Dear Folks,

2-9-45

Well, so there are some boats still crossing the ocean. I got a letter from brother yesterday, which I promptly answered, and six to-day. One from Mamma and Papa, one from Ruth, one from Inis, and three from Amy. They all had my old A. P. O. number too. The rest of them should start coming soon. It's late to-night Amy, but to-morrow I'll call if I can't answer some of your questions.

They must of liked the way I O.D.'d the other day because I was stuck on it again. The letter that some people write that I had to censor some of them are pretty good too. I've learned enough that I can start giving lessons on love letter writing.

The reason it got late in the first paragraph is because I went to a show to-night. We have a show almost every night in the Officers Club? Most of them are sold but this one hasn't been released in the States yet. The name of it was Devotion I think. It's bid time so good night now. If you can't too sleep on sugar will you send me a box of cookies. Love, Joe
