Dear Amon:

Having just been to Fort Worth for a few days, needless to say one of the great disappointments was not being able to see and have a chat with you. However, I did learn that you were in the hospital and this is simply a note carrying many good wishes for a quick recovery.

We landed at your new airfield and left from there yesterday. It is a miracle of construction and ingenuity and I hope you are getting the satisfaction you deserve to have out of being its primary motive force.

With warm personal regards,

Sincerely yours,

Lindsay
