SATTERWHITE AND THE SPECIAL SESSION

The political smoke, made by Satterwhite, aspirant for the governor's chair, and "Dam" Moody, also aspiring to anything that might be given him,—the smoke as we said is clearing away, and all the hollowing done by Lee, our dear friend, has been from the scare his own little smoke has made, and we find nothing alarming down at Austin.

Lee, you know, wants to call a special session of the Texas Flabbergasters to investigate the official acts of "Ma," for he says he "has the goods on Jim." But he doesn't tell us what the goods are and how much they weigh and what they are really worth to the working class of Texas.

Nor does Lee tell the world who the wonderfully generous, and would be patriots who offer to put up $100,000 to see "Ma" impeached. Come on, little Lee, and tell the hungry crowd who these men are and how many of them are from the rank and file of the common people?

Of course we understand that one of grand old ex-Governor Hogg's pigs is said to be one of them, though he denies ever making such a promise and at the time he made it he might have been with Amon Carter at the foot ball game.

Lee, here is another question. You have been working on this extra session for several weeks, how is it that you have tried to put over an illegal proposition, in order to investigate another official's acts, of which you say you "have the goods on Jim"?

You say you are willing to pay your own way, that is very considerate of you and we might think it was prompted by patriotic love of state, or at least a desire to pay for your own publicity, were it not for the fact that you say you will take it out of the poor people's pocket at the next regular session.

Is it a fact that you would spend a hundred thousand dollars of the poor old struggling tax payers' blood money in order to promote personal ends, and personal ambition in an attempt to blaze your name before the people of the Lone Star State, when you realize as well as we do that you know no more on Jim and "Ma" than you did this time last year?

Now, honest, Satterwhite, the whole can be summed up like this, you want the governor's office, you want popularity, you want to see your name in flaring letters across the front page and you thought you had found a way to all this by flopping over on the other side like a fish on dry land?

Wise men have a right to change their minds, but the American people hate a traitor.
