AT THE May meeting of the American Association of College Women, Texas Christian University was admitted to membership in that organization. For several years there has been a desire on the part of the alumnae to secure admission to this association and now this objective has been attained. Certain requirements of the association have been met and T. C. U. is now installed as a member of this important organization. Miss Lyde Spragins has been appointed to serve as assistant dean of women and will assist Mrs. Sadie Beckham, dean of women, in the work of that office. Membership in the association means that the alumnae of T. C. U. will now be admitted to full membership in the local chapters of the association and will have the benefit of the social, cultural and intellectual advantages such membership offers. The alumnae who have interested themselves in the attainment of this desideratum are to be congratulated upon reaching the goal they set for themselves some years ago.

WORD has come to the office of the University that eight young missionaries who are graduates of Texas Christian University have been ordained to their work and appointed to their posts in foreign lands by the United Christian Missionary Society. The names of these T. C. U. alumni and alumnae are as follows: Hallie Strange, '21; Dr. George W. Horton, '26, and his wife, Constance Smith Horton, '25; Joe Fowler, '26, and his wife, Thelma Collins Fowler, '25; Kenneth Bonham, '26, and his wife, Esther Shepherd, '27; Katherine Schutze, '27. What America loses in the departure of these consecrated young people from her shores, Africa, China and Mexico will gain. Not only will there be increase in the Kingdom in lands beyond the sea as a result of the labors of these young missionaries, but also there will be a strengthening of missionary zeal and interest in the Brite College of the Bible and Texas Christian University. The University has made a distinct contribution to the work of Christian missions in the preparation of these missionaries and has again given evidence of a real purpose to fulfill the chief object of its existence. To the Smiths, the Bonhams, the Fowlers, Miss Schutze and Miss Strange, go the best wishes and every token of esteem and affection from those on the T. C. U. campus whom they are to represent and who certainly must now have a more vital interest than ever before in the work of Christian missions.

"A THING of beauty is a joy forever." Such is the T. C. U. campus! Is there a more lovely campus in Texas than our own? It is not necessary to draw any comparisons of this kind. It will be sufficient to say that the T. C. U. campus, neatly kept and constantly being improved, is growing in beauty and attractiveness year by year. It holds the promise of superlative charm and beauty in the years to come. Perhaps the greatest stride forward now being taken is the gradual removal of all athletic playing fields far to the rear of the campus. Their present location has effectively blocked the development of the main campus and the section adjoining the library. Athletic director, L. C. Wright, is putting the finishing touches to the new baseball diamond near the new stadium and this field will be in use in the spring of 1932. It may be deemed advisable to retain the present baseball field for a year or two for the freshman nine, but ultimately all playing fields on the front campus will be abandoned, the fences and stands torn down and the land thrown into the open campus. That will be a campus worth coming miles to see; a campus worthy of being the home of Texas youth who can appreciate charm of landscape and who believe that one's college home ought to be beautiful for situation.

DR. JOHN LORD

which began on June 3 will continue to August 4.

The graduate school was organized in 1926 as a distinct feature of the University work. It has made great growth since that time under the leadership of Dr. John Lord, Dean of the Graduate School. Dr. Lord is to teach in Duke University, Trinity, N. C., during the latter part of the summer.

Miss Cecilia Byrne, 1724 College Avenue, Fort Worth, has left for Boulder, Colorado, where she will attend the summer session of the University of Colorado.

THE University Christian Church, holding services in the college auditorium, is again without a pastor, A. Preston Gray having given up the pastorate on June 1. During the interim between pastorates, the pulpit will be filled by certain of the University professors and other members of the congregation. An effort will be made to concentrate attention on the new building enterprise, so that, even if it is not completed, there will at least be evidence to the delegates to the State Missionary Convention of the Disciples of Christ meeting in Fort Worth next May that the building is on the way to completion.

The summer session of the University is well under way with about three hundred students in attendance. As is usual the Department of Education has large classes, there being seven candidates for the M. A. degree in that department. The summer session

A Rising Scientist

PROFESSOR NEWTON GAINES, head of the physics department of Texas Christian University, journeyed to Austin, Texas, on Monday, June 1st, to receive his doctor's degree from the University of Texas. The work which Dr. Gaines has done in his chosen field of physics has commanded wide attention. In collaboration with O. B. Williams of the University of Texas, a bacteriologist, Professor Gaines has experimented in the production of high-pitched sound waves. Audible sound waves so high pitched and so intense as to be best described as a "terrific squeak" have been used to kill bacteria. Sound waves of much higher pitch, so high as to be wholly inaudible, have in the past been used with fatal effect on living things but the Texas experimenters were the first to show that audible sound waves were also destructive to living things. From the Science News Letter of March 21, 1931, is taken the following account of the work of these scientists.

"Professor Williams and Professor Gaines produced their sounds by means of a nickel tube, caused to vibrate at the rate of about 8,800 oscillations per second by means of powerful electromagnetic coils wound about its lower end. The oscillating current was supplied through 250-watt radiotron tubes, such as are used in radio broadcasting stations, carrying a plate voltage of about 2,000. The upper end of the tube was set in an inverted bottle and surrounded with water. When the current was turned on, the vibration was so intense as to cause a little mound of water to rise a couple of inches above the surface. A flask, containing the bacteria to be 'rayed,' was lowered into this turbulent water mound. The sound waves passed through the glass into the fluid containing the germs, causing a disturbance similar to that which was raised in the water. Bacterial cultures 'rayed' for 10, 20, 30, 40, 50, and 60-minute periods were compared for numbers of survivors. It was found that a definite mathematical relation exists between the time of exposure and the number of survivors. At the end of the one hour in the field of the waves there were less than half of the initial number of bacteria left alive in the flask. The waves have also been tried on red blood corpuscles and have been found to be destructive to them. This is in line with similar experiments performed at Tuxedo Park, where supersonic waves of ten to a hundred times the frequency were used."

A summary of the accomplishments of Professor Gaines is given in a compact paragraph in the Physical Review for January, 1931. The summary is as follows:

"Audible sound of great intensity is produced by magnetostrictive vibration of a nickel tube, two 250-watt radiotron tubes being employed in the apparatus. This sound is used to produce phenomena hitherto obtainable only with piezoelectric crystals vibrating at thirty or forty times the frequency and also entirely new phenomena. The nickel tube itself is vibrated so strongly as to rupture eventually at the middle. A five centimeter mound forms on the surface when the rod oscillates beneath water; this mound is not the result of radiation pressure. An air bubble released under water in the neighborhood of the vibrating rod becomes white, and under certain conditions moves against a strong stream of water. Carbon deposited on the sides of the nickel tube goes into colloidal solution when the tube is vibrated under water. The reaction of sonic radiation upon the radiator is demonstrated. Striations in a Kundt tube that are parallel to its axis are produced. Larvae are killed immediately by the sound; colon bacteria are killed, dying off in accordance with a simple logarithmic law. The irradiation of seed by the intense sound changes the rate of growth of the seedlings produced, usually retarding the growth, but in certain cases accelerating it as much as 25 per cent."

Professor Gaines recently gave a demonstration of his discoveries before a group of scientists in Chicago and was heard with great interest and marked attention. Promise of further scientific work of great value is held out by the painstaking studies of Dr. Gaines and his assistants in their laboratories.

The Influence of Old Add-Ran

MANY years ago a young man entered Add-Ran College at Thorp Spring where he came under the very fine influence of those two great educators, Addison and Randolph Clark. Their ideals became incarnated in the young student, Isaac A. McCarty by name, and became the dominant forces in shaping his life and that of his wife in ways that have resulted in great gifts to the Kingdom of God.

After completing his medical course Dr. McCarty took his young bride to Dallas, 44 years ago. She has been his help and support in every task. They began their married life by making the Church and Christianity the foundation of home and character. About 40 years ago they went to California to make their home and fortune and to practice their profession. They lived in Corona for 15 years and became charter members of the congregation there. A quarter of a century ago they moved to Los Angeles, where their devotion to the Church has been very great and their influence very fine.

Dr. and Mrs. McCarty have been blessed in house and store. Now while living and well they are forming and executing plans that will mean divesting themselves of a large portion of their possessions. For forty years, these two have been looking forward to the time when they would be enabled to erect a noble monument to Christianity. They have traveled widely in this country and in Europe studying church architecture. Through their generosity, one of the most beautiful and imposing church buildings in America is to be erected for the South Park Christian Church in Los Angeles, California. The building, a pure Gothic structure, will be an embodiment of their vision through the years and will be a notable landmark in the city. The location is strategic and is said to be the most desirable site by far in the city. The building will take about one year to build. Both the site and the building will be given by this devoted couple to the Church free of debt. Further benefactions from Dr. and Mrs. McCarty are to be announced. The word has gone out that they will announce in due time their plans for the founding of a great and noble institution in the east.

DR. NEWTON GAINES

What an influence Add-Ran College has wielded, under the leadership of Addison and Randolph Clark! Again and again, there is heard in some quarter or another the story of the profound work of these two brothers. The story of the philanthropy of Dr. Isaac A. McCarty—Add-Ran student of fifty years ago—is the latest to come to light.

Student Preachers

FIFTEEN students in Brite College of the Bible, Texas Christian University, are regularly filling pulpits in Christian churches within a radius of 100 or 150 miles of Fort Worth. ### A Patron of Orators

DR. R. H. GOUGH, who received his A. B. degree from Texas Christian University in 1906 and his M. A. degree in 1918, is well known for his devoted support of public speaking and oratory in his Alma Mater. Dr. Gough has not allowed his busy life as a specialist in eye, ear, nose, and throat to prevent his continued interest in the welfare of Texas Christian University. He served as a member of the Executive Committee of the Board of Trustees of T. C. U. from 1913 to 1917 and was very instrumental in promoting the early work of the university in Fort Worth.

It is as a patron of young orators in his Alma Mater that Dr. Gough has exhibited the greatest interest. Since 1911 he has awarded annually cups, gold medals, and cash prizes to the winners of the oratorical contest held each year by the young men. At present the prize consists of a gold medal and $25 in cash. Within the last year Dr. Gough has extended his generosity to include a $10 prize in gold for the winner of the Girls' Oratorical Contest. Dr. Gough has taken steps to make this donation a permanent one and has created an endowment fund of $1,000 to take care of these prizes in perpetuity. As a result of his interest in oratory and public speaking, this fine art has not languished in T. C. U. but year after year young debaters and orators of great promise are developed and much of the credit is due to Dr. Gough's provision for the support of this activity.

Mrs. R. H. Gough (Vera Minard Gough) is also well known at T. C. U. where she did a large part of her undergraduate work. Mrs. Gough is a linguist of exceptional ability. At present she is in Paris, France, continuing her studies of modern European languages.

Dr. R. H. Gough comes from a family that has always been interested in religious work and in Christian education. His father, Lycurgus Gough, was a minister and evangelist in the Church of Christ for forty-five years. His heritage accounts in part for the fine character and consecration of T. C. U.'s foremost patron of public speaking, Dr. R. H. Gough. On his own account he has attained to a very high position in the medical world. He has recently been elected to a fellowship in the American College of Surgeons and will enter upon this distinction on October 12, 1931. The Interpreter, voicing the feeling of all connected with T. C. U., extends to Dr. Gough its congratulations upon his fine attainments and its appreciation of his loyal support of oratorical activities in Texas Christian University.

Wins State Championship

John McDiarmid, captain of the T. C. U. tennis team for 1931-1932, returned late Saturday night (June 20) from Fort Smith, Arkansas, where he participated in the Arkansas State Tennis Tournament. Out of a field of sixty-three entries, the singles match narrowed down to a contest in the finals between Gerald Huff, former S. M. U. ace, and John McDiarmid. The Horned Frog captain won the match, 6-2, 6-3, 6-3, and with it took the state Championship of Arkansas.

The sad word of the death of two T. C. U. students was received at the University during the week ending June 20. Harry Kruse passed away in Kansas City on June 20, failing to recover from an operation for appendicitis. Bruce Woodlee, sophomore student, died in an Amarillo hospital from the same cause. Both these young men were of great promise and their loss to T. C. U. and the world is greatly to be deplored.

How to Teach

A QUIET teacher, her and there, gives some intimation, some touch of the true ends of learning. How does he do it? How does he teach? He does not say. Art must not and cannot be talked about. So at least Ruskin declared in a memorable passage in Sesame and Lilies. "The main thing," so he wrote, "the main thing I have to tell you is this,—that art must not be talked about. The fact that there is talk about it at all signifies that it is ill done, or cannot be done. No true painter ever speaks, or ever has spoken, much of his art. The greatest speak nothing. The moment a man can really do his work, he becomes speechless about it. All words become idle to him—all theories."

Alumni Officers

OFFICERS for the T. C. U. Alumni and Ex-Students' Association are as follows for the year 1931-1932: E. A. Elliott, Fort Worth, president; Edgar Bush, McKinney, Texas, vice-president; Roy Tomlinson, Fort Worth, vice-president; Ilene Timmerman, Dallas, secretary-treasurer. The directors for the year are to be M. E. Daniels, Breckenridge; L. C. Wright, Fort Worth; Mrs. Libbie Wade Cameron, Dallas, and Louis Akers, Abilene.

Louisiana Convention

THE Louisiana Christian Missionary Society held its convention at Natchitoches from June 9 to June 11 with the program centering around the development of the work of the Christian Church in Louisiana.

The guest speaker was Dean Colby D. Hall of Texas Christian University, Fort Worth. Addresses were also made by Gerald L. K. Smith, Kingshighway Christian Church, Shreveport; D. Will Miller, Louisiana state secretary; Claude L. Jones, Louisiana state evangelist; D. W. McElroy, president of the State Missionary Society; J. R. Keeling, president of the convention; and Morris U. Lively, pastor of the Natchitoches church. D. W. McElroy is an alumnus of T. C. U.

Guests at the convention were in reality guests of the city of Natchitoches as all of the homes in Natchitoches were open to the guests. The Chamber of Commerce at Natchitoches gave every aid in planning entertainment for the visitors. Natchitoches is a very old town. It is reputed to be the fourteenth oldest town in the United States. It is located at the north end of the Evangeline country, and Natchitoches is mentioned in Longfellow's immortal poem, "Evangeline." In Natchitoches one sees yesterday and today side by side: old French buildings of the eighteenth century, the mansions of the Civil War times, and modern bungalows and filling stations. Natchitoches is noted for its southern hospitality. Dean Colby D. Hall gave four addresses before the convention, his general theme being the "History of the Disciples of Christ."

A man may be a heretic in the truth; and if he believes things only because his pastor says so, or the assembly so determine, without knowing other reason, though his belief be true, yet the very truth he holds becomes his heresy.—Milton, Areopagitica.

Miss Rebecca Smith is continuing her study at the University of Chicago through the summer. Upon her return to T. C. U. in September, she will assume the chairmanship of the Department of English.

A Remarkable Meeting

AS AN illustration of the effective work Evangelist A. B. McReynolds, '23, is doing, there is reprinted herewith an account of the McReynolds revival held at Springfield, Mo., and taken from The Christian Evangelist of March 5.

"The one outstanding meeting in the district was held by Evangelist A. B. McReynolds of Fort Worth, Texas, for Central Christian Church, Springfield, during the month of January. Total additions, 412. The special features were the methods used by Evangelist McReynolds to get the members of the church to work and to get folks out to hear the messages. The auditorium seats about 1,200 people and it was crowded every night—every available space being taken and many people turned away. There were no window cards, very little said through the newspapers, but Brother McReynolds has a very unique and successful way of getting large audiences to hear him. The additions were brought in by the members of the church. During the day teams of from 20 to 30 workers made personal visits and took confessions, having the individuals sign cards and promise to present themselves that night to make the public confession in the church. Those taking membership were also brought in, in the same way. The membership of the church held the meeting. Only a few verses of invitation were sung during the first weeks of the meeting and those promising came forward. There were no workers in the audience. One man brought about 80 to Christ during the meeting. This man was baptized by an evangelist in one of our Ozark counties several years ago and sent to his town by your district superintendent. He is now an elder in the Central Christian Church and was the outstanding worker in the meeting. The teaching on stewardship was unique but very effective. Out of 65 canvassers sent out for the annual every-member canvass 54 of them signed up as tithers. The budget adopted for the year was $12,000 and the last reports showed over $15,000 pledged and the canvass not completed. Some of the methods used in promotion were very unique but none of them objectionable. No one can describe them. They were different—that was all. His methods almost shocked me out of my boots of conservatism when he started but he grew with all the folks. His message was clear, simple and biblical. No offense to anyone but some very plain preaching that cut square across the views of many in the audience. There was very little commercialism about the meeting and it was financed very easily."

Cards have been received announcing the approaching marriage on July 2 of Meredyth Elizabeth Kipping and Alexander Keith Scott, Jr. Both these young people are T. C. U. graduates and are highly esteemed. The marriage will take place in the First Christian Church at Houston, Texas.

A Fatal Accident

AYOUNG life of great promise came abruptly to an end at the death of H. L. Agee, Jr., 1930, in a Fort Worth hospital on June 10, as a result of injuries received in an airplane crash on June 8. Since his graduation from T. C. U., Mr. Agee had been working for his father as a salesman. His father, H. L. Agee, is the president and general manager of the Agee Screen Company of Fort Worth. Young Mr. Agee had been flying about six months in his spare time, and was being instructed at the time of the crash by E. W. Ritchey, transport pilot, who was slightly injured.

The young student pilot had been believed recovering until he lapsed suddenly into unconsciousness and failed to rally. Physicians said a blood clot had formed and they were unable to dissolve it.

H. L. Agee, Jr., was graduated from Central High School in Fort Worth in 1926 and was rated as one of the brightest men in his class at T. C. U. His classmates, teachers and friends are appalled at his untimely and tragic fate and join in the universal sorrow for his loss.

A New Song

CONGRESSMAN FRITZ LANHAM has composed a new song for Texas Christian University students. It is called the "Frog March." Both words and music were composed by the distinguished U. S. congressman from this district. At a recent chapel session, Mr. Lanham appeared in person to introduce the song to the college audience. The song is vigorous and snappy and promises to be one that will be taken over and adopted as one of the T. C. U. songs, if not the T. C. U. song. Mr. Lanham has had the song copyrighted and it is now the sole possession of the T. C. U. student body.

Dr. Penick in Fort Worth

DR. D. A. PENICK, the president of the Southwest Athletic Conference, spent the week of June 13-21 in Fort Worth, during which time he was a guest in the home of Professor and Mrs. E. W. McDiarmid. Dr. Penick was here largely in the interest of the new building for the Presbyterian Church at Austin. Since there are about 830 Presbyterian students attending the University of Texas, the work of the Presbyterian Church at Austin commands more than local support.

The marriage of Miss Gurline Dane to Mr. Don A. Lloyd took place Saturday, June 20, in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Dane, 512 South Henderson Street, Fort Worth. The couple left after the wedding reception for Montreal, Canada, from which point they will sail June 30 on the Steamship Empress of France for several weeks of travel in Europe.
