PRESIDENT

Dear Amon,

I have not undertaken to impose myself upon you in the last few days, for I realized you had enough grief without undertaking the entertainment of a visitor.

I have been watching every day carefully, and hoping that ere long there may come the news that the boy is a prisoner, for while we know that is hard enough and is very, very bad, yet even so some day he will be back with us again, and that is the thing that really counts, after all.

There is nothing on earth anybody can do for you that I know of that would soften your worry nor ease your anxiety, but I just wanted you to know that myself and my family have been, are, and will continue to be hoping and hoping and hoping for the best.

Very truly your friend,

Dm Lydick
