While wondering about first one thing and another, we just wonder who really wrote that letter to Amon G. Carter. Of course the governor is asking his resignation and her name is signed to it, but no one would even consider for a minute that she wrote it. Fact of the business is, if one will just think a little, he will doubt very seriously if Ferguson himself wrote it. It is too much of a display of rhetoric for him. The insinuations, accusations, etc., are his alright, but the language of it doesn't sound like him. If instead of saying, "I am informed that at said reception given by you, many became stimulated and were under the influence of an invigorating decoction, and that you participated in the consumption of the beverage," it had said "I am told that at one of your frolics you and your gang got as drunk as biled owls on bootleg," and instead of saying "gave vent to vociferous exclamations" it had said "raised h——" then we would never raise a question as to the author. Anyway, it was a real slick letter and it is nobody's business but theirs who wrote it.
