Attorney General Moody has ruled that Texas solons must pay their own expenses and will not receive any compensation if they meet in extraordinary session called by the Speaker of the House. Hence, there will be no extra session, as very few of the members could afford to lose the time, even if their expenses were paid. And now, since Governor Ferguson has said that she will not call a special session "unless subsequent events necessitate," it is reasonably certain that there will be no special session. No one has ever charged Jim Ferguson with being "easy" or "foolish" and as Jim is recognized as "the power behind the throne," he will see to it that "Ma" does not call the solons together. Jim called an extra session once upon a time, but he is not going to be led into the trap of destruction again.
