. Miller is himself the winner of two duPont Awards presented during his 35-year career in local TV news.

NEW FACES

Rosangela Boyd has been hired as director of community involvement and service learning (student development services). She has M.Ed. and Ph.D. degrees from Clemson University and was previously an associate professor in the College of Health Professions at Temple University.
