Mr. O. M. Mosier, Vice-President
American Airlines, Inc
New York Airport Station
Flushing 71, N.Y.

Dear Mr. Mosier:

Mr. Carter has received the enclosed correspondence from Mr. Melvin J. Miller of DuBose, Rutledge & Miller, who carries all the insurance on Mr. Carter's oil operations in West Texas.

You will note that Mr. Miller has been mistaken for Doc Miller of the American Airlines in Dallas; however he is still anxious to help Mr. J. M. Cahill, a friend of his, obtain membership in the Admiral's Club.

Mr. Carter realizes what a problem you folks have and that the applications for membership in the Admiral's Club far exceed the accommodations to handle the membership, still he has asked that this correspondence be sent to you with the hope you will be able to comply with Mr. Cahill's desire to be a member of the Club.

Don't you ever come this way any more or is it that I just don't hear about it? Carl and I would be delighted to have you and Mrs. Mosier for dinner and maybe the Bucks if we can rope them in.

Thanking you for whatever can be done on the above request and with best wishes, I am

Sincerely,

Secretary to A. G. Carter.

Dear Melvin:

In traveling around the country a great deal recently, I have found it difficult to get reservations on the airlines on short notice. Last week in Chicago for example, I was having no success in getting space to New York until Harry Fuller used his American Airlines Admiral card to help me out. Then space was discovered and reserved for me.

I seem to recall that I was once told that you are either a Vice-President of American Airlines or have a close relationship with it.

Because I fly a great deal on American Airlines by preference, I will greatly appreciate it if you could help me get an Admiral's card or tell me how to go about trying to get one.

Anything that you can do or suggest will be appreciated. I am sorry that I shall not be at the NAIA Convention this month, and therefore, will miss seeing you, but we should find our paths crossing one of these days.

Sincerely,

/s/ J. M. CAHILL

Dear Mr. Carter:

You will find enclosed letter from my good friend, James M. Cahill, Secretary, National Bureau of Casualty Underwriters, which I mentioned during our telephone conversation today.

You can see that Jim has me confused with Melvin D. Miller, but in any event, he is with an organization which is composed of most of the leading casualty insurance companies of this country. His work takes him to all parts of the country attending Insurance Commission hearings and Agents Association State meetings. He travels by air and uses American Airlines wherever and whenever possible. I feel sure he has traveled more than 200,000 miles over the American Airlines during the past few years.

Jim is enthusiastic about the future of commercial aviation. I have heard him on more than one occasion, speak of the Safety of air travel in talks before large groups of agents. Anything that you may do that will help him get an American Airlines Admiral's card will be greatly appreciated by Jim and by me.

Sincerely yours,

/s/ MELVIN J. MILLER
