UNITED STATES SENATE
Washington, D. C.

January 15, 1949

My dear Amon:

Mrs. William J. Sutton has been to see me, and I talked to her at some length about the possibility of her son getting an appointment to West Point.

Unfortunately, I have no appointments until 1950. Senator O'Daniel filled all the places before he left. I'm forced to wait now until one of the boys graduates before I have another appointment. You know that I would do anything in the world for you and I regret that I have to give you this kind of a report.

I certainly hope that it will not be the last time that you ask me to be helpful. I'm looking forward to seeing you here next week.

My warmest personal regards.

Sincerely,

/s/ LYNDON

Lyndon B. Johnson
