

PENINSULA HOTEL

A vintage color illustration for the Peninsula Hotel in Hong Kong. The scene is set on a city street. In the foreground, a man in a blue blazer and white shorts is pulling a rickshaw. He is wearing a large, light-colored conical hat. Behind him, another rickshaw puller in a tan jacket and straw hat is visible. To the right, a red vintage car is parked, with several people inside. In the background, a man in a white suit and hat stands near a building entrance. A red and white striped awning is visible above the building. The overall style is that of a classic travel poster.

HONG KONG

W. J. WHEAT