Dear Sir,

For the past year I have been trying to obtain a Flight Engineer's position with American Airlines through the Dallas personnel office. So far I haven't had any luck.

My experience for the position is five years in aircraft maintenance and flying, a CAA flight engineers Certificate, and a College education. Included in this are three years during World War II as a flight engineer crew chief in Troop Carrier Command. In August 1950, I was recalled to active duty for the Korean

Emergency to work one year on B-36<sup>a</sup> at Carswell. Since being released I have been working as a flight line mechanic in Convair flight test dept, #64. In my spare time I have been getting an aircraft and Engine mechanic's license. I lack one section, hydraulics, on the aircraft of having this completed.

You see, sir, I have been trying very hard to make aviation my life's work. I am going to stay in aviation and am sure both American airlines and I could benefit a great deal from the connection.

Effective Monday, July 28th, I am to be laid off at Convair.
I am married and have one child.
If you are in a position to help me in any way, it would be greatly appreciated. If you like, I would be very happy to talk this over with you at your convenience.

Sincerely,

Charles L. Coyle
