Dear Amon:

I have read with the utmost interest the Editorial Page of the FORT WORTH (Where the West Begins) STAR-TELEGRAM of Monday, April 29th, 1940 and I want to express to you my unqualified admiration for the way you have handled a difficult situation and put in his place in the eyes of your readers (who are legion) the emissary from the imaginary throne.

I read first the letter of Mr. Ickes to you and in doing so picked out a number of points to be made. When I read your answer and then your Editorial I found that you had covered them all and picked out twenty more flaws and inconsistencies which had quite escaped me.

Pages ten and eleven of the FORT WORTH STAR-TELEGRAM - evening of Monday, April 29th, 1940 constitute an immortal document which I shall ever cherish.

Your admiring friend,

Frank Crocker
