“Conscientious work in a good literary society is worth as much to a student as any two college courses.”

—Dr. F. D. Kershner,
Honorary Member of Add-Rans.

Clark Literary Society

1907-1920

Add-Ran Literary Society

1874-1920

The Add-Ran Literary Society, the oldest of this institution, was organized in 1874, deriving its name from the brothers, Addison and Randolph Clark.

By faculty ruling, the Add-Ran girls withdrew from the Add-Ran Literary Society and on Jan. 14, 1907, in Waco, the Clark Literary Society, named in honor of Addison Clark, was organized.
