Dear Mr. Carter:

I am very anxious to acknowledge with many thanks the wonderful expression you exhibited in sending me the hat, and I want you to know that I prize it very much. It is a great pleasure to meet a busy man like you who thinks of the other fellow and his pleasures.

I am inclosing a newspaper article portraying your departure from here and would like to mention that we all got a thrill watching from our windows as you flew past headed for that greatest of adventures.

The force who had the pleasure of meeting you in my office add to my wishes that you have a very pleasant trip back and we extend the courtesy of the office to you at any time.

Sincerely yours,

Superintendent of Mails.
