Dear Amon,

Upon my return from the mesquite country, I was very happy to read your telegram. It took me four days to get a buck, but I enjoyed every bit of the time because I love to sleep out in the open under the stars. I walked from four to seven miles each day, and, while I got very tired, I felt good when bedtime came. I am feeling fine now as the result of that exercise. In fact, you will be pleased to know that I am in good health and am enjoying life. I hope you and yours are the same.

With every good wish for your health and happiness, I am

Your friend,

Jno. N. Garner
