Fort Worth, Texas.

Dear Amon:-

The first thing I want to do this morning is to write and again express my deep and sincere appreciation of all your fine courtesies to David, my nephew, Boyd Keith O'Brien and myself. Not only on our most recent trip, but for your lovely courtesies to my sister on the New Orleans and New York trips and for all of the innumerable things you have done for David in other ways.

Your personal remarks to me, regarding David, will always be treasured memories.

In connection with the expenses paid by you, I hope you will be good enough to advise me my full part for myself and the boys, so that I can send you a check.

I am sincere when I say that, among your thousands and thousands of friends throughout the United States, there is not one, who has a greater admiration for you than I have.

Very truly yours,
