All agree with Ma Ferg that rich and poor bootleg should fare alike in the matter prosecution and punishment.
Ma doesn't explain why she thought to say anything about until other troubles began thicken.—Ada (Okla.) News.

Editor Norrell of the News only a former Texan, but he always has been a close observer things political. There is a great more to Ma's pronouncement than appears on the surface, but it takes than a cursory examination of public prints to detect it. The man who scans the news of the day perfunctory way is apt to miss truth. One thing is certain: ever Jim does—or any other poli for that matter—he is laying groundwork for something he will be of benefit to him at a time. To inflame the minds of poor against the rich or well-to-do always been the favorite pastime a good many office seekers, for simple and only reason that there more poor folks than the other ki
