PUBLISHERS FLYING ON GOOD-WILL TOUR

Prominent Newspapermen on 15-Day
Tour in New 32-Passenger Flying Boat—Will Go as Far
South as Buenos Aires

Twelve prominent newspaper publishers and executives were passengers on the new 32-passenger flying boat of Pan-American Airways, which started on a good-will tour to Latin and South America from Miami, Fla., Aug. 16.

The party is headed by Eugene Vidal, head of the Bureau of Air Commerce. The newspaper group on the flight are:

Roy W. Howard, chairman of the board, Scripps-Howard Newspapers; W. F. Brooks, executive assistant, Associated Press; James H. Furay, vice-president, United Press; James G. Stahlman, Nashville (Tenn.) Banner; Frank E. Gannett, Gannett Newspapers; E. M. Swasey, The American Weekly; M. C. Meigs, Chicago American; Paul Patterson, Baltimore Sunpapers; Amon G. Carter, Fort Worth (Tex.) Star-Telegram; H. V. Jenkins, Savannah News and Press; John Cowles, Des Moines Register and Tribune, and John N. Wheeler, North American Newspaper Alliance.

Winging southward by way of Puerto Rico and Haiti, the nineteen-ton plane, which has attained a speed of 190 miles an hour, will be the first of three Sikorsky boats bearing the model number S-42. At Rio, however, she will receive the name Brazilian Clipper at the hands of Senhora Getulia Vargas, wife of the President of Brazil.

The round trip of the Brazilian Clipper will take 15 days. She will go as far as Buenos Aires, where her passengers will spend two days, as they will at Rio. Her flights will be by day. Overnight stops will be made at convenient ports of call of the regular East Coast service of Pan-American.
