CALL TO WORSHIP Reverend Angela Kaufman
Minister to the University

Leader: We praise You, O God, and know You as our creator. By Your gifts to us we seek to make perfect our will to accord with Your will for us.

People: (All reading together) Your gifts to us require that we do justly, love mercy, and walk humbly. Thereby we worship and serve You and discover ourselves to be made in Your image.

Leader: Be joyful and worship God. Honor God's presence with a song.

HYMN (All standing) Led by Dr. James D. Rodriguez
Assistant Professor of Voice & Voice Pedagogy

Praise Be to God the Almighty

Joachim Neander, 1680 From Everflowing Streams, Pilgrim Press, 1981

Praise be to God, the Almighty, who rules all creation.
O my soul, worship the well-spring of health and salvation.
Let all who hear Now to God's temple draw near,
Joining in glad adoration!

Praise be to God, who o'er all things is wondrously reigning,
Bringing new life, in great mercy redeeming, sustaining.
Ponder anew, What the Almighty can do.
Ponder God's gracious ordaining.

AMEN

New words and some adaptations by Ruth Duck, 1980. Used by permission.

Toccata from Symphony V..... Charles-Marie Widor

If medical attention is needed during the program, an usher will arrange for assistance.

While every care has been exercised in compiling and publishing the information contained in these pages, TCU recognizes that human or technical error can occur.

GÉRALD ORIOL, JR.

Gérald Oriol, Jr., Haiti's twice-appointed Secretary of State for the Integration of Persons with Disabilities, is internationally renowned for his work in the field of disability rights.

In his home country, Mr. Oriol and his staff provide services to an estimated one million individuals. These services include advancing disability rights in Haiti, providing childhood access to education and creating economic opportunities for persons with disabilities, and promoting the development of a physically accessible environment.

He has initiated numerous pieces of legislation that have strengthened the legal framework around disability rights, including the Law for the Integration of Persons with Disabilities. Prior to his appointment as Secretary, he co-founded Fondation J'Aime Haiti [I Love Haiti Foundation], a nonprofit that champions the rights of disabled and impoverished persons.

Mr. Oriol has collaborated with organizations such as USAID, the World Bank, the European Union, the United Nations and the Organization of American States. He has represented Haiti at disability conferences throughout the world and also has served as special adviser to HaitiChildren, a U.S. non-profit supporting orphaned and disabled children.

Mr. Oriol has been honored with the Texas Christian University Global Innovator Award and the Fondation Lucienne Deschamps 2011 Prix Humanitaire. He has been featured three times in Ability Magazine, the leading disability magazine in the world.

RESEARCH DESIGN

The study was conducted in a laboratory setting. The participants were recruited from a local university and were paid for their participation.

The study was approved by the Institutional Review Board at the local university.

The participants were randomly assigned to two groups: the control group and the experimental group.

The control group received the standard treatment, while the experimental group received the experimental treatment.

The study was conducted over a period of 12 weeks.

The participants were assessed at baseline and at the end of the 12-week period.

The primary outcome measure was the change in the level of the dependent variable.

The secondary outcome measures were the change in the level of the independent variables.

The data were analyzed using statistical software.

The results of the study are presented in the following sections.

The study was limited by the laboratory setting and the short duration of the study.

The study was limited by the small sample size.

The study was limited by the lack of blinding.

The study was limited by the lack of randomization.

The study was limited by the lack of control group.

The study was limited by the lack of standardization.

The study was limited by the lack of generalizability.

The study was limited by the lack of external validity.

The study was limited by the lack of internal validity.

The study was limited by the lack of reliability.

The study was limited by the lack of validity.

The study was limited by the lack of accuracy.

The study was limited by the lack of precision.

The study was limited by the lack of consistency.

The study was limited by the lack of stability.

The study was limited by the lack of reproducibility.

VICTOR J. BOSCHINI, JR.

Victor J. Boschini, Jr., Texas Christian University's 10th chancellor, earned a bachelor's degree from Mount Union College, a master's degree from Bowling Green State University, and a doctorate in higher education administration from Indiana University. He has also received Honorary Doctorates from Lincoln University and The University of Mount Union. In 2005 he was the recipient of the Distinguished Alumni Award from the Indiana University College of Education. He holds the rank of professor of education and currently teaches one course, "The American University Experience," per academic year for the College of Education.

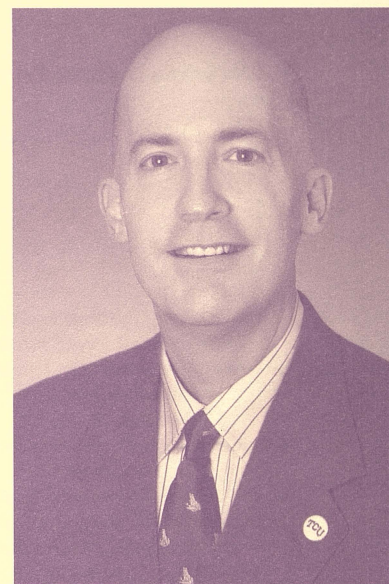

Dr. Boschini came to TCU after serving as president of Illinois State University, where he also previously served as vice president for student affairs and associate professor in the Department of Educational Administration and Foundations. Prior to that he held administrative and teaching positions at DePauw, Butler and Indiana universities.

Dr. Boschini was appointed last year as a representative of the Big 12 Conference to serve on the NCAA Presidential Forum that involves presidential leadership of intercollegiate athletics and assists the NCAA Division I Board of Directors in accomplishing its strategic mission in the Division 1 governance structure.

Dr. Boschini sits on the board of the State Farm Company Mutual Funds, as well as on the boards of the Fort Worth Symphony Orchestra, the Van Cliburn Foundation and the Moncrief Cancer Institute. This year he joined the board of his alma mater, Mount Union College. His wife, Megan Boschini, is also involved in a variety of activities in the city of Fort Worth. Currently she serves on the Board for Gill Charity, Inc. They are both committed to ensuring that they, and TCU, are active participants in the Fort Worth community.

Dr. and Mrs. Boschini are members of the Addison & Randolph Clark Society at the Centurion level, members of the Chancellor's Council, and members of the TCU Frog Club. Both can be found at a variety of events across campus on any given day. They also spend a considerable amount of time traveling across the state and country, advocating for Texas Christian University.

Dr. and Mrs. Boschini have four children: TCU graduates Elizabeth Anne, Mary Catherine, and Edward Mark; and Margaret Ellen, TCU Class of 2018.

BACCALAUREATE HONORS RECOGNITION

Students having a cumulative grade point average of 3.9 or above on a 4.0 scale are graduated Summa Cum Laude; those with 3.7 to 3.9 are graduated Magna Cum Laude; those with 3.5 to 3.7 are graduated Cum Laude.

Students with the requisite GPA who have completed with distinction Honors work in the major or minor field of study, including a Senior Honors Project, are recognized as having attained Departmental Honors. Those who completed an interdisciplinary Senior Honors Project involving more than one major field of study receive Interdepartmental Honors.

Students receiving Interdepartmental Honors in Business completed the Neeley Fellows Program, a program within the Neeley School of Business, involving an interdisciplinary Senior Honors Field Study in Strategic Management.

INTERNATIONAL FLAGS

The twenty flags displayed on the arena floor represent the countries of our twenty-seven international students who are receiving their diplomas today. The following countries are represented: Bolivia, Canada, China, Colombia, Ecuador, Ghana, Greece, Guatemala, Honduras, Nigeria, Pakistan, Panama, Philippines, Rwanda, Saudi Arabia, Singapore, Spain, Sri Lanka, Turkey and Vietnam.

THE UNIVERSITY MACE

The mace is a symbol of the strength of a university. In medieval times, the mace was a weapon designed to protect the dignitary in a procession. Academia borrowed that tradition from royalty designating it as a symbol of the power of a university and of its leader – power shared with the faculty. Maces, similar in appearance to ancestral weaponry, usually are constructed of wood or metal and may have symbols of the institution worked into the design. Texas Christian University's mace was created to commemorate the inauguration of Chancellor Michael R. Ferrari in 1999. TCU staff member, Robert Kramer, a master carver, made the shaft of the mace. It is fashioned from a wooden beam from the first building constructed at AddRan Male and Female College in Thorp Spring, Texas. The head of the mace was created by international sculptor and TCU parent, Seppo Aarnos, and proudly bears the horned frog, adopted in 1897 as the University's mascot. An amethyst at the center of the head glows with the colors purple for royalty and white for purity.

TRADITION OF ACADEMIC DRESS

The history of academic dress dates from at least the twelfth century, when long gowns were needed for warmth in the unheated buildings used by medieval scholars. In England, both Oxford and Cambridge made academic dress a matter of university surveillance, and both institutions regulated which colors and trim could be used by faculty and students. In May 1895, representatives from American institutions of higher learning met at Columbia University and formulated a "code of academic dress" which has generally been followed since that time, although some revisions were initiated in 1932 and in 1960.

The dress code recommended that gowns for the bachelor's degree should be worn closed and should have pointed sleeves. Gowns for the master's degree can be worn open or closed, but their sleeves are oblong in shape with open wrists. Gowns worn by those holding the doctoral degree also can be worn open or closed and feature bell shaped sleeves.

Gowns from different institutions vary in color, but most are black. Neither the bachelors' nor the masters' gowns feature trim, but doctoral gowns are faced down the front with black velvet and hold three bars of the same fabric across the sleeves. Sometimes these facings and sleeve-bars are velvet of the color distinctive of the subject to which the degree pertains, thus agreeing in color with the binding or edging of the hood appropriate to the particular doctoral degree of the wearer.

Hoods are to be of the same color and material as the gowns and are lined with the official color(s) of the college or university conferring the degree. Bindings or edgings for the hoods display the color distinctive of the subject to which the degree pertains. Bachelors' hoods are three feet in length; masters' hoods are three and one-half feet in length; doctoral hoods measure four feet in length.

For all academic purposes, including the trimmings of gowns, hoods, and tassels, the colors associated with the different academic fields are as follows:

Arts, Letters, Humanities	White
Commerce, Accountancy, Business	Drab
Economics	Copper
Education	Light Blue
Fine Arts, including Architecture	Brown
Journalism	Crimson
Medicine	Green
Music	Pink
Nursing	Apricot
Oratory (Speech)	Silver Gray
Philosophy	Dark Blue
Public Administration, including Foreign Service	Peacock Blue
Science	Golden Yellow
Social Work	Citron
Theology	Scarlet

THE FOUNDERS AND THEIR COLLEGE

One of the oldest institutions of higher learning in the southwest, Texas Christian University traces its origin to the chaotic decade immediately following the Civil War. If longevity is a mark of distinction in our time, the beneficiaries include TCU.

The birthplace of the University, Thorp Spring (near Granbury in Hood County) now lies still and quiet save for the doings of nature. Then it was a community of a few families and served as both health resort and stagecoach stop. To grow the settlement bearing his name, Pleasant Thorp erected a "commodious building" with the hope of persuading some educator to turn it into a schoolhouse.

Forty miles away in Fort Worth, the Brothers Clark – Addison and Randolph – had launched an academy in 1869. Notwithstanding modest success, they concluded that their property, close to what came to be known as "Hell's Half Acre," was no place for a character-building school. The firm expectation that the Texas and Pacific Railroad with its attendant vices soon would reach the town only added to their unease. As a consequence, they decided to start again and accepted Mr. Thorp's proposal.

Randolph moved to Thorp Spring in time to open the doors of their new school on the first Monday in September 1873. Honoring his commitment to Fort Worth patrons, Addison did not relocate until the next summer. Their father, Joseph Addison, followed a year later. A restless lawyer-surveyor and preacher in the Christian Church, he ably assisted his sons especially in business affairs.

The co-founders, Addison and Randolph, proved to be an exceptional twosome. Veterans of the Confederate Army but hardly firebrands, they dedicated themselves to rebuilding their homeland after the Civil War left it in a shambles. The level of trust and affection between them was remarkable. Different from each other, to be sure, Randolph was outgoing and venturesome; Addison, reserved and erudite. A student of Addison's, Colby D. Hall, offered telling testimony. Referring to his teacher, he wrote: "You taught me homiletics and second-year Latin. Latin was not in your department. You taught it because there was no other teacher available." Addison was a scholar. Indeed, the strengths of the brothers were complementary. No wonder their professional relationship with Addison as president and Randolph as vice president was long-lived.

The Clarks named their school AddRan Male and Female College in honor of Addison's firstborn, AddRan, who died of diphtheria at the age of three. Beginning with thirteen pupils, enrollment increased to seventy-five by the close of the first session and passed two hundred in the fourth year. The co-founders and their father had good reason for encouragement.

But trouble surfaced. The business arrangement between the Clarks and Pleasant Thorp soured, and misunderstanding led to rupture. "Old Man Thorp" repossessed his building, and the Clarks proceeded to build their own. A three-story structure of forty by sixty feet, it was ready for use in the 1878 spring term.

To cover a portion of the construction costs, Addison and Randolph sold their houses in Fort Worth, and Randolph's wife, Emma, parted with two of her treasured properties. AddRan was a family venture in every respect.

Thereafter enrollment turned up but peaked around four hundred fifty. The struggle to match income and expenditures intensified. The College had no endowment and faced gloomy tomorrows. What to do? Preacher-teachers in the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ), the brothers turned their school over to the Church in 1889 and placed in control a self-perpetuating board of trustees. This transfer of assets and authority made sense because the Christian Churches in Texas had "endorsed" and "adopted" the private school at the outset.

A Christian college, AddRan bore no resemblance to today's Bible colleges. The stated purpose of the institution, according to the Charter, was to support and promote "literary and scientific education." The Clarks organized the curriculum into six areas of study: English, ancient languages, mathematics, physical sciences, mental and moral sciences, and social and civic history. The co-founders intended to educate the laity – women and men – as well as preachers. And they did.

To open the way for progress, trustees moved the school to Waco in 1895 and then to Fort Worth in 1910. There AddRan, having been renamed Texas Christian University, claimed a significant place in American higher education. Addison and Randolph Clark stepped aside more than a century ago, but their work continues to unfold.

CLASS OF 2017 DONORS

Each year, graduating seniors have the opportunity to make a gift to Texas Christian University. The following seniors are members of the Junior Clark Society, having demonstrated their commitment to TCU by making a leadership level gift to support people and programs across campus.

Some students gave an annually recurring gift through the Senior Class Legacy program. These student donors had the opportunity to honor up to three people who impacted their time at TCU. Honorees are listed below the name of the donor.

Thank you to all Class of 2017 donors for your gifts to support future Frogs!

CALL TO WORSHIP Reverend Angela Kaufman
Minister to the University

Leader: We praise You, O God, and know You as our creator. By Your gifts to us we seek to make perfect our will to accord with Your will for us.

People: (All reading together) Your gifts to us require that we do justly, love mercy, and walk humbly. Thereby we worship and serve You and discover ourselves to be made in Your image.

Leader: Be joyful and worship God. Honor God's presence with a song.

HYMN (All standing) Led by Dr. James D. Rodriguez
Assistant Professor of Voice & Voice Pedagogy

Praise Be to God the Almighty

Joachim Neander, 1680 From Everflowing Streams, Pilgrim Press, 1981

Praise be to God, the Almighty, who rules all creation.
O my soul, worship the well-spring of health and salvation.
Let all who hear Now to God's temple draw near,
Joining in glad adoration!

Praise be to God, who o'er all things is wondrously reigning,
Bringing new life, in great mercy redeeming, sustaining.
Ponder anew, What the Almighty can do.
Ponder God's gracious ordaining.

AMEN

New words and some adaptations by Ruth Duck, 1980. Used by permission.
