NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 23.—

An amazing 39-yard placement kick of a soggy ball for a field goal by Fullback Dave Colwell in the first few minutes of play and a 68-yard dash for a touchdown by Captain Clinton Frank that ranks among the season's masterpieces of open field running gave Yale a clearly earned victory over Cornell in the Bowl today.

At the end there was not the slightest question in the minds of the 40,000 spectators who braved threatening skies after an all-morning downpour that the better team won this fiercely waged battle, marked by one of the finest kicking duels seen in the Bowl in years. Even though the Ithacans, led by their great Negro end, Bud Holland, offered such valiant resistance that it seemed as if the game would end at 3 to 0 until Frank broke loose midway in the final quarter, Yale's superiority was so pronounced that it is a testimonial to the fighting heart of the Big Red team that the score was not more one-sided.

Elis at Best in Second Half

Both offensively and defensively, Ducky Pond's scrappy, hard-hitting outfit, hardly to be recognized as the same team that played so raggedly against Penn. was Cornell's master in this battle in the mud, though it was not until the second half that the full fury of its strength was visited upon the Ithacans.

With this victory, following upon its triumphs over Penn and Army, Yale stands more than ever in the forefront in the East, unbeaten and untied, and its meeting with Dartmouth's surprising, all-conquering forces in the Bowl next Saturday is one of the games of the year to see.

Cornell, handicapped by the poor condition of its star running back, the injured George Peck, who was in the game for three or four minutes, had nothing in the way of an attack and the most it could hope to do was to hold Yale in check and press for a break that might serve as the instrument of a score.

Perhaps on a dry field the Ithacans would have showed to better advantage offensively, for Whit Baker has done some excellent passing. As it was, with a slippery ball that even so renowned a passer as Frank could not quite control and which his receivers could not hang on to, Baker had three of his five passes intercepted and only one was completed, for a gain of four yards in the last few seconds of play.

Five-Man Line Effective

As for the Cornell running attack, it was stopped almost stone dead by Yale's five-man line with a 3-2-1 secondary, which was just as effective as it had been against Army. Without a hard running back or a speedy, elusive broken field runner, except for the brief time Peck was in, the Ithacans never could get under way.

The nearest they got to Yale's goal line was 38 yards out, and they arrived at that point only by virtue of one of the many remarkable kicks that Elliot Hooper got off, followed by a bad pass from center that compelled the equally brilliant Colwell to punt from deep in his end zone, which he did magnificently with a boot of 58 yards.

How completely Yale's embattled line and secondaries, particularly John Platt, Gallagher, Hoxton, Johnny Miller, Colwell, Frank and Wilson, smothered Cornell's rushes is evidenced by the statistics. Cornell made only three first downs and gained only 80 yards, to Yale's 10 first downs and 230 yards by

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 23.—

Shading Rutgers in virtually every department of the gridiron sport but not in gameness and pluck, Princeton overpowered the Scarlet warriors, 6 to 0, in Palmer Stadium today in the thirty-fifth edition of intercollegiate football's oldest classic.

To prolong the victory string that old Nassau teams have maintained following the initial clash between the two neighboring New Jersey rivals in 1869, the Princeton team moved 56 yards on eight plays for a touchdown in the opening period. Thereafter the Tigers capably protected the advantage, topping their opponents in rushing, passing and punting, but Coach J. Wilder Tasker's charges made several admirable defensive stands to gain hearty applause from the enthusiastic crowd of 35,000 spectators.

One Lapse Costly

Except for that lapse in the first quarter when Princeton slipped along so smoothly on its touchdown drive, Rutgers had plenty of fight and the Scarlet's forces twice took the ball on downs within their 5-yard stripe.

However, in the face of Old Nassau's fast-charging line and effective aerial defense, the invaders found it difficult to make consistent progress. Yet the boys from the Raritan pressed all the way, and to many onlookers the outcome seemed in doubt right up to the final whistle.

To the visitors, even though their 1937 streak of four straight shut-out triumphs was stopped, went the consolation of having made the best Rutgers' showing against

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 23.—

Like lightning stabbing through the murky afternoon, two long runs gave Dartmouth victory over Harvard today, 20 to 2. There was another touchdown scored by the Green, but that was during the latter part of the second half and anything could have happened then in the Harvard Stadium.

What really took place was half a football game and thirty minutes of diving. During those thirty minutes of diving in black mud and water that stood ankle-deep in mid-field Dartmouth scored its first touchdown. While the football lasted the Green won by two touchdowns, and the 35,000 spectators, many of whom stood to their seats until the end, saw two very good football teams fight it out in smashing, no-quarter-aspect play.

The Indians, playing superb first-period football in the face of the fact that they were running against a wind which attained near-gale proportion, scored early in the game and then, when the rain came down in torrents at the start of the third period, crossed again before the field became a morass. Both touchdowns were on long runs but both were excellent team efforts and there was no doubt at the end which was the better team.

Sophomore Back Stars

Bill Hutchinson, a sophomore back from New York who is also a hurdler, gave Dartmouth her first two scores on long runs. Then, by some weird justice, it was Hutchinson who slithered over the line with the final touchdown.

Harvard's score came in the third period, and again Hutchinson figured in it. The wind-blown rain had set Dartmouth back against its goal line and it was impossible to send a deep pass back from center. One had gone wrong and Hutchinson had run it out without damage, but when another came on the next play Don Daughters and Cliff Wilson came through to tackle him behind the line for a safety.

Hutchinson scored on runs of 62 and 53 yards in the first and in the third periods. The first run was aided materially by a block by Charley Miller, but there was superb dodging and open-field running by the scorer.

The second again saw the Harvard left end blocked out and again Hutchinson made great use of his blocking. There was amazing speed and amazing judgment displayed by

In a paradoxical setting, in which unbeaten, untied and unscored upon Lafayette was cast in the role of underdog, the surprisingly aggressive Leopards for Easton, Pa., turned the tables on a heavily favored N. Y. U. eleven yesterday at the Yankee Stadium.

Resorting to an overhead attack only ten times in the course of the battle, Lafayette made two of those aerials pay dividends and the final whistle found the Leopards with a 13-0 advantage, to say nothing of their immaculate record. Only 7,500 persons witnessed the encounter, which was well-played despite the wretched weather.

Only once did the Violets threaten to spoil Lafayette's perfect slate. That was early in the final period, when George Renzl raced 26 yards on an end-around maneuver, which sent N. Y. U. to the opposition's 18. Then Harry Shorten brought the ball to the 15, but on the very next play Shorten fumbled and Leo Zochowski recovered for the Leopards to end the threat.

Eleven Passes Completed

After that Dr. Mal Stevens's charges were never quite able to come that close again. The home team managed to complete eleven out of twenty-four passes, but none carried the effectiveness of Lafayette's overhead thrusts. As previously stated, both of the Leopards' touchdowns resulted directly from aerials.

It was midway through the second period that Lafayette electrified the small turnout. Howard Dunne had just punted from behind his own goal line to Tom Kearns shortly beyond midfield and the latter returned six yards to New York's 48. A plunge by Kearns advanced the Leopards to the 45, after which the invaders were penalized for an offside play. Then it happened. Kearns, a busy individual all afternoon, heaved a 30-yard pass to Harold Simmons, who caught the ball on the 20 and crossed the goal line unmolested.

On that play it appeared that Ed Boell, N. Y. U.'s sophomore safety man, had the receiver covered. But, apparently wary of interfering with Simmons, Boell skirted around the end in an effort to intercept the flying pigskin. The ball barely passed over Boell's finger tips and it was an easy task for Simmons to gather it in and run for the touchdown. When Tony Cavallo's placement sailed over the score became 7-0.

Even then Violet hopes ran high, though they proved to be futile. Whenever N. Y. U. launched a march Simmons, playing his wing alertly, was in on the plays to

After being trounced by both Harvard and Dartmouth, the Brown Bears rose on their hind legs on Baker Field yesterday and clawed out a sensational and surprising victory over Columbia's Lions.

Not highly regarded as a result of their previous demeanor on the gridiron, Tuss McLaughlin's men fought their way to a stunning triumph over the heralded Columbia team, beating the Lions by the narrow but all-sufficient margin of a single point, the final score being 7 to 6.

The game, starting out in the tempo of Chopin's Funeral March and maintaining that pace for the major part of three periods, suddenly changed into the beat of the Big Apple and for one quarter at least had the 8,000 spectators who braved the weather in a state of frenzy.

In nose finishes that brought thousands rushing to the rails regardless of the sweeping rain, Thorson and Chaps were the stake winners yesterday at Empire City in the $10,050 Yorktown and $8,100 Ardsley Handicaps respectively.

Not in years have two more bitter finishes raised the pulse beat of spectators than those in which Thorson was just up to edge Busy K into second place, approximately an hour after Chaps had triumphed in the same manner over Essjaytee.

Thorson carried the colors of young Buckley Byers, Yale undergraduate who received $7,550 as the winners' share of the purse after the mile and an eighth which was timed in 1:54. The track was deep and sloppy, a surface counted on by many to aid Thorson. Aid him it did, but he had to be game to come around his opposition and score in the last nod after the hardest kind of a drive.

Esposia Finishes Fourth

Three lengths back of the pair who struggled so desperately for the victory, was Danger Point, who led Esposia by three lengths. Half a dozen others were strung out behind those four. It was one of the best fields ever to face the starter for the Yorktown Handicap.

The winner, the 4 to 1 favorite, was handled by Sammy Roberts.

In the Ardsley Handicap, Chaps and Essjaytee were a length in advance of Dauber, the 9-to-5 choice, who closed much ground to be go-

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Oct. 23.—On a field covered with a blanket of snow, Notre Dame turned back a powerful Navy team, 9 to 7, today, achieving a dramatic victory in the last few minutes of the game to thrill 45,000 spectators, who sat shivering through a steady fall of heavy, wet snow.

There was no mistaking the fight of Elmer Layden's players. Hopelessly beaten for three periods, they fought with furious savagery in the fourth period to smash the powerful Navy line and triumph.

With less than three minutes to go, the game was decided by a safety.

Great Run by Pupils

Andy Pupils, Notre Dame quarterback, caught a Navy punt and raced 54 yards before he was thrown out of bounds on the Middles' 8-yard line. On the fourth down, with the ball on the 3 squarely in front of the goal posts, Notre Dame elected to run. Frank McCormick, fullback, failed to break through and fumbled. The Navy recovered on its own 5.

Alan MacFarland, sub for Lem Cooke, went back into the end zone to punt. The punt from center was low and MacFarland dropped the wet ball. He scooped it up and started to run, but Chuck Sweeney, Notre Dame right end, dove into him with a crashing tackle to score a safety and the precious 2 points that meant victory.

Notre Dame opened the final period with a furious attack. Jack McCarthy, Notre Dame fullback,

By ARTHUR J. DALEY

The law of averages caught up with Fordham and Fordham caught up with Texas Christian University in the final two minutes of a hair-raising football battle at the Polo Grounds yesterday as the Rams jammed across a touchdown, converted the extra point and stopped the Horned Frogs, 7 to 6, to remain unbeaten.

Eight times the Maroon was in scoring territory—five within the 13-yard line—and it was not until this teaming football drama practically had moved from the stage that the Rams answered the final knock of opportunity to win a game they could have taken a half-dozen times before.

The result was more than satisfactory to a crowd of 25,000 that sat spellbound through rain, semidarkness and an occasional gleam of sunlight and that was amply repaid for the unpleasant weather by a football game that had the spectators' pulses throbbing quickly for the full sixty minutes. Jubilantly the fans tore down one set of goal posts before the game was ended; the other toppled the split second the final whistle blew.

Texans Hit Hard

The Horned Frogs struck swiftly in the opening minutes, then hung on grimly to a 6-point lead for forty-five minutes more, frustrating Fordham with the fierceness of its line charge and tackling.

But Fordham could not go on forever pressing deeply into pay dirt without compensation. The break finally came just as the huge hands on the giant clock atop the clubhouse passed the two-minute mark. Then Dom Principe, sophomore fullback, bolted right over center from the 2-yard line to tie the score.

To the intensely partisan Fordham crowd a tie was empty consolation. It felt that the Maroon was the better team and pleaded thunderously for the extra point. Its plea was answered. Wilbur Stanton, place-kicking specialist, was rushed into the line-up. He carefully wiped clear the mud from his cleats with a towel, swung easily with his right leg and the ball split the uprights for victory.

Advance Against Shock Troops

The extra point saved Sleepy Jim Crowley considerable embarrassment. He started a set of shock troops, Knute Rockne style, and regretted it for the next fifty-eight minutes. Dave O'Brien ran back the opening kick-off 57 yards to the Ram 35 and advanced to the 20 in two plays, only to have a fumble check him.

But as soon as the Fordham reserves obtained the ball they returned the compliment and fumbled. Texas Christian had a first down on the 12. Crowley sent his second team into speedy exile, but the damage had been done.

Two plays gained not an inch on the varsity but the third was a spot pass to Don Looney a step from the end zone and the giant end crossed without a hand touching him. O'Brien's try for the extra point was wide but the Frogs had the jump on the lads in Maroon.

This touchdown gave the Texans a psychological lift which could not be underestimated. Texas Christian played inspired ball the rest of the way, its rugged line jamming up the Fordham attack when endangered and the threat of the O'Brien passing always causing the Rams considerable concern.

The first big push of the Rams went 80 yards, then the attack stalled on the 3-yard line as surging Texas linemen balked Fordham just short of a first down. The job that the Southwesterns did bordered on the incredible. Here, in brief, is what the men

Maryland Stops Hitherto Syracuse With a Long Pass and an Interception, 13-0

By JOSEPH C. NICHOLS

Special to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 23.—The University of Maryland football team swept the Orange host of Syracuse from the seat of the mighty today. Effectively bottling up the New Yorkers' running attack and taking advantage of their many lapses, the Maryland players were in almost complete command of the game, which they won by the score 13 to 0.

A general choice to keep its record clear of defeat, Syracuse found itself unable to get started. The Solem machine was turned back effectively by the Old Liners on running plays, while the Orange's several attempts to advance through the air proved nothing if not disastrous.

Maryland, on the other hand,

Special to THE NEW YORK TIMES.
AMHERST, Mass., Oct. 23.—Amherst's football team made good in its first major test today, defeating Wesleyan, 12-0, on rain-soaked Pratt Field before 3,000.

Thus Amherst gained revenge for last year's reverse at Middletown as the series for the Little Three began.

Furman, the Lord Jeff's 165-pound fullback from South Carolina, was the spearhead of the attack, punting brilliantly and also tossing the lateral which went for the first touchdown.

Although the game was played with wind standing on the field, the Sabrinas' running attack clicked as Amherst scored eight first downs and 164 yards from scrimmage.

The first quarter saw play entirely in Wesleyan's half of the gridiron as Holzer and Furman booted back and forth in a deadlock.

Fumble Leads to Score
Amherst drew first blood in the opening minutes of the second period, however, as a Cardinal fumble which Ed Kuhn recovered gave the Jeffs the ball in Wesleyan territory.

Then Furman drove through the enemy defense, smashing at the center of the line, and carried to the Wesleyan 19-yard stripe. There he took the ball on a fake reverse and cut through the short side of the line, lateraling to Quarterback Jack Joys, who crossed standing up.

Going back on the field after the half with a clean set of uniforms, Amherst received the kick-off and another booting duel resulted, this time between a sophomore, George Peterson, and Furman. Amherst wasn't able to get the ball out of her territory, and at the outset of the final frame the Jeff lead looked small.

A bad pass from center which Furman just managed to cover before he was smothered by the whole Cardinal team netted a safety for the visitors. Then Wesleyan's Peterson booted a beautiful coffin corner kick that went out on the 1-yard line.

Great Kick by Furman
With the ball dripping wet, Furman was forced to drop behind his goal line to punt. This time the Jeff fullback got off a kick that traveled 80 yards in the air and then rolled down the sidelines to the Wesleyan 34.

After that the Cardinals had their backs to the wall for the rest of the game. Three successive first downs by Joys, Vic Pattengill and Captain Bill Michell brought Amherst to the enemy goal line and a second later Michell went over for his seventh touchdown of the season. Cordero failed to convert.

In the closing minutes Wesleyan made a frenzied attempt to score, heaving a flock of passes from a spread formation, but only one was completed. Daddario carried the ball for a good gain, but the Amherst second team which had come in held the visitors at midfield.

CARRYING THE BALL FOR TEXAS CHRISTIAN
Clifford about to hit line on second play of game with Fordham

FORDHAM DEFEATS TEXAS CHRISTIAN

In the mud-spattered white jerseys accomplished. Fordham went to the 3 and lost the ball on downs, to the 23 and had a pass intercepted, to the 6-inch line and lost the ball on downs, to the 13 and had a pass intercepted, to the 26 and fumbled, to the 1 and lost the ball on downs, to the 30 and had a passer thrown for a 12-yard loss, and to the 2 for the touchdown.

No more praise need be heaped on the heads of Texas than the mere recital of the magnificent defensive performance they gave. The Frogs, on the other hand, threatened only twice and moved past midfield only four times.

Technically, Fordham played good and had ball in turns. Its tackling and blocking were superb one minute and extremely shoddy the next. And all afternoon long T. C. U. used a seven-man line and a diamond defense that practically begged to be passed against.

103 Yards to Score
It was mostly through the air that Fordham struck to score its touchdowns after a march that covered—fantastic as it seems—103 yards. The reason for that extraordinary distance was that an exchange of fumbles cost 8 yards.

When the drive began it appeared utterly impossible that the Rams would ever make it. The Texans had just completed their second dash into scoring territory, chiefly through a 33-yard forward. They advanced to the Maroon 14 and finally an O'Brien aerial became a booming as Joe Granski intercepted on the 5-yard line.

It still was a desperate situation. Steve Kazlo, ace of the sophomore backfield, dropped back in punt formation. But the sandy-thatched youngster passed, instead, to Butch Fortunato for a 25-yard gain and Fordham was out from the shadow of the goal posts. Kazlo ripped off 17 yards on an end sweep and the crowd began to plead for a touchdown.

The Rams were clicking beautifully and were up to the visitors' 38 when a Granski-Principle pass terminated in a fumble. But on the next play Earl Clark bobbled as he was hit by a teeth-rattling tackle and Fortunato recovered on the 46.

Odds Seem Hopeless
But hope was not flaming too high in the Fordham breasts. The hands on the clock were moving toward the end and the Rams already had balked too much. Still these youngsters in the backfield drove on.

Principle burrowed through the middle for 4 yards and Granski passed to Captain Johnny Druze for 7 more and a first down on the 35. Fordham swung into left formation with Granski as tailback. He cut to his left and stood there, the ball grasped firmly in his left hand.

The Fordham blockers gave him support that no Maroon passer had had all day. They chopped down Texas after Texas. Granski merely stood there, waiting. Then he threw the best forward of the afternoon.

The ball spun through the semi-darkness. Fortunato wheeled down the sidelines in the left flat and hugged it. O'Brien knocked him out of bounds on the 7-yard line but it was a first down.

Blockers Precede Principle
From short punt formation Principle bulled through the middle to the 3. He cracked the line again for one yard more and the crowd was frantic. Then Fordham swung to the right and Principle cracked center-wide open once again, riding behind the terrific charge of Alexander (the Great) Wojciechowicz and Joe Bernard for the touchdown. Stanton converted and there was a deep sigh of relief that must have been heard clear down in Fort Worth.

The times that Fordham missed the touchdown boat can be passed over lightly. Apparently opportunity does knock more than once.

The Texas Christian stars were O'Brien and Pat Clifford in the backfield and Kid Aldrich, I. E. Hale and Russ Hensch in the line. Outstanding for Fordham were Kazlo as a back and Wojciechowicz, Ed Franco, Al Babarsky and Harry Jacuski in the line, with both Mike Kachel and Bernard performing creditably at guard.

WILLIAMS SUBDUES TUFTS BY 13 TO 0

4th-Down Pass Late in First Quarter Paves Way for the Opening Touchdown

MEDFORD, Mass., Oct. 23 (AP).—Williams conquered Tufts today, 13 to 0, in a sea of mud, scoring touchdowns in the second and fourth periods.

Daring strategy late in the first session started Williams on the road to victory. An unexpected pass, from Simmons to P. Stearns, on the fourth down with 1 yard to go, clicked for 16 yards as the quarter ended, and the Purple was off. Captain Simmons and D. Stearns ran to the 11 in three tries, and a pass from Simmons to P. Stearns carried over. Simmons missed the try for the point.

A blocked punt on the 9-yard line in the fourth period resulted in the other Williams score, Wood falling on the ball back of the goal line. D. Stearns ran around end for the extra point.

PROVIDENCE RALLY WINS

Eleven Beats Springfield, 9-6, Second Time in Ten Meetings

Special to THE NEW YORK TIMES.
PROVIDENCE, R. I., Oct. 23.—Providence College rallied to defeat Springfield, 9-6, today for the Friars' second victory over the Maroons in ten meetings.

Springfield took a 6-0 lead early in the second period when a Providence fumble gave the visitors the ball on the Friars' 3-yard line.

Starting from the Springfield 39 later in the period Providence scored with Vitullo plunging over from the 1-yard line. Late in the game Plumb was tackled attempting to kick from behind his goal to give the Friars a safety.

DETROIT DEFEATS BOSTON COLLEGE

Unbeaten and Untied Titans Sweep to 14-0 Triumph on Muddy Field at Newton

OLIVETO RUNS 81 YARDS

Intercepts Pass and Dashes to First Touchdown—Farkas Tallies the Second

NEWTON, Mass., Oct. 23 (AP).—Sloppy playing conditions, which accounted for much fumbling by both elevens, failed to halt the University of Detroit's undefeated and untied team today as the Titans from Michigan defeated Boston College, 14-0, before 7,000 at Alumni Field.

Al Oliveto, Detroit fullback, scored the first touchdown in the opening period when he intercepted a Boston pass on the Titan 19 and raced up the sidelines for 81 yards to cross the goal line standing up. John Shada, right guard, place-kicked the extra point.

Midway through the third quarter, Ed Palumbo, Detroit halfback, cut through the Eagle left guard and romped 43 yards to the B. C. 4. Two rushes netted 3 yards, and on third down Andy Farkas swept right end to score the final touchdown. Shada again stepped out of the line to add the extra point.

The Eagles threatened in the final period, but with the ball on the 4-yard line on third down, the whistle brought the slippery proceedings to a close.

WESTERN RESERVE HALTS BOSTON U., 7-0

Andrews Returns Pant 75 Yards to Score—Cleveland Eleven Unbeaten in 28 Games

Special to THE NEW YORK TIMES.
BOSTON, Oct. 23.—Johnny Andrews made a 75-yard return of a punt to give Western Reserve of Cleveland a thrilling 7-0 victory over Boston University at Fenway Park in a driving rainstorm before 6,500 spectators today.

Andrews' run enabled the Redcats to extend their streak of undefeated games to twenty-eight in succession. It was their eighteenth victory in a row, as they were tied once during the streak.

The touchdown was made in the first minute of the fourth period. Andrews started to his right and after eluding two tacklers he shifted his course to the right. Then interference formed and mowed down about eight Boston players as Andrews raced across the goal line untouched.

Boston University had a slight edge in the statistics and also had more scoring chances. Western Reserve failed to make a first down in the second half.

NEW HAMPSHIRE WINS, 34-0

Vanquishes Vermont for Fifth in Row, Horne Leading Attack

Special to THE NEW YORK TIMES.
DURHAM, N. H., Oct. 23.—The University of New Hampshire Wildcats scored their fifth straight victory, 34-0, against a fighting Vermont University team today. A 50-yard Wildcat drive was good for the first touchdown, Abbot scoring, and a 30-yard touchdown pass from Horne to Durie culminated the second advance. On a short rush featured by a 21-yard sweep by Horne, the Wildcats scored again. Mitchell, fieldstrik Wildcat back, ran back 20 yards and on the next play romped 30 yards for a touchdown in the third.

Bows as Posner and Bayak Go Across for Victors—Drive at the Close Fails

Special to THE NEW YORK TIMES.
STORRS, Conn., Oct. 23.—Trinity was toppled from the undefeated ranks today as Connecticut State's power plays prevailed, 15 to 0. Runs by Bayuk, Thomson and Posner brought the first score, the latter going over.

A 70-yard Nutmeg drive in the third period was halted on Trinity's 2-yard marker but the Connecticut line blocked a punt and a safety was recorded. Later, Connecticut marched from midfield and Bayuk tallied, with Thomson adding the point.

O'Malley led a futile passing attack for Trinity in the final minutes.

Tests show that VINTAGE TOBACCO is at least 25% easier on your breath than all other 5¢ cigars tested...

BE kind to your friends. Avoid offending. Enjoy the fragrance and aroma of a good cigar... but be sure it leaves no long-lingering odor to taint your breath.

New scientific discoveries have shown that White Owl's Vintage tobacco is exceptionally low in the substances that cause unpleasant tobacco breath. Tests with a delicate osmoscope prove that this tobacco leaves less odor.

White Owl is a better cigar because it always has a Vintage-tobacco filler. Nature—not factory processing—made this tobacco exceptionally mild, mellow.

We maintain a vast crop-inspection system—the only known organization of its kind—to locate Vintage tobacco. Even in Vintage years, we classify all filler tobacco into seven grades—and buy only tobacco of the quality of the top three for use in White Owls.

Once you've switched to White Owls, you'll know a new joy in smoking. Try one today.
