

Admirals of the

Flagship Fleet

August 15, 1952

Dear Admiral:

As you know, we are not permitted to extend membership in the Admiral's Club to the ladies. The constitution and by-laws provide only for the men.

It is, however, a rule of the Club that the wife of a member shall always be permitted the privileges of the Club. For the reason that she may go to the Club for the purpose of awaiting the Admiral the rule is that she shall have all privileges, whether or not she is accompanied by her husband.

I believe that we could make the use of the Club more convenient for the ladies if we would issue each of them a permanent guest card. If you think this a good idea would you fill out the card attached and send it back to us?

Sincerely yours,

C. R. Smith
Fleet Admiral
