DEMAND THAT HE
QUIT POST TECH
BOARD IS MADE

PUBLISHER IS BITTERLY DE-NOUNCED BY WOMAN
GOVERNOR

By United News.

AUSTIN, Texas, Nov. 30.— Amon G. Carter, publisher of the Fort Worth Record-Telegram, a former supporter of Miriam A.
Ferguson, was the target of an attack from the executive office today, and occupied a front seat in the day's developments in Texas' raging political storm.

Carter was appointed some time ago as chairman of the board of regents of the Texas Technological college of Lubbock, Texas, as a new state institution. The governor wrote the publisher a letter today, which was made public, demanding his resignation as a regent of the college. From some quarters, her move is characterized as new strategy to cloudy the attacks that are being made on her administration and divert public comment from the Texas highway commission probe.

Carter told newspapers and press associations Monday that he would have no statement to make until he received the letter from the governor.

Two incidents of alleged personal misconduct on the part of the publisher are dealt with fully in the letter. The letter reviews the incident at Texas A. & M. football game at College Station last Thursday where Carter was ejected by an officer from the stadium. He stood behind the governor's box, it is said, and yelled loudly and repeatedly:
"Hurrah for A. & M. and Dan Moody." On being admonished by T. O. Walton, president of the A. & M. to refrain from repetition of his cheers, and on refusing he was ordered taken from the field. In her letter today, the governor said:

Two Charges Made

"I believe your statement when you say in the papers you were not aware of my presence and that you meant no personal discourtesy to me. Your friends who know you best assure me (and I believe them) that when you are in a normal condition that you are a courteous gentleman to the manner born, and I attribute your seeming affront to your unusual condition and the influences under which you were laboring at the time."

The governor also said she was informed that Carter "staged" a "party" in Fort Worth last year, entertaining two or three hundred guests and that each guest was provided with stimulating beverages.

It is not believed that Carter will resign. A statement is expected from his Tuesday.

There was not a word emanating from the executive office today to indicate the attitude of Governor Ferguson or her chief advisor and husband, former Governor James E.
Ferguson, on the special session of the legislature question. And no one had presented a claim for the $500 reward offered by her for conviction of "rich" liquor law violaters, in response to the unusual proclamation of Saturday.
