CITY COUNCIL NAMES AIRFIELD AND TERMINAL AS PETITIONED

The airfield and administration building will be named in honor of Amon G. Carter when groundbreaking ceremonies for these facilities are held at 10 a. m. July 10 at the Greater Fort Worth International Airport.

This was unanimously decided by City Council Wednesday after the action was requested in a petition presented by Marvin Leonard, chairman of the board of the Fort Worth Terminal Corporation.

Leonard was spokesman for a delegation that brought the request to the council. In presenting the petition, Leonard said: "We have a petition which we wish to present to the City Council bearing the signatures of some 172 of our outstanding citizens. We could have secured thousands more but did not deem it necessary."

He then read the petition:

"Amon G. Carter brought the first aviation to Fort Worth and for 40 years he has tirelessly and unselfishly devoted his boundless energy, and his own money to the purpose of building here a great aviation center. His exceptional effort has brought to Fort Worth a cash flow of several billion dollars for payrolls, materiel and supplies and it has brought more than 20,000 happy and prosperous neighbors to our midst.

"For eight long years Amon G. Carter has led the program to build our great international air terminal that within a few months will give Fort Worth one of the finest airport facilities in the world and will guarantee the public convenience and adequate airline service for North Texas.

"Amon G. Carter is father of the Greater Fort Worth International Airport and the undersigned citizens of this air-minded city respectfully petition the honorable City Council of Fort Worth to give the airfield and the administration building his name in honor of his unselfish service and to so designate and dedicate those facilities at the groundbreaking ceremonies which will herald the beginning of con-

HOUSTON, June 28. — On March 17, the British admiral recently announced, Tosh, a canary being used in tests in the Arctic, laid an egg.

I'll admit this isn't late news but it's so warm here in Texas that just the idea of laying an egg in the Arctic is very comforting.

Incidentally, why does the British admiralty waste time on tests like this? Unless you're a malcanary, you should be able to lay an egg in a cold climate just as easily as any place else. Why don't they figure out why it's so hard to boil eggs at high altitudes? My brother tried to find out and he learned one reason—he was up 30,000 feet in a stratosphere and the reason he failed was because the stewardess wouldn't bring him an egg or an boiling water.

French News Agency Wednesday quoted a North Korean communique which referred to forces "placed at the disposition" of the North Koreans. There was no elaboration. The phrase might imply that some of the forces in the North Korean army were not Korean.

WASHINGTON, June 28 (INS).—The United States Wednesday clamped an embargo on all exports to Communist-controlled North Korea. Commerce Secretary Sawyer announced the embargo and stated it was imposed in compliance with the United Nations resolution asking member nations to refrain from giving aid to North Korea.

ABILENE, June 28 (AP).—Brig. Gen. John H. Church, who is in South Korea as head of the United States advisory group, was chief of staff of the 45th Division at Camp Barkeley near Abilene in 1941. General Church has no command functions in Korea, the Army said, but is operating under General MacArthur.

PARIS, June 28 (AP).—A French foreign office spokesman doubted Wednesday that France would be able to give material aid to American combat efforts for South Korea.

HONOLULU, June 28 (INS).—John Foster Dulles, U. S. State Department adviser, said Wednesday that the North Korean Communist invasion of South Korea is a sign that Russia is turning to "direct aggression instead of indirect."

NEW ORLEANS, June 28 (AP).—The 8th Naval District ordered a tight clamp on security restrictions Wednesday to prevent "sabotage and other covert action" resulting from the tense international situation. In addition to the 57 charter donors, two representatives will be named to the review council by the following and possibly still other organizations: Chamber of Commerce, Retail Merchants Association, Better Business Bureau, Junior Chamber of Commerce, Clearing House Association, Federation of Womens Clubs, the Ministerial Association, Fort Worth Trades Assembly, Real Estate Board, B'nai B'rith and Knights of Columbus.

The council's constitution lists four objectives:

To evaluate necessity and worthiness of appeals, to determine the justification of the amount of money sought, the character and efficiency of the groups sponsoring the appeal, to effect proper timing of approved appeals.

To conserve time of both donors and solicitors by combining appeals into joint campaigns, as far as possible.

To encourage public support of approved fund raising appeals.

The petition was accepted on motion of Councilman Baker. "I don't think there is anything we can add to the petition," Baker said. "I'd like the honor of moving that we accept the petition and name the field as petitioned."

more than 130,000 tons of provisions followed the troops over the river.

Fishermen have now been recruited from the villages along the 2,700-mile coast line and assembled and trained in Chekiang and Fukien seaports.

This information all comes from official Communist sources. Peiping has repeatedly accused the United States of seeking to develop Formosa into a base for American operations against the mainland. The central committee of the Chinese Communist Party, in its New Year's message, charged the army with the task for this year of taking Formosa and "not allowing the aggressive forces of American imperialism to have any foothold in our territory."

Again, and more recently, the official new China News Agency described the island as the "last springboard of American imperialist aggression against China."

MacArthur Pleased.—As one member of the Blair House conference put it, the general must have been "highly pleased" by Truman's statement Tuesday giving him "so much more than he asked."

The movement of the 7th Fleet to the defense of Formosa, most authorities seem to agree, will protect the Philippines from bombing by planes available to the Communists in China and Korea.

In his huddle with top leaders Sunday, the president talked, as one man reported it, the way he talked when he first decided to launch the Greek-Turkish aid program in what was then considered a departure in international relations for this country. He wanted to move, he said, with United Nations support.

Whatever previous policies had been in the Far East, he reportedly said, events made necessary an immediate reconsideration.

Secretary of State Acheson, informants said, agreed that this was so. There was agreement, from the president all the way down, that the United States could use force and stay within the resolution adopted Sunday afternoon by the United Nations Security Council asking member nations to "render every assistance" in enforcing its order to terminate firing in Korea.

7th Fleet Directed.—The decisions on major details were made at the second meeting Monday night. No word was sent to the press of the session. The 7th Fleet was directed to proceed toward Formosa.

By that time, the Korean mili-

The formality of presidential signature remains to be carried out but nobody has any doubt about that.

To make the Senate count more impressive, the list of senators not present but announced as favoring the bill grew during the afternoon to 18.

That left only two senators accounted for — Vandenberg of Michigan who has been ill, and Young of Indiana who has been in his home state for Tuesday primary.

The legally authorized strengths of the various services puts a ceiling on how many men could be called either through the draft or through active duty for the reserves.

Congressional authorities say the Army is 244,000 shy of authorized force of 837,000, Navy and Marines are 239,000 under their 666,882 limit, and Air Force is 152,000 shy of quota of 502,000. That leaves opening to call in 635,882 men to build up to the over-all authorized fighting strength of 2,038,200.

There have been no inductions in 18 months because volunteer enlistments have kept the force near the strength provided for appropriations.

U. S. Stand on Korea Draws Turkish Praise

ANKARA, Turkey, June 28 (AP).—Turkish Foreign Minister F. Koprulu told a reporter Wednesday night that America's action supporting South Korea is "most logical and effective decision for world peace."

The reaction among Turkish officials and the public was President Truman's decision "the only language the Russians understand."
