

Jesse Jones Accepts Dallas' View of Site For Airport Building

Siding with Dallas in the fight for a neutral location of the administration building for Midway Airport, Secretary of Commerce Jesse Jones called on Dallas and Fort Worth to compose their differences Friday and to plan the project on the broadest possible base.

Several weeks ago Jones recommended a building site at the northwest corner of the Tarrant County airport after Dallas had refused to join in sponsoring the building on the west side of the field facing Fort Worth.

Dallas leaders still were not satisfied, however, and demanded that it be placed approximately in the center of the north line of the field on Highway 183 so it would be conducive to development on both the east and west sides of the airport.

Jones agreed with this contention in his letter received Friday by Mayor Woodall Rodgers.

Officials Agree on Neutral Site.

After receiving a resolution stating the Dallas stand for a neutral location of the building site, the administrator of civil aeronautics held an informal conference attended by representatives of the CAA, CAB and air lines operating into Dallas and Fort Worth, Jones was told.

At that meeting it was agreed that the administration building and passenger station should be located on the north side of the airport along Highway 183 (the North Dallas-Fort Worth Road). The general layout also should be such as to permit development of hangars, shops and other necessary buildings on both sides of the field, it was agreed.

Jones wrote Dallas and Fort Worth officials that either location on Highway 183 would serve, whether it was at the northwest corner or in the center, but he added that the center location apparently was better.

"Looking to the future of aviation and the time when the parallel runways will be needed, as well as additional hangars and other facilities," Jones said, "the north-central location will be more nearly equally accessible to both sides of the field."

Urges Plan for Expansion.

Jones concluded his letter with

See MIDWAY on Page 12.

Dueces Are Bad Luck Except to the Owner

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 5 (AP).

—Samuel L. Stange is glad a superstitious thief robbed him.

The thief took $20 from Stange's money box but left $16 in $2 bills untouched—evidently believing in the superstition that a $2 bill brings bad luck.