Fort Worth, Texas.

My dear Amon Carter:

(1) In this morning's San Antonio Express, I saw where you had been forcibly ejected from the Texas-A. & M. football game for letting out a lusty yell for my friend Dan Moody. To me it was very amusing, at the same time it left a whole lot of room for argument. Personally, I would like to have seen you "set in and give that crowd hell", because they have established a very dangerous precedent over there and, to my notion, are bordering on tactics of the erst while kaiser, and God knows there never was a time in the history of this State when the need for a fearless press was more evident, and I think it is high time somebody called a halt, and the only way to do it is to turn the big guns of the press down on these birds, men who have the courage of their convictions, like yourself, who will shoot fair and square.

(2) I have never taken any interest in politics, I did not support the Ferguson's or the Clan, and did not vote for Butte because of being disqualified on account of having moved out of my precinct, but I certainly think it is time the people of this State got together and put the best interest of the State above party lines, and forget all this "tomfoolery" about unswerving loyalty to their respective parties, and I feel confident that in your section of the State you can wield a power sufficient to do a great deal towards bringing this State out of its present chaotic condition. Locally we can hope for nothing of that sort any time in the near future.

(3) These are purely my personal sentiments in the matter and written to you in a purely personal way. At the same time, I have no doubt but what I have expressed the sentiments of a great many people, and I want to commend you for taking the matter in such a good natured way, for lots of people would have made a scene.

(4) I trust that the next time you are in San Antonio, you will call me, so that I can take you out to my house, as there are many interesting subjects I would like to discuss with you. I might add that my friend Bonfils of the Denver Post will be here in January and if you are in the State at that time, would
